THE MARRIAGE OF FLOWERS.

Chat with the Secretary of a Horticultural Society—The Chrysanthemum.

John Thorpe is a somewhat tall and very valuable chrysanthemum, whose trunk is of brown diagonal, with a calyx of brown beard under his chin and a corolla of shrewd and rugged features which light up with interest when he discusses his favorite pursuit. He is the secretary of the New York Horticultural society. When John Thorpe sits down in the shadow of a date palm, with two chrysanthemums about to be married in his hands, he becomes singularly interesting. Of the two chrysanthemums, the bride is arrayed in spotless white and the bridegroom in a brilliant vestment of red.

"The marriage of two flowers," says Mr. Thrope, in a semi-poetic but entirely practical way, "is exactly like any other marriage. Most of the flowers on exhibition here are composite varieties, but in the simple varieties the male and female flowers are easily and instantly distinguished by a practical eye. The development of crysanthemums is nothing more nor less than the breeding of them, and exactly like the breeding of fine varieties of stock. Five years ago we had nothing but simple flowers. Now you see the wonderful variety of shapes and sizes and colors which has resulted. This has come from hybridization, and that is done in this way."

Cutting off the long petals of one of the flowers, he showed at the base of each the pollen which had ripened and was ready to be scattered by the air in the shape of an impalpable powder. Cutting away the petals of the other, he brought to view a multitude of fine stamens, slightly sticky. Whenever the pollen powder touches any of these sticky points, a floral union takes place, and the flower grown from the resultant seed partakes of the characteristics of the two which went to form it.

"In growing the flowers," Mr. Thorpe continued, "we take a fine camel's hair brush, and with it transfer the pollen from one flower to the other. This process, in nature, is fulfilled by the air, by insects and in various ways. There are some flowers which are fertilized only at night by moths. There are others which are wedded only in the day by the butterflies and the humming birds. When you think of moths and butterflies and humming birds reading marriage services over the flowers in a garden there is quite an opportunity for poetry in flower culture. The arrangement is sometimes very wonderful," he said, taking a quaint and grotesque orchid in greens and browns. "This flower is self generating, and the fertilization is carried on by the ants. The ant can get into this flower only by going over the pollen cells, and the pollen clings to him. He can get out only by passing over those places which the pollen needs to touch, and for the new flowers the ant alone is to be thanked. The same way of developing flowers can be applied to any variety. You could breed roses, for instance. The value of the chrysanthemums, however, is that you get your good results in a year, where, with roses, equally satisfactory results would require five years. The New York society has gone behind the Japanese flowers. There is a stand of them, direct importations, over there. You can see, however, that in color, size, and design they do not compare, though it used to be said, and is still said, that the Japanese chrysanthemums beat the world."—New York Times.

Professional Entertainers.

Professional entertainers are getting to be excessively plentiful in Brooklyn. The Rambler saw a list of parlor artists the other day as long as the roster of a military company, each of whom was billed as a person fit to make a night agreeable for reasonable compensation. They do it for anywhere from $5 to $25 a night, and most of them have remunerative patronage. The clubs utilize the more accomplished and all sorts of private parties the rest. They are readers, singers and humorists. The humorist is the latest product in the amusement line. He tells comic stories, makes faces and regilds chestnuts for the entertainment of people who haven't the vim to entertain themselves. Time was when a parlor full of people developed their own fun, but now in all social circles it is becoming the thing to hire some one to do it. I know a number of clever young men who are panning out much pocket money this season by acting as general, made to order merry makers.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Source of Second Hand Delight.

The enthusiastic traveler is always refreshing, till you begin to get too much of him. He (or she) breaks out into transports whenever a new object is sighted, and expresses unbounded delight upon every possible occasion. These good people are generally "first trippers;" they have not been abroad before, and nearly everybody takes it hard the first time. One zealous clergyman whom I remember was a perpetual fountain of second hand delight. Everything he saw rained bliss upon him, and even during a hard fit of sea sickness he averred, with a haggard smile, that he had always wanted to know how it felt, and was thankful to a gracious Providence for giving him the opportunity. But his thanks were rather more fervent when he got well.—Will Carleton.

The Cause of His Triumph.

"It seems that young Hurley is quite a lion in society now?"

"The afford of all adorers."

"What's the cause of it? I see nothing particularly attractive about him."

"He struck a vein of cool on his farm the other day."—Lincoln Journal.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York City.

OH, WHAT A COLD!

THIS is the season for sudden changes in the weather, and a great many "take cold" either in their Head or on their Lungs, causing Coughs, Hoarseness, and Sore Throat. These troubles can be soon relieved and cured by taking Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific, which acts directly on the Throat and Lungs, entirely removing these difficulties.

Cured his boy of Croup.

C. M. Brooks, Lowell, Mass., says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific as a cure for Coughs, Colds, and Croup. I used it in my family last winter with the best results. Two or three doses cured my little boy of Croup, for which I am very thankful."

You can cure that Cough in a short time. You can cure your Catarrh if you persist in its use, as it will stop the secretion of Catarrhal matter in the head; it will relieve Croup in from three to five minutes.

The best he ever saw.

"The best medicine for Coughs and Consumptive Complaints that ever I saw is Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific," so says John McLaughlin, of Boston.

Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific is sold by all Druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

ADAMSON'S

BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM

More than twenty years ago Adamson's Botanic Balsam was introduced generally throughout New England as a remedy for Coughs, Colds and Pulmonary complaints. Since its introduction it has constantly won its way into public favor, until now it is the universal decision that ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is the best remedy for curing Coughs, Colds and Asthma.

The Revenue Reform.

Vessel owners and captains on the coast of Maine apprehend great inconvenience from being compelled to travel long distances to find custom house officers for transfer licenses and other coastwise proceedings. Congressman Dingley has represented the probable condition of affairs, if the cut-down goes into effect as announced. In some locations, it is postponed as to its operation until February. At Saco the deputy collector has been dismissed.

The investigations as to the nature and needs of the New England custom houses and of the duties of their officers have commonly been made by agents who gained their information from short visits and slight inspections. The coast of Maine is easily available for smuggling. But the administration of the treasury department seems to have but little re- for the enforcement of revenue sibly because these laws are ob- o a portion of the democratic nd are sought to be repealed. ntion of the officers in the cus- es would serve in a small de- reduce the surplus, as would the of the French claims, a proper e of naval ships, or the repair or struction of our fortifications on the

The total loss is estimated at 0,000, with $35,000 insurance. It is nsidered doubtful if the firm will re- build. The loss of this business will be a bad blow for the town, as it was the only industry of any consequence in the place. George Armstrong, an employe, was struck by a falling chimney, and killed.

Congressman Wallace took occasion to assail the character of a Mr. Houston, one of the leaders of the other faction. Mr. Houston replies in this plain and emphatic paragraph:

Politically, Mr. Wallace is the last man in the state of Louisiana who should assail any one on politics. He never was elected to Congress, as he well knows. His election was the grandest farce ever perpetrated upon the people. The ballot-boxes were stuffed from one end of the town to the other to return him. He knows this, or ought to know it from conversations with the men who had charge of his canvas.

Gov. McEnery is so bitter against McNicoll that he says he shall be defeated even if it takes a free vote and a fair count to do it. A free vote and a fair count in Louisiana mean a great republican victory, and it hardly seems likely that McEnery would go so far as that, even to defeat his esteemed rival.

Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick and family and Mrs. Eben L. Seavey, accompanied by Sylvanus Foss and family, all of Rye, are to start in a few days for Florida, where they propose to pass several weeks.

The Rye Beach Improvement association will hold their annual festival on the evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, January 26th and 26th, in the Rye town hall.

There resides in Dover a prominent and well-to-do citizen. He has been a widower many years. His grand-daughter takes care of his home, and has done so for years. About the 20th of next month this prominent and well-to-do widower is to marry a young lady living here. At the same hour, by the same minister and in the same room, the grand-daughter will be married to a business man of Portsmouth. The one hack will take the quartette from the place where the ceremony is to take place. The old couple will spend their honeymoon in Providence, R. I. The other couple will spend theirs in Lowell, Mass.—Dover Republican.

The Granite State Poultry & Pet Stock Association has issued the premium lists, with rules and regulations, for its second exhibition, which occurs in Phœnix hall, Concord, on the 10th, 11th and 12th of January.

The Dover Democrat thus satisfactorily accounts for the cold snap of the latter part of last week: "With General Greely at the head of the weather bureau, and a sergeant in charge of the office in Portsmouth who passed the winter on Mount Washington, what can we expect but extreme cold weather."

The Saco customs office is abolished Jan. 1st. Col. F. W. Guptill has held the office of deputy collector there for thirteen years.

A new plan in regard to the checking of distances travelled on mileage tickets has been introduced on the Boston & Maine railroad. Conductors are furnished with yellow slips for long distances, and when a passenger presents a mileage ticket they tear out the requisite number of miles, and in return give one of the slips, which is taken up as the passenger nears the point to which the slip says passage has been paid. This avoids the liability to dispute, and puts an end to a swindling trick which it is said was not uncommon, namely, for a passenger bound to a distant place to tell the conductor that he was going to some intermediate point, and then, on passing the place to which he had paid, declare that the conductor had taken from the book fare for the whole distance.

The Boston Post remarks: "It is said that the owners of the lost raft from Nova Scotia do not propose to be deterred by the unlucky issue of their first venture, from building another similar structure and starting it forth upon its possible errand of destruction in the same hazardous manner. We should think that the demonstrated inutility of this method of shipping lumber might have been impressed upon their minds by this time; but as such is clearly not the case, it is now in order for the Canadian authorities to forbid the construction of the new raft." We should think it quite as much in order for the American authorities to forbid the entrance of such a raft to our ports; that would answer every purpose.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Notwithstanding the storm on Sunday morning the Methodist church was filled, and Rev. Dr. Buckley of New York preached a most interesting sermon, occupying about an hour and a half in the delivery, but holding the close attention of the entire congregation to the end. Rev. Mr. Pitblado preached in the evening, and the P. A. C. quartette sang.

The other churches on Sunday morning were thinly attended, on account of the snow and sleet; and they were not open at all in the evening, the pouring rain, slushy streets and icy sidewalks making pedestrianism not only uncomfortable but difficult and dangerous. The walking has not been worse this year than it was Sunday night.

At the Unitarian church, Sunday morning, the pastor preached an excellent sermon on the duty of regularly attending public worship; but as only those heard it whose presence was a practical demonstration that they did not need to make a special personal application of the lesson it conveyed, they all hope it will be repeated some Sunday when a large congregation has assembled.

AT FRANKLIN HALL TO-NIGHT.

Do not forget the New Year party, supper, concert, tableaux and dance at Franklin hall this evening, in aid of that most worthy charity the Children's Home. See advertisement in another column. Contributions of cake and home-made candy are solicited, and may be left at the hall any time to-day.

A WORD PERSONAL.

With the close of business on Saturday, Dec. 31st, Mr. A. A. Hanscom retired from the proprietorship and management of the Daily Evening Times and the weekly States and Union, having disposed of the papers and business to Mr. George H. Sanderson.

Mr. Hanscom is one of the veteran newspaper men of the state, having been an editor for about forty-five years, we believe. His political faith is lamentable, being democratic, but during the years he has conducted the local democratic papers our personal and business relations with him have been of the most pleasant and cordial character; we have found him always upright and square in his dealings, and can but wonder that a man could continue writing democratic editorials for forty-five years without contracting some sort of moral strabismus. His paper has been clean, and—barring the democratic tone—always wholesome; and whether Bro. Hanscom ships in his oars and lies back in well-earned quietness, or engages in other active business, our best wishes go with him.

PRESENTATION.

Just before one o'clock last Saturday afternoon the workmen in the stock room of the Portsmouth Shoe Co.'s factory gathered about the desk of the foreman, Mr. John McCreary, their action evidently having some connection with a bundle lying on the desk. The whistle blew and the pulley began to turn, and as Mr. McCreary entered the room and approached his desk he was met by Mr. Eugene Sullivan, who on behalf of the workmen in the room and as a token of their esteem and good will, presented him with three very handsome pieces of silver ware—a butter dish, fruit dish and castor—with the best wishes of all for a Happy New Year to him and his. Though taken unawares, the recipient responded very neatly, and while thanking the donors for their beautiful gift assured them that he should prize it far higher than its intrinsic value, as a token that his endeavors to make the workroom a pleasant one were appreciated. Mr. McCreary came to this city with his family from Lynn last May, and has made himself very popular not only with the management but with the employes under his charge.

There are about 600 operatives now employed in the factory, and all departments are running pleasantly and satisfactorily, without hitch or jar.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE OF THE W. C. T. U.

The quarterly conference of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Rockingham county will be held in the chapel of the North church, on Middle street, Wednesday, Jan. 4th, commencing at 10:30 A. M.; afternoon session at 1:30; basket collation at 12:30. There will be the usual variety in the exercises, the last hour being occupied in asking and discussing questions of interest. All friends of the temperance cause are cordially invited to attend. Miss Holmes of Derry, state superintendent of Young Woman's Christian Temperance Unions, will speak at 2:30 P. M., and it is hoped the young people of our city will be present.

THE RETURNING TRAMPS.

The horde of tramps which infested New Hampshire when General Marston's tramp law was passed, and disappeared soon after, seem to have taken to reading law, and having thoroughly posted themselves so as to be able to travel without running into the clauses of the statutes have returned, and scores of them pass over our main thoroughfares or along the tracks of our principal railroads, every week. They are the most numerous in Rockingham county, which they cross in travelling between Maine and Massachusetts, and the police station at Portsmouth, which most of them manage to reach just at night, is seldom without some of the tribe as guests. Nearly all of them are able-bodied and most of them are comfortably clothed, but they are filthy and villainous looking, and very few when questioned give any reliable information as to their names, homes, destination or intentions. They do not, however, as a rule, beg from house to house, and thus avoid being arrested under the provisions of the Marston bill, and although they are still a great burden and a nuisance, they are not half as bad as they were formerly, when they terrorized women and children and made themselves free with everything they could lay their hands on.—Manchester Mirror.

HIS SPREE ENDED.

About half-past nine o'clock last Friday night a young man six feet tall entered Lothrop & Pinkham's drug store in Dover, purchased a package of "rough on rats," and proceeded to swallow the same in the store. The clerk, much displeased at this use of the stuff, knocked the tall stranger down, and then, with the aid of others in the store, chocked him and in other ways worked upon his feelings until his stomach was emptied not only of the poison but of its other contents. Medical aid was called in and an emetic administered, and the victim was then taken to the police station in a very limp and disconsolate condition, and there told the following story:

"My name is Stark K. Chesley. I am twenty-one years old; am son of Dr. Lafayette Chesley, a well-known medical practitioner of Exeter. I am a student at Phillips Exeter academy and had a grand prospect. At the beginning of the present week I went on a spree. I had $500 when I started. I struck Portsmouth, and reached here to-night dead broke. I don't know how I spent my money. I got discouraged. I pawned my overcoat for a small sum an hour previous to my attempt to end my life. With this money I got the poison to do its work, but my intentions were foiled by the people in the drug store. I was tired of life and wanted to get out of the way. I am sorry I failed."

City Marshal Fogarty searched his clothing and found the following note, about which was wrapped a piece of black silk ribbon: "I am going to get rid of myself. I am discouraged. If there is a hereafter you will see me again. I don't do this because I want to." This was written in a pencil scrawl, and was rather hard to decipher. It is supposed it was meant to be mailed to some lady friend.

Happy New Year to you.

The watch meeting at the Methodist church, Saturday evening, was not largely attended, the number present not exceeding a hundred.

The ringing of the North church bell at one and nine o'clock P. M. has been suspended for some days, and the ringing of the "first bells" of the churches was omitted on Sunday, on account of a young lady living near the centre of the city being seriously ill with a nervous disorder making her painfully sensitive to their sound.

About 30,000 lbs. of fish arrived at the fish wharves in this city on Saturday night and Sunday, fares as follows being bought by Elvin Newton & Co., at $4 per hundred pounds: Schooner Franklin S. Schenck, 12,000 lbs.; Cosmos, 1,000; Albert Woodbury, 3,000; W. B. Keen, 2,500; Abbie A. Snow, 3,000; George J. Tarr, 1,000.

Barlow Bros. & Frost's Minstrel company will appear in Music hall next Friday evening. See advertisement.

The taking of testimony in the case of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad against the Boston & Lowell railroad, will be resumed before William H. Hackett, examiner of the United States Circuit court, to-day.

The next firemen's ball given in this city will be that of Moses H. Goodrich S. F. E. Co., No. 4, in Franklin hall on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 21st. Tickets are now in the hands of the committee of arrangements, and can be had for $1 each.

The shoemakers of this city will have a ball in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening, Jan. 17th; music by the shoemakers' quadrille band.

E. A. Peterson, Esq., left for New York on Saturday.

Col. Charles A. Sinclair has disposed of the Hotel Berkely in Boston, in which the Portsmouth Machine Co. recently placed steam heating apparatus.

The trips of the steamer Mystic, from Kittery at eight o'clock and from this city at nine, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, are discontinued until further notice. Her other trips will be continued as heretofore.

Misses Bertha Hodgdon, Alice L. Brewster, Emilie DeRochmont and Mabel Manson, of Wellesley college, have been spending the holiday vacation at their homes in Portsmouth and Newington.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $5 per pair. They are a great bargain.

A new schooner is to be built the coming spring for Capt. Gus. Kelley, now master of the Dover Navigation Co.'s schooner Thomas B. Garland.

Fall and Winter Opening!

MRS. J. M. TEBBETTS

— ANNOUNCES FOR —

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY,

OCT. 19th and 20th,

— HER OPENING OF —

PATTERN HATS AND BONNETS.

For more than twenty years Mrs. Tebbets has invited the Ladies of Portsmouth and Vicinity to semi-annual exhibitions of Fine Millinery. Each succeeding season the selections have been finer and richer, the tastes of her customers calling for the best the market affords. The Fall and Winter Stock in Trimmed Goods will surpass any ever seen in this city.

All Cordially Invited.

WANTED—MAN—To take the agency of our safes; size 20x18x18 inches; weight 700 lbs.; retail price $35; other sizes in proportion. A rare chance to get a permanent business at home. These safes meet a demand never before supplied by other safe companies, as we are not governed by the Safe Pool. Alpha Safe Co., Cincinnati, O. wed,sat,tuch10

Mr. J. Schrader, a book-keeper at 11 German street, Baltimore, Md., states: "I have used Salvation Oil for rheumatism from which I have suffered greatly for a long while, and can say it entirely relieved me. I would not be without it at any cost."

Superintendent of Police Murray, of New York, discredits the statement that thieves of that city are operating in Boston.

A Generous Firm.

We are informed that the proprietors, Messrs. P. Ordway & Co., recently sent three dozen of the reliable medicine, Sulphur Bitters to the Catholic Home for the Aged, which is highly appreciated by the directors and inmates "As ye sow, so shall ye reap."—Editor Catholic Union.

It is said that Conrad L. Jordan will be the successor of Mr. Manning as president of the Western National bank of New York city.

Say no ill of the Year 'till it be Past.

The winter brings you chapped lips, sore nose, cold cracks, etc., but a box of Hop Ointment (endorsed by leading society ladies) will prove a friend in need. Never fails. At all druggists, 25 cents, or mail stamps to Hop Co., New London, Conn. Sample free.

Marton Irons, leader of the great railroad strike of 1886 on the Gould system of roads in the southwest, is now the keeper of a small eating stand in a St. Louis market house.

Dandruff eradicated, the scalp made clean, and gray hair restored to its original youthful beauty and vigor by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

At Machias, Me., no gale since 1869 has been so heavy as the one on Wednesday night of last week. At Jonesport, Me., a large number of vessels were driven ashore, four on Pigeisland, and a number of wrecks are reported. Houses were damaged and barns unroofed in several shore towns of Maine.

Health is impossible when the blood is impure, thick and sluggish, or when it is thin and impoverished. Such conditions give rise to boils, pimples, headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism and other disorders. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies, invigorates and vitalizes the blood.

Different persons have different ideas of how Christmas should be observed. Sewell B. Fowler, of Seabrook, celebrated the day by pouring hot water on his father's head, and assaulting a neighbor.

You hardly realize that it is medicine, when taking Carter's Little Liver Pills: they are very small; no bad effects; all troubles from torpid liver are relieved by their use.

A snow bound train in Iowa was run into by a freight engine last Thursday, and several persons were injured.

Chester G. Parker, of Oneida, N. Y., was entirely cured of an affection of the throat and lungs, accompanied by a severe cough of several years' standing, by the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

A land slide on the Alabama Great Southern railroad near Livingston caused a serious accident last week. The limited express, the fatest train in the south, ran into rocks and earth which had fallen on the track, and two passenger coaches were thrown from the track and upset. Sixteen persons were injured, some of them badly.

Every nervous person should try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. They are made specially for nervous and dyspeptic men and women, and are just the medicine needed by all persons who, from any cause, do not sleep well, or who fail to get proper strength from their food. Cases of weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, nervous and sick headache, etc., readily yield to the use of the Little Nerve Pills, particularly if combined with Carter's Little Liver Pills. In vials at 25 cents.

The San Francisco board of health on Dec. 29th held a special meeting to consider the small pox epidemic, which is on an alarming increase. The papers keep quiet about the disease, fearing that eastern visitors will be kept away.

Personal Matter.

The well-known Hop Plasters are acknowledged the best on earth. They quickly allay pain, soothe and restore the parts. Every kind of pain, soreness or weakness speedily banished. Sold everywhere, 25 cts.

Drunken men created a disturbance on a Chesapeake & Ohio railroad train one day last week, and several men were shot.

Great Success attends the sale of James Pyle's New Washing Compound, Pearline. This is not surprising, as it has been demonstrated from actual experience that it is absolutely harmless to the most delicate fabric, while it is a great economizer of labor, time and soap.

Miss Phœbe Cousins is to run for governor of Missouri.

This is Good Enough.

Mr. C. E. Bartholomew, Kalkaska, Mich., says: "I owe my life solely to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. I had liver and kidney disease, and for five years was unable to go about. I am now well, and can do a man's work on my farm. I shall always hold up both hands for Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK BEACH, ME., Jan. 2d.

The extensive addition to the Ocean house is nearly completed.

C. B. Hildreth is putting up his ice houses preparatory to harvesting next summer's supply of ice for his new hotel.

The transportation of the United States mail between Kittery Junction and York Beach will be transferred to the York Harbor & Beach railroad on Monday, the 16th inst.

Progressive domino parties are all the rage at York Beach. The fourth one of the season was given by Miss Flora French at the Union Bluff house on Thursday evening, the 29th ult. Eight tables were in use; the prizes at the highest table were awarded to Mrs. Etta Talpey and Mr. Herbert Bennett; the booby table prizes to Miss Ella Talpey and Mr. George Pierce. Refreshments were served, after which dancing and games of various kinds were participated in till a late hour, when the merry party broke up with the best wishes of all for Miss French for the evening's enjoyment.

Read the Death Roll

Which the bills of mortality of any large city may be fitly designated, and you will find that renal and vesical maladies, that is to say, those that effect the kidneys or bladder, have a remarkable prominence—we had almost said—preponderance. Bright's disease and diabetes in the chronic stage are rarely cured, and gravel, catarrh of the bladder and enuresis, slay many. Yet at the outset, when the trouble merely amounts to inactivity of the organs involved, the danger may be nullified by that pleasant renal tonic and diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which imparts the requisite amount of tone to the organs, without over-exciting them, and the use of which is convenient, and involves no elaborate preparation. Dyspepsia, as usual concomitant of renal complaints, and debility, which they invariably produce, are remedied by it. So also are constipation, malaria, rheumatic and nervous ailments.

By order of the Lasters' Protective union, all the lasters in George B. Wentworth's shoe factory at Dover quit work on Monday.

for the care of the sick. How to cure disease, its symptoms and causes, and other information of great value will be found in old Dr. Kaufmann's great book; 100 pages, fine colored plates. Send three 2 cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy free.

The celebration of the Pope's jubilee commenced in Rome on the 31st ult. The imperial city is crowded with visitors, including forty-eight cardinals and 288 archbishops and bishops. At the pontifical mass in St. Peter's Sunday morning, 30,000 people were present. It is estimated that the jubilee gifts received by his holiness will exceed $20,000,000.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is recommended by eminent physicians, on both sides of the Atlantic, as the most reliable remedy for colds, coughs, and all pulmonary disorders. Inquire of your druggist for Ayer's Almanac.

A powder magazine at Amoy, China, exploded Nov. 21st, shattering about a quarter of the buildings of the city, blowing fifty soldiers to atoms, and killing several hundred citizens.

To be free from sick headache, biliousness, constipation, etc., use Carter's Little Liver Pills. Strictly vegetable. They gently stimulate the liver and free the stomach from bile.

The ocean towboat B. W. Morse arrived at New York on the 31st ult.; she fell in with the logs of the shattered raft, of which she was in search, on the 27th. Two days previous, on the 25th, she lost ten or twelve tons of coal off deck, and had to cut holes in the bulwarks to relieve the decks of water.

A California Sheep Ranch.

Still further south is the Nejuil ranch, comprising 40,000 acres. Chief among its possessions are the vast herds of sheep that wander over its broad domains. Perhaps nothing is more interesting than to watch the processes by which the wool is obtained. The sheep shearers are mostly of Mexican origin, and when they put in their appearance present a picturesque sight, with their gay neckerchiefs and swarthy countenances. They would do well in a picture, but as human beings they are to be avoided. Cruelty and love of gaming are their chief characteristics. They snip, snip the sheep, and if they take out a piece of flesh with the wool they snip out another alongside to make it nice and even, meanwhile chanting some queer little rune.

Then a vat of acids is prepared, into which they drop the poor creatures, old sheep and little lambs, thumping them down with poles, in order that they may be well immersed, not caring for the raw, tender flesh exposed by their brutality, nor for the feebleness of the lambs, which scarcely know which way to go. The old sheep, which has passed through several seasons of this sort of thing, immediately swims through the vat to the place of egress, and passes out; not so the lamb, which struggles and strangles, with that cruel pole pushing it down under the bitter waters, not knowing what to do. Many of them are thus drowned, and the imp like shearer, uttering an ugly oath, fishes them out. At night these inhuman beings sit up and gamble away every dime earned through the day to the sharpers who follow in their wake, but the next day go to work again, chanting and snipping with accustomed celerity.—Ella Sterling Cummins in Cosmopolitan.

Names of Patent Medicines.

"A patent medicine man doesn't think his nostrum is christened in the orthodox way unless it has a jaw breaking name," remarked a drug clerk. "No greater mistake could be made, as far as the sale of the stuff is concerned, for the majority of people are ashamed to mispronounce a word, and will often ask for an article they know nothing about just because it has a simple name. A cough mixture in the hands of an empiric becomes a 'pectoral,' a garlic is set forth as an 'expectorant,' while the word 'balsam' is made to do service as a specific for all the ills that flesh is heir to. Patent medicine men are very fond of coining new words, which are not only attractive but convey an idea of the article as well.

"Just glance over that list of proprietary articles, and you will see that a public school education is of no use to a man who is sick and wants to buy a patent medicine. The hieroglyphics on the obelisk are not to be compared with the fantastic English and impossible Latin to be found there. Many of our customers, I find, write what they want on a slip of paper and send their children for it, while others will come in and ask what preparations we have for a certain trouble. A smile of satisfaction invariably tells me when I have come to the article they want. It is generally the last one I think of. Of late I have saved myself much trouble by keeping a full line of patent medicines on the counter, so that people can pick out what they want."—New York Evening Sun.

The Beggars of Brussels.

A German paper has been very much startled to find that the beggars of Brussels have mapped the city out into districts, and have arranged themselves who is to work each section on certain days. But there is really nothing new in this. Almost every beggar's lodging house in England, where the habitual tramps congregate at the end of the day, has its register—sometimes written and kept with care—in which the houses in the neighborhood or along certain routes are described from the beggars' point of view.

Begging is a profession which runs in families, and a good deal of valuable "lore" is passed on from father to son, and from one generation to another. There are signs and watchwords which pass current among the fraternity, and which it is sometimes useful for the non-professional person to know. A certain motion of the thumb will cause the most persistent professional beggar to cease his importunities, and even to entertain some sort of respect for the person making it. It is a curious fact, showing the hold which superstition has got on their minds. If a policeman turns out a professional beggar's pocket there is one thing he is almost certain to find there—a piece of coal, which he carries for luck.—Home Journal.

Wind as a Motive Power.

Visitors to California from the English downs that face the sea for hundreds of miles have often expressed their surprise that our strong winds are not more fully utilized as a motive power. One of the largest of these motors is used for driving a flour mill at Great Yarmouth. It has four sails, which are 40 feet 9 inches long by 12 feet 6 inches wide, and extend 100 feet from point to point. With a wind of twenty-five miles an hour, the windmill has fifty-five horse power, and will easily make 120 barrels of flour in twenty-four hours. The building containing the flouring apparatus and supporting the motor is of eleven stories, stands 99 feet above the foundation, and is 35 feet in diameter at the base and 16 at the top.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Growing Power.

Among the sentences worth repeating for their own sake are the following: "Suspension of judgment is another faculty that is steadily becoming the common property of mankind. It is a growing power, under civilization, to hold the mind in hand, to restrain it by ascertained laws."—"Our Heredity from God."

The duke of Torlonia, syndics of Rome, has been dismissed for requesting the vicar of Rome to convey to the pope the city's jubilee greetings.

Boston's new city government organized on the 2d inst. Charles H. Allen was unanimously elected president of the board of aldermen. David F. Barry was elected chairman, and Joseph F. O'Kane clerk, of the common council.

New Year's? Yes, I'll dine with you then. I could not enjoy my Thanksgiving dinner, my stomach troubled me so. Now, thanks to a bottle of Ingall's Mandrake Compound, I can eat anything and have no bad feelings afterwards. My appetite is excellent, since Ingall's Mandrake Compound rid me of my dread enemy, dyspepsia. I consider this remedy superior to anything ever before offered to the public. All first class druggists keep it.

Exeter Will Celebrate.

At a meeting of leading citizens of Exeter on the evening of Dec. 31st, to take action toward celebrating the 250th anniversary of the settlement of the town, it was decided that a fitting and proper celebration should be held some time during the early summer. Ex-Governor Bell, Hon. John J. Bell, Professor Cilley and others were chosen as a committee to take preliminary steps, and report definitely at an adjourned meeting.

A Christian Disunion.

A union movement of all the Christian churches of Dover to establish a branch of the Young Men's Christian Union in that city has run against a snag already. The first meeting of pastors and representatives of churches, and other Christian workers, was held in St. John's church on Sunday, Dec. 18th, among them being, in accordance with the terms of the call for the meeting and his own desire to aid in saving young men, Rev. F. A. Dillingham, pastor of the Peirce Memorial (Universalist) church. Mr. Dillingham has since been notified that neither the Universalist church nor its pastor can be allowed to participate in the work of the union, and in a letter to the press asks "What is the meaning of this change?" adding that "while I am in hearty sympathy with the Christian work of saving young men, I am refused fellowship in the Y. M. C. A., and although of use in giving public sanction to the work, am forbidden to share in the effort." Commenting on this, the Democrat says:

After inviting all the pastors of all the churches, without regard to denominational distinctions, and all the good people of their charges respectively, to join in the movement in behalf of the young men, and all had joined and co-operated in good faith, to then attempt a process of proscription of the Universalists, and the Unitarians also as we are informed, on the ground that they do not properly rank with those other denominations which are designated as "evangelical," looks to our profane and sinful eyes to be about as near the platform of anti-Christ as anybody can conveniently get in these days of broad civil, Christian and enlightened freedom and liberty of conscience. If this is to be the programme, it will become evident that the holier-than-thou brethren hardly consider that young men of Universalist and Unitarian affiliations and connections are worth saving, or if they are, those denominational Christians are unfit to help do it. It may in fact be reasonably doubted whether they are considered to be Christians at all. Do the brethren of the other denominations intend to go to this extent?

In answer to Mr. Dillingham's communication and the Democrat's comment, a gentleman who subscribes himself "E. A. Lawrence, Agt. International Com. Y. M. C. A., New York," writes over a column and a half to the Republican, in the course of which he says:

The "bone of contention" is the so-called evangelical test which has been adopted only because of the utter failure of any other plan. It has been proved beyond question, that only those who are members of evangelical churches should have a right to vote and hold office; but as before stated, every other privilege is afforded the young men of Dover.

To this Mr. Dillingham rejoins that Mr. Lawrence begs the question, and says:

The complaint was that while recognized in the call for union Christian effort, and treated before the public with implied if not avowed equality, we are [illegible] ...ns. Does this fulfill the spirit of the call for union Christian effort? Does this show an honest fulfilment of the cordial invitation to join hands to save young men? If this manifestation is the fruit of twenty years of Y. M. C. A. influence, we certainly need no united Christian effort to produce it.

A Court Case in South Carolina.

At Sumter, S. C., Dec. 31st, an affray occured in Justice George E. Paynesworth's office while John R. Keels of Sumter and P. J. Bowman of Bishopville, sworn enemies, were being put under bonds to keep the peace. Pistols and knives were freely used, and the justice was killed, while Keels and Bowman, Walter J. Hardy, and Keel's father, D. E. Keels, were all badly wounded. The justice, Haynesworth, is said to have been the man who fired the first rebel gun on Fort Sumter in 1861.

"The Soggarth," at the Boston Museum has experienced the "boom" of the times, and since Christmas large and enthusiastic audiences have witnessed this exceedingly interesting, beautifully staged, and remarkably well acted play. The realistic effects—the fall of real water, the horses, the Irish jaunting-car, the real glass windows which are smashed by the excited peasantry at every performance, and the real Irish piper, who plays "The wind that shakes the barley" with as much gusto and feeling as if he were on his own "green sod,"—make up an evening's entertainment of rare merit. "The Soggarth" will be presented every evening and Wednesday and Saturday matinees until further notice, the performances commencing at two and eight o'clock, and terminating at 4:25 and 10:25 P. M.

It is reported that the democratic national convention will be held in Chicago, President Cleveland having expressed a desire to that effect. This would seem to be such an interference in political matters by a high official as a great civil service reformer could not countenance.

A despatch from Ionia, Mich., to the New York Herald says: "At a recent banquet here at which Congressman Henderson of North Carolina and John B. Tarsney of St. Louis, brother of Congressman Tarsney of Michigan, were present, a quarrel occurred between these two gentlemen. Mr. Henderson, in a speech, gloried in having been a rebel and in living in a district where thousands of Union soldiers had rotted in prison. Mr. Tarsney rushed at Mr. Henderson, and grabbed him by the throat, saying, 'you scoundrel; I was a Union soldier, and if no one else here will resent your insult I will.' Guests interfered and separated the men, and Henderson apologized to the party."

The steamship Oceanic, which arrived at San Francisco on the 28th ult. from Hong Kong and Yokohama, reports that the U. S. S. Omaha has reached Nagasaki, Japan, having on board the Corean embassy accredited to the United States, the despatch of which the Chinese government recently prohibited, just as they were on the point of leaving. Whether the Chinese eventually gave way in the matter, or whether the Coreans left in spite of threats that China would declare war if her injunctions were disregarded, is not settled. On the way down from Corea the Omaha met a squadron of Chinese men-of-war bound to Chemulpo, but whether on a peaceful mission or to support China's authority over Corea was, of course, not known. The Corean flag was hoisted on the Omaha as they passed. The embassy, consisting of two high officials and their attendants, and Dr. H. N. Allen as foreign secretary, proceeded to Yokohama.

A SURPRISED SALESMAN.

Last Saturday evening Mr. Wm. Reed, salesman for James E. Lothrop of Dover, went to the railroad station in that city, placed his satchel beside that of another man's on a seat, and went to purchase a ticket for Rochester. When he got to Rochester he found in his satchel, instead of underclothing as he expected, a couple of two-quart bottles of rum. He thinks this rather an unfair exchange, and will gladly return the bag he has to its rightful owner, if he can get his own for it. He thinks his satchel is down in Maine somewhere, and that the man who took it by mistrke must have been very mad when he discovered its contents.

The Reading railroad strike still continues; the strikers as yet appear determined, but make no headway; the business of the road is much disturbed, although the officers claim to have all the men they want.

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its film of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "medicated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

NEWSPAPER CHANGES.

The Penny Post, which from its start up to the close of last week was sold at one cent a copy, on Monday evening was sold at two cents, the price having been raised in accordance with a notice some time previously given in its columns. The yearly subscription price is also raised to $4, if not paid in advance; to prepaying subscribers the price remains as before, $3. The Penny Post signalizes the change in rates by appearing with a picture of the city's water front in its headline; the view is apparently taken from Seavey's island, and has the river in the foreground; the city is very good, but we think mighty little of the river as there represented.

The Times on Monday evening made its first appearance under the management of the Times Publishing Co., the new proprietors. It also has changed its rates, and the newsboys could be heard crying "E-e-evening Times, one cent," that evening for the first time, it having previously been sold at two cents a copy. The annual subscription is reduced from $5 to $3, if paid in advance, or $3.50 if not paid until the end of the year. The new management has altered the make-up of the paper, we presume in order to get more places for what have driven so many good newspaper foremen to suicide or the insane asylum, "top col. next reading matter" advertisements. The new staff start in very well, and of course a fair judgment of what they will do cannot be formed until they have had a few days in which to get broken in to the new harness, and things are in good running order. The editorial salutatory announces that the paper is to be kept clean, and made as good as the managers can make it; that it will fight if it has to, but not for fun; and that it will support President Cleveland's administration as representing true democracy.

THE NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Given in Franklin hall on Monday evening by the ladies of the Children's Home Sewing Circle was a marked success; the hall was thronged, the refreshments nice and most generously patronized, and a very handsome sum must have been realized for the benefit of the Home. The singing by Miss Helen Tilton and the P. A. C. quartette was very pleasing, and the tableaux well conceived and finely presented. Of the music for dancing, it is enough to say that it was made by the Music hall orchestra.

During the evening a gentleman in the hall made a contribution of $100 to the treasury of the Home.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Jan. 2d; Bufford J.

John Lee, for drunkenness, was ordered to the county farm for sixty days, and to pay $6.90 costs.

BIG ORANGES.

Mr. Rufus M. Adams, formerly a member of Col. Sise S. F. E. Co., No. 2, resigned from the company some time ago to go to Florida, to take the position of chief officer of the steamer H. B. Plant, running between Jacksonville and Sanford, Fla., in the Waycross Line. On Monday his old comrades in the engine company received a reminder of his existence, and that he has not forgotten his former companions, in the shape of a box of Florida oranges big enough to pass muster very well as pumpkins, and very juicy and sweet. The samples the boys placed before us measure 11 3-4 inches in circumference—or did when they were put on our desk.

THE MILKY WAY.

The twenty-one milk dealers of Dover commenced the happy new year by raising the price of milk to six cents a quart, delivered; the reason they give is that the high prices of hay and grain force them to raise the price of milk. The milk dealers of Manchester who supply the city people with the fluid, had a meeting Dec. 31st, and a large majority said they would continue to charge five cents a quart, and the rest might do as they pleased. The Portsmouth milkmen put the price up to six cents a quart some months ago.

HE FORGOT.

The "H. C. Club," an association of young fellows who have a room in one of the large business blocks of the city, at one of their meetings early last week were notified by the treasurer that funds were needed to pay the gas bill, buy coal and settle for the rent. The amount needed was raised and handed over, but the treasurer took a trip to Boston next day, forgetting to execute the commissions for the club before starting, so during the cold weather the latter part of last week the boys had to luxuriate without any fire in a room for which the rent had not been paid, and increase their old gas bill instead of commencing on a new one.

The monthly test of the fire alarm apparatus was made on Monday; the gong only was sounded, the north church bell being disconnected while the test was being made.

The annual ball of the Austin-Lincoln association will be given in Franklin hall this evening. The hall has been very handsomely decorated, and there will be good music. Tickets to lower floor, fifty cents; gallery tickets, twenty-five cents. All friends will be welcomed.

Messrs. Arthur C. Fowler and Fred B. Blinn, of Boston, have been passing the Christmas holdays in this city.

Monday was a holiday for the general government officials and employes, in the post-office and custom house, and at the navy yard; there was no such private observance of it here, so far as we learned, and the banks were open as usual.

Damon Lodge, No. 9, Knights of Pythias, of this city, will observe its 17th anniversary by a grand ball to be given in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening, Jan. 31st. Missud's Salem cadet band orchestra will furnish the music.

Monday forenoon Mr. John W. Bickford, foreman of the making room at the shoe factory, was presented by the employes with a gold-headed umbrella, gold ring, and diamond scarf-pin, as an indication of their regard. The presentation was made by Mr. Lemuel Brown, whose remarks on behalf of the employes were pleasantly responded to by Mr. Bickford with the assurance that he should prize the testimonials for the kindly feelings to which they bore testimony, even more than for their intrinsic worth.

The taking of depositions in the railroad case before United States Commissioner Hackett was continued at Concord on Monday, when the evidence of three stockholders of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad who dissented from the lease being made, was given. The testimony on the part of the B., C. & M. R. R. will be completed on Monday, the 9th inst., when the examination of President Rollins is to be resumed.

The ladies should see the fine display of artificial flower designs, seven pieces, at Franklin hall to-night, including a memorial to Lincoln and the fallen heroes in the form of the Gates Ajar wide enough for a horse and buggy to drive through. Admission 25 cts.

The democratic papers of this state, that have been so long engaged in flattening out Mr. Blaine as a regular business, have got a new target to shoot at just now—Howe Cail, Esq. Mr. Cail must have filled quite a large place in the democratic party, judging from the commotion created by his defection.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $6 per pair. They are a great bargain.

MARITIME NOTES.

It was reported on Saturday evening that a two-masted schooner, apparently a coaster, had been at anchor off Duck island, the most easterly of the Isles of Shoals, since early the previous day, and that she was evidently in distress. On Monday an in-coming fishing vessel reported the distressed schooner to be the White Cloud, bound from Portland for the West Indies with a cargo of shooks, and that she was waterlogged.

Fish were reported very scarce on Monday, and the dealers were paying $4 per hundred pounds, round fish. The schooner that could bring in twenty-five or thirty thousand pounds at a trip, as some of the netters used to do right along, the first winter nets were generally used in the cod fishery, would make a nice stock at that price.

A despatch from Halifax, Nova Scotia, says the shipping tonnage of the maritime provinces decreased during the past year 45,000 tons, the total now being 787,723 tons. Nova Scotia shipping shows the greatest decrease, 26,316 tons, New Brunswick shipping decreased 15,998 tons, and Prince Edward island shipping 3056 tons

All hopes of floating the schooner Lizzie J. Clark, which went on Lobster rocks, Biddeford Pool, Dec 18th, have been given up; the cargo has been sold and the vessel stripped.

The time for receiving challenges for the America's cup expired at noon on Sunday, up to which time none had been received. It is likely the cup committee would accept a challenge should one arrive within a few days.

A mill on Water street, Saco, owned by Charles W. Holmes & Co., and occupied by John H. Hooper and Frank E. Hooper, washboard manufacturers, was burned Jan. 1st. The building was valued at $4000; insurance $2800. John H. Hooper's loss, $2000; insurance $600. Frank E. Hooper's loss, $1000; insurance $500.

The president's terse and telling message has struck a blow at American protection such as could never have been struck by any fair-trade league.—London (Eng.) Spectator.

How Chicago Firemen Turn Out.

Instead of the sliding pole the authorities have an arrangement peculiarly their own for getting the firemen out. The men sleep on the second floor, directly over the patrol wagon and horses; trap doors open from their room, and stairs, easily sliding into place, conduct the men to the wagon. The cots on which the men sleep stand in a circle, and from the inner end of each goes a cord over a pulley in the center, one end of the cord fast to the bedclothes, the other to a weight attached to the pulley; the electric shock which gives the fire alarm displaces this weight, it drops, and the cord snatches the bedclothes from the sleepers in an instant. The same shock releases the catch on the trap doors; they rise as the stairs sink to their places. The men thus suddenly awakened bound from their beds—they sleep dressed in all but boots and hats—go down the stairs and land direct into the wagon, without, of course, touching the floor, by the time the horses are hitched, putting on their outer clothing as they are whirled through the streets. This scheme is not only good in itself, but it is characteristic of Chicago. —London Fireman.

Rogues Hidden Behind Beards.

A gentleman told me once that the profile never changes. He said that no matter what changes came over the full face the lines of the profile remained the same. He thought that the police when they photographed a criminal for the rogues' gallery ought always to do it in profile, and then there would be no mistake in recognizing the man, no matter how long a time had elapsed. I don't know how this is, but I give the suggestion to the police free of charge. It would not be a bad idea to shave every criminal anyhow and see what he looks like. A beard is a wonderful disguise, and it is used as a disguise by many people who never get into the hands of the authorities. There is a bank in London that will not have an employe who has a beard. Those in charge want to see his face, and then they seem to think they know what kind of a man they have to deal with. By the way, I give that suggestion to the bank directors of America. Perhaps if they adopted it there would be fewer cashiers taking quick tickets to Canada.—Luke Sharp in Detroit Free Press.

Famous Names of Literature.

The famous names of current literature are symbolical of some particular fields of work. Speak of Tourgee, and weird tales of the reconstruction period spring into mind; of Cable, and the Creoles live their peculiar lives before you. Mention Stevenson, and strange, half mystic experiences are recalled; Howells, and realism presents itself. "Craddock" is almost synonymous with "Tennessee mountains," "Haggard" with "South Africa," and "Bret Harte" with the mining camps of California. So the list may be extended and we will find that in the case of almost every successful writer success has come along the channel of a distinctive line of work persistently followed.—C. M. Harger in The Writer.

Cedar Wood for Pencils.

Nearly all the cedar wood used in making lead pencils in this country and abroad comes from Cedar Keys, Fla., where the mills give employment to hundreds of operatives.—New York Evening World.

A Generous Firm.

We are informed that the proprietors, Messrs. P. Ordway & Co., recently sent three dozen of the reliable medicine, Sulphur Bitters to the Catholic Home for the Aged, which is highly appreciated by the directors and inmates. "As ye sow, so shall ye reap."—Editor Catholic Union.

Dandruff eradicated, the scalp made clean, and gray hair restored to its original youthful beauty and vigor by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

Health is impossible when the blood is impure, thick and sluggish, or when it is thin and impoverished. Such conditions give rise to boils, pimples, headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism and other disorders. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies, invigorates and vitalizes the blood.

In consequence of a gift of $100 from Mr. A. W. Spencer, a well known Boston banker, the boys at the Newsboys' Home were at Christmas supplied with nice woollen mittens, wristers and mufflers, with an addition of candies, nuts, etc.

You hardly realize that it is medicine, when taking Carter's Little Liver Pills: they are very small; no bad effects; all troubles from torpid liver are relieved by their use.

Edward S. Green, an insurance broker, committed suicide by poison at the Essex house, Salem, Mass., Jan. 1st. Financial embarrassment was the cause.

Every nervous person should try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. They are made specially for nervous and dyspeptic men and women, and are just the medicine needed by all persons who, from any cause, do not sleep well, or who fail to get proper strength from their food. Cases of weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, nervous and sick headache, &c., readily yield to the use of the Little Nerve Pills, particularly if combined with Carter's Little Liver Pills. Fall and Winter Opening!

MRS. J. M. TEBBETTS

— ANNOUNCES FOR —

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY,

OCT. 19th and 20th,

— HER OPENING OF —

PATTERN HATS AND BONNETS.

For more than twenty years Mrs. Tebbets has invited the Ladies of Portsmouth and Vicinity to semi-annual exhibitions of Fine Millinery. Each succeeding season the selections have been finer and richer, the tastes of her customers calling for the best the market affords. The New Fall and Winter Styles in Trimmed Goods will surpass any ever seen in this city.

All Cordially Invited.

The gale on the night of Dec. 28th was the worst experienced at Jonesport, Me., since 1869, and on the morning of the 29th eighteen schooners were ashore in the harbor, namely: The Ada Baker, Cora C. Wave, Stephen Watts, Ella Brown, all badly damaged; Lizzie Brewster, Gurnet, Freeport, Oregon, Ellen Maria, slightly injured; Josie, rudder gone, and badly chafed; J. C. Nash, chafed badly, and lying hard; Bat, badly chafed, and bowsprit gone; Centennial, bowsprit and head gear gone; Eva & Belle, both anchors lost, shoe gone, and lying hard; Nettie Dobbin, rudder, forefoot and shoe gone; Ned Walker and Orrie V. Drisco, topmasts gone and rails smashed, by collision, and chafed badly; Ocean Romp, lost both anchors, bowsprit gone, badly damaged forward; Yankee Maid, anchor lost, rudder and part of keel gone.

Read the Death Roll

Which the bills of mortality of any large city may be fitly designated, and you will find that renal and vesical maladies, that is to say, those that effect the kidneys or bladder, have a remarkable prominence—we had almost said—preponderance. Bright's disease and diabetes in the chronic stage are rarely cured, and gravel, catarrh of the bladder and enuresis, slay many. Yet at the outset, when the trouble merely amounts to inactivity of the organs involved, the danger may be nullified by that pleasant renal tonic and diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which imparts the requisite amount of tone to the organs, without over-exciting them, and the use of which is convenient, and involves no elaborate preparation. Dyspepsia, as usual concomitant of renal complaints, and debility, which they invariably produce, are remedied by it. So also are constipation, malaria, rheumatic and nervous ailments.

A large three-masted schooner is reported sunk a few miles off Cape Elizabeth, Me., with her topmasts showing above water. She is supposed to have gone down with all hands in the recent gale. There is no clew to her identity.

INFANTILE SKIN DISEASES.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician, who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of its back down to his knees, was one solid rush, ugly, painful, blotched, and malicious. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred.

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN

Are born into the world every day with some eczematous affection, such as milk crust, scall head, scurf, or dandruff, sure to develop into an agonizing eczema, the itching, burning and disfiguration of which make life a prolonged torture unless properly treated.

A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin Beautifier, and a single application of CUTICURA, the Great Skin Cure, with a little CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, is often sufficient to arrest the progress of the disease, and point to a speedy and permanent cure.

Hence a mother who loves her children, who takes pride in their beauty, purity, and health, and in bestowing upon them a child's greatest inheritance,—a skin without a blemish, and a body nourished by pure blood,—should fail to make trial of the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of light, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief! all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box of CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

THAT HIGH FRENCH TOWER.

The Idea Abandoned Because Workmen Would Not Go So Far Up.

No feature of the place for the great exposition of 1889 was so much talked of as the gigantic tower, 1,000 feet high, or twice the height of the pyramids of Egypt, designed by M. Eiffel, engineer of the department of arts and manufactures. Since the tower of Babel nothing of the same character has been attempted, and it was thought that scientific progress would permit the descendants of those whom God dispersed because of their impiety to carry out a similar design. The idea was to make an iron base, composed of four pyramids, each pyramid fifty feet a side. These pyramids were to be separated from each other by a space of 300 feet, and for stability to be anchored in solid masonry. At a distance of 250 feet above the ground these pyramids were to be united by a gallery fifty feet wide; the gallery, covered with glass, was to be reserved for the restaurants, soirees, etc.

The next story was to have a room covered with glass, and this room was to be 100 feet square. The whole was to be surmounted by a glass dome, surrounded by a terrace, and from this terrace the exposition was to be lighted with electricity. It is time now to state that this tower was the idea of Lockroy, ex-minister of commerce and director of the exposition. He searched for the exposition's greatest attraction and found a tower. The four colossal pyramids may be seen at the Champs de Mars, but we fear that all who visit Paris in 1889 for the purpose of viewing the triumph of metallurgical art will be sadly disappointed, for the tower will never be finished. Money is not lacking, for the enthusiastic French would subscribe any amount to possess the highest tower in the world, but the difficulty lies in the errors of calculation. For 250 feet, until the first platform, there will be no obstacle, but the tower will then only rival Notre Dame.

Should it reach the second platform its appearance would be most fantastic, but workmen cannot be found willing to go beyond a certain point. There has been a plan for the importation of negroes and Chinamen, but they might not be more willing than the French to hazard their lives. It was decided to inform the timid negroes or Chinamen that a scaffolding would protect them from all danger, but these plotters forgot that these poor negroes and Celestials would be obliged to construct the scaffolding themselves. During the Franco-Prussian war a French flag was planted on the spire of the Metz cathedral. The flag remained until it fell rag by rag, because not a German soldier was willing to risk his life by hauling it down. Besides, every tower vibrates even in a moderate wind, and because of the vibration at the great height proposed, workmen would find it impossible to rivet one piece of iron to another.

What will be done? you ask. Nothing, only the tower will not be finished, and we who hoped to reach the dome in an elevator constructed like a Swiss railway, and from this dome view the country for 100 miles around; we, who thought to see Compeigne and Rheims, Fontainebleau and Chartres, with the little villages, lost in the woods, and the rivers wandering through the valleys—we must content ourselves with a sight of Charenton and Neuilly, Anteuil and Vincennes. Instead of going seven times as high as the Column Vendome and standing 600 feet higher than the top of Mount Valerien, we shall probably find ourselves looking up to the Trocadero tower of the Arc de Triomphe.—Paris Cor. Chicago Times.

An Unexplored Country.

Morocco is sometimes called the "China of the West," and it deserves its name, for it is fully as much behind the times and is even more of a mystery. There is really less known about some parts of it today than there is about the center of Africa. Its area has never been accurately computed, and its population is variously estimated at from 2,500,000 to 8,000,000, the very names of the tribes that compose it being unknown. Its high mountains, the loftiest on the Mediterranean, are unexplored, and many of its inland cities have never been entered by a European.—The Cosmopolitan.

Cock Fighting at Macassar.

The spurs used were about three inches long, and made of the blades of razors ground down to excessive thinness. With such weapons there is but little cruelty in the affair. We waited to see a main fought before we left. The king and other royal personages made their bets, the combatants were placed opposite to one another, they made two feints, and in less than half a dozen seconds the vanquished bird lay motionless on the ground. Had he met his fate legitimately at the hands of the poulterer his death could not have been more rapidly effected.—The Cruise of the Marchesa.

Came Near Being Caught.

The members of a church at Hartwell, Ga., were discussing what they had done to help the cause of religion along during the year, when one good brother, whose cotton crop had turned out better than he expected, said: "I came very near promising the Lord at planting time that I would give him $1 for every bale of cotton I should make this year; but, brethren, if I had done so the Lord would have got me sure."—New York Evening World.

Land of the Mastodon.

Washington territory must have been a favorite stamping ground of the mastodon, for every day or two somebody out there digs up remains of the prehistoric monsters. The most recent discoveries are at or near Touchet and at Davenport. In each case the bones dug up were well preserved and of enormous size.—New York Evening World.

Ensign John M. Poyer is detached from the Saratogo, and placed on waiting orders.

Medical Director C. J. Cleborne is detached as a member of the medical examing board, and ordered to the Norfolk hospital.

Medical Inspector M. Bradley is detached from the Norfolk hospital, and placed on waiting orders.

Medical Inspector John H. Clark is detached from duty at Portsmouth, N. H., and ordered to the medical examining board, Washington.

Assistant Engineer Harry Hall is detached from duty under Chief Engineer Potts, and ordered to duty in connection with the machinery of the new cruisers.

Lieutenant F. F. Fletcher and Ensign A. A. Ackerman are ordered from ordnance instruction at the Washington navy yard, to ordnance duty at the same yard.

Advices from Norfolk, Va., of Dec. 28th, state that Commodore Brown, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, has received the official sailing orders for the Ossipee and Yantic from Rear Admiral Lucc, and they will soon sail. The corvette Yantic will be the first of the two vessels to leave, will visit a number of the Windward islands, call at different ports along the Spanish Main, and then sail for Aspinwall, where she is expected to remain until the arrival of the Ossipee, which will sail from Norfolk soon after the departure of the Yantic. The Galena has been put out of commission, and her crew have been transferred to the receiving ship Franklin, where they will remain until the vessel has been thoroughly overhauled; the Galena will be at the Norfolk yard for about three months. Admiral Luce has ordered that all the vessels of the North Atlantic squadron rendezvous at Hampton Roads not later than the first of May, after completing their winter cruise in the West Indies.

Naval Constructor Hichborn recently visited the shipyard of Cramp & Sons, and reports that the work on the war vessels is progressing satisfactorily. While he was there the ways were being put under Gunboat No. 1, preparatory to launching it. This of course does not mean that the vessel is soon to be completed. The mere outside shell will be floated, in order to make room for the building of the Newark; the interior finishing will require many months to complete.

A Disturbed Assembly.

On Jan. 2d, 1887, the membership of Garrison Hill Assembly 4816, of Dover, was 970; on Jan. 2d, 1888, the members in good standing numbered only seventy-five. Last April the assembly netted $4500 by a fair, and there is now $4155 in the treasury. Master Workman Wm. H. Miller charges three leading members of the assembly with conspiracy to disband, and divide the treasury between them. A special meeting was called for Monday evening, to vote on the question. There was much excitement in labor circles in Dover when this became known that day, and a stormy meeting was looked for.

The expectation was fulfilled, for 110 members were at the meeting, many of them having no business there, and after some exciting scenes the meeting broke up in disorder.

Fishing Yacht Race.

There has been much talk concerning the relative sailing qualities of certain Boston and Gloucester fishing vessels, the wordy dispute being especially hot between the admirers of the schooner Alice M. Stroples of Gloucester, and those of the Carrie E. Phillips of Boston, the new "Burgess fisherman." The owners of the latter vessel on Saturday issued a challenge offering to race the Alice M. Stroples, or as many other fishing vessels out of Gloucester as may wish to enter any of the following races: To Bermuda and return; fifty miles to windward from Boston light and return; triangular course, from Buoy 8, off Boston light, to and around buoy off Peaked Hills bar, to the northward of Highland light, thence to and around the Londoner, off Thacher's island, thence to Boston light, distance about 100 miles; from Boston light to a boat anchored one mile off Cape Race light, Newfoundland, and return to Boston light, distance about 1600 miles. In case only the Alice M. Stroples and Carrie E. Phillips engage in the Cape Race match, the stakes to be not less than $2000 a side. Should three or more vessels start in the Cape Race match, each vessel shall put up $1000 for a sweepstakes, the first vessel home to take all the stakes.

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE OF THE W. C. T. U.

The quarterly conference of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Rockingham county will be held in the chapel of the North church, on Middle street, to-day, Jan. 4th, commencing at 10:30 A. M.; afternoon session at 1:30; basket collation at 12:30. There will be the usual variety in the exercises, the last hour being occupied in asking and discussing questions of interest. All friends of the temperance cause are cordially invited to attend. Miss Holmes of Derry, state superintendent of Young Woman's Christian Temperance Unions, will speak at 2:30 P. M., and it is hoped the young people of our city will be present.

THE AUSTIN-LINCOLN BALL.

The annual Emancipation ball of the Austin-Lincoln association was held in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening, the hall having been engaged the evening before for the Children's Home benefit entertainment. The decorations were profuse, yet very tasteful and pleasing, bunting, flags and streamers in abundance, and very large designs in artificial flowers, being so disposed as to have an excellent general effect. The galleries were packed with the best citizens, ladies largely predominating, and the manner in which the intricate figures of the grand march were performed drew forth several hearty rounds of applause. As the evening advanced many well known gentlemen appeared on the floor, and the ball was a decided success.

A SAD DISAPPOINTMENT.

Mr. T. E. O'Kelly, who has been in Aroostook county, Maine, canvassing for the sale of oil paintings for the firm of Leven & Son of New York, returned home on Christmas to pass the holidays with his friends in this city. Mr. O'Kelly started from the Aroostook region in a vehicle drawn by a moose, but the weather was so cold that he was obliged to return with the animal, and have it housed to save it from freezing to death. This was a great disappointment to Mr. O'Kelly, as he had intended exhibiting the moose here after arrival. This is the gentleman's story, and as there is no instance on record of a commercial traveller spreading the truth over a greater extent of territory than it would cover, or at least, getting caught at doing it, the story must be accepted without mental reservation.

THE HIP-ROOFED HOUSE AND OLD VESSEL.

KITTERY, ME., Jan. 2d.

Mr. Editor: In answer to "M. T. M.," I will state that the hip-roofed house, and the vessel frame, he inquires about, belonged to Master Jacob Remick; the frame was that of a small pink-sterned vessel, less than twenty tons, of a class known in those days as a "Chebacco Boat;" she was finished up about the year 1829, and was hauled by oxen to Mr. Samuel J. Keen's landing, near the end of Portsmouth bridge; there put afloat, and named the "Jane." She was afterward sold to parties at York harbor, where she finally laid her bones. The reason of her being so long on the stocks, was because Master Remick built her at odd jobs, with his own hands and the aid of his boys. The hip-roofed house was sold to Mr. Joseph A. Spinney, taken down, and rebuilt with a square roof; then sold to Master Thomas Lydston, and is now owned and occupied by Mr. Seth Sterling. It was not near Litchfield's mill, however, being a mile to the westward, toward Portsmouth.

SEPTUAGENARIAN.

THE TIDE WAITERS AT STRAWBERRY BANK.

New Hampshire has always had a justifiable pride in her only seaport. Her people have been content to rest quietly under the burthen of what Mr. Cleveland pretends to regard as oppressive taxation, that the guardians of the revenue at the wharves of the Piscataqua might enjoy their comfortable places. Of late years, the argosies bringing the wealth of the Indies and the luxurious products of foreign climes and the delicate fabrics of oriental countries, have ceased to arrive at this port. The coastwise collier or the fishing smacks of Ipswich bay form for the most part the shipping in the harbor, while an occasional arrival of a vessel from the Provinces, laden with railway ties or potatoes, and an infrequent cargo of salt or soft coal, make up the imports from places beyond the sea.

Some years ago the position of naval officer, which had been filled with much ability year by year, was summarily abolished, and the seekers for position knew the coveted place no more. The inspectorships remained. A comfortable and cosy room awaited the incumbents of this office ere they began their day's tramp along the water front, and a per diem of three dollars and a half rendered the discharge of their duties of a pleasing nature. Of course, for places like these there had been reasonable competition among those desirous of entering the public service, but once installed, there was a sense of security and permanency which seemed gratifying in the enjoyment.

But recently there appears to have been a disturbing element among these incumbents, all up and down the New England coast from Quoddy Head to Point Judith. It was not for the reason that the government was short of funds, or that there were complaints of the extravagance of supporting these officers in places where there was "little to do and plenty to get," as Sergeant Buzfuz remarked to Sam Weller. In fact, while the surplus in the treasury was causing anxiety concerning the best means to accomplish its reduction, the executive branch of the government decided to reduce the number and compensation of our vigilant inspectors of customs.

In vain have men of influence in the party written to Washington, remonstrating that the handling of the government patronage in this way, would be disastrous to the future of the democratic candidate in November. To these letters have been returned replies that the "Department," that comprehensive designation behind which can hide an adroit official, declines to alter the order one jot or tittle. The sympathy of the entire state is aroused for these men who are thus sacrificed by the managers whom they have helped to place in comfortable places. But there is no help for the unfortunate. The administration, if it has committed a blunder in regard to the tariff, is bound to be solid on the question of reform, this time in the party for political effect, well knowing that the democracy can rely always upon the votes, even when it provokes the criticisms of the men in the ranks.—Monitor.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Sixteen mechanics were "taken on" at our navy yard, Tuesday morning, to work on the repairs to the dry dock. It is said that fifteen of them have been known as republicans, and have steadily voted the republican ticket. Whether this is so or not, some of the democratic workingmen are quite wrathful over not having themselves received a call, while others take matters more philosophically, and observe that the republicans used to "run the yard" the same way—leave the strong party men, whose votes it was assumed could be relied upon under any circumstances, out in the cold, and "call" such members of the opposition as it was hoped might be susceptible to influence. The philosophers consider that this alleged loud call to republicans is but an early and energetic commencement of the reform campaign. The truth probably is, that the men employed were called because they were known to be competent workmen.

A New York despatch of Dec. 31st says: "There is a little less activity manifest at the navy yard now than a week ago, but only so because the Nipsic has started upon her cruise, and the discontinuance of work upon the cruiser Chicago for sea-service until her new spars are ready to put in. The Fortune, which has been in the dry dock for several days receiving a new rudder, will be floated out on Tuesday, and the Trenton will succeed her, to be repaired in accordance with the plans of the board of survey. These repairs, it is estimated, will cost about $8,000, in addition to the $91,300 expended for repairs upon this vessel less than a year ago at the Norfolk navy yard. The new cruiser Atlanta will go in the dry dock after the Portsmouth, and receive extensive repairs, which it will probably take about a month to complete."

The Nonpareil Minstrels are rehearsing an excellent programme for an entertainment to be given in Music hall on Monday evening, Jan. 30th. The minstrels are all members of the Nonpareil Associates' organization, which we think is the longest established of any young men's club in the city. There are some very fine voices in the club, and we feel safe in saying the entertainment will be a superior one.

Rev. C. B. Pitblado's lecture in the Methodist church on Monday evening was very interesting, but only a small audience attended.

Mr. R. Hamilton Perkins has had his salary as superintendent of schools in Chicopee, Mass., raised to $1700—the second increase of $100 granted him within a year.

The chief magistrate of Portsmouth, Hon. George E. Hodgdon, was united in the bonds of matrimony on the evening of Jan. 2d at his residence on Middle street, by Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., to Miss Laura M. Johnston of Boston, Mass. The mayor was a very good kind of man before; we shall expect him to be perfection hereafter.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

HOW MUCH cleaner and nicer it is to wash the Napkins, Towels, Handkerchiefs, Table Linen, etc., by themselves, not with under-clothing, etc., and with Soap that is not made of putrid fats, or questionable grease?

Do it with IVORY SOAP (99 44/100 per cent. pure), made of vegetable oil, and use them confident that they are clean and not tainted.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Corticelli Wash Silk.

SOLD ONLY ON SPOOLS

Color warranted not to "run," or to injure in any way the most delicate material in washing. For heavy outline embroidery use two threads, for lighter work use the thread singly. These goods are adapted to a wider range of art work than any yet offered for this purpose. The convenience of having this reliable brand on spools, rather than doubtful goods in skeins which tangle and become quickly shop-worn, will be apparent to dealers and consumers. Sold by enterprising merchants, who can be supplied at our Agency, No. 18 Summer Street, Boston.

The schooner S. W. Lawrence, Haskell master, from Baltimore with 2055 tons of coal to E. F. Sise & Co., was towed up from the lower harbor on the 3d inst. by the tug Clara Bateman, and berthed at the Concord railroad wharf to discharge. This is the largest cargo of coal ever brought to this port.

The steam tug Leader, of Philadelphia, bound from Portland for Boston, and the steamer Mary Morgan, bound from Eastport for Wilmington, Del., put into the lower harbor on the 3d inst. on account of the heavy sea prevailing outside.

The steamer James Sampson on the 3d inst. took down to the schooner Katie Mitchell, sunk in the lower harbor, 125 empty barrels to be used in an attempt to raise her. Kittery parties have contracted to lift her, and give her an overhaul on Neal's railway.

Byron never uttered truer words than when he said, "Physicians mend or end us." But while doctors disagree, all the world has agreed that there is no remedy equal to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The January term of the supreme court for York county, Judge Virgin presiding, opened at Saco on the 3d inst. There are 115 new entries, and 310 continued cases, reported. The prospect is for a short term.

To-day take the medicine for to-morrow, which is Warner's Log-Cabin Sarsaparilla. The largest Sarsaparilla bottle in the market. 120 doses for $1.00. All druggists.

A Generous Firm.

We are informed that the proprietors, Messrs. P. Ordway & Co., recently sent three dozen of the reliable medicine, Sulphur Bitters to the Catholic Home for the Aged, which is highly appreciated by the directors and inmates. "As ye sow, so shall ye reap."—Editor Catholic Union.

The schooner Eva May, which was driven ashore on Old Orchard beach by the storm of Sunday, Dec. 18th, while on the passage from this port to Portland, was hauled off on Saturday forenoon, the 31st, by the tug L. A. Belknap, after a number of unsuccessful attempts on previous days. The schooner was towed to Portland, where the slight damage done to her bottom by contact with the beach will be repaired.

Say no ill of the Year 'till it be Past.

The winter brings you chapped lips, sore nose, cold cracks, etc., but a box of Hop Ointment (endorsed by leading society ladies) will prove a friend in need. Never fails. At all druggists, 25 cents, or mail stamps to Hop Co., New London, Conn. Sample free.

Fifteen thousand coal miners in the Schuylkill region struck Jan. 3d, against a reduction of wages.

Dandruff eradicated, the scalp made clean, and gray hair restored to its original youthful beauty and vigor by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

—The days begin to lengthen, and so does the face of the man who looks at his emptying coal bin.

Health is impossible when the blood is impure, thick and sluggish, or when it is thin and impoverished. Such conditions give rise to boils, pimples, headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism and other disorders. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies, invigorates and vitalizes the blood.

—It is alleged that the coloring matter in greenbacks is a deadly poison. Who's afraid?

You hardly realize that it is medicine, when taking Carter's Little Liver Pills: they are very small; no bad effects; all troubles from torpid liver are relieved by their use.

—Guest: "Well, good-bye, old man, you've really got a very nice little place here!" Host: "Yes, but it's rather bare just now; I hope the trees will have grown a good bit before you're back, old fellow!"

Every nervous person should try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. They are made specially for nervous and dyspeptic men and women, and are just the medicine needed by all persons who, from any cause, do not sleep well, or who fail to get proper strength from their food. Cases of weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, nervous and sick headache, &c., readily yield to the use of the Little Nerve Pills, particularly if combined with Carter's Little Liver Pills. In vials at 25 cents.

—Small girl: "Rob, what's a widower, anyhow?" Small boy: "Why, Helen, I'm s'prised at you. It's the husband of a widow, of course."

Chester G. Parker, of Oseida, N. Y., was entirely cured of an affection of the throat and lungs, accompanied by a severe cough of several years' standing, by the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Great Success attends the sale of James Pyle's New Washing Compound, Pearline. This is not surprising, as it has been demonstrated from actual experience that it is absolutely harmless to the most delicate fabric, while it is a great economizer of labor, time and soap.

—Now export arnica and extract of witch hazel to Australia. The roller skating craze has just struck there.

A Swedish Cabinet-Maker's Luck.

Some men are born rich, some acquire riches and others have riches thrust upon them. To the latter fortunate class belongs Mr Charles A. Johnson, No. 375 W. Ohio street, Chicago, and who was the lucky holder of one-tenth of ticket No. 13,644 which drew the first capital prize of $100,000 in the October drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery. A Traveler reporter found Mr. Johnson, a very intelligent young Swede, twenty-seven years of age, a cabinet-maker by occupation, who, six years ago, came to America and found employment at his trade in Chicago. Having three times before purchased tickets in the lottery and drawn nothing, his joyful surprise was great when he found that his last investment has brought him a return of $15,00 0.—Chicago, Arkansas Traveler, Nov. 5th.

This is Good Enough

Mr. C. E. Bartholomew, Kalamazoo, Mich., says: "I owe my life solely to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. I had liver and kidney disease, and for five years was unable to go about. I am now well, and can do a man's work on my farm. I shall always hold up both hands for Dr Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Fall and Winter Opening!

MRS. J. M. TEBBETTS

— ANNOUNCES FOR —

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY,

OCT. 19th and 20th,

— HER OPENING OF —

PATTERN HATS AND BONNETS.

For more than twenty years Mrs. Tebbetts has invited the Ladies of Portsmouth and Vicinity to semi-annual exhibitions of Fine Millinery. Each succeeding season the selections have been finer and richer, the tastes of her customers calling for the best the market affords. The New Fall and Winter Stock is Trimmed Goods will surpass any ever seen in this city.

All Cordially Invited.

Ingenuity on Both Sides.

A gentleman about to close his summer house at Nahant conceived what he considered a brilliant idea to insure the daily personal inspection of every room in his villa during the winter by the old man in whose charge the establishment was to be left. Accordingly, he said to the old man that he should leave all his clocks, one in each room, at Nahant during the winter, and he desired that every one should be wound up at a regular hour each day. The old man concurred in the plan with all his heart, and promised he would not fail. The house was closed. The owner bragged a good deal about his scheme for having every room guarded against leaks, etc., during the winter, and came to Boston. A week or two afterward this gentleman thought he would take a run down to Nahant, and see how things were going. When he arrived there he found his man, who was very glad to see him, and told him that he had wound each clock faithfully as he had directed. On entering the house the two proceeded to the rear drawing room, and the astonishment of the owner may be better imagined than described when he saw ranged along in a row his thirteen clocks, which the old man had brought down to save himself the trouble of going all over the house every day.—Boston Gazette.

A Lunch Box Needed.

A prominent physician says that children's school luncheons should not be placed in the old fashioned lunch basket or tin box, as bad odors always cling to a much used receptacle. What he recommends is a fresh, clean napkin wrapped neatly round the bread and butter or other edibles, and a pasteboard box to hold it all. The box can then be thrown away when the meal is done. The good sense of this will strike every person given to wholesome living, and it will also delight the box manufacturers, who should immediately get up a cheap little box especially adapted to the conveyance of school luncheons. Parents, no doubt, would be glad to buy these boxes as they buy matches, by the quantity, should they supersede the luncheon basket.—Boston Herald.

More Economical to Walk.

Burlington Husband—Are you aware, my dear, that you make away with about $30 a year in horse car fares riding to your sewing society and other meetings?

Wife—Yes, sir, I am; but I do it for economy's sake. I don't believe you could afford to have me walk.

"Why so, pray?"

"Perhaps you are not aware that between our home and the postoffice there are four milliners' shops."—Burlington Free Press.

"Mrs. Partington, what do you use for a bad cold?" asked Mrs. Dull. "Handkerchiefs, ma'am," answered the aged dame, looking over her spectacles. Handkerchiefs are a desideratum in the event of a cold, but a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a necessity, because it not only relieves, but cures the worst cold or cough.

—"That was an exhaustive article of mine on 'Our Political Future,'" said the contributor to the editor. "I found it so," was the somewhat unsatisfactory reply.

—The days begin to lengthen, and so does the face of the man who looks at his emptying coal bin.

Thou Shall Not Covet

Thy neighbor's box of Hop Ointment. Go to thy druggist, buy a box for 25 cents. Take no other. Insist on having it. Never fails. Try it. You will praise it.

—"Westward the 'star' of empire takes its way," but he frequently wakes home again on the ties.

Not one in twenty are free from some little ailment caused by inaction of the liver. Use Carter's Little Liver Pills. The result will be a pleasant surprise. They give positive relief.

—Small girl: "Rob, what's a widower, anyhow?" Small boy: "Why, Helen, I'm s'prised at you. It's the husband of a widow, of course."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is recommended by eminent physicians, on both sides of the Atlantic, as the most reliable remedy for colds, coughs, and all pulmonary disorders. Inquire of your druggist for Ayer's Almanac.

—A dream of fair women is most pleasing, if the dream be not of women who made you buy things you did not want at the fair, and gave no change back.

To be free from sick headache, biliousness, constipation, etc., use Carter's Little Liver Pills. Strictly vegetable. They gently stimulate the liver and free the stomach from bile.

—In the high school of 1900: Principal: "Who was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen?" Chorus by the entire school (standing and with uncovered heads:) "John Lawrence Sullivan!"

New Year's? Yes, I'll dine with you then. I could not enjoy my Thanksgiving dinner, my stomach troubled me so. Now, thanks to a bottle of Ingall's Mandrake Compound, I can eat anything and have no bad feelings afterwards. My appetite is excellent, since Ingall's Mandrake Compound rid me of my dread enemy, dyspepsia. I consider this remedy superior to anything ever before offered to the public. All first class druggists keep it.

Two for a Cent

And the best ever made. Cheap enough, surely, and so good that those who have used them won't have any others. What are they? Athlophoros Pills. What are they for? For disordered Stomach or Liver, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Nervous or General Debility, Headache, Lassitude, Diseases of Women. They'll take away that tired feeling, give new life and strength. Small and pleasant to take, yet wonderfully effective. Prepared from the formula of an eminent physician. Neatly put up in bottles, and sold by all druggists.

DANIEL LITTLEFIELD,

Green Street, Portsmouth, N. H.

Astronomer Mitchel and Daniel Webster.

We paid our first visit to the secretary of state, who was already at an early hour in his public office. I had seen Mr. Webster once before. Several years had rolled round, and extraordinary changes in his political relations had in the meantime taken place. One glance at the strongly marked features of his countenance, which now wore an air of peculiar sternness, plainly told that the changes through which he had passed had not been unaccompanied with fierce conflicts and mighty struggles, which had, literally, dug their traces upon his careworn face. The Ashburton treaty was at this very time upon his hands, and was, perhaps, at this very moment torturing his mind with some of its vexed and perplexing questions. The secretary sat in his chair and received us not with courtesy, and yet not with indifference, but with a look which spoke as plainly as language could have uttered it: "Well, gentlemen, your business; I have no time to bandy compliments."

Interpreting the look and acting upon it, I addressed him much after the following fashion: "We have raised in our city [Cincinnati] by voluntary contribution a sum sufficient to lay the foundations of a great observatory. It will be the first in our country. I am the agent of the contributors, and am on my way to Europe to acquire the knowledge necessary to build, furnish and conduct such an observatory. As the objects to be accomplished by this enterprise are national, some interested have thought that the government might so far assist the association as to make its agent the bearer of dispatches to some foreign court; and if this be impossible, the association requests that I may be furnished with such letters to our ministers abroad as may facilitate my operations while in Europe."

Mr. Webster's reply was more condensed and laconic. "To make you bearer of dispatches, and thus pay in part your expenses, is impossible. Congress has deprived me of the means of paying for any such services. I will write you a letter, sir, if I find time." Here closed the interview.—"Life of O. M. Mitchel, Astronomer and General."

Advice to Young Lawyers.

Judge Richardson, who presides over the court of claims bench, originates a good many neat little sayings. The other evening he was lecturing to a large audience of law students on the principles of success in the legal profession. The judge advanced some ideas as to the causes of the success of lawyers in politics that were new to me, but seem to have germs of plausibility if not truth. Rather curiously they were introduced under the topic of "integrity."

"Be honest," said Judge Richardson, "if for no other reason than that the world believes all lawyers to be tricksters. It is impossible to disabuse the entire public of that error, but when an individual gets into trouble, comes to you and finds you square and true in your dealings, he is so delightfully surprised that he becomes your warm friend for life. He still says that all lawyers are cheats, but makes an emphatic exception in favor of his lawyer. Thus a lawyer has the opportunity to make more friends than any other professional man. If you ever come to run for office you will be astonished at the number of political opponents who will vote for you on the score of friendship. Such is the uniform testimony of all my politico-legal friends."—New York Tribune.

How Canaries are Taught.

Canaries have their maestros, both human and of their own kind. At a certain age the young birds are placed in rooms where five old male singers are kept in dark boxes made of a peculiar wood, which acts like the sounding board of a piano, so as to give their songs a greater fullness. In these boxes are small air holes. When the front of the boxes are taken off and light is let in these old professionals will begin to sing. The pupils listen attentively, and, being very imitative, soon learn to sing that way too. When they have picked up all the fine notes which the instructor can give them the owner will have a flute or piccolo played in the room, a nightingale will be allowed to sing to them and a wild forest bird will be occasionally introduced. When their educations are completed they have diplomas tacked on their cages and are sold.—New York World.

Extensive Collection of Relics.

Professor Frothingham, of Princeton, who has recently returned from Italy, has brought with him an extensive collection of casts and of Babylonian and Assyrian seals and cylinders. Besides these he brought a valuable collection of antique vases from Etruria, illustrating Etruscan archæology from the archaic to the Roman period. This collection, which is most complete historically, and comprises about 200 specimens, came from excavations made at Civita Castellana, near Rome. While in Germany Professor Frothingham procured several wood carvings of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth centuries, a carved basket of ivory and ebony of Gothic workmanship, and a manuscript of the Fourteenth century with full page illustrations.—Harper's Bazar.

Barbers as Interviewers.

"I often think," said a barber, "that we would make the best of interviewers. I am certain that men talk right to the point when in the barber's chair. Many is the great bit of confidence we catch onto, and there is none of that beating about the bush that there is when talking for publication. We see the great men just as they are and I am sometimes surprised at the great reputations some of them acquire. You may find them well posted on certain topics, but on others decidedly ignorant. What do they say? That would be a breach of professional confidence. Let us talk about something else."—Buffalo News.

AN OCEAN HORROR.

The Boston Traveller of Wednesday evening states that an 1800-ton barque, believed to be American, was wrecked today at the entrance of the Waterford harbor. The crew, numbering twenty-five, were drowned.

Taking the Black Veil.

The daughter of Hon. John C. Linnehan, a member of Gov. Sawyer's council, was one of the candidates who received the black veil at St. Elizabeth convent in Portland, on Tuesday the 3d inst. Rev. Father O'Callaghan of this city, and Father Murphy of Dover, were present. Bishop Healey of the Maine diocese was assisted by Father Barry, vicar-general of New Hampshire.

Good Enough!

In the supreme court at Nashua on the 4th inst., contrary to expectations, the Manchester scandal cases were called. The court room was crowded with interested spectators. David Moody, of the Salvation Army at Manchester, was first placed on trial. Four young girls, aged from twelve to fifteen years, gave their testimony against him of a character unfit for publication. The case was given to the jury, who were out twelve minutes, returning with a verdict of guilty. Later Moody was sentenced to three years' hard labor in the state prison. The trial of Stoakes, another person indicted, will follow.

NEWS AND NOTES.

A colossal storage warehouse trust has been organized in Brooklyn.

There is a movement in Iowa to defeat Senator Wilson's re-election.

The reduction of the public debt in December amounted to $15,250,000.

Boston postal clerks have sent a delegate to Washington to look after their interests.

In a railroad collision near Meadville, Penn., five persons were killed and over a dozen injured.

A French protectorate has been proclaimed in the Walles islands in the South Pacific.

The Maryland democrats have revolted against Higgins, ex-treasury clerk and administration boss, and he is not elected clerk of the Maryland house of delegates.

The republican state and district conventions for the choice of delegates to the republican national convention will be held at Concord, May 8th.

Thomaston, Me., people have united in a strong protest against closing the office of deputy collector of customs at that port.

$46,000 is needed to make a beginning upon the public building at Manchester. Now let us see McKinney spread himself. It will come if he only puts his great mind upon it.

The British ironclad Hercules touched a reef off Ferrell, Spain, Jan. 2d, and knocked a hole in her side. All efforts to stop the leak failed, and the ship reached the harbor of Ferrell in a sinking condition.

It is stated that the members of the lobby who served the Concord railroad, have been generously remunerated and all bills settled. The Concord landlords now expectantly await the remuneration of the other fellows.

It is stated that the Washington Fire & Marine Insurance Co. of Boston, intends to go out of business, and is re-insuring its risks. The company has for a long time been noted for its conservative solidity. The statement is made that one of the new Concord Insurance companies had expired, because it had drawn a blank in the lottery of insurance; or, in other words, had not the means of settling present ascertained and probable future losses. The year just closed seems to have been a hard one for fire underwriters. The number of fires in New York city in the dry goods district and in places where they were conceded good, seems unusual.

The Manchester Mirror has made a canvass among active republicans in the state to ascertain their views upon the candidates for the next republican president and vice president.

The new city government of Dover was inaugurated on Wednesday of this week. The old officers were re-elected.

Hicks, who wrecked the Stafford bank of Connecticut, has been sentenced to pay a nominal fine of one dollar and to be confined in the state prison for four years. In this land of steady habits there are so many of these kind of offenders that if they received long sentenced the prisons would have to be enlarged.

Cashier M. W. Rasbach of the Herkimer, N. Y., national bank has absconded with $30,000.

The Massachusetts legislature began its session on Wednesday, the 4th inst. The sessions of this body commonly conclude in season to enable the sergeant at arms to prepare the state house for a coming legislative session.

A new savings bank went into operation at Concord on Monday. W. F. Hazen, president of the First National bank in Concord, is treasurer. The bank will pay four per cent interest to depositors.

Kentucky heats her state house with wood fires, in old-fashioned fire places, just as were in vogue in the state house at Concord sixty years ago. In New Hampshire, when the session of the legislature is prolonged into the cold months of fall, the governor warms up the members by a veto.

A meeting of farmers was recently held in the agricultural town of Boston, Mass., when the subject discussed was "How to get the most out of land." The common belief of the land-poor men of the country has been that the best plan is to put a blanket mortgage upon the farm, unless the commissions for negotiating come too high.

A bill is to be shortly introduced into Congress giving the surviving soldiers of the war of 1812, $25 per month pension, instead of eight dollars as now paid. There are 1069 of them on the list. The widows of 1812 war soldiers are 11,831 in number. In New Hampshire there are forty-four of these soldiers, and 446 widows.

The calender par excellence this season is issued by the Smith & Anthony Stove Co., of Boston, manufacturers of the celebrated Hub Ranges. It is in six sheets, each being a fac-simile of a delicate water-color drawing by Copeland, made especially for this purpose. The designs are exquisite, and the whole idea is so original and so artistic that it is a surprise to find anything so good and so costly issued as a souvenir by a business house. The six sheets are neatly bound together by a ribbon, and can be obtained by sending eighteen cents in stamps to the above address.

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its slim of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "medicated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

The hall and many of the rooms on the second floor of the Phœnix hotel at Concord are being extensively overhauled, and hung with new papers or painted in æsthetic designs. Rooms 70 and 71, known as the camp of the Hazen party, are receiving an especial renewal on their interior; if the walls have heard anything it is to be thoroughly covered up by the knights of the brush now in charge. Mr. Hill runs the Phœnix in capital style. Next to the Rockingham, it is the best hotel in the state.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

The following officers of St. John's Lodge, A. F. & A. M., were installed on Wednesday evening:

W. M., Albert R. Junkins;
S. W., Fred G. Ward;
J. W., John D. Randall;
Treas., Oliver G. Fernald;
Secretary, John H. Cheever;
S. D., Daniel M. Camp;
J. D. Arthur G. Brewster;
Tyler, Robert H. Hall;
Chaplain, Robert King.

The installation of the officers of New Hampshire Lodge, No. 47, I. O. O. F., took place on Wednesday evening of this week, after which all hands sat down to an excellent supper in their banquet hall.

The officers of Storer-Post, No. 1, G. A. R., were installed on Wednesday evening, by Past Commander George E. Hodgdon:

Com., Daniel J. Vaughan;
S. V. C., B. Stowe Laskey;
J. V. C., Meshach H. Bell;
Quartermaster, John H. Locke;
Surgeon, D. W. Jones;
Chaplain, Oren Bartlett;
Officer of the day, Thomas Tredick, Jr.;
Officer of the guard, Joseph F. Moore.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Capt., George F. Osgood;
1st Lieut., William E. Shreiter;
2d Lieut., Nathaniel H. Lear;
Camp Council, Nathaniel H. Lear, Albert Entwistle, Henry Whitehouse;
Delegate to the Division Encampment, Nathaniel H. Lear; alternate, William E. Shreiter.

President, Daniel Casey;
Vice President, John Falvey;
Rec. Secretary, William Dow;
Book-keeper, Thomas Mahoney;
Treasurer, James Whitman.

The club are actively in rehearsal for their first minstrel entertainment which takes place Jan. 30th, and propose to astonish the people with several new features in minstrelsy.

OBITUARY.

Rev. James DeNormandie was in attendance at the funeral service of the late Mrs. John Edward Salter, which took place from her late residence, No. 15 Court street, on Wednesday, the 4th inst.

Mrs. Salter was the daughter of the late Capt. James Kennard. She was a lady much beloved for her many attractive traits of character, and her loss will be severely deplored by a host of friends, in addition to her large circle of relatives. She was a sister of the late James Kennard, Jr., whose literary productions, written in a chamber of chronic invalidism, embellished the Knickerbocker Magazine many years ago, and were to some extent gathered in a volume of published writings.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 4th; Bufford J.

John Crowley and William Woolsey, two veteran topers, were each fined $5, and costs $6,90. It is safe to say that they will spend the remainder of the winter in Brentwood.

AROUND HOME.

Read French's new adv., it may benefit you.

Mr. Howard Rand, of Boston, is on a visit to his parents in this city.

Excellent skating on both the north and south ponds was enjoyed by large crowds on Wednesday.

Hon. Daniel Clark, judge of the United States District court, was in town on Wednesday.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $6 per pair. They are a great bargain.

Quite a number of attractions are booked at Music hall, to appear later in the season.

The owners of the schooner Grace K. Green were made glad on Tuesday last, by receiving a good, big dividend, as a result of her last six months' work.

Mr. James F. Dunn, formerly of this city, was re-elected a patrolman on the Manchester police force, Tuesday, the 3d inst.

If you need anything in the dry goods line, call at the well known and popular store of Ayers & Locke, No. 30 and 32 Market street.

Miss Sarah Neal Harris, and her class in elocution, in this city, will give two public exhibitions in Music hall the later part of this month.

"Donkey parties," which were all the rage at the beach hotels during the summer, are being given in this city by several young ladies.

Mr. Charles Garvin will cater for the M. H. Goodrich engine company on the occasion of their ball in February. The boys made no mistake when they engaged the host of the State street club.

Miss Georgine Moses gave a very enjoyable "Party Japanese" at her home, No. 46 Islington street, Wednesday evening. A large number of her friends participated.

Hon. James W. Emery, president of the Caledonia Coal & Railway Co., has called the annual meeting of the stockholders, to be held in Boston on the 18th inst.

The stable keepers reap quite a harvest from the working people at the shoe factory; no less than five two-seated teams making two trips daily to the south end, and several to Newcastle.

Mr. George Jackson will at once build a wharf on his property at the foot of Dearborn street, extending twenty feet out into the mill pond, for the reception of his lumber.

It is said that Hon. Frank Jones and Charles A. Sinclair are taking a hand in Frenchman's Bay land stock. The price of shares has gone up, large sales of land are reported, and a golden harvest is predicted.

We notice in the Portland papers that the city fathers of that place have designated several streets in which the young folks may coast. It wouldn't be a bad idea to follow the Portland plan in our own city.

Notwithstanding the repeated thaws and mild weather, the ice men report ice having formed to the thickness of eight or nine inches on Wednesday, and the prospects are favorable for an average crop.

Harry P. Junkins, formerly a clerk with Moses Bros., but for the past two years at work in Chelsea, Mass., is now with S. H. McDowell & Co., as head clerk in their extensive goats' furnishing store at Chelsea. He was of those who spent Christmas in this city.

A glowing account of Sunday evening services in some of our churches, which were not open by reason of Sunday evening's severe rain storm, promptly appeared in the Manchester Union of Monday morning last, apparently written and mailed from this city Saturday, without consulting the weather probabilities.

The ladies of the Children's Home Sewing Circle realized about $150 for the benefit of the Home, from their entertainment in Franklin hall on Monday evening, the 2d inst. This is in addition to a gift of $100 given to Mrs. J. V. Whipple for the Home by some unknown gentleman, the same evening.

Mr. Charles Garvin, the popular manager of the State street club, will, with a party of amateurs, present the play of the "Private Secretary" at Music hall on Monday evening, Jan. 23d. Mr. Garvin will take the part of the private secretary; and as he has offered his services for the benefit of so many organizations, no doubt they will reciprocate and help give him a full house, as this entertainment is for his own benefit.

A number of the fishing fleet brought in average fares last night, prices ranging from $3.50 to $4 per hundred weight. Mr. Warren Caswell of Rye brought up a good load, which he sold at $3.75 per hundred. By the reports of stealing, as practiced by some of the fishermen, it wouldn't be a bad idea for the schooners to carry Gatling guns.

Mr. James Treadwell of Boston, son of Samuel Treadwell, Esq., our city treasurer, and superintendent of the job printing house of John Stetson, Alden street, Boston, was recently presented with an elegant gold watch by the employes of that establishment, partly as a new year's gift, and also to celebrate the occasion of Mr. Treadwell's marriage, he having recently become a benedict.

Special agents of the treasury department are to visit some of the custom houses in Maine to ascertain if the department was not a trifle too previous in the wholesale reduction. We suggest that the inspectors across the street invite these incorruptible examiners to step off at our station and spend the night at the Rockingham, and look at our custom house through the bottom of a champagne glass.

One of the workmen employed on the new bridge now being erected by the Boston & Maine railroad company across the river at Rowley, was struck by Conducter Garland's train, which leaves this city at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday morning, the 3d inst., and instantly killed. He was in the employ of the Boston bridge company, a Swede, and lived in Boston.

The fishermen complain about the electric light on Commercial wharf being too high, and also not burning all night, and say if they cannot have the electric they think they are entitled to the benefit of the gas light on the corner of Court and Water streets, especially as several of their number bought and paid for the red glass in said light.

On Friday evening of last week Wentworth Lodge, No. 22, K. of P., of Newcastle, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: P. C., Henry Becker, Jr.; C. C., George H. Amazeen; V. C., Charles C. Tarlton; P., Albert W. Hanscom; K. of R. and S., Wm. I. Haywood; M. of F., Howard M. Curtis; M. of E., Thaddeus Tarlton; M. of A., Wm. F. Meloon; trustees, Sullivan H. White, Jesse O. White, Conrad Push.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Jan. 3d.

Now that the matter of the barque Martha is adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned, and laid on the shelf beside Sir William Pepperrell, Champernowne, etc., we shall now search for the democrat who has enough of the Jeffersonian-simplicity-stripe in him to swallow the present reform administration pill without a little "sass."

One of the section hands employed in Mr. Jerry Crowley's gang at the York end of the York Harbor & Beach railroad was thrown from the hand-car one morning last week by the crank, which caught in his long overcoat and threw him head foremost in front of the rapidly-moving car, which passed over him, breaking several ribs and otherwise injuring him.

The first meeting of the union prayer service was held in the Christian church on Monday evening last, and was led by Rev. French Grovenor. There was a good attendance, and a harmonious spirit manifested.

Miss Florence E. Sanderson has resigned her position in the training school at Portsmouth, N. H., which she so lately accepted, and has again assumed charge of the school in district No. 1.

This is leap year. Girls, look before you leap. SIG. ROSA.

KITTERY POINT, ME., Jan. 3d.

The Kittery Fish Co. took in over twelve thousand pounds of the best fish of the season, last Sunday. Yesterday they shipped thirty-four boxes of fish by rail.

There are several large vessels now at anchor in the harbor, but the fleet as a whole is not a large one for winter.

This is an extra week for the fishermen. Last night they got $4.50 per hundred pounds for their fares.

It is thought that the schooner Katie Mitchell, sunk near Fort McClary, can be raised; an effort in that direction was made yesterday, and she was moved about six feet.

The singing school last night was well attended, and as usual afforded a very pleasant season to the participants.

The week of prayer is observed at the Freewill Baptist church this week.

AUNT MOLLY.

The Seminary chapel at Quebec, which contained valuable paintings, has been burned.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The regular meeting of the board of instruction was held on Tuesday evening, the 3d inst., Mayor Hodgdon presiding. Present, Messrs. Hovey, Gooding, Page, Laskey, Wendell, Goodrich, Cotton and Walden.

The resignation of Miss Annie E. Smart, as principal of the Haven school, on account of ill health, was accepted, and Mr. W. P. Brown of Worcester, Mass., was chosen to fill the vacancy.

Bills amounting to about $200 for maps, globes, etc., were ordered paid.

The board voted to adopt the new rules and regulations as reported by the chairman of the committee on rules.

The report of the superintendent for the last quarter was read and accepted.

City Marshal Rowe reported that he had attended to forty-two cases of truancy during the last quarter.

THE MINSTRELS.

Barlow Bros. and Frosts' Minstrels, which are to appear in Music hall Friday evening next, showed in Concord, Monday evening, and we clip the following from the People and Patriot of that city:

"Since last here the show has been greatly improved, and while it may not be able to contest honors with the monster attractions of the same order, yet it is much above the average and deserving of patronage. The traditional "first part" was very fair, the music, both vocal and instrumental, being excellent, and judged by the applause, it gave good satisfaction to the audience. The "gags" were, for the most part, new and bright, and if any "chestnuts were introduced, they were so nicely disguised as to make their presence tolerable, if not agreeable. The olio was varied and interesting, and in some of the acts decided talent was shown."

ELIOT ITEMS.

ELIOT, ME., Jan. 3d.

Christmas and New Year's day have come and gone, and we find ourselves at the beginning of another year,—the time of lots of good resolutions, which it is to be hoped may be fulfilled as far as possible, for we see and know of many cases where reformation of one kind or another is greatly needed, and would carry peace and rejoicing to many individuals and families.

The weather is unusually mild for the time of year. We had a nice little snow storm Sunday morning, and looked forward to some nice sleighing, but rain came in the afternoon and washed all our prospective sleighing away. We still hope for a little snow before winter ends, that we may hear the merry sound of the sleigh bells again; most likely we shall be gratified.

Mr. A. L. Hanscom is visiting his mother and sister in New York for a few weeks.

Walter H. Staples was thrown from his sleigh on Thursday, Dec. 29th, when on his way to work, but escaped with a slight cut on the head.

Saturday last, the end of the old year, was so extremely cold that little out-of-door work was done, and the men employed on the navy yard had to lie off, it being what is called a "ball day" there.

The Eliot Library Association gave their entertainment in the Methodist church on Tuesday evening, Dec. 27th; the exercises were very interesting, and the attendance very large. The weather that night was magnificent, and the sleighing perfect. The regular business and sociable meeting occurs this (Tuesday) evening in Emery hall at East Eliot.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday school at South Eliot will give a concert on Sunday evening, Jan. 8th, if pleasant; if stormy, the next fair Sunday evening.

Mr. F. T. Paul is confined to his house with a dangerous illness. He is attended by Dr. J. L. M. Willis, who says he has a chance for recovery. The community hope he may secure that chance, for he is a worthy citizen, and would be greatly missed.

There was a Christmas tree at the Methodist church on the Saturday evening preceding Christmas day; it was a very pleasant occasion, and the tree was loaded with gifts for those of all ages.

Miss Harriet Emery of this town is passing the winter with her nephew, Wm. G. Emery, of East Boston. Miss Emery will be ninety years old next month, but is as active as many women thirty years her junior. HARRY.

It is said that the origin of the disease which caused the death of the late Daniel Manning, is the imperfect drainage beneath the treasury building at Washington. Congress has been asked repeatedly to appropriate sums to remedy this evil, but Mr. Randall has constantly refused it, and the democratic majority has bowed submissively to the will of their chief. The reason alleged why this trouble is not remedied is that there are several officials in the department who cannot be killed off in any other mode. This is rough on the innocent, but the ways of democracy are sometimes mysterious and past finding out.

Miss Phœbe Cousins is to run for governor of Missouri.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

A Hundred and Twelve Years Old.

The records of the church of San Fernando, at San Antonio, Tex., show that William H. Founce was christened on March 3, 1775. He is alive yet, but doesn't know just how old he was when he was christened. Uncle Billy was a hard man in his day, being a bull fighter, a miner and a gambler. Although fully 112 years old, this veteran is reported to be spry and tough yet. A few days ago he rode ten miles to a dog fight, and came back with a pocketful of money. He lives alone, drinks mescal steadily, but no whisky or beer, eats heartily, sleeps well and looks like a man of 85.—New York Sun.

Egg Hatcheries in Egypt.

There are no less than 700 commercial egg hatchery establishments in Egypt, which "turn out" about 12,000,000 young birds annually. Country people who have no incubators exchange eggs for newly hatched chickens, giving two of the former for one of the latter.—Chicago Tribune.

The Asteroids.

No less than 269 little planets are now known in the asteroid zone, sixty of them having been discovered by Dr. J. Palisa, the well known astronomer of Vienna.—Arkansaw Traveler.

The Maw of Paris.

Paris has a terribly voracious maw, and it manages to put away in a year about 328,890,000 pounds of fresh meat, 55,098,000 pounds of poultry and game, 220,000 pounds or canned meats, 64,007,000 pounds of fish, 17,239,000 pounds of oysters, 28,674,000 pounds of butter, 1,509,880,000 eggs, 12,210,000 pounds of cheese, and 316,493,230 pounds of vegetables. Paris is also a great patron of the postoffice department, for 48,500,000 letters, 11,000,000 postal cards and 183,800,000 newspapers are posted and delivered in this city annually.—Cor. New Orleans Picayune.

Read the Death Roll

Which the bills of mortality of any large city may be fitly designated, and you will find that renal and vesical maladies, that is to say, those that effect the kidneys or bladder, have a remarkable prominence—we had almost said—preponderance. Bright's disease and diabetes in the chronic stage are rarely cured, and gravel, catarrh of the bladder and enuresis, slay many. Yet at the outset, when the trouble merely amounts to inactivity of the organs involved, the danger may be nullified by that pleasant renal tonic and diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which imparts the requisite amount of tone to the organs, without over-exciting them, and the use of which is convenient, and involves no elaborate preparation. Dyspepsia, as usual concomitant of renal complaints, and debility, which they invariably produce, are remedied by it. So also are constipation, malaria, rheumatic and nervous ailments.

—John Fischer, of Marathon City, Wisconsin, is mourning the loss of a $100 bill. During his absence from home a three-year-old boy secured the note, tore it up, and swallowed some of the pieces.

Dandruff eradicated, the scalp made clean, and gray hair restored to its original youthful beauty and vigor by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

—The fashions in silver are innumerable, says a writer in the Brooklyn Times. No doubt of it, but the most acceptable fashion is a round disk with a square-headed girl in bas relief on one side, and a highly infuriated buzzard on the other.

Health is impossible when the blood is impure, thick and sluggish, or when it is thin and impoverished. Such conditions give rise to boils, pimples, headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism and other disorders. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies, invigorates and vitalizes the blood.

—Two of the recent hanged anarchists have appeared at a spiritual seance, one of them playing a jew's harp and the other an accordeon. Another illustration of total depravity. Even hanging, it appears, fails to reform an anarchist.

You hardly realize that it is medicine, when taking Carter's Little Liver Pills: they are very small; no bad effects; all troubles from torpid liver are relieved by their use.

—Guest: "Well, good-bye, old man, you've really got a very nice little place here!" Host: "Yes, but it's rather bare just now; I hope the trees will have grown a good bit before you're back, old fellow!"

Every nervous person should try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. They are made specially for nervous and dyspeptic men and women, and are just the medicine needed by all persons who, from any cause, do not sleep well, or who fail to get proper strength from their food. Cases of weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, nervous and sick headache, &c., readily yield to the use of the Little Nerve Pills, particularly if combined with Carter's Little Liver Pills. In vials at 25 cents.

—It is alleged that the coloring matter in greenbacks is a deadly poison. Who's afraid?

Say no Ill of the Year 'till it be Past.

The winter brings you chapped lips, sore nose, cold cracks, etc., but a box of Hop Ointment (endorsed by leading society ladies) will prove a friend in need. Never fails. At all druggists, 25 cents, or mail stamps to Hop Co., New London, Conn. Sample free.

—Drawers of water—marine artists.

Great Success attends the sale of James Pyle's New Washing Compound, Pearline. This is not surprising, as it has been demonstrated from actual experience that it is absolutely harmless to the most delicate fabric, while it is a great economizer of labor, time and soap.

—Now export arnica and extract of witch hazel to Australia. The roller skating craze has just struck there.

A Generous Firm.

We are informed that the proprietors, Messrs. P. Ordway & Co., recently sent three dozen of the reliable medicine, Sulphur Bitters to the Catholic Home for the Aged, which is highly appreciated by the directors and inmates. "As ye sow, so shall ye reap."—Editor Catholic Union.

—Wife (to husband): "There were two hats that I liked, one for $13 and one for $18." Husband: "Which did you finally decide upon?" Wife: "The $18 one. I'm a little superstitious about the number 13."

Chester G. Parker, of Oneida, N. Y., was entirely cured of an affection of the throat and lungs, accompanied by a severe cough of several years' standing, by the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

—"Talk about accidents from negligence, why it was a railroad man's negligence that saved my life once!" "How was that?" "Why, the fellow let the fire go out in the car stove just before our train was wrecked."

This is Good Enough.

Mr. C. E. Bartholomew, Kalamaka, Mich., says: "I owe my life solely to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. I had liver and kidney disease, and for five years was unable to go about. I am now well, and can do a man's work on my farm. I shall always hold up both hands for Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Price $1.00 a bottle, six for $5. janl1

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,satq

Fall and Winter Opening!

MRS. J. M. TEBBETTS

— ANNOUNCES FOR —

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY,

OCT. 19th and 20th,

— HER OPENING OF —

PATTERN HATS AND BONNETS.

For more than twenty years Mrs. Tebbets has invited the Ladies of Portsmouth and Vicinity to semi-annual exhibitions of Fine Millinery. Each succeeding season the selections have been finer and richer, the tastes of her customers calling for the best the market affords. The New Fall and Winter Stock in Trimmed Goods will surpass any ever seen in this city.

All Cordially Invited.

"Mrs. Partington, what do you use for a bad cold?" asked Mrs. Dull. "Handkerchiefs, ma'am," answered the aged dame, looking over her spectacles. Handkerchiefs are a desideratum in the event of a cold, but a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a necessity, because it not only relieves, but cures the worst cold or cough.

—"That was an exhaustive article of mine on 'Our Political Future,'" said the contributor to the editor. "I found it so," was the somewhat unsatisfactory reply.

—The days begin to lengthen, and so does the face of the man who looks at his emptying coal bin.

Thou Shall Not Covet

Thy neighbor's box of Hop Ointment. Go to thy druggist, buy a box for 25 cents. Take no other. Insist on having it. Never fails. Try it. You will praise it.

—"Westward the 'star' of empire takes its way," but he frequently waks home again on the ties.

Not one in twenty are free from some little ailment caused by inaction of the liver. Use Carter's Little Liver Pills. The result will be a pleasant surprise. They give positive relief.

—Small girl: "Rob, what's a widower, anyhow?" Small boy: "Why, Helen, I'm s'prised at you. It's the husband of a widow, of course."

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is recommended by eminent physicians, on both sides of the Atlantic, as the most reliable remedy for colds, coughs, and all pulmonary disorders. Inquire of your druggist for Ayer's Almanac.

—A dream of fair women is most pleasing, if the dream be not of women who made you buy things you did not want at the fair, and gave no change back.

To be free from sick headache, biliousness, constipation, etc., use Carter's Little Liver Pills. Strictly vegetable. They gently stimulate the liver and free the stomach from bile.

—In the high school of 1900: Principal: "Who was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen?" Chorus by the entire school (standing and with uncovered heads:) "John Lawrence Sullivan!"

New Year's? Yes, I'll dine with you then. I could not enjoy my Thanksgiving dinner, my stomach troubled me so. Now, thanks to a bottle of Ingall's Mandrake Compound, I can eat anything and have no bad feelings afterwards. My appetite is excellent, since Ingall's Mandrake Compound rid me of my dread enemy, dyspepsia. I consider this remedy superior to anything ever before offered to the public. All first class druggists keep it.

A Good Investment

Is that which yields large returns from a small outlay. Reader, the way is clear! No speculation, no chance, big returns! If you are like most of mankind you have a weakness—don't feel at all times just as you'd like to—headache to-day, backache to-morrow, down sick next week—all because your blood is out of order. A small outlay and what large returns! You invest in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and soon pure, fresh blood courses through your veins, and you are another being!

—Now that the hot soda fountain has stepped into line as a winter amusement, the young man with a best girl might just as well call at the savings bank and bid the cashier a long, tearful farewell.

Living Witnesses!

Ask any one who has used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets as to their merits. They will tell you that pimples, blotches and eruptions disappear; that constipation—that breeder of disorders—is relieved; that the appetite is restored; that the whole system is renovated and regulated beyond any conception by these little wonder-workers. Being purely vegetable, they are perfectly harmless; being composed of concentrated, active ingredients, they are powerful! Purge and purify the system and disease will be unknown. Of all druggists.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way. It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well. Rev. S. H. TROYER, New Albany, Ind."

ADAMSON'S

BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM

More than twenty years ago Adamson's Botanic Balsam was introduced generally throughout New England as a remedy for Coughs, Colds and Pulmonary complaints. Since its introduction it has constantly won its way into public favor, until now it is the universal decision that ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is the best remedy for curing Coughs, Colds and Asthma.

Photographing the Ocean's Bottom.

"You spoke of the advancement in science accomplished by amateurs, Mr. Schleier. In what way?"

"Well, take the sea, for instance. About all of the photographs taken in depths of the sea are by experimenting amateurs, and through them most marvelous hidden mysteries have been revealed."

"How do they accomplish this, and how do they know what is being photographed?" asked the reporter.

"Until the plate is seen they have not the slightest idea of what has been photographed. The operation, however, is simple. A box, hermetically sealed, with glass front, is sunk, and to it is connected an electric light. At a certain depth light fails to penetrate the water and all is darkness. Sinking this device to a short distance of the bed the electric current is turned on, which illuminates everything within a certain radius, and at the same instant calls into action the mechanism of the submerged camera. Often, to be sure, almost nothing appears upon the plate, but sometimes the instrument is lowered among most interesting formations of nature, and pictures are produced which have value to science. These experiments are constantly being made, and are such that those connected with the art as myself cannot possibly prosecute."—Nashville American.

Origin of the Word "Doll."

I am almost certain that every girl who reads this has at some time or other played with a doll. Very likely the older ones have outgrown their dolls, and only keep the old favorites as souvenirs of childish days, and pretty playthings for little friends and guests, but perhaps even they, tall and womanly as they are, would be puzzled to tell why we call it a doll, and not, as the French do, a puppet, or poupet, or, with the Italians, a bambino or baby. What is the meaning of the word doll?

To explain, I must go back to far away times, when it was the fashion all over the Christian world for mothers to give their little children the name of a patron saint. Some saints were more popular than others, and St. Dorothea was at one period, perhaps, the most popular of all. Dorothea, and its quaint English variation Dorothy, have, as my little Greek scholars know, a very lovely meaning—"gift of God." But as few people like to call a toddling wee thing by a long and stately name, the English Dorothea were shortened in nursery talk to Dolly and Doll, and from giving the babies the nickname, it was an easy step to give the same to the little images of which the babies were so fond.—Margaret E. Sangster in Wide Awake.

Straightening Out the Snarls.

As important as are the duties attached to the books of a firm, there are not two in six bookkeepers here who can open and close a set of books. Strange as such a statement may seem, it is a fact of common notoriety among the many accountants whose business it is to help the bookkeeper whenever he reaches the limit of his knowledge, and there is plenty of work for the skillful accountant. At the end of every year he is called into a house to close up the books for the bookkeeper who is not able to do this work. Again, he is frequently needed to straighten out a snarl into which the bookkeeper has put the accounts. It is easy enough to do this when there are vouchers, but whenever these have been destroyed it is a hard thing to do. We find lots of defalcations, but as the defaulters cover their tracks by destroying the evidence we can never arrive at the exact figures. One reason why bookkeepers are so unskillful is that they have never learned the theory of the work, but simply dropped into their places and followed the rut into which predecessors had moved. Therefore, when the time comes to get out of the rut they cannot get out.—Accountant in Globe-Democrat.

Woman's Headdress in Venezuela.

Nowhere in America south of Washington and north of probably Rio Janeiro have I noticed such remarkable taste in dressing, and it would be a decided advantage to the senoritas of Mexico and Central America if they would take their "modes" from Caracas. The reboso, or Spanish veil, has been discarded by the Caraquenas, and very well made coquettish hats in the "latest" Parisian style have been adopted. Rebosos are only worn by a few ladies of the middle classes, especially on Sundays at church, while women of the lower classes throw white silk shawls over their heads. Negresses wear here, as indeed all over the West Indies, gaudy colored bandana handkerchiefs wound around their heads. —E. De Hesse Wartegg in New York Sun.

A Great Deceiver.

"The electric light has its uses, but I tell you it's a great deceiver," said a party going young man the other day. "I went to a swell party a few nights since, and the heightened color and marbled shoulders weren't all natural, I'll bet; but the electric light gave nothing away. And the dress suits—I tell you it's a godsend. Didn't it ever strike you what a shabby dress suit a man could wear and yet be with the boys? It's a fact. A business suit in the same state of shiny dilapidation would ruin a man's character. But all hail to the electric light—it kindly conceals the shortcomings of your dress suit and leaves you in the swim."—Philadelphia Call.

When Thomas Nast was in Kansas City recently, he was annoyed by the rudeness of the elevator boy, and said as much. On a later visit the boy was all politeness, and asked Mr. Nast for his unique autograph. Mr. Nast drew him a hasty pen and ink sketch of himself bowing deferentially to the elevator boy, and wrote under the drawing: "Those who elevate others must be polite themselves." The boy learned a lesson.—New York Sun.

The Only Remedy

FOR

Contagious Blood Poison.

Mr. D. B. Adams, Union, South Carolina, writes: "I was afflicted with a terrible case of blood poison for about thirteen months. I was treated by the best physicians, and used various kinds of remedies, but received no substantial relief. I finally tried the Swift Specific, and about four bottles cured me sound and well."

Col. B. H. Kieser, editor and proprietor of the Opelika, Ala., Times, under date of August 3, 1887, writing of his wife, says: "When I was a young man, through indiscretion, I contracted a disease which has clung to me for years. Some five or six years since I was troubled with rheumatism, so as to make it difficult for me to walk. Having advertised the S. S. S. in my paper for several years, I concluded I would try it to see if there was any efficacy in the medicine. I commenced using it according to directions and used half dozen bottles. I was once at a way station, and, getting left, I walked the seven miles and have never felt any return of the old malady. After experiencing the good effects I must say I am satisfied with the result. I am sixty-eight years of age and I feel now like a young man and can go to the case when necessary and set up from six to eight thousand cms without any inconvenience. I send you this without solicitation.

Mr. F. Woehl, 211 Noble Avenue, Chicago, under date of June 12, 1887, writes: "I deem it my duty to thank you for the cure I received from your excellent medicine. I contracted a very severe case of blood poisoning about two years ago. Hearing of your medicine, I went to a drug store, the proprietor of which persuaded me to buy a preparation of his own, which he said was a sure cure. I used six bottles of his stuff and grew worse all the time. At last I got disgusted and despaired of a cure. I met a friend who told me that your medicine had cured him. I went to the same druggist again and demanded your medicine. He reluctantly sold me twelve bottles, and I am now perfectly cured. I write this for the benefit of sufferers, to prevent their being deceived by false representations. I thank you again for the benefits derived from your medicine."

Dr. J. N. Cheney, a prominent physician, residing in Ellaville, Schley county, Georgia, in a letter recounting the infallible success he has in curing contagious blood poison cases in his extensive practice, writes: "Those who know the almost inevitable permanently dangerous effects of mercury will welcome your discovery of S. S. S. as a boon to humanity. The medical profession, always wary of proprietary medicines, is coming slowly, and in some cases secretly, to the use of S. S. S. in cases of blood disorder. Of course a medicine that cures poisoning in its worst form must purify the blood of every disorder."

The McNeally Escape.

It is ridiculous that the fellow who plundered the Saco savings bank and landed at Halifax from an extended trip abroad should be pefectly safe so long as he remains in the British dominions. Among the few offenses covered by the extradition treaty is "robbery," but this has been held not to include embezzlement, larceny, or burglary, and McNeally cannot be surrendered under the treaty. If his plunder could have been found in his posession and identified he might be tried and punished in Canada for bringing stolen property there, but he managed to get out of his posession such as had not been exchanged for other value before he was arrested. He was discharged because there was no ground on which he could lawfully be held. It is time another effort was man to put an end to this scandalous state of things.

Every year Hood's Household Calendar takes a step forward, as its ingenious publishers strike some new thought in style and arrangement. For 1888 Hood's Calendar has the "cut out" head of a young girl surrounded by a blue hood, making a very beautiful and attractive picture. The coloring is wonderfully well done, and the pad, also printed in colors with a special design for every month, helps make up a very artistic calendar. Three millions of these calendars are issued and all our readers should have one. Ask your druggist, or send six cents in stamps to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Those desiring reliable insurance should apply to the undersigned,

C. M. GIGNOUX,

GENERAL AGENT, PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

Our stock is sufficiently large for another assault, although many serious breaks have been made, and but for the timely arrival of our reserve, our loss—of trade — would have been enormous. To requires united effort of the consumer and ourselves. That we are able and willing to make great sacrifices will be seen by examining our stock and getting the prices.

REDUCE THE SURPLUS

We prefer discounting

10 PER CENT.

than keeping goods till taking an inventory. The Holiday trade has made sad havoc in many Parlor Suits and we will sell the remaining pieces at figures that will cause consternation in the ranks. But they MUST GO!

So must a larger quantity of goods than ever before left our store in the same time.

Our ORDERS to every Branch Store are to reduce stock to the lowest possible point, preparatory to taking stock. The question is

DO YOU WANT

A RANGE,
A PARLOR STOVE,
A CARPET,
A RUG,
AN ART SQUARE,
A MAT,
A PARLOR SUIT,
A PHOENIX FOLDING BED,
A MIRROR,
A HALL STAND,
A FANCY CHAIR,
A HANGING LAMP,
A STAND LAMP,
A SHAVING STAND,
A LOUNGE,
A RECLINING CHAIR,
A CLOCK,
A TEA, BREAKFAST OR DINNER SET,
A WRITING DESK,
A ROLL TOP DESK,
AN OFFICE DESK,
A CHAMBER SET,
A SIDEBOARD,
A MARBLE OR WOOD TOP TABLE,
AN UMBRELLA STAND,
A FOOT REST,
A BED LOUNGE,
A WHATNOT,
A WARDROBE,
AN EXTENSION TABLE,
DINING CHAIRS,
A SHAKER CHAIR,
A SHAKER ROCKER,
A MATTRESS,
A FEATHER BED,
A SPRING,
BLANKETS,
COMFORTABLES,
DRAPERIES AND POLES.

If you DO want any of these articles NOW or later on, it will pay you to purchase this week, even if you have to store them, as we are determined to sell every one who enters our doors. Our prices will do it.

Out of town buyers will receive every advantage by Sending for cuts and prices as soon as possible.

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Colder, fair weather, northerly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 10 degrees above zero.

Clear.

SOME OF THE SURPLUS TO BE EXPENDED.

Secretary Fairchild has sent to Congress a lot of claims against the government which have been allowed, but for the payment of which especial appropriations will have to be made by Congress. Among these is the claim of Ex-Collector of Internal Revenue H. W. Putney, amounting to $94.64. Congressman Gallinger explained to the secretary of the treasury that this travel pay accrued before Mr. Putney was a railroad commissioner and had a free pass. Mr. Gallinger will see that the ex-collector obtains his just dues.

STAR COURSE--SEASON TICKETS.

The next lecture in the Star Course will be by Dr. James P. Hedley, subject "The Sunny Side of Life"—a most interesting and amusing lecture. There being quite a demand for season tickets, Mr. Sweet has concluded to charge for the rest of the course $1.25, and will be at Goodrich's bookstore on Monday next from two to nine o'clock P. M., to accommodate all who wish to purchase. By reference to the list of entertainments remaining, it will be seen that the best features of the course are to come.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

The following are some of the attractions shortly to appear at Music hall: Tony Denier; Keep It Dark Co.; Daniel Boone Co.; Boucicault, probably in The Shaugraun; Gilbert Opera Co.; Murray & Murphy; and Myra Goodwin. Besides the fine entertainments to be given by local talent, The Little Tycoon Opera Co., Hanlan Brothers with Le Voyage en Suisse, Dixey in Adonis, Maggie Mitchell and other attractions will appear latter in the season.

STOCK FLUCTUATIONS.

The following are the highest and lowest prices at which the several railroad stocks mentioned were sold during the year 1887; also the closing prices on Dec. 30th, 1887, as compared with those of Dec. 31st, 1886:

Eastern railroad, highest price $142.50, lowest price $99. Dec. 31, 1886, $125, Dec. 30, 1887, $117 50; loss $7 50.

Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway, highest $125.50, lowest $89 50. Dec. 31, '86, $142, Dec. 30, '87, $108; loss $4.

THE MONUMENT.

The subscribers to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument fund are invited to meet at the Common Council room on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, to hear the report of their committee and act upon the same.

M. ELDREDGE, Chairman.

STORMS AND EAST WINDS, 1887.

CAPE NEDDICK, ME., Jan. 5th.

There were during the year 1887 two hundred and fifty-one days of easterly weather; that is, the wind was from N. N. E. to E. S. E., some part of the day, sometimes for only an hour to two. Rain or snow fell on 144 days. The record by months is as follows:

	Stormy days.	Days of East winds.
January,	18	20
February,	14	19
March,	12	21
April,	11	23
May,	7	25
June,	12	25
July,	14	20
August,	10	23
September,	9	20
October,	12	20
November,	11	16
December,	14	19
	144	251

In 1884 there were 230 days of east wind, and rain or snow fell on 127 days. In 1885, east winds 188 days, rain or snow on 119 days. In 1886, east winds 222 days, rain or snow on 126 days. The first day of January was stormy in 1884, 1886, 1887, and 1888. VERITAS.

Do not forget the minstrel show at Music hall this evening—choice music and new specialties—a large company and a fine performance.

Barlow Bros. & Frost's minstrels will give an entertainment at Music hall this evening; tickets 25, 35 and 50 cts., for sale at Goodrich's.

The county commissioners and sheriff of Rockingham county, and City Marshal Rowe, visited the county institution at Brentwood on the 4th inst.

Mr. Samuel G. Marshall has been reappointed deputy collector of customs for this port, and Thaddeus Tilton boarding officer, under the new dispensation.

Mr. Garvin, of the State street clubhouse, will cater for the shoemakers' ball on the evening of the 17th inst., and has engaged Mechanics' hall for that purpose.

The smelters are doing well on Great bay just now—making good takes, and getting good prices. Two of the Portsmouth smelters made $8 each one day recently.

Storer Post, G. A. R., have voted to accept the invitation of Rev. O. S. Baketel to attend divine worship in the Methodist church on the Sunday preceeding Memorial day.

Samuel Alley returned home on Thursday from a fishing expedition near the waters in the vicinity of Wolfborough, and brought back a string of fine pickerel, weighing about nine pounds. Besides, he had a good time generally.

One of the principal attractions at Mr. Garvin's benefit entertainment will be Prof. Albert N. LaBrie as Douglas, the "private secretary" in disguise. Mr. LaBrie's success in the production of the "Mikado" last winter, and his extended experience with professional companies on the road, will prove of great benefit in the rendering of the delightful comedy. We congratulate Mr. Garvin on his choice of Mr. LaBrie as the leading character.

Mr. George D. Lamos, town clerk of Rochester, died on the 5th inst. of pneumonia. Mr. Lamos was formerly clerk of the Atlantic house at Wells beach, Me.; also of the Hotel Wentworth at Newcastle, and at different times of hotels in this city, Dover and Great Falls. He was widely known and as widely popular, his pleasant and quiet manners and unvarying courtesy winning the good will of all with whom he was brought in contact. He was a prominent Odd Fellow.

The demolition of one of the old residences at the upper part of Market street is rapidly progressing, to make way for an avenue to the newly reconstructed wharf of J. Albert Walker. A look at the interior work of the building shows that there was considerable skill among the mechanics of the early days, in ornamentation and construction. The timbers are heavy and sound, showing but little if any indication of decay. There was a similar appearance in the house now being fitted up for the new Seaman's Home, on the opposite side of the street.

The schooner Katie Mitchell has been hauled off the rocks near Fort McClary, lower harbor, and placed on the flats off Gerrish's island.

Mr. Edw. Watkins, the experienced and successful sportsman, took a trip to Great bay on Thursday, and brought back a handsome catch of smelts.

The schooner Albert Woodbury, Downs master, on the 5th inst. brought in 10,000 lbs. of fish, the fare being bought by E. Newton & Co. at $4 per hundred pounds.

The treasurer of current expenses of the Chase Home acknowledges gratefully the receipt of $144 39 from the entertainment given by the ladies of the Children's Home sewing circle, and also the generous gift of $100 from an unknown friend, through Mrs. J. V. N. Whipple.

A fisherman informs us that so persistently has the robbing of trawls been carried on this winter by the crews of some of the large fleet of schooners fishing in Ipswich bay, that the other fishermen have agreed upon a new law of their own—to run down any dory caught afloat on the fishing grounds after dark. The principal trouble, we presume, will be to catch the trawl robbers at their work.

Capt. Edward D. Coffin, sheriff of Rockingham county, accompanied by his wife and his father-in-law, Stephen Tobey, Esq., started on Thursday afternoon for Washington, D. C., on a week's vacation trip. Mr. Tobey, one of the old-time shipbuilders of the Piscataqua, and descended from the old stock of shipwrights, is now an octogenarian, but feels himself able to sustain the fatigues of such a journey to the capital of the United States.

Miss Minnie Filton of Littleton is visiting at Mrs. John O. Varrell's, on State street.

It is reported that a democratic club will be organized in this city, in time to take active part against the re-election of Grover Cleveland as president of the United States. The prospective members already named number nearly a hundred, who are opposed to the policy of the present national administration, and include old and tried members of the party, as well as some young voters who do not wish to be "bluffed down."

The new schooner which the Dover Navigation Co. are to build for Capt. Gus. Keily will be constructed at Bath, Me., and will be in size between the Jonathan Sawyer and the John J. Hanson, of the company's fleet.

To thoroughly cleanse and purify garments without injury, they must be boiled to dissolve the oily exudations of the skin, and loosen the dirt, when both can be easily be removed by using a mild but effective soap like the "IVORY," 99 44/100 % (pure.) Washing Compounds and Soap recommended to be used in cold water, to save labor, fuel, etc., are highly chemicalled, and are so strong that they attack and destroy any fabric they are used on.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Port-mouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

The Musical 1888.

As the musical NEW YEAR heaves in sight, we greet it with the "sound of Corion," (or any other musical instrument, for all of which Oliver Ditson & Co provide the very best instruction Books.)

With the New Year, many new pupils will commence to learn the Piano; to them and their teachers we commend

RICHARDSON'S NEW METHOD
FOR THE PIANOFORTE.

A peerless book, which has held the lead for many years, and, unaffected by the appearance of other undoubtedly excellent instructors, still sells like a new book. Price $3.

CHILDREN'S DIADEM [30 cts., $3 per doz.] is filled with happy and beautiful SUNDAY SCHOOL SONGS, and is one of the best of its class. The newest book.

UNITED VOICES [50 cts., $4.80 per doz.] furnishes a abundance of the best SCHOOL SONGS for a whole year. The newest book.

Books that sell everywhere and all the time:
College Songs 50 cts., War Songs 50 cts., Jubilee and Plantation Songs 30 cts., Minstrel Songs, new and old $2, Good Old Songs we used to Sing $1.

ANNEL'S COPY BOOK [75 cts.] with the elements and Exercises to be written, is a useful book for teachers and scholars. (32

JUDICIOUS AND PERSISTENT Advertising has always proven successful. Before placing any Newspaper Advertising consult LORD & THOMAS, ADVERTISING AGENTS, 45 to 49 Randolph Street, CHICAGO.

Read the Death Roll

Which the bills of mortality of any large city may be fitly designated, and you will find that renal and vesical maladies, that is to say, those that effect the kidneys or bladder, have a remarkable prominence—we had almost said—preponderance. Bright's disease and diabetes in the chronic stage are rarely cured, and gravel, catarrh of the bladder and enuresis, slay many. Yet at the outset, when the trouble merely amounts to inactivity of the organs involved, the danger may be nullified by that pleasant renal tonic and diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which imparts the requisite amount of tone to the organs, without over-exciting them, and the use of which is convenient, and involves no elaborate preparation. Dyspepsia, as usual concomitant of renal complaints, and debility, which they invariably produce, are remedied by it. So also are constipation, malaria, rheumatic and nervous ailments.

—John Fischer, of Marathon City, Wisconsin, is mourning the loss of a $100 bill. During his absence from home a three-year-old boy secured the note, tore it up, and swallowed some of the pieces.

Dandruff eradicated, the scalp made clean, and gray hair restored to its original youthful beauty and vigor by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer.

—The fashions in silver are innumerable, says a writer in the Brooklyn Times. No doubt of it, but the most acceptable fashion is a round disk with a square-headed girl in bas relief on one side, and a highly infuriated buzzard on the other.

Health is impossible when the blood is impure, thick and sluggish, or when it is thin and impoverished. Such conditions give rise to boils, pimples, headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism and other disorders. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies, invigorates and vitalizes the blood.

—Two of the recent hanged anarchists have appeared at a spiritual seance, one of them playing a jew's harp and the other an accordeon. Another illustration of total depravity. Even hanging, it appears, fails to reform an anarchist.

You hardly realize that it is medicine, when taking Carter's Little Liver Pills: they are very small; no bad effects; all troubles from torpid liver are relieved by their use.

—Guest: "Well, good-bye, old man, you've really got a very nice little place here!" Host: "Yes, but it's rather bare just now; I hope the trees will have grown a good bit before you're back, old fellow!"

Every nervous person should try Carter's Little Nerve Pills. They are made specially for nervous and dyspeptic men and women, and are just the medicine needed by all persons who, from any cause, do not sleep well, or who fail to get proper strength from their food. Cases of weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, nervous and sick headache, &c., readily yield to the use of the Little Nerve Pills, particularly if combined with Carter's Little Liver Pills. In vials at 25 cents.

—It is alleged that the coloring matter in greenbacks is a deadly poison. Who's afraid?

Say no Ill of the Year 'till it be Past.
The winter brings you chapped lips, sore nose, cold cracks, etc., but a box of Hop Ointment (endorsed by leading society ladies) will prove a friend in need. Never fails. At all druggists, 25 cents, or mail stamps to Hop Co., New London, Conn. Sample free.

—Drawers of water—marine artists.

Great Success attends the sale of James Pyle's New Washing Compound, Pearline. This is not surprising, as it has been demonstrated from actual experience that it is absolutely harmless to the most delicate fabric, while it is a great economizer of labor, time and soap.

—Now export arnica and extract of witch hazel to Australia. The roller skating craze has just struck there.

A Generous Firm.
We are informed that the proprietors, Messrs. P. Ordway & Co., recently sent three dozen of the reliable medicine, Sulphur Bitters to the Catholic Home for the Aged, which is highly appreciated by the directors and inmates. "As ye sow, so shall ye reap."—Editor Catholic Union.

—Wife (to husband): "There were two hats that I liked, one for $18 and one for $18." Husband: "Which did you finally decide upon?" Wife: "The $18 one. I'm a little superstitious about the number 13."

Chester G. Parker, of Oneida, N. Y., was entirely cured of an affection of the throat and lungs, accompanied by a severe cough of several years' standing, by the use of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

—"Talk about accidents from negligence, why it was a railroad man's negligence that saved my life once!" "How was that?" "Why, the fellow let the fire go out in the car stove just before our train was wrecked."

This is Good Enough.
Mr. C. E. Bartholomew, Kalkaska, Mich., says: "I owe my life solely to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. I had Bright's and kidney disease, and for five years was unable to go about. I am now well, and can do a man's work on my farm. I shall always hold up both hands for Dr Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Price $1.00 a bottle, six for $5. jan21

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,satp

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is recommended by eminent physicians, on both sides of the Atlantic, as the most reliable remedy for colds, coughs, and all pulmonary disorders. Inquire of your druggist for Ayer's Almanac.

To be free from sick headache, biliousness, constipation, etc., use Carter's Little Liver Pills. Strictly vegetable. They gently stimulate the liver and free the stomach from bile.

Boston postal clerks have sent a delegate to Washington to look after their interests.

New Year's? Yes, I'll dine with you then. I could not enjoy my Thanksgiving dinner, my stomach troubled me so. Now, thanks to a bottle of Ingall's Mandrake Compound, I can eat anything and have no bad feelings afterwards. My appetite is excellent, since Ingall's Mandrake Compound rid me of my dread enemy, dyspepsia. I consider this remedy superior to anything ever before offered to the public. All first class druggists keep it.

In a railroad collision near Meadville, Penn., five persons were killed and over a dozen injured.

For thirty years I have been troubled with catarrh—have tried a number of remedies without relief. A druggist here recommended Ely's Cream Balm. I have used only one bottle and I can say I feel like a new man. My catarrh was chronic and very bad. I make this voluntary statement that others may know of the balm.—J. W. Mathewson, (lawyer,) Pawtucket, R. I.

Ely's Cream Balm gives satisfaction to every one using it for catarrhal troubles. —G. K. Mellor, (druggist,) Worcester, Mass.

SHOOTING A SHARPSHOOTER.

At points around Petersburg, where the lines of earthworks were only pistol shot apart, the sharpshooter plied his murderous rifle night and day, and they became a living terror to both sides. I was for two weeks in the Confederate works, opposite Grant's Fort Hell, and although tons upon tons of Federal shot and shell were hurled at us, we lost more men by the bullets of the sharpshooters than by all the cannonading. In the Confederate works, just above the fort which Butler blew up and which has since been known as the Crater, the most effective cannon was silenced for two days by a Federal sharpshooter who ensconced himself only a stone's throw away. I do not know that the one man held the place for two nights and two days, but we judged so from the style of firing, and because when we were finally rid of him no one else took his place. He crept out from the Federal line in a dark and rainy night, dug a rifle pit, banked up the dirt around it, and killed two of our men between daylight and sunrise. He had a sixteen shooter rifle, and he gave all his attention to one embrasure in the fort and before noon the piece of artillery at that embrasure was silenced.

A round dozen Confederate sharpshooters were detailed to kill the fellow off, but he would not be killed. The dirt was knocked about his ears in perfect clouds by bullets, and now and then a piece of filled artillery sent a shell plowing along over him; but he was there to stay. When night came we intended to creep out and kill or make him a prisoner, but lo! a whole company was brought up and stationed in the ravine just behind him, where their fire would sweep the field around his pit, and we had to turn to some other plan. He was there in the morning, and he killed one man and wounded a second before 8 o'clock. Three pieces of light artillery played on his pit until the guns had fired a dozen shells each, but he was unharmed. It was plain that he had dug his pit so deep and narrow that everything from our side must pass over it, and it was certain that we must try some other plan. Had he been without close support three or four men could have solved the problem pretty quick, but there were sharpshooters by the hundreds in his rear, and that rear so close that not a hat could show above our works without being made the target of a dozen bullets.

By noon of the second day we had had four men killed and five wounded by one Yankee sharpshooter, and the colonel commanding had offered a $20 gold piece to any one who would finish him off. He might have made it $20,000 for all we could do, as everybody had cudgeled his brains in vain for a plan. It was about 5 o'clock in the afternoon that a corporal belonging to some field artillery stationed a mile or so above us on the lines came down to see a relative of his, and when the situation had been explained to him and he had looked over the ground he said:

"Give me an hour's time and I'll have him out and win that gold piece."

He returned to his command and secured half a dozen small fuse shells belonging to a mountain howitzer which was then in park as of no account. When they were brought up he made a sling from the leather of a boot leg and two stout cords and then gathered a dozen stones to practice with. While he flung these stones one of the men timed their fall, and in this way he knew how to cut the fuses. The fifth rock, flung high in the air on a curve, as a mortar would throw it, fell so close to the sharpshooter's pit that the corporal was satisfied. He then cut his fuses and began throwing lighted shell. The weight of them was about thirteen ounces, and while they did not fly as high as the rocks, the curve was the same. We were all satisfied as to what the result would be. The fourth shell dropped square into the pit and exploded as it struck, and in the cloud of dirt blown out was the sharpshooter's cap, the stock of his rifle and his canteen. Not another shot was fired from the pit, nor did any Federal dare occupy it again.—"Ex-Rebel" in Detroit Free Press.

Astor's Highway to Fortune.

"It's what thee'll spend, my son," said a sage old Quaker, "not what thee'll make which will decide whether thee is to be rich or not."

John Jacob Astor used to say that a man who wishes to be rich and has saved $10,000 has won half the battle—is on the highway to fortune. Not that Astor thought $10,000, much but he knew that in making and saving such a sum a man acquired habits of prudent economy which would constantly keep him advancing in wealth. The habitual small expenses, which we are liable to regard as mere trifles, amount in the aggregate to something serious. Ten cents a day is $36.50 a year, and that is the interest on a capital of $600; so that the man who saves ten cents a day only is so much richer than he who does not, as if he owned a life estate in a property worth $600.—Detroit Free Press.

Taking Life Too Hardly.

A sprightly Frenchwoman, driving down Broadway lately, said: "Every man we meet looks as if he had gone out to borrow trouble, with plenty of it on hand." Baron von Lehren, a famous scholar who visited this country, observed the same peculiarity in the national temperament. "The Americans are the best fed, the best clad and the most housed people in the world; but the most anxious. They hug possible calamity to their breasts," he wrote of us. Our Scotch cousins, who have the same propensity for brooding over imaginary troubles, preach against it in many shrewd proverbs. "Never cross the bridge till ye come to the water." "The man who turns his fire into smoke will never be warm."—Youth's Companion.

How a Dying Child

Was Saved!

CICERO, HAMILTON CO., IND., Sept. 19, 1887.—The following is a true account of what your S. S. S. has done for our little daughter, Hazel, now four years old. When 12 months old a lump appeared on her heel, which slowly grew larger. The family physician thought it was caused by a piece of broken glass or needle, but failed to bring anything to light. The child became feebler all the time, seeming to lose the use of her leg, and finally quit walking entirely. The middle finger and thumb of either hand became enlarged, the flesh becoming hard. The hip joints became involved, so that when seventeen months old she could not stand, having lost the use of leg and arm. Partial curvature of the spine also followed. The nervous system was wrecked, muscles contracted, and there was general wasting of flesh and muscle. At eighteen months of age she was placed under the treatment of a prominent physician of Boston, Mass., but at the end of ten months she had declined to such a degree that she was in a dying condition. This was in April, 1886. We took the child away not knowing what to do. In this dreadful dilemma we were over-persuaded by friends to try "one bottle" of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC, which we did, and before it had all been taken we saw a change for the better in her symptoms. We kept it up, and have done so to this day, and will keep it up, if the Lord wills, for many days to come, for it has brought our dying Hazel to life, to vigor, to strength and health again. The sallow hue of her cheeks has changed to a rosy tint. She is able to walk anywhere, her languor and melancholy have passed away, and she is now a blithe, cheerful, happy romping child. Should you wish to increase your testimonials of proof of the virtue of S. S. S., our names and what we have said is but a portion of what we owe to you, should you wish to use them.

Kindly yours,

DER. F. SWIFT.

The Views of a Boss.

Alva Sulloway, who is one of the men who draw nigh unto the president in the new dispensation, and for the good of the democratic party has undertaken no little labor in an endeavor to properly distribute the patronage in New Hampshire, is as is well known, president of the Northern railroad. The directors of this corporation meet occasionally to consider who is running the road,—the Boston & Lowell, the Boston & Maine, Mr. John H. Pearson, or his own directors. After the business of the board is concluded, it is in order to chaff the president somewhat on political topics. Al. possesses any amount of good nature, never gets provoked at the banter of his friends, and is, as every one who knows him allows, a mighty good fellow. The subject for discussion after the business was concluded, the other day, was the president's free-trade message. Sulloway is steady for free trade in wool, but we think inclined to hedge a little when it comes to hosiery. "What do you think of the message?" enquired one of the board of the "member from Franklin." "Oh," said the honest manufacturer, "The message is all right. It's a very able document. It's when they come to vote upon it that we must look out." That tells the whole story. If every manufacturer can obtain his raw material at a low price, and be incidentally protected upon his manufactured goods, there will be no difficulty as far as they are concerned in adjusting the complicated questions of the tariff upon a "sound business basis."

Randall Not Yet Abolished.

Speaker Carlisle after being lectured by the president as to placing certain representatives upon especially important committees, has after a month's backing and filling, at last announced the list. It may be summed up in the statement that Samuel Jones Randall is on top. He is chairman of the committee on appropriations, to the action of which the country owes the niggardly expenditures for public purposes permitted by this popular and progressive administration. Randall, of course, is boss.

Naval Intelligence.

Advices from the Asiatic station, under date of December 6th, show that the Palos was at Chemulpo, Corea; the Essex in the vicinity of the Caroline group; the Monocacy at Yokohama, and the flagship Brooklyn at Kobe. Orders have been issued for the Omaha to proceed to Panama for service on the Pacific station.

The Saratoga is to be repaired to the extent of $2,000, to enable her to cruise in Chespeake bay this winter. Next summer she will be sent to Coasters' Harbor island, and used as a stationary practice ship.

The training ship Jamestown, now at Norfolk, will not go to sea any more this winter, but will be repaired for cruising in Chesapeake bay. It is expected that the Portsmouth, now in dock at Norfolk, will be ready for her usual winter's cruise in a few days.

The Republican Leader.

Reed of Maine rules the republicans of the house—with a rod of iron—without a peer. He has been for years—ever since Garfield left for the senate, in fact—the brainiest man on the republican side of the house, and excelled by no one except Carlisle on the other side. But Keifer, Hiscock, and Robeson kept getting in his way all the time, so that he was not always able to do his best. Keifer and Robeson have dropped out, and Hiscock has been promoted to the senate, "where good representatives go when they die," Reed says; so that now Reed can lead his forces without fear that some bungler may trip him up just as he has ordered a charge. Neither Keifer, Robeson nor Hiscock could lead, yet neither of them would follow, and their attempts to steal in front of Reed, who was the real and only leader all the while, were simply unnecessary embarrassment. Reed has no rivals now—Long, McKinley, Cannon, Dingley, Burrows, and the other "leaders" lead where he points. They are good lieutenants, and have the sense to see it. As for Reed, he feels that he stands alone, and that the whole responsioility of the party, so far as the house is concerned, is upon his shoulders. This feeling has changed Reed greatly. He is as witty as ever, but he does not laugh as much. He watches the proceedings of the house and the columns of the newspapers like a fat hawk. I don't remember that Reed made a single serious mistake in the last two Congresses, even when he had two or three incompetent rivals in his way. He will make none in the present Congress. He is a genius, and a very shrewd and clever genius, too. He is the very essence of New England. Reed is a statesman, a wit, a scholar. He can talk privately or publicly as well as any man in public life. He is a skillful politician and a successful lawyer, and most people think nothing more. But there their mistake begins.

If neither politician nor lawyer Reed would be distinguished. He has a literary side, which is but seldom recognized, probably because it is seldom shown. A year or two ago he made an address at Colby university, which was one of the best of its kind—full of wit and wisdom in brilliant English. But this was a mere diversion for him—his work in life is to lead the republicans in the house. This is difficult and thankless work, with no opportunities for show—most of it behind the scenes. Reed makes his telling points in the house in a quiet, homely way, which is very effective at the moment, but does not carry his fame beyond the hour in the house. He has the respect of his own side and the fear of the other. This is really all his reward for the work he has done. He has to fight for his seat in the house every time he comes up for renomination. Reed is one of the few men who would be missed from the house should they not be re-elected. His side would collapse without him. He is its mainstay.

In the United States senate, Jan. 4th, Mr. Sherman made a strong speech in opposition to the free-trade views of the president as set forth in his message, and arraigning the democratic majority in the last Congress for their total failure to reduce the tariff as the party had promised. Voorhees replied, defending the president's plan; and Teller replied to Voorhees.

What a Time

People formerly had, trying to swallow the old-fashioned pill with its film of magnesia vainly disguising its bitterness; and what a contrast to Ayer's Pills, that have been well called "medicated sugar-plums"—the only fear being that patients may be tempted into taking too many at a dose. But the directions are plain and should be strictly followed.

J. T. Teller, M. D., of Chittenango, N. Y., expresses exactly what hundreds have written at greater length. He says: "Ayer's Cathartic Pills are highly appreciated. They are perfect in form and coating, and their effects are all that the most careful physician could desire. They have supplanted all the Pills formerly popular here, and I think it must be long before any other can be made that will at all compare with them. Those who buy your pills get full value for their money."

"Ayer's Pills outsell all similar preparations. The public having once used them, will have no others."—Berry, Venable & Collier, Atlanta, Ga.

THE MONUMENT.

The subscribers to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument fund are invited to meet at the Common Council room on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, to hear the report of their committee and act upon the same.

M. ELDREDGE, Chairman.

PRESENTATIONS.

On Friday evening about eight o'clock the police force in full uniform called on Mayor Hodgdon at his residence on Middle street, and as a mark of their respect for him as a man, a citizen and the city's chief magistrate, and of their approval of the excellent example he has recently set for all unmarried men, presented him with a very handsome easy chair. Newton Johnston, Esq., who was calling at Mayor Hodgdon's when the officers arrived, officiated as usher, and the visitors were most cordially received by his honor and Mrs. Hodgdon; and after the interchange of pleasant greetings and good wishes, and partaking of a collation, the force departed to enter upon their nightly duties.

Hardly had the police departed ere fifteen members of the G. A. R. arrived, and presented Mrs. Hodgdon with a handsome hanging lamp and a willow rocking chair. A general order from department headquarters was also read, commissioning Comrade M. M. Collis to present to Comrade Hodgdon, on behalf of his brother officers on the department staff, with a most remarkable clay pipe. The pipe had a stem about two feet long and a bowl as big as a cream pitcher, and was beautifully ornamented with ribbons; but its chief attraction, and one which every smoker will appreciate, was that it was all ready filled for a smoke! A very pleasant hour was passed by the veterans and the mayor's family, in conversation, singing by members of the visiting delegation and Miss Hodgdon, and the discussion of a nice lunch, and then this party also retired, leaving their best wishes with the mayor and his bride.

Another presentation, and one which was a most complete surprise to the recipient, was that of a fine easy chair to City Marshal Rowe by the other members of the police force. The chair was delivered at the marshal's house in the evening by an express team, and was accompanied by a letter expressing the good will of the donors. Mrs. Rowe, who had received a hint as to the intentions of the force in regard to presenting the mayor with a similar article, supposed the chair must have been left at the wrong house, and tried to make the driver of the team think so too, but he refused to be convinced, (as he knew all about both presentations,) and departed, leaving the chair behind. On the arrival home of the marshal he recognized the chair as the one he had selected at the request of the force, for them to present to the mayor; so he too thought the teamster had blundered until he opened the letter, and found the gift was intended for himself.

THE MINSTREL SHOW.

The entertainment in Music hall on Friday evening by Barlow Bros. & Frost's minstrels was not merely fair—it was good, much better than most variety shows. It was clean all through, though there was more than the usual amount of real humor; there was some fine singing, and the specialty performers were excellent. The show deserved a full house, but the audience was only a moderate one.

APPARENTLY AN ERROR.

Mr. Editor: My attention has been called to an item of news in the Times of to-day, (Friday,) relating that at about 5:30 o'clock last evening a strange man about five feet nine inches high attempted to kidnap my three-years-old child, and only released the child when he saw me coming across the North millbridge. I am convinced that this is an error. I have no three-years-old child, and he was not out of doors at the hour specified. Furthermore, at that hour I was not within a mile of the Northmill bridge, and consequently did not see or chase any man of five feet nine, nine feet five, or any other stature. Neither have any of my children, of whatever age, detected any person in any attempt to kidnap them, or any one of them; if they have, they have not told of it. In short, the entire story is without a shadow of foundation in fact, from beginning to end.

WM. W. PALFREY.

INSTALLATIONS.

Court Rockingham, No. 7539, Ancient Order of Foresters, of this city, held a session in Pythian hall last Thursday evening, and the following officers were installed by D. H. C. John Neary of Court Granite State, No. 6790, of Manchester: H. C. R., J. Donnelly; S. H. C., J. Griffin; F. S., T. H. Cronin; C. T., A. J. Stimpson; R. S., R. T. Call; S. W., D. Donovan; J. W., C. W. Garrity; J. B., M. J. Leary; S. B., J. W. Sullivan. Court Rockingham started last September, and now has a membership of fifty-seven.

At the regular meeting of Osgood Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F., held on the evening of the 5th inst., the following officers were installed: C. Frank Wells, N. G.; W. W. McIntire, V. G.; Charles H. Clough, R. S.; C. Dwight Hanscom, P. S.; Edwin B. Prime, Treas.; C. E. Hodgdon, Con.; H. Anderson, War.; F. E. H. Marden, I. G. At the close of the installation ceremonies a collation was served in the banquet hall.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Jan. 6th; Bufford J.

Thomas Philbrook and William Randall, for drunkenness, were fined $3, costs $6.90, each; county farm in default of payment.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The riggers at the navy yard, and some of the mechanics employed in the department of steam engineering, are now working on half time, on account of lack of funds. The surplus must be reduced somehow.

Fire broke out in the navigation building at the Brooklyn navy yard early Friday morning, and before it was extinguished the building was gutted. It was a brick structure, 300 feet by seventy-five on the ground, and three stories high, with a basement; it was occupied by the navigation, equipment and construction departments, and for storage purposes. The total loss is reported at from $25,000 to $200,000, the former being the estimate of the commandant of the yard, and the latter that of some other people.

The schooner Franklin S. Schenck, between Sunday, the 1st inst., and Friday, the 6th, landed at this port 44,000 lbs. of codfish, and received prices averaging $4 per hundred pounds, stocking about $1760, and her crew sharing for the time stated about $100 per man.

In our item yesterday referring to the sale of season tickets for the remainder of the Star Course, we stated that Mr. Sweet would be at Mr. M. Goodrich's store on Monday afternoon to accommodate persons wishing to procure such tickets. Instead, he will be there this (Saturday) afternoon from two o'clock until nine for the purpose named.

The arrivals of fish at this port on the 5th inst. were as follows: Schooner Albert Woodbury, 8,000 lbs.; the Eliza, 3,000 lbs.; Franklin S. Schenck, 5,000; A. C. Newhall, 4,000. Prices paid, $4 per hundred pounds.

Mr. James Hawes, of Water street, proposes to take a vacation of two weeks for a visit to his former home at Liverpool, Nova Scotia.

A black eagle measuring six feet from tip to tip of the extended wings was shot by Mr. Joseph Spinney of Kittery from a tree on the bank of Sturgeon creek last Thursday, and brought to this city on Friday to be stuffed and mounted by Mr. Joseph S. Turner.

The schooner Franklin S. Schenck, Jamieson master, engaged in winter fishing out of this port, broke her main boom last Thursday. A new boom was procured from Mr. Charles S. Browne, formerly belonging to a vessel wrecked at Rye beach and bought by Mr. Browne.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Social Circle of the Universalist church was held on Thursday evening, Jan. 5th, and the following officers elected: Mrs. Anna Meadum, president; Mrs. Lucy Lord, vice president; Mrs. Carrie Dearborn, secretary and treasurer. Last year's board of directors were re-elected

The fishing schooner Christie Campbell, well known here from having fished out of this port for many winters until this season, ran aground on L'Hommedieu shoal, Vineyard sound, Jan. 5th, but was hauled off unharmed by the tug C. M. Winch.

Ex-Senator Wadleigh was counsel for Madame Janauschek in her suit against the proprietor of the Perry house in Newport, R. I., late on trial, in which the artiste claimed twenty thousand dollars damages for an injury caused by her falling down stairs in May last by reason of a dangerous and ill-lighted stairway. The jury returned a verdict giving her $12,000.

The Southern California Bulletin is a monthly journal printed in Boston, at ten cents per single copy, $1 per year, and devoted to booming the interests of southern California by publishing information concerning its climate, products, mineral resources, and its commercial, social and economic interests. It does its work earnestly and ably.

We have received the first number of the Asylum Record, "a paper of local interest, published at the New Hampshire asylum." It contains considerable of interest regarding affairs at the asylum, and its preparation no doubt gives beneficial exercise to the minds of the inmates engaged upon it. It has no regular publication day, but will appear "at different periods during the winter months."

The American barque Eureka, previously reported wrecked at Waterford, Ireland, with the loss of all hands, has arrived at Queenstown, after a terrible passage from San Francisco. The ship Alfred D. Snow, which was the vessel wrecked, carried thirty-nine men all told.

William Mullen of Bath, Me., an old engineer on the Maine Central railroad, was run over and killed at Brunswick, Me., Jan. 3d.

The name of Brewster, Cobb & Estabrook, attached to the advertisement of Spokane and Palouse Railway bonds in another column, is a good recommendation of these securities.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

USE

Horsford's

BREAD PREPARATION

IF YOU WANT

Delicious Biscuit, Cakes, Etc., that can be eaten hot without detriment,

The acid phosphate in this preparation supplies the vital phosphates essential to the system, and assists digestion. No other baking powder does this.

Dr. F. L. Benedict, of Portsmouth, says:

"I am satisfied that Horsford's Bread Preparation does increase the nutritive value of flour, and renders the bread more digestible. Brain workers especially are greatly indebted to you for this valuable preparation."

Dr. John J. Berry, of Portsmouth, says:

"Horsford's Bread Preparation has come under my observation, and I am familiar with the testimonials of its efficiency submitted. If it really supplies to the blood and tissues the necessary salts as claimed, it is worthy of commendation and general use."

Dr. H. F. Clark, of Portsmouth, says:

"We consider Horsford's Bread Preparation far superior to any baking powder in use, as it supplies the phosphates that are lost in making fine flour. We recommend it to all who appreciate good bread, and want the best."

Dr. S. C. Whittier, of Portsmouth, says:

"The theory of combining the phosphates in Horsford's Bread Preparation with the flour, thereby producing a flour similar to that of our grandfathers' days, is a correct one, and should be endorsed by every practioner in the interests of good health."

Dr. H. R. Parker, of Dover, says:

"Endorsing the theory, and owing to the presence of the phosphates therein, I give the preference to Horsford's Bread Preparation over all others for making bread"

Dr. J. H. Wheeler, of Dover, says:

"From what is known of the loss in phosphates in milling wheat, I am of the opinion that Horsford's Bread Preparation supplies a want which is not supplied bw any other preparation, and is, therefore, in many cases conducive to health."

Dr. A. J. Young, of Dover, says:

"The dentist is often asked why the teeth do not last as long as the rest of the body. There is no doubt that in separating the coarse, outer portion of the grain from the fine flour, the necessary tooth and bone nutritives are sacrificed, and thus the most essential life-sustaining elements which make and feed the bones, muscles and teeth are lost. Nature never intended this, but science comes to the rescue. In a great measure, Horsford's Bread Preparation supplies the deficiency by increasing the nutritive value of fine flour.

Dr. L. Chesley, of Exeter, says:

"I believe Prof. Horsford's baking powder a superior preparation, and worthy of universal patronage. We have long used it."

Dr. Wm. G. Perry, of Exeter, says:

"I have not tested practically Horoford's Bread Preparation, though intending so to do Theoretically I have no doubt that it is all that is claimed for it."

Dr. A. H. Varney, of South Newmarket, says:

"My wife has used Horsford's Bread Preparation for several years with excellent results. It far excels any other baking powder she ever used. I can recommend it to all lovers of good and healthful food."

Dr. Charles A. Morse, of Newmarket, says:

"Horsford's Bread Preparation is undoubtedly the best baking powder in he market. Years of of observation add experience have taught me this."

Dr. J. Low Elkins, of Newmarket, says:

"Horsford's Bread Preparation is scientifically correct, and must supply a long needed addition to the economy of bread making."

Read the Death Roll

Which the bills of mortality of any large city may be fitly designated, and you will find that renal and vesical maladies, that is to say, those that effect the kidneys or bladder, have a remarkable prominence—we had almost said—preponderance. Bright's disease and diabetes in the chronic stage are rarely cured, and gravel, catarrh of the bladder and enuresis, slay many. Yet at the outset, when the trouble merely amounts to inactivity of the organs involved, the danger may be nullified by that pleasant renal tonic and diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which imparts the requisite amount of tone to the organs, without over-exciting them, and the use of which is convenient, and involves no elaborate preparation. Dyspepsia, as usual concomitant of renal complaints, and debility, which they invariably produce, are remedied by it. So also are constipation, malaria, rheumatic and nervous ailments.

NOTHING ON EARTH WILL MAKE HENS LAY LIKE SHERIDAN'S CONDITION POWDER

One Hundred Dollars in Gold.

For three years we have offered premiums, payable in gold coin, for the best results from the use of Sheridan's Powder to make hens lay. These premiums have become so popular among people who keep hens that we offer still larger premiums this year. We will pay one hundred dollars in gold coin, in four separate premiums, for the four best results from eight weeks' trial of Sheridan's Powder to make hens lay. The premiums are as follows:—Fifty Dollars for first best result; Twenty-Five Dollars for the second; Fifteen Dollars for third; and Ten Dollars for fourth best result.

Of course every person who competes cannot get a premium, but the following letter from a party who did not take a premium, last year, shows that every one can make money by the use of Sheridan's Powder from increase of eggs alone, even if they do not get a premium:—

SOUTH WALDOBORO, MAINE.

I commenced December 6, 1886, to feed sixty hens the Sheridan's Powder according to directions, and continued until January 31. The first week they laid only 30 eggs; the second, 61; the third, 158; the fourth, 196; fifth, 262; sixth, 315; seventh, 389; and the eighth, 409 eggs—or, 150 dozen for the eight weeks. Yours truly, G. N. WINCHENBACH.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this twenty-eighth day of April, 1887. GEO. G. BENNER, J. P.

At the present price of fresh eggs in Boston, the above sixty hens laid $67.50 worth of eggs during the eight weeks' trial.

Sheridan's Powder to make hens lay is sold by nearly all druggists and general storekeepers; or, for 50 cents in stamps, we will send postpaid to any address, two packs of the Powder; five packs for $1.00. Or for $1.20, we will send a large 2½ pound can of Powder, postage or express prepaid. Six cans sent for $5.00, express prepaid, to any express office in the United States. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.

We will send full particulars by mail to any address, free.

THE STORM BEATS DOWN.

The storm beats down, and the wind and rain
Moan and drive at the window pane.
I sit within by the ruddy fire,
But cannot stifle my heart's desire;
I strive to read, but anon the book
Fades far away, and I rise and look
Into the wet and out on the plain
Where the mad storm shrieks as it scatters the rain.

Restlessly taking the book once more,
I try to beguile my thoughts with its lore,
But straight her face who is dead doth arise
And I feel the spell of her haunting eyes;
I hear her call through the blinding night,
Pleading to come to the warmth and light,
And I rush to the casement, but once again
There is naught save the storm and the ceaseless rain.

O, pitiless fate, how it beats and moans!
She is dead—I know—but her face—her tones—
She is there—she is somewhere out in the storm.
How can I stay where 'tis light and warm!
If she could only beckon me there,
If she could only whisper me where—
But I strain far out at the window pane
And hear but the wind and the sobbing rain.

I will come to you—yes, though the beldam night
Dispute the way with shapes of affright—
Down to your tomb in the icy mold
I will bring you the warmth my heart doth hold.
Never again when the wild storms beat
Shall you wander in search of light and heat,
Nor ever forever down under the wold
Shall your night bedark or your grave be cold.

TALES OF THE PYGMIES.

Ancient and Modern Reports on Dwarfish Tribes—Scientist's Views.

A. De Quatrefages has recently published an historical review of the ancient and modern reports on dwarfish tribes. While formerly the descriptions of ancient geographers were considered not trustworthy, many of them have been confirmed by recent explorations. Among these are the tales of the pygmies. Aristotle and Pliny state that a dwarfish people lived near the swamps of the upper part of the Nile. De Quatrefages considers this tribe identical with Schweinfurth's Akka, who at the present time live a little further south. Pomponius Mela mentions dwarfs who inhabited the neighborhood of the Red sea. This report was confirmed by Leon des Avancher's discovery of the dwarfish Wa Berikomo, who are said to be only four and one-half feet high, and by D'Abbadie's visit to the Maze Mollea, who live a little further to the north.

Herodotus tells of a dwarfish black people on the banks of the Niger. His description of the land still holds good; but, instead of negroes, Berbers and Tuareg inhabit those regions. At the present time the most northern place in West Africa which is inhabited by dwarfs is Tenda Maje, where they were met with by Mollien in 1818.

Pliny mentions, besides the dwarfs on the sources of the Nile, others living in what is now southeastern Beluchistan, where the Brahui, a people of Dravida lineage, are found. Ktesias speaks of pygmies who inhabited central India. Mr. Rousselet found in that region the dwarfish Bandra Lok, who live in the Vindhias mountains.

De Quatrefages considers all Asiatic dwarfish tribes as one group, which he calls Negrito, while the African ones are called Negrilla. His researches lead him to the conclusion that the traces of this race are found from India to the eastern extremity of New Guinea, and from Ceylon throughout India, Farther India, the Philippines, to Japan. In most regions they are mixed with other races. He considers the Dravida one of the most characteristic results of this mixture. It is only on the Andaman Islands and a few other isolated points that the pure race is still in existence. The author shows that individuals of Negrito type occur among the Pariahs of India, and that isolated communities in many parts of southeastern Asia have retained the anthropological character of this dwarfish race.

De Quatrefages considers the Negrito of all these widely separated regions one race, which originated in southern Asia. When the yellow race migrated southward and the white race eastward they were compelled to take refuge on the islands and to migrate to more southerly countries. Thus they populated the Eastern archipelago and crossed to Africa.—Science.

A Story of the Phonograph.

Apropos of the phonograph, a story is current that is good enough to be true—we will not say too good, since a clergyman is its author. The lords of the admiralty have been down to Portsmouth inspecting the Vernon. The phonograph was turned on for their edification, and the first words this treasure of vocal sound yielded to the eager ears of the naval lords were, "We want more pay; we want more pay." Upon investigation it was discovered that this was the bottled up voice of the lieutenants. If, as we believe, the phonograph is still too far from perfect to disclose the identity of the particular voice that confides its secrets to it, this mode of petitioning for favors beats the round robin. The demands for phonographs will probably improve after this.—London News.

Figuratively Speaking.

The use of figures drawn from men's surroundings is one of the most interesting phenomena of human speech. Thus we knew a sea captain who invariably in warning sinners told them to beware of a "lee shore." Meeting a ranchman from Montana on the train he asked if a "news butcher" had been through the car. A physician, a few weeks since, giving us an account of the decline of a church in his town, said it had died of the "foot and mouth disease." Being asked what he meant, he said that the people spent their time "running around talking about each other."—Christian Advocate.

Peace on Earth

Awaits that countless army of martyrs, whose ranks are constantly recruited from the victims of nervousness and nervous diseases. The price of the boon is a systematic course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest and most genial of tonic nervines, pursued with reasonable persistence. Easier, pleasanter and safer this than to swash the victualling department with pseudo-tonics, alcoholic or the reverse, beef extracts, nerve foods, narcotics, sedatives and poisons in disguise. "Tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," is the providential recuperant of weak nerves, and this glorious franchise being usually the consequence of sound digestion and increased vigor, the great stomachic which insures both is productive also of repose at the required time. Not unrefreshed awakens the individual who uses it, but vigorous, clear headed and tranquil. Use the Bitters also in fever and ague, rheumatism, kidney troubles, constipation and biliousness.

The railroad disaster near Greenwood, Ky., Dec. 31st, was much more shocking than was first reported; instead of three or four persons killed, the number is probably at least twenty, and may be more.

The cases against all the persons implicated in the murder of Rev. Mr. Haddock, at Sioux City, Iowa, have been dismissed on the motion of the attorneys of the state, the testimony at hand and other circumstances making it inexpedient to try them.

Carlisle's Election.

General Sypher, attorney for Mr. Thoebe in his contest against Speaker Carlisle, appeared before the elections committee of the house of representatives on the 6th inst. The first statement he made was that Mr. Carlisle was not elected to Congress in 1886, and behind his assertion stands a great wall of fact. Among the new affidavits which General Sypher produced were those showing how affairs were manipulated at Covington, Ky., on the night of the election. The returns came in until one o'clock in the morning of the day after election, from Covington, Newport and suburbs, two whole counties. The vote stood: Thoebe 4571, Carlisle 2902. There was a conference of seven of Mr. Carlisle's friends, and the wild query was: "What's to be done?" After a consultation the telegraph was called into use, and confidential friends in the mountain towns were told to "Hold back returns." Men on horseback carried the same message. Speaker Carlisle saw a man the same day, and admitted openly that he was defeated. He said that he was glad of it. At another consultation George H. Nelson of the Kentucky bar was called in and asked to help. He indignantly refused. Mr. Gwyder was sent to manipulate the ballot-boxes. His work was most clumsy. It will be shown by affidavits that in stuffing he used ballots of the congressional election of 1884, different in size from those of 1886. Mr. Carliste in 1884 ran against Judge Landrum. The work was so clumsy, in fact, that some of the Landrum ballots were actually inserted in the boxes.

It will make no difference what Gen. Sypher may prove; a democratic house is not going to unseat a democratic member for any such trivial reason as that he was defeated at the polls.

NOT A CUSTOMER OF VICK'S. "That's not a Sunflower, I want you to understand I don't grow Sunflowers. That's a Hi-an-thus; its more like a Dahlia than a Sunflower." Such were the words of an indignant woman when told she had a splendid specimen of Double Dwarf Sunflower, growing in her front yard. One acquainted with this flower (Helianthus multiflorus plenus) will not be suprised at the old lady's mistake; growing a out four feet high, covered with golden-yellow double flowers about the size of a Dahlia, it resembles that plant very much. This little incident shows clearly how important it is that every one having a garden or even a shrub should own and study Vick's Floral Guide, published at Rochester, N. Y., price ten cents,—and a bill for ten cents worth of seeds accompanies the guide.

Mrs. Isaac Adams, aged seventy, was knocked down on Atkinson street, Dover, on the evening of Jan. 6th, by a double runner on which were seated five persons. Her left leg was broken, she received many severe gashes on her head, and it was feared, internal injuries that would prove fatal. All on the runner were more or less injured.

A very fine crayon portrait of the late D. H. Montgomery, in one of the show windows of Montgomery's music and art store, arrested the attention of passers-by last week. It was copied from a cabinet photograph by Miss Nute of Boston.

There were fewer deaths in this city during December last than in any December for the previous fifteen years, and fifty per cent fewer than during December, 1886. Yet the amount of sickness in the city through the fall and winhas been much greater than usual.

The sidewalks were perilously slippery on Saturday, but it was not owing to any negligence of the city authorities. The street commissioner's men were out betimes with sand, but as fast as the walks were sanded, at least during the forenoon, sleet would fall and make the sand as slippery as anything else.

Capt. W. B. Crosby, formerly of the schooner A. H. Hurlburt, has been given command of the schooner Thomas B. Garland, of the Dover Navigation Co.'s fleet, lately commanded by Capt. Kelley.

Among the bills introduced in Congress last week was one by Representative Dingley of Maine, declaring it unlawful to bring into any United States sea-coast harbor rafts of logs or timber, under penalty of forfeiture. This bill is not intended to interfere in any way with the proper importation of round logs free of duty, but as a protection to vessels against the perils incident to the breaking up of such rafts as the one which went to pieces last month. This bill should be promptly passed, and would no doubt escape the presidential veto, as no free-trade argument can be raised against it. Another bill introduced by Mr. Dingley proposes to make liable to seizure any foreign vessel taking fish within three miles of the coast of the United States, unless under a right conferred by treaty or reciprocal agreement. This bill may pass the house and senate, but cannot possibly pass the president; Secretary Bayard and the British minister will take good care of that. Such a law would savor of treating the Canadian fishermen the same way as the Canadian government treats ours, and our British administration cannot allow anything of that kind.

What with the scramble for the charity fund of the Knights of Labor assembly in Dover, and the emigration to Canada of the treasurer of the Lasters' Union fair with the funds of the union and the wife of another man, doubt must be creeping into the minds of the Dover people as to whether, after all, the trade unions have a monopoly of the honesty and business ability of the country.

Charles Hill has been held in $2000 by the Dover police court, for jury trial on a charge of stealing Judge George S. Frost's horse from a stable in Durham last September.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go th ough the summer."

A DISTRESSING COUGH.

How many, especially during the Fall and Winter months, are troubled with a Cough, sometimes dry and hacking, sometimes loose causing the sufferer to raise a large amount of offensive matter; this can soon be cured by using Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific, which acts directly on the Throat and Lungs.

Cured her Cough.

Mrs. JEREMIAH CLARK, Lowell, Mass., says: "Twelve years ago I first took a bottle of your Throat and Lung Specific. I had been troubled with a very bad Cough for months. A 50-cent bottle cured my Cough. Since then I have not been without it. I can heartily recommend it to any one who has a bad cough."

Saved his Life.

CHAS. A. WAITT, says: "No language can express the value I attach to your Specific. I believe it saved my life."

We would cite other testimonials did we think it necessary, but a trial bottle will convince you that it is all we represent. Give it a trial.

Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific is sold by all Druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

A called meeting of the subscribers to the Soldiers' & Sailors' Monument fund was held in the common council chamber on Saturday evening, to receive and act upon the report of the special committee appointed to nominate a committee of arrangements for the dedicatory exercises. The following report was submitted:

PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 7th, 1888.

To Hon. Marcellus Eldredge, Chairman:

The committee appointed by the subscribers to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument beg leave to report the following-named gentlemen to act as the committee on the dedication of the monument:

The report was signed by Marcellus Eldredge, E. S. Fay, Andrew P. Preston, John W. Parsons and John H. Hutchinson, committee.

The report was accepted, and the list of names reported was adopted as that of the committee on dedication ceremonies and arrangements, after which the meeting adjourned.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Thomas E. Call, one of the older business men of the city, died on Sunday morning about nine o'clock. He had been ill for some time, but was on the previous day believed to be on the mending hand, and his death was a sad surprise to his family and friends.

Mr. Call was a Mason of the 32d degree, and attended the National Encampment of Knights Templar at San Francisco a few years ago. He was formerly a captain in the state militia, but for a long time had taken no active part in military affairs. He was at one time engaged in the grocery business on Market square, but for many years carried on the lumber trade at the north end of Market street, retiring within a year or two, since which time the business has been conducted by his son, Thomas E. Call, Jr. He was also considerably interested in shipping at different times.

He leaves three sons and one daughter, his wife having a died a year or two since. As a business man he was honorable and upright in all his dealings, and if he leaves any enemies we do not know of them.

HOPE IT IS SO.

It is reported that Mr. Parsons of Philadelphia, now owner of the Dow farm at Rye, proposes putting up large buildings on the place, to be constructed of the Peirce patent stone, made on or close by the premises. We hope the report is well founded, and that it indicates the starting in that town of a new industry which will give employment to hundreds of workmen for seven months in the year, for an indefinite period. Col. James S. Peirce, who has been in the south for several years past, successfully introducing there the manufacture of this patent building material, told us just before he started that at Wallis' sands were millions of tons of the very best material for making it, and facilities for employing from 700 to 1000 men at the work, if only a start could be made at the manufacture.

DISBANDED.

Barlow Bros. & Frost's Minstrels, which organization gave a first-class entertainment in Music hall on Friday evening of last week, disbanded in this city on Saturday. The company had been playing to good houses until about two weeks before, when the person who had charge of the surplus, about $2000, departed with the same, leaving the organization to get along as best it might. They hung together for a time, playing on shares in hope to get money enough to reach their homes in comfort, but one member after another dropped out, and when they played here there were only half of the company remaining; but for all that the performance was one of the best variety entertainments given in Music hall for a long time, being in cleanness, fun, musical merit and originality far ahead of the average of such shows. The unlucky performers had for the two weeks preceding their appearance here received only about two dollars each per week above their expenses, and they got less than two dollars each from the proceeds of Friday night's performance; and they thought themselves lucky not to be brought in debt. Verily, all is not milk and honey "on the road."

A FREE BALLOT.

The St. Louis (Mo.) Republican, a democratic journal, joins in the hue and cry against Senator Chandler's bill for regulating elections in the south, which seems to have fired the southern heart and started up a fierce opposition all through Dixie. The Republican affirms that every republican in the national senate knows that there is a freer ballot in Mississippi, Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina than in New Hampshire! After this model munchausenism, the paper asks: "How about the factory slaves in New Hampshire?"

We had never before heard of such. As our factory in Portsmouth burned down many years ago, the voting portion of the operatives sought work where it could be found. Perhaps some of them secured a job in the ale factories, where the employes can always vote as they please, provided they do not cast a ballot against the democratic ticket!

The St. Louis editor cannot have very closely perused the statements recently published by the "fine workers" of the McEnery and Nicoll factions in Louisiana, in which each charges the other—and proves the charges—with such crimes against "a free ballot and an honest count" as the republican critics of the southern democratic plan have never alleged against them.

NAVAL PROMOTIONS.

The president sent the following nominations for naval promotions, etc., to the senate last week, among others:

Chief Engr. George W. Melville to be engineer-in-chief of the navy, and chief of the bureau of steam engineering, with the relative rank of commodore;

Med. Ins. C. J. Cleborne to be a medical director in the navy from Sept. 18th, 1887, vice Med. Director Samuel F. Coues, retired;

Surgeon Thomas C. Walton to be a medical inspector in the navy from Sept. 17th, 1887, vice Med. Ins. C. J. Cleborne, promoted;

Passed Asst. Engr. Nathan P. Towne to be a chief engineer in the navy from July 3d, 1887;

Second Lieut. Carroll Mercer, U. S. M. C., to be a first lieutenant, vice First Lieut. Joseph Nicholson, retired.

A bill has been introduced in the house of representatives providing for the printing of 4000 copies of the report of Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn on European dockyards.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Whiton-Stone is to pass a portion of the winter in Washington.

Mrs. M. W. Pope of Boston, who has been residing in Berlin, Germany, for the past five years, has gone to New York to place her son in James Herbert Morse's school, and has taken a flat in the Hotel Hawthorne, No. 128 West Fifty-ninth street, New York city.

To Let.

HOUSE NO. 23 JEFFERSON ST. Enquire of JOHN O'BRIEN, Cash'r Trade.

The lofty tower of the Eldredge Co.'s brewery, 150 feet high, has been completed.

A new meat and provision store was opened last week by Harmon Brothers in the Lyttleton M. Laighton building on Daniel street, recently remodelled and made into a fine business place by Mr. C. H. Mendum.

It is reported that steam is to be used in the yard of the Jones brewery to shift cars next summer, in place of cattle, as heretofore. The bobtail shifter Hercules is mentioned as the one likely to be applied to that service.

Good work was done by the street commissioner's gang on Saturday evening and Sunday morning, in sanding the sidewalks; they worked long after dark on Saturday, and were out again with the first streaks of daylight on Sunday. Such work costs something, but citizens of all classes appreciate it, and the taxpayers will not growl at the expense, as thereby heavy bills for damages from accidents may be averted.

The Penny Post—price two cents a copy now—was on the streets Saturday afternoon about three o'clock. It will be a morning paper pretty soon, if it keeps on. The Times—price one cent now—was about an hour later in appearing.

Mr. George H. Muzzey, for the past twenty-two years paymaster of the Portsmouth Manufacturing Co. of South Berwick, and for seven months past acting as superintendent in addition to his duties as paymaster, has resigned from the company's service.

Fish were in light supply on Sunday, but prices were lower than last week, the average being about $2 per hundred pounds.

A bill introduced in Congress last week proposes to empower the several states to prohibit the importation of liquor where the manufacture of the same is prohibited in the state. Congress need not waste its time in passing any such bill as that; Internal Revenue Collector Page would veto it off hand.

Coal freights were reported as dull at the close of the past week. One schooner to carry 1425 tons from Baltimore to this port was chartered at $2.10 per ton, and another vessel was taken later at $1.95 per ton.

The crew of the new life-saving station at Newcastle have been selected from the flower of the democracy of Great Island. No republican need apply. The life-saving stations, before this reform administration came into power, had not been regarded as political asylums.

DIED.

JANUARY 1st, 1888

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

Peace on Earth

Awaits that countless army of martyrs, whose ranks are constantly recruited from the victims of nervousness and nervous diseases. The price of the boon is a systematic course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest and most genial of tonic nervines, pursued with reasonable persistence. Easier, pleasanter and safer this than to swash the victualling department with pseudo-tonics, alcoholic or the reverse, beef extracts, nerve foods, narcotics, sedatives and poisons in disguise. "Tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," is the providential recuperant of weak nerves, and this glorious franchise being usually the consequence of sound digestion and increased vigor, the great stomachic which insures both is productive also of repose at the required time. Not unrefreshed awakens the individual who uses it, but vigorous, clear headed and tranquil. Use the Bitters also in fever and ague, rheumatism, kidney troubles, constipation and biliousness.

The great flood of the Hoang Ho in the province of Ho Nan, China, has inundated 10,000 square miles of territory, containing 3000 towns and villages and 25,000,000 people. The loss of life is counted in hundreds of thousands, and those who escaped drowning are freezing and starving to death.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cures of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

Business is so pressing at the Nashua Iron & Steel Co.'s works that the men are now working eleven hours a day, five days in the week, receiving extra pay for the additional hours.

House cleaning. The best thing ever produced for this and all kindred purposes is James Pyle's Pearline. Sold by grocers everywhere, but beware of vile imitations with names that sound like pearline.

SAVED HIS LEG!

SCROFULA

BONE CURED!

LITHONIA, GA., August 11, 1887.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—I have been afflicted with ulceration of the legs ever since I was a child, the disease manifestly being hereditary, as my mother suffered from scrofulous symptoms. As I advanced to manhood my affliction increased until the malady became harrassing and painful beyond the power of words to describe. My right leg particularly became fearfully involved, the left leg being less painfully affected. Finally, about fourteen years ago, the ulcers on my right leg had eaten through the flesh into the bone. In order to save my life the doctors determined to amputate my leg below the knee. The operation was successfully performed by Dr. H. V. M. Miller, of Atlanta, and Dr. W. P. Bond, of Lithonia. But the loss of my leg gave me only temporary relief. The poison was still in my system and soon began to show itself again. In a short time after large ulcers appeared on my left leg, covering it from the knee to the instep. Frequently while at work I could be tracked by the blood which oozed from the huge ulcers, and the sores and rottening holes were so offensive that my fellow-workmen could not stand the stench and would move away from me.

Last winter I was persuaded to try S. S. S. As a last effort I consented to do so, and about seven months ago I began taking the Specific. I soon began to feel the good effects of the medicine, the offensive running began to grow less and less and finally ceased, the ulcers healed, my flesh became firm and solid, and to day, after using twenty-one bottles, I am as able and stout a man of my age as there is in Georgia. I am seventy-one years old, but feel now younger and stronger than I did when I was twenty-five. I weigh about 180 pounds. Nothing is to be seen of the terrible disease, or to remind me of the torture I suffered for so many years, except the scars of the perfectly healed ulcers.

I want the world to know of the almost miraculous cure effected on me by S. S. S., and I call upon those who wish to know the particulars directly from me to write, and I will consider it a pleasure as well as a duty to answer their letters. I refer to Dr. W. P. Bond, of Lithonia, as to the truth of my statement. Very gratefully yours,

B. DRAKE.

THE MOUND BUILDERS OF OHIO.

Professor Putnam's Address on Ancient Americans.

Professor F. W. Putnam, curator of Peabody museum at Cambridge, Mass., and perhaps the most distinguished archæologist in America, lectured before the Western Reserve Historical society the other evening on the mounds and mound builders of Ohio. Professor Putnam has spent two months in exploring the great serpent mound in Adams county. "There were," said the speaker, "four great antique races on this continent, or the people, if of one race, show a greater diversity than any other on earth. For instance, we found in one mound in Ohio 1,500 skeletons, and these were of various sizes and differed in their characteristics. The four great races can be resolved into two—the long headed people and the people with short and broad heads. There is evidence that the long headed people came from northern Asia, and, crossing Behring strait, continued their way downward as far as California. Then they crossed to the great lakes, went down the St. Lawrence, made their way along the Atlantic coast as far south as North Carolina, and spread themselves into Ohio and Pennsylvania. There is evidence that they resembled the people of northern Asia in face and form.

"The short headed people had the characteristics of the people of southern Asia, and resembled the Malay race. The first traces of them we find in Peru and Central America. From there they worked toward the north into Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona, and following the rivers which empty into the gulf of Mexico, notably the Mississippi, they mingled at last with the long headed people in Tennessee and Ohio, and were finally absorbed by them. The Indian is a descendant of those two races." The speaker then went on to describe the mounds built by these people. He told how the former method of digging a hole in the center of the mound, which was at first practiced by explorers, has been abandoned for a more exhaustive method of research. Professor Putnam does not excavate the mounds, but slices them off in perpendicular sections until the whole mound has been laid open to inspection. He described at length the use of the mounds for burial, and said there were many ways in which the bodies were prepared for interment. Sometimes they were cremated and sometimes simply laid in the ground; sometimes a rough stone tomb surrounded the bodies, sometimes a sort of log house work of timber.

"Besides the burial mounds, there are other mounds," said the speaker. "That is, mounds used for great religious ceremonies. I have been making explorations in the Little Miami valley, and I am glad at this time to pay a tribute to the work of Col. Whittlesay in the Little Miami valley. To him we owe much of our information of the ancient Lake Superior mining, as well as of the mounds of the Little Miami valley. The mounds in that valley are sacred mounds; that is, they were for the purpose of sacrifice and religious ceremonies. On these mounds fires were kindled and sacrifices were made—not human sacrifices, but sacrifices to the fire. In one of these mounds we found terra cotta figures, beautifully carved and perfect representations of people in a perfect attitude of rest, and there was nothing to suggest action. There were, besides, these stone of images of fine shape. There were copper pendants and thousands of copper beads. Many earrings were found of copper covered with native silver, and over 60,000 pearls. It seemed as if all the pearls of all the tribes had been cast upon this altar. We have found these altars in several mounds, and sometimes we found several altars, so you see many of the great mounds were for other purposes than burial."

Having spoken of the mounds, the speaker introduced the subject of the serpent in Adams county. "The serpent," said he, "was worshiped by the Mexicans and Peruvians, and it apparently served some purpose among the ancient people of Ohio. We have one representation of it in Adams county. It is the only one on earth. It is partly of stone, but principally of earth." The speaker then described its size and gave some facts concerning it which are familiar to all people who have read histories of America or even of ancient Ohio. The property surrounding the serpent to the extent of sixty acres has been purchased for the Peabody museum by Boston ladies, and is now in the hands of Professor Putnam, who has already made some explorations into the mounds surrounding and adjacent to the serpent, with very encouraging results. He has found in the mounds skeletons of people who must have belonged to different eras, whose bodies must have been laid in the mound by people who were not aware that mounds had been used by other people for the same purpose before. Professor Putnam hopes to make extensive explorations, from which he thinks valuable facts concerning the mound builders will be learned.—Cleveland Herald.

Flat Headed Indians.

The custom of flattening the heads by pressure was about universal among the Puget Sound Indians. It was done in infancy with a hat made of cedar bark, beaten, pressed steadily on the forehead. It has been so often described by numerous writers that no further description is here necessary. School teachers here have been unable to see any difference between the intellect of those whose heads have thus been flattened and those which are natural. Some of the Indians, however, believe that it has caused numerous headaches among them in after life. Very few infants are thus treated now.—American Antiquarian.

Will Not Obey in Political Matters.

At a meeting of Rev. Dr. McGlynn's former's parishioners, held in New York last Friday evening, resolutions were adopted in substance as follows:

Whereas, in a political harangue in his church on Sunday last Mgr. Preston misrepresented the principles and outraged the citizenship of American Catholics by declaring that if any man would take his faith from Peter but would not take his politics from Peter, he was not a true Catholic,

Resolved, That we denounce this as an insult to all Catholics, and we reiterate that the pope has no title to obedience from Catholics in political affairs.

Resolved, That we adopt the principle enounced by O'Connell, that he would as soon take his politics from the sultan as from the pope.

Resolved, That as citizens and in the domain of politics we render neither allegiance nor obedience to any authority but the constitution and laws.

Addresses denouncing Mgr. Preston, Archbishop Corrigan and the "palace crowd" were made amid loud applause.

"THE LOAVES AND FISHES."

The story of how the multitude was fed, together with John 6th, 49-51, "I am the living bread," etc., were used as central points in the Universalist church on Sunday.

The growing feeling of the world, that there is something better, and more dignified, than bread and fish in this story, is a sign of increasing respect toward Christianity.

Like Portia's suitors, men have always chosen out of all that is placed before them, that which pleased them most. So in this work of feeding, with its setting of bread, fishes, miracle, magic, wonder, a deified uniform God on the one hand, or a multitude of starving souls, a congenial truth-loving man, a soul made replete by giving forth truth, love, sympathy, a great divine fact, on the other hand, men take their choice. The choice argues much for our disposition and faith. As man grows more spiritual he chooses the spiritual truth in our text, and sees the necessary setting, or to change the figure, the husk or shell which must be to preserve the gem, or the fruit.

This developing sense of what we need is the essence of immortality. As traced up from the lowest savage fetich worshipper, to the eternal hunger of the man of to-day, it has a plain and most significant history. We no longer look for uncertainties nor monsters, nor magic, but for the infinite expression of the natural. That is enough.

We have our own natural ideas, loves, hates, sympathies, moral endowments, mental favorites. Give them forth; lo! we have much more of them. We go aside in the quiet of God for first-hand thoughts, for more light upon the latest revelation, man, and multitudes follow us; we have but little, yet upon giving it forth there are fragments enough scattered for a complete apostolic feast. It is the germ of spiritual life that makes the individual thoughts so communicable, and yet so inalienable from self.

From the path between the soul and God, if held in faith and simplicity, doubt, unreality flee away. The incidents surrounding the development of the universe do not give any trouble or unrest. Mr. Ingersoll in his discussion with Mr. Field doubts God's goodness on the ground of the great calamities in life and other nature. The unsightly piles of stone and brick, the ill smelling mortar and unseemly refuse around a hole in the ground are distasteful and offensive. But the finished monument is not so shocking. The incidents of building are not the end, but the necessary means. The magnificent incidents attending the building of this universe up into its highest form, the human soul, need to startle no one.

The contingencies of the plan are the setting, the husks, the shell, and they are literally passing away. The spiritual Bread of Life that is in it all is the eternal, the true Bread that cometh down from heaven.

The Great Strike.

Matters in the coal regions of Pennsylvania were at a stand still at the end of last week, the striking miners being apparently as firm and hopeful as ever, and the Reading authorities apparently as unyielding. In the meantime coal is advancing in price, and for manufacturing purposes cannot be procured in many places.

Mr. John B. Rider, who died in South Newmarket on the 28th of December, was a native of Easton, Mass., where he learned the moulder's trade, but settled in South Newmarket fifty years ago. He was one of the original owners of the South Newmarket iron foundry, but of late years was engaged in farming. He married Miss Elizabeth Colcord, who with two of their three children survives him. The children are John F. C. Rider, well known among the dealers in machinists' supplies throughout New England, and Mrs. Lizzie Beals, wife of Edward Beals, representative from South Newmarket in the legislature. Mr. Rider was a consistent Christian, a constant attendant of the Congregational church, and respected by all his townsmen.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pleurisy, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

Corticelli Sewing Silk.

EVERY spool warranted unequalled for hand or machine sewing. Smooth, strong, full length. The engraving shows very accurately the style of spool. An examination of the label will also reveal the fact that this brand may soon celebrate its fiftieth anniversary. During all these years it has enjoyed the foremost position in the leading markets, taking at the great Competitive Industrial Exhibitions and World's Fairs a great number of first-class medals, including several of gold.

NONOTUCK SILK COMPANY.

Our stock is sufficiently large for another assault, although many serious breaks have been made, and but for the timely arrival of our reserve, our loss—of trade — would have been enormous. To requires united effort of the consumer and ourselves. That we are able and willing to make great sacrifices will be seen by examining our stock and getting the prices.

REDUCE THE SURPLUS

We prefer discounting

10 PER CENT.

than keeping goods till taking an inventory. The Holiday trade has made sad havoc in many Parlor Suits and we will sell the remaining pieces at figures that will cause consternation in the ranks. But they MUST GO!

So must a larger quantity of goods than ever before left our store in the same time.

Our ORDERS to every Branch Store are to reduce stock to the lowest possible point, preparatory to taking stock. The question is

DO YOU WANT

A RANGE,
A PARLOR STOVE,
A CARPET,
A RUG,
AN ART SQUARE,
A MAT,
A PARLOR SUIT,
A PHOENIX FOLDING BED,
A MIRROR,
A HALL STAND,
A FANCY CHAIR,
A HANGING LAMP,
A STAND LAMP,
A SHAVING STAND,
A LOUNGE,
A RECLINING CHAIR,
A CLOCK,
A TEA, BREAKFAST OR DINNER SET,
A WRITING DESK,
A ROLL TOP DESK,
AN OFFICE DESK,
A CHAMBER SET,
A SIDEBOARD,
A MARBLE OR WOOD TOP TABLE,
AN UMBRELLA STAND,
A FOOT REST,
A BED LOUNGE,
A WHATNOT,
A WARDROBE,
AN EXTENSION TABLE,
DINING CHAIRS,
A SHAKER CHAIR,
A SHAKER ROCKER,
A MATTRESS,
A FEATHER BED,
A SPRING,
BLANKETS,
COMFORTABLES,
DRAPERIES AND POLES.

If you DO want any of these articles NOW or later on, it will pay you to purchase this week, even if you have to store them, as we are determined to sell every one who enters our doors. Our prices will do it.

Out of town buyers will receive every advantage by Sending for cuts and prices as soon as possible.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Jan. 9th; Buford J.

George Laskey, charged with drunkenness, pleaded nolo contendere, and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed, sentence not to be enforced if defendant leave the city within twenty-four hours.

Edward Janvrin, drunk, was also allowed to depart, the case being placed on file, to be brought up should he not rid the city of his presence according to promise.

A FORE-AND-AFT SHIP.

The schooner T. A. Lambert, Hall master, arrived at this port on the 7th inst. from Baltimore with 2508 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker. The T. A. Lambert is the largest schooner that ever entered this port, and her cargo is the largest one ever brought here by any vessel, being nearly a thousand tons in excess of what is landed by the large coal steamers. She was built by B. W. Morse at Bath, Me., and launched April 1st, 1887; is 257 feet long, forty-seven feet beam, twenty-two feet depth of hold, and has a carrying capacity of 2600 tons; has four masts, and is the largest fore-and-aft rigged vessel in the world. Her accommodations for officers and crew are fine, and she is fitted with all modern improvements and appliances to facilitate the working of the vessel.

A. O. U. W.

The following officers of Sagamore Lodge, No. 11, Ancient Order of United Workmen, were installed Monday evening, Jan. 9th, by D. D. G. M. W. John C. Bickford, assisted by P. M. W. George W. Prescott, P. M. W. Frank H. Challis, and M. W. Ralph Pearson of Security Lodge, No. 8, of Manchester:

P. M. W., Stephen B. Yeaton;
M. W., Frank P. Leavitt;
Foreman, John E. Milton;
Overseer, Henry C. Hewitt;
Recorder, Wm. S. Goodwin;
Financier, Ernest S. Johnson;
Guide, Andrew P. Wendell;
I. W., James Rigby;
O. W., H. Amazeen.

An invitation was received (and accepted) from Polar Star Lodge of Kittery to a sociable on Tuesday evening, the 10th, when the city clerk of Boston, G. M. W. Fred C. Ingalls, and other grand lodge officers, are expected to be present.

The barque Hancock, Guptill master, arrived at this port on the 7th from Darien, Ga., with a cargo of yellow pine timber for the navy yard.

It is stated that the water backs up in the big sewer on Bridge street so as to flood the cellars there. James Rutledge's cellar is so well watered that he thinks of putting in a boat for the boys to paddle round in. The odor of the water is unpleasantly suggestive of brewery refuse, and some fear is expressed of diphtheria or other malignant disease arising from it.

Mrs. Akerman, wife of Daniel F. Akerman, living at No. 77 Islington street, was found by her husband on his return from the navy yard Monday evening, lying insensible at the foot of the cellar stairs with an ugly gash across her forehead. She was taken up and medical aid at once called, but she died about seven o'clock. Her death was probably caused by a fall down the stairs.

Season tickets for the remainder of the Star Lecture course can be obtained at Goodrich's at $1.25 each. Excellent seats can be had, and the best attractions of the course are yet to come.

It is said the number of Christmas and New Year cards sent this season was very small as compared with previous ones.

Strawberry Bank L. . . . will hold an entertainment in Rechabite hall on the evenings of Jan. 26th and 27th.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth Machine Co., held Monday afternoon, the previous action taken looking to the disposal of the property of the corporation was confirmed, and the legal conveyance of the property, when sold, provided for.

To Let.

The schooner King Philip was last week chartered to make three trips from Norfolk to this port with coal, at $1.60 per ton. A schooner was chartered from Norfolk to Boston, four trips, at $1.50; and one for a single trip, Norfolk to Boston, $1.80. Freights from Baltimore to Boston were quoted at $1.90, and several vessels were taken at this rate.

The total loss by fires in this city during the year 1887, (exclusive of the fire at the Hayes farm, for which no alarm was given,) was only $164; and water was put through the hose on only one fire during the year, that one being in the old building on Market street containing J. Albert Walker's counting room, with a tenement above in which the fire caught. Not much ruin to the insurance companies from their losses in Portsmouth last year.

The Eldredge Brewing Co. commenced cutting ice from their pond on Monday; it is eleven inches thick, and seemingly of good quality notwithstanding the lack of extremely cold weather. The cutting of ice at Rye and York, for the summer supply of the beach hotels, has also commenced.

"Old Whitey," a thirty-five-year-old horse belonging to G. & J. W. Scott, died in his stable last Saturday from old age. Old Whitey in his youth was famous as one of the swift horses let from the Portsmouth stables.

The Boston & Maine railroad, according to its usual custom, has contributed $250 to the Maine general hospital at Portland for the maintenance of a free bed during the present year.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $5 per pair. They are a great bargain.

—It is no great credit for the worm to turn when stepped upon. A barrel hoop will do the same thing.

A Boston writer on financial and railroad matters says: "Eastern stockholders are now very anxious to know just what will be done this winter with reference to the proposed consolidation with the Boston & Maine road. I hear from very good authority that the plan likely to be agreed upon will be extremely favorable for the common stockholders, and, if it shall be carried out successfully, as there is now every reason to believe it will be, Eastern stock ought to sell much higher between the present time and April 1st.

JANUARY 1st, 1888

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

THIS PAPER is on file in Philadelphia at the Newspaper Advertising Agency of Messrs. N. W. AYER & SON, our authorized agents.

NEW VOLUME OF THE LIVING AGE — The number of Littell's Living Age dated January 7th begins a new volume—the one hundred and seventy-sixth—of that standard weekly magazine. As periodical literature has been growing from year to year in extent and importance, the Living Age has gone on increasing in value. It is a necessity to the American reader who would keep pace with the best literary work of the time.

The first number of the new year has the following table of contents: The Life and Letters of Charles Darwin, Contemporary Review; The Magic Fan, by John Strange Winter, author of "Bootle's Baby," etc., English Illustrated Magazine; Mohammedanism in Africa, Nineteenth Century; Lord Macaulay and Madame D'Arblay, National Review; A Dramatic Effect, Blackwood's Magazine; The Future of the Negro, Spectator; Early English Navigators and their Nautical Instruments, St. James' Gazette; New Names for New States, Spectator; Old Silver, St. James' Gazette; with choice poetry and miscellany. This, the first weekly number of the new volume, is a good one with which to begin a subscription. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10 50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4.00 monthlies or weeklies with the Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

The republicans of North Carolina are preparing for a hot campaign next fall, believing that the president's free-trade message will enable them to carry the state.

The government's loss by the fire in the Brooklyn navy yard last week is positively stated at not over $30,000.

Passed Asst. Paymaster E. B. Rogers is detached from duty at Yokohama, and ordered home on the reporting of his relief.

Another one of the Bolo gang has been killed by vigilantes at Madisonville, Tex, making six in all. It turns out that the Bolo crowd were not saloon advocates, and murdered by the anti-saloonists, but were a notorious gang of horse thieves and assassins, and the saloon men were as active as any in abating them.

Stokes, the third man involved in the so-called Manchester scandal cases to be brought to trial, at Nashua on Saturday was sentenced to three years in state prison.

It must have been a terrible state of affairs that caused the psalmist to ask: "Who can stand before his cold?" In his day the remedies were few and doubtful; how much happier should this generation be, that has a household remedy, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; so wonderful have been its cures that millions rise up and call it "blessed."

Stop that cough, by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral—the best specific for all throat and lung diseases. It will allay inflammation, aid the respiration, and strengthens the vocal organs. Ayer's almanacs are free to all. Ask for one.

Mails between this country and the Pacific coast of South America are seriously interrupted by the quarantine against vessels from Chilian ports.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

Rose Coghlan is to retire from the stock company at Wallack's theatre, New York, having refused to act a distateful part.

Guns have been procured from the war department to mark the position of the fifty-nine batteries on the Gettysburg battlefield.

"The Covetous Man is His own Tormentor."
Do not covet you neighbor's box of Little Hop Pills. If you are troubled with headache, biliousness and dyspepsia one dose will relieve you. Buy a box at first druggist. Try them. Always cure.

The glass factories in West Virginia have shut down, and the workers will enter suits for breach of contracts.

No sufferer from any scrofulous disease, who will fairly try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, need despair of a cure. This remedy purges the blood of all impurities, destroyes the germs of scrofula, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the physical organization.

The Atchison union railway depot at Atchison, Kansas, has been burned. Loss about $125,000; insurance $50,000.

You
Will never regret sending three two-cent stamps to pay postage, to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for a copy of Dr. Kaufmann's Great Medical Work; 100 pages, colored illustrations; of great value to every family.

Peace on Earth

Awaits that countless army of martyrs, whose ranks are constantly recruited from the victims of nervousness and nervous diseases. The price of the boon is a systematic course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest and most genial of tonic nervines, pursued with reasonable persistence. Easier, pleasanter and safer this than to swash the victualling department with pseudo-tonics, alcoholic or the reverse, beef extracts, nerve foods, narcotics, sedatives and poisons in disguise. "Tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," is the providential recuperant of weak nerves, and this glorious franchise being usually the consequence of sound digestion and increased vigor, the great stomachic which insures both is productive also of preparations at the required time. Not unrefreshed awakens the individual who uses it, but vigorous, clear headed and tranquil. Use the Bitters also in fever and ague, rheumatism, kidney troubles, constipation and biliousness.

The body of a young man of about twenty-two years was found in Oak Island grove, Revere, Mass., Jan. 5th, with a $5 bill in one pocket of his coat, a bullet hole in his head, scars on his throat and hands, and a pistol and small mirror on top of the body. The man was evidently murdered elsewhere, and carried to the spot where found.

We have no hesitation in recommending Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer as a sure cure for dandruff, and to restore the natural color of the hair.

William H. DeForest, a wholesale silk dealer in New York, has assigned, giving preferences for over $400,000.

The position of the coal miners in the great strike is reported as growing stronger all the time; not a carload of coal passed through Reading, Pa., on the 9th inst. The coal trade is paralyzed.

A Clever Adverti ing Trick.

Advertisers resort to all sorts of tricks to interest people. No one would suppose this was an advertisement for Little Hop Pills, but that is just what it is. They always cure constipation and kindred ills. All druggists, 25 cents. Buy. Try. Judge.

A telegram received from Eastport, Me., states that 1,000,000 herring were caught on the north shore in two nights, and there is a prospect of a big catch.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

The senate committee on territories will report a bill to divide Dakota, and providing for the admission of South Dakota as a state.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cures of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

The British Admiral Heneage is ordered to proceed to Behring sea in his flagship Swiftsure, to watch the operations of the American cruisers in regard to British sealing vessels.

House cleaning. The best thing ever produced for this and all kindred purposes is James Pyle's Pearline. It makes the housekeeper do the work more satisfactorily in less than half the usual time without the aid of soap, or anything else, and its great value in the kitchen and laundry is attracting wide-spread attention. Sold by grocers everywhere, but beware of vile imitations with names that sound like pearline.

Bonamy Price, professor of political economy in Oxford (Eng.) university, is dead.

This is Good Enough.

Mr. C E. Bartholomew, Kalkaska, Mich., says: "I owe my life solely to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N Y I had liver and kidney disease, and for five years was unable to go about. I am now well, and can do a man's work on my farm. I shall always hold up both hands for Dr Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Price $1.00 a bottle, six for $5. jan21

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whol system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,fri,6yaii

SONG OF THE SNOWFLAKE.

Like a cloud upon a mountain,
Like a bubble on a fountain,
I am seen and pass away as in a dream.
For the wild wind drives me over,
Over land, and sea, and river,
Till the sunshine shall dissolve me in its beam.

I am swept on the wings of the storm,
And I rush 'twixt the earth and the sky,
The earth that seems shapless in form,
And the moon that is clouded on high;
I rush o'er the ocean's dark waste,
And the white spray leaps upward to me,
Till I feel in its kiss as we mingle, the taste
Of the salt of the boisterous sea.

I pass o'er the ship,
And I hover and dip,
'Midst the masts, and the sails, and the shrouds,
But the wind with a whirl,
Makes me eddy and curl,
And bears me once more to the clouds.

From the place of my birth,
I swoop downward to earth,
I am borne o'er the plain and the hill,
And I long for my rest,
In the ground's snow clad breast,
Or a home in the stream or the rill.

—E. F. Fellew in Temple Bar.

REMOVED BY ELECTRICITY.

Novel Surgical Operations—Successful Removal of Moles and Wens.

A friend has been telling me of his own and his wife's experience in having moles and wens removed by electricity. His wife had on her right shoulder a blemish in the form of a large mole, quite half an inch in diameter, which practically made it impossible for her to wear ball or evening dresses, which would reveal her otherwise shapely shoulders. She accidentally heard of the electric operations, and, obtaining the address of the surgeon who performs them, she went without her husband's knowledge to his office and submitted to the operation. It required about a week to heal the wounds made by the needles with which the mole was perforated in every direction; then the mole, which had been burned to a dry, black crisp fell off, leaving the shoulder perfectly white, and with only the slightest indication to show where the discoloration had been. A new skin formed over it, and there is hardly a noticeable blemish there now. Success inspired her to insist on her husband's undergoing the same operation on a more delicate part of his person—namely, his nose. He thus tells his story:

"I had on my nose at birth, so I was told, a wen, which grew with my years until I became a man, and for many years it greatly disfigured my countenance. It was about the size of a pea, and was on my left nostril. It changed color from time to time, and would grow to be a frightful sanguinary red whenever I indulged myself with wines and liquors of any sort. I came to regard it at times as a 'gin blossom,' and an irreverent reporter in describing me once suggested that this object had evidently been one of long and patient and costly culture. I went on my wife's urgent entreaty to her surgeon and asked him if it could be removed. He looked at it and suggested that it might be if I would not look upon the wine when it was red; but I told him I was born so. He examined further, and at once proceeded to operate upon it.

He bathed my nose, first of all, in cocaine. It grew cold at first, then became perfectly numb, as though asleep from lack of circulation of the blood. It felt as if paralyzed. He then applied an electric needle to the wen, sticking it through and through, as near the roots as possible. There was no pain, though half an hour was consumed in the operation. Whenever he increased the current of electricity I saw billions of stars, and sparks seemed to flash from my eyes, and the eyeballs seemed to crack with each spark that apparently flew from them. When the operation was completed the wen was black, no longer red, and more unsightly than ever. He put flesh colored court plaster over it and kept it there for about a week. Then in washing it off the mass of blackened flesh fell away. A new skin formed, and you can barely see a small scar where the unsightly object once was,"—Nashville American.

"Clipping" Street Car Mules.

If you will notice, you will see that all the street car mules are closely clipped in the fall. To the unknowing this doubtless looks cruel, as nature seems to intend that the hair of animals shall grow long every fall to protect them against the cold. It may be cruel in many cases, but it is different with the street car mule; it is a sanitary precaution. His hair grows much longer in winter than that of a horse, and when he travels at a lively rate, as he is made to do in a car, he perspires freely, and the hair preserves the dampness for a long time. Hence, when he is at rest, he freezes and gets the rheumatism. With his hair clipped, he may be colder in the stable, but he is all right while traveling, and dries off afterward without any unpleasant consequences. It is not necessary to do this clipping with horses unless they have unusually long hair. They do not perspire like mules, and hence do not need clipping except in the spring. A horse that has once been clipped must be clipped ever afterward, or he will catch cold or suffer the heat badly.—Globe-Democrat.

Test of Train Telegraphy.

A recent public test of the consolidated railway telegraph system of train telegraphy, made on the Lehigh Valley railroad, gave very satisfactory results. On a train moving sixty miles an hour, messages were sent and received to and from other trains on the road; and communication was had with this city and with different stations on the line.—Boston Budget.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

The train which left Boston for Portland at one o'clock Tuesday afternoon over the Western division of the Boston & Maine railroad, consisting of seven cars and running express, when at Bradford, near Haverhill, Mass., left the rails, crashed into a tank-house and was piled in ruins, with terrible results. The first report was that the train went through a bridge; but this was shortly contradicted, though telegraphic details could not be procured in Boston, and the railroad employes alleged entire ignorance of any accident. The late editions of the Boston dailies contained but meagre and indefinite accounts of the disaster.

The following was received in this city shortly before six o'clock by the Times, too late for use in its issue of that day:

BRADFORD, MASS., 5:30 P. M.

The following is the list of killed and wounded, so far as can be ascertained: John O'Brien of Bradford; Wm. Taylor (section hand) of Bradford; E. P. Goodwin, wife and child, of Kennebec, Me.; A. S. Walker of Hanson, Me.; Clarence Hazelwood, residence unknown; Charles Thurlow, Newton Junction; one person, name and residence unknown. O'Brien and Taylor were near the water-tank house into which the train crashed, and were instantly killed; the others killed were passengers on the ill-fated train. John Madden, section boss, was near the tank-house, and was terribly hurt; will probably die. Fifty-two passengers were injured, besides those killed. Mr. Thompson, of the Carriage Manufacturing Co. of Portland, was in the car which was damaged most; was injured in the head and back, and had one arm broken.

The train consisted of the locomotive, two baggage cars, smoker, parlor car and three passenger cars. The engine, tender and baggage cars passed along safely, but the smoker and two passenger cars ran off. The accident happened between Bradford station and the bridge, and was caused, as is supposed, by the spreading of the rails near a frog. The smoker ran off the bridge down an embankment; of the two passenger cars which ran off, one smashed into the tank-house, the other through the sleeper. The crash was fearful, and the cries of the people terrible to hear. The cars did not take fire.

High Toned Sluggers.

Two young men, sons of Attorney General Garland and Senator Jones of Arkansas, had a fight a la prize ring in a barn at Washington last Sunday morning, in consequence of a dispute over a game of billiards the night before. Jones was much battered up, and Garland was knocked out in the fifth round. It would be a benefit to the reputation of the cabinet if young Jones could get a rap at old Pan-Electric himself.

They Are in Great Fear.

The Times, in an article on the "Tariff on Wool" in which it argues that wool should be put on the free list, says:

The fact is, instead of British merchants and manufacturers desiring the adoption by Congress of the views of the president, it is what they most fear.

It is this fear, no doubt, which has prompted the Cobden club for many years to send money and tracts to this country ad lib. in support of the free trade schemes of the British manufacturers, and which has prompted the almost universal shout of delight and approval with which the British press has hailed Cleveland's free trade message.

Naval Intelligence.

The secretary of the navy has issued an order for the U. S. S. Lancaster, flagship of the South Atlantic squadron, now at Montevideo, to proceed to the Mediterranean for service as flagship of the European station, in place of the Pensacola, which has been ordered home. The U. S. S. Juniata has been ordered to Yokohama for duty on the Asiatic station, and was to have sailed from Honolulu on Jan. 1st.

The president on the 5th inst. nominated Passed Asst. Surgeons James R. Waggener, Thomas H. Streets, Manly H. Simons and John C. Boyd, to be surgeons in the navy; Stephen Stewart White of Maryland, James Gaven Field, Hatton N. T. Harris and George McCaw Pickrell of Virginia, Rand Percy Crandall of New York and Charles Franklin Webster of Pennsylvania, to be assistant surgeons in the navy; Passed Asst. Paymaster Wm. W. Barry to be paymaster; Asst. Paymaster Leeds C. Kerr to be passed assistant paymaster; Passed Asst. Engrs. Burdette C. Gowing, Absalom Kirby and James Entwistle, to be chief engineers.

Passed Asst. Engr. John F. Bingham is ordered to duty in connection with the machinery of cruiser No. 4, at Philadelphia.

Paymaster Geo. E. Hendee is detached from the iron clads at City Point, Va., and ordered to the League Island navy yard.

Paymaster W. W. Woodhull is detached from the League Island navy yard, and placed on waiting orders.

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reestablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go th ough the summer."

BILIOUSNESS.

This very common complaint, which is caused by a dormant or inactive liver, can be cured in a short time by using Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, as can also the various diseases arising from inactive liver or kidneys. These organs, if inactive, will allow impure blood to enter the heart, causing tightness about that organ and palpitation.

She suffered thirty years.

MRS. DUDLEY CHANDLES, of Melrose, Mass., says: "I had suffered with Palpitation of the Heart more than thirty years before I found anything to give me essential relief. Last fall I tried Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, and, remarkable as it was, this Compound relieved me in two days, so that for several months afterwards I felt not the slightest touch of it, and am perfectly free from it now. Sometimes, before I took this Compound, the pulsations of my heart were so violent as to shake my whole body with rapid agitations, and at times I fainted and became entirely insensible. Now I am perfectly free from all this suffering. Consequently I can most sincerely and earnestly recommend this Compound to all like sufferers, as pre-eminently the best medicine I ever knew for Palpitation of the Heart."

Ingalls' Mandrake Compound is sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles for $5. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

CORPORATION ELECTIONS.

The annual meetings of the stockholders of the several national banks of this city were held on Tuesday, the 10th inst., and officers elected as follows:

NEW HAMPSHIRE NATIONAL BANK: Edwin A. Peterson, Frank Jones, True M. Ball, Marcellus Eldredge, Daniel Marcy, Thomas A. Harris, J. Albert Walker, directors; Edwin A. Peterson, president; Lafayette S. Butler, cashier.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK: Edward P. Kimball, William L. Dwight, William H. Hackett, John H. Broughton, Ezra H. Winchester, Robert C. Peirce, Moses P. Stacy, directors; Edward P. Kimball, president; Charles A. Hazlett, cashier.

NATIONAL MECHANICS & TRADERS' BANK: John Sise, William H. Rollins, Charles H. Mendum, Joseph W. Peirce, Andrew P. Preston, John S. Pray, directors; John Sise, president, James P. Bartlett, cashier.

ROCKINGHAM NATIONAL BANK: John J. Pickering, George W. Haven, John S. H. Frink, T. Salter Tredick, William A. Peirce, Francis E. Langdon, directors; John J. Pickering, president; John P. Hart, cashier.

PORTSMOUTH TRUST & GUARANTEE CO.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Jan. 10th; Bufford J.

Matthew Harrington, John McCarthy and John McCue, for drunkenness, were each given ninety days at the county farm, costs in each case being taxed at $6.90.

HUMPTY DUMPTY ON THE WALL.

But this Humpty Dumpty did not have a fall. He never does. Every time he comes to Charleston he is higher and higher up the ladder of fame, and the united plaudits of parquette, dress circle and gallery cheer him on in his heavenward climb. This is Tony Denier's Humpty Dumpty, and, of course, he jammed the Academy of Music at the matinee yesterday with such a world of ladies and children that it almost burst, and bade farewell last night to a house that would have excited the envy of all his would-be rivals if they could have seen it.—Charleston, S. C., News and Courier.

ODD FELLOWS' RELIEF.

The Strafford County Odd Fellows' Mutual Relief Association, which held its annual meeting in Dover on the 9th inst., re-elected their old board of officers for the ensuing year, as follows: S. S. Chick of Great Falls, president; J. Frank Seavey of Dover, vice president; A. S. Parshley of Rochester, secretary; Chas. W. Talpey of Farmington, treasurer; Nathan Hill of Salmon Falls and Wm. R. Tapley of Dover, finance committee. From the books of the secretary we learn that this association was the pioneer of the mutual relief associations in New Hampshire, being organized Nov. 14th, 1870. During the period of eighteen years and a little over, it has paid out benefits to the heirs of 222 deceased brothers. This money amounts to the round sum of $253,247.92, distributed among the principal lodges interested as follows: To Dover, two lodges, $37,349.92; Portsmouth, three lodges, $70,530; Rochester, three lodges, $45,181; Great Falls, one lodge, $32,092; South Berwick, one lodge, $15,167; Farmington, one lodge, $14,091; Kittery, Me., one lodge, $7,867; Salmon Falls, one lodge, $9,437; Newmarket, one lodge, $5,542; Berwick, Me., one lodge, $4,286. The remainder has been distributed in a large number of scattered lodges.

STAR LECTURE COURSE.

The Guardian, of Lawrence, Pa., refers as follows to the lecturer who is to appear in the Star Course at Music hall, Thursday evening, Jan. 12th: "No lecturer who ever spoke in New Castle gave better satisfaction than Dr. Hedley, in 'The Sunny Side of Life.' It is useless for us to attempt to describe it. Such a blending of poetic fancy, beautiful word-painting, fascinating oratory, keen wit, with provoking humor and good common sense has rarely been met with. Already many wishes are expressed that the doctor be recalled soon again. When he comes, a larger room than White Hall will be required to hold his audience." Tickets at Goodrich's, and at the door of the hall.

The Boston Journal remarks: "Speaker Carlisle has evidently disappointed the member from the First New Hampshire district. As the product of a free trade overturn in a great manufacturing region, Mr. McKinney doubtless expected nothing less than a place on the ways and means committee, or at any rate on that of appropriations. Instead, he is put off with obscure and [illegible] ments. It is plain [illegible] the representative place strikes [illegible] ferent estimates on the latter's importance, and that Mr. Carlisle fully understands that Mr. McKinney owes his place in Congress not to any free trade revolution, but to a lucky combination of circumstances, aided by the labor vote, the great Portsmouth brewer and the Kittery navy yard."

The funeral of the late Thomas E. Call will be held at his late residence on Pleasant street this afternoon. The full burial service of the Knights Templar will be held at the house, after which the Sir Knights will return to the asylum.

Mr. Samuel Jones, employed for a year past by Hon. John H. Broughton, has shipped as first mate on the coaster Fleet Wing, for St John, N. B.

At the close of the session of the Middle street Baptist Sunday school, on Sunday last, officers for the ensuing year were chosen as follows: Charles H. Clough, superintendent; F. F. Church, secretary and treasurer; Horace Montgomery and L. C. McIntire, librarians.

The North Hampton Musical society will give a musical and literary entertainment in North Hampton town hall next Tuesday evening, Jan. 17th.

A delegation of the members of Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., called upon Capt. John Clark at No. 17 Austin street, Sunday, and left with him a very acceptable token of their kind remembrance of his 91st birthday, which occurred on that day.

Mr. Frank Chauncy of this city is steward of the mammoth schooner T. A. Lambert, the largest fore-and-after in the world, now discharging a cargo of over 2500 tons of coal at the Concord railroad wharf.

The schooner Albert W. Smith, from New York for this port, sailed from Provincetown on the 8th inst., but returned on the 9th, having carried away jibstay and lost flying jib.

Recitals by pupils of Mrs. Saral. Neal Harris on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, 17th and 18th insts., at Music hall. Tickets thirty-five cents; all seats reserved—coupons to be procured at Mr. Goodrich's bookstore.

The Manchester Mirror says that Congressman McKinney "is assigned to the committee on manufactures, probably to enable him to secure the passage of a law that will prohibit the manufacture of poor mucilage. As we remember it, he thought he would have had a thousand plurality last fall if his stickers hadn't fallen off."

Several deaths from cigarette smoking in towns along the Hudson river have started a boycott of the deadly youth-exterminators in Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Newburg, etc., where the tobacco stores now display the sign: "No cigarettes sold to boys, here." New Hampshire has a law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to boys, but we have never heard of any attempt to enforce it, or of any dealer who respected it. As a matter of health it would be better for boys, if they must smoke, to smoke tobacco.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $5 per pair. They are a great bargain.

MATTERS IN YORK.

AGAMENTICUS, YORK, ME., Jan. 8th.

No sleighing as yet, but it is snowing to-day, and sleighing and sledding are hoped for.

The advance on coal has made quite a call for hard wood in the place, but dry wood is scarce; the market has been dull for the past four years, and there has not been much cut. Wood-choppers are scarce here; you can hardly get a man who wants to cut a cord of wood.

Johnson B. Moulton is getting out a frame for a new house; the house to be 28 by 38 feet, all 22 by 28, two stories, two bay windows.

Mr. John Sweet is improving, and is so far recovered as to be out.

Oren Fitzgerald is stopping with Charles Stwart this winter.

Luther Welch is making his home with John Norman.

John Merserve, the canvasser for the Biddeford Times, got lost recently in the woods, lost his dinner, and came near having to stay in the woods all night.

Stover Perkins has bought the Addison Norton place, and is building a new stable on it.

Edward Plaisted, who has peddled baskets for more than forty years, finding the business dull this winter has gone to chopping wood.

Mrs. Keziah Welch is stopping with Mrs. Emily Plaisted this winter.

Getting married is the business of the day in this vicinity at present—more marriages, more poverty. F.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY, ME., Jan. 10th.

Mr. Geo. W. Damon has recently had a visit from his sister and her husband, Mr. Perley Rowe, who were on their way from the Black Hills, where they have lived several years, to eastern Maine, where Mr. Rowe by the death of his father has recently come into possession of a large and well cultivated farm. Mr. Damon received last week by express from his brother, who is now at the Black Hills, a saddle of deer and a saddle of antelope meat, which he pronounced delicious.

Mr. Geo. H. Tarbox of Kennebunk, who is teaching at the Point, was at North Kittery on Friday evening last, and visited Morrill Lodge of Good Templars.

Union prayer meetings are being held at the Foreside churches. SUB ROSA.

—A woman sold her wash tub to a party of riflemen for a target. They paid her $1.50 for it; and, after they had gone home, she went out into the field and brought it back as good as ever it was.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

"WHAT is meant by 'free alkali,' Doctor? I see it mentioned in the advertisements of IVORY SOAP."

"'Free Alkali,' Madam, is the alkali which is not combined with the fats or oils of which the soap is made, due to the ignorance or carelessness of the soap maker. Soaps in which 'free alkali' is present are decidedly injurious to both the clothing and the skin when habitually used. I have seen reports of analysis made of the Ivory Soap by men eminent in our profession, and all pronounce it to contain no 'free alkali,' to be made with great care and of materials of the best quality, carefully selected, so I unhesitatingly recommend it for every purpose about the house for which good soap is required."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

ELIOT ITEMS.

ELIOT, ME., Jan. 9th.

The death of Freddie G. Spinney took place on Wednesday forenoon last about nine o'clock. He had been ill about two and one-half years with consumption. He was a fine young man, of excellent habits, liked by everybody, and his death at the early age of twenty years is much regretted. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, at the residence of his parents, Mr. Wm. M. Spinney and wife, Elder George W. Brown officiating. He read from Ecclesiastes, 3d chapter, beginning with the 3d verse; this was followed by an earnest prayer by Elder Wm. P. Israel of Portsmouth, and Elder Brown then preached a most appropriate sermon from Genesis 8:20, the last clause of the 20th verse. In the course of his remarks he mentioned that the young man now lying silent was born on the 13th anniversary of his parents' marriage, and died on his father's birthday—two singular coincidences to occur in the experience of the same person. Deceased was a member of the Methodist Sunday school of South Eliot, and when in health and strength was always constant in attendance; he will be much missed by the young people of the society. The Sunday school walked in procession from the house to the grave, opening their ranks at the grave to allow the mourning relatives and immediate friends to pass through; after which the scholars, on taking their last look at the casket containing the mortal remains of their loved companion, dropped a bouquet upon it in token of their affection, and their hope of a happy meeting on a brighter shore.

The Sunday school of South Eliot did not give their concert last Sunday evening, but will give it next Sunday evening, if pleasant. HARRY.

A Nervy Fidgety People.

We are emphatically a people of nerves. Visitors from other lands are astonished at the fierce activity that pervades our most insignificant actions; but they themselves speedily contract restlessness and no longer marvel at wonderful developments of invention and speed of practical application. A portion of this energy is doubtless due to American climate, which teaches in a vigorous and obtrusive manner, that quiet and rest do not form part of natural law in this country, but it is far more a result of our newness, our youth in the family of nations. Scarcely out of our swaddling clothes of history, we are called upon to stand up squarely in competition with a thousand years of past, and show the old fogies a new thing or two. And we have done it, are doing it now and apparently have shouldered a contract to keep in the lead for all time to come. What with new instruments for annihilation of time and distance, limited express trains across the continent and unlimited chances for express speed in dissipation, the American temperament has already grown to be one of great delicacy of nerve. Our children, at an age when their contemporaries in other lands are still at school, relegate the "old folk" to the rear; and father's opinion is voted as "good, of course, but belongs to a past period."

Yet, in all this mad speed, there is reason. It does not follow that we live shorter lives than elsewhere, even in length of years; that is not the case. We are not less capable of keen appreciation of good things, when once they are introduced to us; on the contrary, we are apt to see beauty and say so, too, when not even a glance of pleasure shows that our slower neighbor has noticed it. But, from a medical point of view, our temperament is a dangerous one to the state, in that it does most distinctly repress reproduction. The future American will be conglomerate; the blood of our forefathers will be so far diluted that its characteristic will be lost in foreign overflowing tide, which, if sluggish in its flow, may still be of service by reclaiming from too much nervousness our fidgety people.—American Magazine.

Tricks of Eastern Wizards.

Alderahman, the conqueror of northern Spain, according to the Moorish chronicle of the Caliphs, once engaged a "master wizard," who introduced himself by "making the shadow of a dial retreat by 12 degs.," an exploit which, indeed, even Russian facilities of collusion would fail to explain. That same court wizard is said to have predicted the issue of the battle of Tours (the Charles Martel affair) a full year before his royal patron crossed the Pyrennes; but in that branch of his art at least his prestige can be challenged by the record of a modern specialist. The clairvoyante Lenormand, whose sanctum in the Rue Madeleine seems to have rivaled the popularity, and almost the emoluments, of the Delphic oracle, foretold Col. Murat that his career would end on the throne of a king (certainly an augurium of quite classic ambiguity), and that his fortune would carry him far beyond the borders of his native land. She also assured ex-Jacobin Bassere that the ghosts of the past would not rise against him; and when Talleyrand visited her in the garb of a country curate she outlined his political vicissitudes in a way that convinced him that her keen eyes must have penetrated either his disguise or the veil of the future. In 1803 Napoleon himself could no longer resist the witchery of her growing fame, and one evening gave her a rendezvous in the library of the Tuileries.

"The rising clouds will pass, sire," said she, "and the star of your fortune will continue to mount higher and higher, for years to come, till"——

"Go on."

"Till the ninth year shall witness its cline."

"Et apres?"

"All beyond is dark, sire."

The sibyl herself kept no record of her predictions, but the unanimous testimony of her contemporaries seems to leave no doubt that what skeptics called her random shots resulted in an amazing number of hits.—Dr. Felix L. Oswald in Cosmopolitan.

Two from the School Room.

A teacher in a city near New York had a small class in easy physiology. They had had several lessons on the ear, and had been so thoroughly drilled on the names and uses of all its parts, that when some visitors dropped in the teacher was glad it happened to be the hour for this class to recite. After asking several questions, and receiving prompt and correct answers, she said: "What is the name of the canal in the ear?"

The child hesitated a moment, and then spoke up, loud and plain: "The E-rie canal!"

The visitors thought if she judged by the sound it was no wonder the child thought the Erie canal ought to be in the ear, and were, perhaps, better pleased than the teacher was with the answer.

Another teacher in the same city asked one of her scholars the meaning of the word "vicissitude."

"Change," was the reply.

"That is right," said the teacher, "now give me a sentence with the word vicissitude in it."

"My mother sent me to the store to vicissitude a dollar bill.—Christian Register.

It is proper to warn art collectors against purchasing any Rembrandts, Durers or Raphaels which may stray into the market at present. A new scientific process of copying is said to have been applied to the pictures in the Esterhazy gallery at Pesth with startling results, and the fact has become a subject of investigation by the Hungarian congress.—Chicago News.

The Boston & Maine Railroad Disaster.

The detailed reports from the terrible disaster at Bradford, Mass., on the afternoon of the 10th inst., but add to its painful character. The list of killed and wounded, as returned on the morning of the 11th, is as follows:

KILLED.

Clarence Hazelwood, of Boston, aged thirty-five.

G N. Cole, of Lawrence, aged forty; Mrs. Cole, aged thirty; and their son, aged four.

L. B. Adams, of Newton, aged forty.

Albert S. Walker, of Harrison, Me., aged forty.

Josephus Shaw, of Fogg, Shaw, Thayer & Co., boot and shoe dealers, Boston, aged forty-five.

John O'Brien, merchant, of Bradford, aged fifty.

INJURED.

Dennis Shanrahan, of Bradford, section hand, cannot live.

Flora E. Walker, of Lawrence, cannot live.

An unknown woman, probably Italian, will probably die.

Bertie Allen, of Exeter, N. H., cut on forehead.

Henry Hart, of Deering, N. H., scalp wound, nose and eyes injured.

W. F. Kimball, of Kimball Bros., carriage dealers, Boston, leg broken.

Rebecca McKay, Somerville, N. B., leg broken.

Fred McKean, of Somerville, Mass., train newsboy, Calvin McKenney of Auburn, Me., Neise Bolan of Brockton, Mass., John Madden of Haverhill, section hand, Thomas F. Roche of Haverhill, fireman of the locomotive, Charles T. Dunlap of Portland and Mr. Freeman of Lewiston, badly injured, but will all probably recover.

Hugo Stettengren, of Brockton, Patrick Linnehan of Bradford, section hand, George Gardiner of Uxbridge, R. I., Mrs. L. A. Rowe of East Pepperell, Mass., Mrs. John P. Felt of Portland, John Kellogg of Boston, James Dawson of Dexter, Me., not seriously hurt.

The accident occurred about 200 feet from the Bradford station, which is near the end of the long bridge spanning the Merrimac river at Haverhill. There is a sharp curve just before the station is reached on the way from Boston, and the Georgetown branch joins the main line close to the station. At the time of the accident a train was on the Georgetown branch, waiting for the passage of the express train, and the rear car of the wrecked train ran along on the branch and struck the Georgetown engine, smashing the cow-catcher and flagstaff.

The disaster was due to the breaking of the flange on one of the smoking-car wheels, which let the wheel off, breaking the switch-rod. The great loss of life was mainly caused by one of the cars running against the tank-shed, knocking the supports from under one of the huge tanks, thirty feet long, eight feet high and eight feet wide, and causing it to fall on the car, which it crushed like an eggshell. The damage to rolling stock is estimated at $20,000.

Bertie Allen of Exeter, reported in the list of wounded, is a ten-years-old stepson of A. H. Shaw; he received three bad scalp wounds, and was injured internally.

George N. Cole, wife and son, who were killed, were on their way from their home in Rochdale, Mass., to Kennebunkport, Me., to visit Mrs. Cole's parents.

George H. Odell, reported as of Boston, whose face and scalp were cut, belongs in Stratham.

Dennis Shanaahan, section hand, injured in the tank house, died on the 11th. He was thirty years old, and unmarried.

Flora E. Walker died in the hospital at Haverhill on the 11th; she was unconscious from the time of the accident.

The shockingly mangled body of an unknown man was found under the tank about noon on the 11th, making twelve known deaths by the disaster up to that hour.

Grand Naval Battle.

A Baltimore despatch says a fierce battle recently took place off Bedkin point, in the Eastern bay, between five oyster dredging vessels and the police schooner Frolic, commanded by Capt. Bryan. The pirates sailed past the police schooner, lying at anchor, and made for the forbidden ground. The Frolic promptly gave chase. The dredgers seemed to have no fear of the police boat, but sailed together for consultation, then backed off and formed in line for battle. When the Frolic came within 100 yards she sent a rifle ball across the bows of the dredgers as a signal to heave to. Instead of surrendering, the dredgers sent back a volley. Thereupon Bryan hove to in the midst of the pirates, and opened on them from either side with his rifles. This was returned with interest.

Fiercely the battle raged for nearly an hour, and bullets flew around the police like hail. The dredgers evidently aimed to kill, as they fired for the rifle flashes from the schooner's deck, and balls hit all around each man of the Frolic's crew. The dredgers kept sailing around the schooner, firing into it from all sides. Both sides fought under cover, and so well were they protected that no one was seriously wounded. Finding the police schooner determined to fight to a finish, the dredgers finally sailed away. The Frolic's sails were ribboned, and a number of shots were lodged in her hull.

The steamer McLain, being posted as to the pirates, set out in pursuit, and succeeded in overhauling them. All five were captured and brought to St. Michael's. They were charged before a magistrate with dredging on forbidden ground, and fined $20 each, and costs. When the hearing was over and the dredgers were turned out into the stream, some of the toughs on the shore cheered, whereupon the enraged pirates fired into the crowd, seriously wounding a colored man.

WIDE AWAKE, 1888. We have a primer entitled "A Modern Wonder," which sets forth with singular fullness and brevity what is going to be in Wide Awake for a year ahead. The primer is not very long. The little pages are easy to read. But it holds such wealth of learning and entertainment, you wonder how so much can be got into a dozen months; and yet you read on the title page that the half is not told.

It is a wonder! Wide Awake is a veritable library, changing from month to month and from year to year, and always growing better apparently. But what we can't understand is how they can put so much money into it, and pay so much for getting subscribers.

The Holiday number contains the Premium List of thirty-two pages. They give a boy or girl who gets subscribers almost as much in his choice of two or three hundred things as the money he sends amounts to! And the things are such as people want; a good many of them new to most of us. Even the Premium List is good reading.

Where the profit comes from out of $2.40 a year is what we can't make out; but that is none of our business. Send for the primer to D. Lothrop Company, Boston.

Thirty-two below zero at Minneapolis on the 11th; at Hallock, fifty-four below; at other northwestern towns, from twenty to forty below. Go west, young man.

Burglars robbed a fashionable millinery establishment in Montreal, chloroformed the proprietress and set fire to the place, but the fire was discovered and extinguished.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action. An hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

Corticelli Sewing Silk.

EVERY spool warranted unequalled for hand or machine sewing. Smooth, strong, full length. The engraving shows very accurately the style of spool. An examination of the label will also reveal the fact that this brand may soon celebrate its fiftieth anniversary. During all those years it has enjoyed the foremost position in the leading markets, taking at the great Competitive Industrial Exhibitions and World's Fairs a great number of first-class medals, including several of gold.

Sold by enterprising dealers, who can be supplied at our Agency, 18 Summer Street, Boston.
NONOTUCK SILK COMPANY.

Our stock is sufficiently large for another assault, although many serious breaks have been made, and but for the timely arrival of our reserve, our loss—of trade — would have been enormous. To

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Colder, fair weather, high westerly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 2 degrees above zero.

Clear.

MATRIMONIAL.

A double wedding took place on Wednesday of this week at the residence of Mr. George W. Randall and wife on Mulberry street, their son Joseph A. Randall being united in marriage with Miss Marcia F. Kimball of Kennebunk, Me., and their daughter Miss S. Elizabeth Randall becoming the wife of Mr. Frank A. Bachelder of Boston. Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., was the officiating clergyman. The two couples left by the afternoon train for Boston.

RETURNED TO DUTY.

Assistant Marshall Peverly escorted two negro seamen into the office of United States Commissioner Hackett on Wednesday morning, the 11th inst. The men had shipped in Boston to come to Portsmouth by rail, and thence go on board the schooner Chas. E. Balch, lying at Sise & Co.'s wharf at the foot of Deer street, for a voyage to Baltimore or any coal port. The men did not deny being properly shipped and having received five dollars advance wages, but one of them criticised the size of the forecastle of the schooner. The Charles E. Balch is a fine Bath-built vessel, with reasonable accommodations, and the excuse was entirely frivolous. The men were arraigned on a complaint for violation of the United States statute regarding shipped seamen, and were after a hearing ordered on board the vessel, which was ready for sea. They were conveyed on board by Assistant Marshals Peverly and Hurley. One of the men at once turned too; the other sulked in irons. In the afternoon the schooner sailed for Baltimore.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 11th; Bufford J.

Daniel Colson and William Kenney, for drunkenness, were fined $3, costs $6.90, each. County farm in default of payment.

MARITIME NOTES.

The steamer Pottsville, from Philadelphia with 1623 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker, arrived at this port on Wednesday.

The fishing schooner Mary S. Hontvet, of this port, Capt. Albert Johnson, has arrived at St. Pierre, Miquelon, in distress, having lost foremast, maintopmast, and part of her sails and rigging, while fishing on St. Peter's bank. She will repair at St. Pierre.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $5 per pair. They are a great bargain.

Recitals by pupils of Mrs. Sarah Neal Harris on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, 17th and 18th insts., at Music hall. Tickets thirty-five cents; all seats reserved—coupons to be procured at Mr. Goodrich's bookstore.

The directors of the Boston & Maine railroad have presented Samuel Mitchesson, a telegraph operator at West Kennebunk, Me., with $500. Last summer he discovered a misplaced switch on the main line near Salmon Falls, and, knowing that an express train was due, set the switch right and thereby averted an accident. For his observance and prompt action the above reward was given.

WILLIAM C. HATCH.

The obsequies of the late William C. Hatch, who passed away on the 8th inst., were held at the Court street Christian church on Wednesday afternoon, the 11th, at two o'clock. The church was filled with the friends and relatives of the deceased. Rev. John A. Goss, who was pastor of the church when he attended from his early boyhood up to within about six years, led the services, and was assisted by Rev. Wm. A. McGinley, and Rev. John A. Hainer, the present pastor. Music was given by the P. A. C. quartette.

Mr. Goss spoke very pleasantly of the deceased, having known him personally since he was two years old; alluded to how well he was liked, and how he assisted many times in the entertainments at that church, and was always ready and willing to aid or do a kind act as far as it lay in his power. Mr. McGinley, who visited him during his illness up to the time of his death, also spoke well of him, and believed that he died in the Lord. About two hours before he passed away he requested his mother, who had attended him lovingly during the sickness, to read from the Bible, and taking the Bible she read these words: "Ye believe in God, believe also in me."

Will (as he was always called by his friends) was a young man whom nobody could help liking, and he had many friends in this city and out. He will be remembered by many, who knew him by sight only, as the popular usher at Music hall for a long time. He was also for a number of years operator in the telephone office in this city. About two years ago, by medical advice, he left Portsmouth for the west in search of renewed vigor, and the friends who were at the depot to bid him good bye, with the wish that he would return with good health, will never forget his parting words, which were full of bright hopes for the future. For a while the climate of the west seemed to make him better, but he soon began to slowly grow worse, and not wishing to be among strangers, he left his position in the west and started on his return to his early home, arriving in September last; but though he realized how sick he was, he was in no way discouraged, always putting the best side forward. Since then he had been out considerable, on pleasant days, until at length he began to fail more rapidly, and on Friday of last week he took to his bed for the first time, passing away quietly about twelve o'clock Sunday night.

He was a member of the North church Sunday school up to the time of his going west, and was in Mrs. James R. Connell's class of young men, his name still being on its roll. He sang in the choir of the North church for a long time, and also at Christ church. He was a member of the Osgood Dramatic club.

The floral offerings were many and beautiful, among them being the following: An elegant pillow of flowers, inscribed in the centre with the word "Brother," from his brother and sisters; a large cross from the Court street society; baskets of flowers from Mrs. James Connell and Everett L. Marston; twenty roses, emblematic of his age, from Gray brothers; also flower-pieces from E. S. Fay, Miss Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. Ouderkirk, Manning Akerman, and Charles Green of Northwood, Mass. Bert Fay, George Gray, Chester Pike and James A. Borthwick, acted as pall-bearers.

The writer, who was at one time one of his nearest friends, they having been almost constantly together during their school days, and since been together a good deal, in conclusion would say that he shall always remember his "chum Will" as he was in days of health and enjoyment. He also wishes to express his grief and sorrow for the loss of such a friend, and hopes that the ministering angel of the Lord will be with his mother, brother and sisters, in this hour of their great affliction. E. L. M.

FROM THE SANCTUM TO THE STUMP.

Our former newspaper cotemporary, the ex-editor of the Times, was one of the orators at a democratic banquet at Manchester recently. The correspondent of the Boston Herald telegraphed that the gathering was "looked upon as the opening of the presidential campaign on the part of the democracy of New Hampshire." The report fails to inform us just what acts of the democratic rulers the collector commended in his remarks. He as a loyal supporter of the administration, doubtless endorsed the reform which reduces the pay and number of men employed in the custom house under his supervision. Perhaps he alluded to that species of "economy" which keeps large numbers of men idle, when, with an overflowing treasury, there is need enough of their services on the navy yard. We are disappointed that there is no report of the speech, as far as we can learn.

We are glad however that our genial and eloquent collector is not restrained by any false notions as to the rights and duties of office-holders, based upon the obsolete ideas of the civil service reformers. Let the collector speak up, and in the councils of the democracy let him not be backward in coming forward to maintain the dignity and respect which are due to the incumbent of the important office of collector of the port of Portsmouth! It is more in accord with those time-honored ideas of the duty of a democrat to his party than are these pet notions of the mugwump wing which is never practical in its politics, and which plagues, while it assumes to protect, its new allies.

Do not forget the lecture at Music hall in the Star course this evening by Dr. Hedley, on "The sunny side of life."

Dr. M. F. Wentworth of Kittery has been appointed by the governor of Maine to be one of the new board of prison inspectors of that state.

A reporter of the Biddeford Times, referring to Mr. Michael Leonard, alderman from the second ward of that city, says "He is harmless when he is sober, and more so when he is drunk." Some people would be offended at such a remark.

The veteran musician, D. H. Chandler, for years the leader of Chandler's band at Portland, Me., has retired from the leadership. The position has been offered to Mr. Frank L. Burnham, a musician of Portland, formerly a member of Harlow's marine band of this city, and a very remarkable cornet player.

Mike Burns, the "original package" liquor dealer of Augusta, Me., lost nine cases of liquor and a barrel of beer by a raid on the 9th inst., the second time his shop there has been raided. He recently went to Belfast to open a shop, but the attitude of the mayor, chief of police and law and order league caused him to think better of it.

Mrs. Sarah Watson, wife of Marcus Watson, formerly of Biddeford, now editor of the Westbrook (Me.) Chronicle, was found alone, dead in a chair, in Mr. Watson's arrival at his home in Saccarappa on the night of the 9th inst., having died from disease of the heart. She was forty years of age.

JANUARY 1st, 1838

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory.

Very respectfully,
ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

The French Cable company has been ordered to conform to its agreement with the Anglo-American company, by a French court.

In the wreck of the British steamer Vortigern, in the China sea, twenty persons were drowned.

Agents of the French government have purchased nearly the entire output of the American zinc mines for the past six months, presumably to be used in the manufacture of field pieces.

Peace on Earth

Awaits that countless army of martyrs, whose ranks are constantly recruited from the victims of nervousness and nervous diseases. The price of the boon is a systematic course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest and most genial of tonic nervines, pursued with reasonable persistence. Easier, pleasanter and safer this than to swash the victualling department with pseudo-tonics, alcoholic or the reverse, beef extracts, nerve foods, narcotics, sedatives and poisons in disguise. "Tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," is the providential recuperant of weak nerves, and this glorious franchise being usually the consequence of sound digestion and increased vigor, the great stomachic which insures both is productive also of repose at the required time. Not unrefreshed awakens the individual who uses it, but vigorous, clear headed and tranquil. Use the Bitters also in fever and ague, rheumatism, kidney troubles, constipation and biliousness.

The indebtedness of New York city is $182,823,000.

Accidents from Electricity.

"It is a singular thing," said a manager of arc lamp systems, "that accidents usually happen to men who are more or less familiar with electricity. They get so used to manipulating the apparatus that they sometimes become careless, just as the brakeman who regularly jumps on a moving train gets careless sometimes and suffers the inevitable consequences. Fooling with electricity is like fooling with red hot iron. Nobody but an idiot would think of handling heated iron without proper implements, and nobody should handle exposed electric wires without rubber gloves, or allow any defect in insulation to go unrepaired a moment. The accidents that happen are all to be traced to carelessness, either in neglecting repairs or in handling the exposed charged wire. We reduce danger to the minimum by insulating all our wires that run indoors with rubber, and by hanging the wires that run through the streets, and which are insulated with material made chiefly to resist the effects of the weather, away up in the air where people can't readily get at them. That is all the safeguard that it is possible to throw about this wonderful secret force of nature. With such safeguard we can run as much as 2,000 volts of electricity along a wire safely. When some of the electric supply is desired to light a building along the route of the street lights, a shunt or guard box is placed at the entrance of the building, and separate supply wires are run from the inside. Then only as much electricity as is wanted to light the building goes into it, and the rest is diverted by the shunt and carried back to and along the street lines. As an average only 1,200 volts of electricity is carried on the street wires, and very few buildings require so many lamps that the current sent to supply the lamps is really dangerous, even if the insulation of the wires were imperfect."—New York Sun.

Illustration of Magazines.

"What have you to say about illustrating?" was asked of Richard Watson Gilder, editor of The Century.

"Illustrating requires technical education. How, for instance, can a man draw a scene illustrating a story without a thorough knowledge of the human figure? Magazines are constantly on the lookout for new illustrative talent, but a man or a woman must prove that he or she has illustrative as well as the artistic capacity. If he wishes to illustrate fiction, for instance, he must be able to follow the thought of another. In the matter of descriptive draughtsmanship, he must be able to make pictures of places and things, which pictures adapt themselves readily to the condensed form in which they are presented in the narrow pages of a periodical. That faculty comes from practice. We constantly hear from girls or boys in the back woods, who send in specimens of work which have no art in them at all, though they may show a certain inventiveness."

"That brings us down to a practical point. Now, in this branch of art, when the person has talent and ability, yet no money to start with, where could he or she go to seek this technical training?"

"It is not absolutely necessary any more to go to Europe; several of the large cities in the west, as well as in the east, have excellent schools; but New York is probably on the whole, the best place in America for training in art; and the better the training the better for the artist, of course, in any branch he may follow for a livelihood. The illustrative faculty comes with practice and thorough attention to the needs of the periodical. The best school for magazine illustrative work is in the magazines themselves.—New York Mail and Express.

Is It Memory?

It is an experience familiar enough to many persons that they find themselves at times in places where their surroundings seem to have been known to them before; and yet they know that this is the first time they have ever been upon the spot.

In some instances the recognition may be due to a picture of the place, seen somewhere at some time, of which all recollection was lost except the impression it made. Or it may be that the place has been described under circumstances which are wholly forgotten, or an account of it has been read, so minute and so interesting as to have made the impression received more lasting than any circumstance attending it.

We are able, in some instances, to trace the impression, by suggestion and association, back to some such origin. This leads us to infer that in cases where we are unable to do this, it is because suggestion or association fails us. If we deny that memory has anything to do with these impressions, then they become mysteries, and such mysteries as haunt and perplex a sensitive mind. It is more reasonable to admit the possible weakness and untrustworthiness of our faculties than to suppose that anything has happened contrary to the course of nature.—Youth's Companion.

Spider Web Paper.

The Hon. George West, of Balston Spa, is in possession of a curiosity in paper sent him by a friend in Hong Kong, China. It is a sheet 11 by 14 inches, made from the web of the "sacred white spider" of the Flowery Kingdom. It is as light as air and almost as transparent, but is also beautifully printed, and contains about the equal of two columns of matter, giving in English the story of "How Midshipman Copplestone was Present at the Court of Pekin." Mr. West has made the manufacture of paper his life work and study, but it is safe to say that he never ran a spider web paper factory.—The Saratogian.

An English engineer proposes by means of electricity to condense the solid part of smoke and send the solidified portion back to the furnace.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Athlo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way. It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well. REV. S. H. TROYER, New Albany, Ind."

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail.

"Hope for a season bids the world farewell," when a man finds himself in the relentless grasp of neuralgia, but he smiles and takes heart and courage when his wife brings a bottle of Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain.

Peter Bennett, who was robbed of his money at East Newport, Me., a short time ago, has informed Sheriff Brown of Bangor that many of the blood-stained bills are in circulation about Newport. Mr. Bennett has traced them to persons in town whom he thinks were connected with the crime.

We think we can cure a bad case of Backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters, than by any other application, and after the Backache is cured, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks, or longer. This combination of Smart Weed and Belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price 25 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

The governor of Kentucky, in a message to the legislature, frankly declares that the judge of the circuit court who presided at Morehead, in Rowan county, last August, was "so far under the influence of the reputed leader of one of the factions as to permit such an organization of the grand juries as will effectually prevent the indictment of members of that faction for the most flagrant crimes." It is an extraordinary state of things when the governor of a state openly charges the judiciary with being in league with murderers.

Consumption Can be Cured!
Not by any secret remedy, but by proper, healthful exercise, and the judicious use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, which contains the healing and strength-giving virtues of these two valuable specifics in their fullest form. Prescribed by physicians. Take no other.

"It's English, You Know."

Since the administration has been in such sweet accord with the mother country upon the fishery question, and the universal and most enthusiastic endorsement of the British press has been wafted over the waters with a sweet lullaby to ears presidential, in agreeable contrast with the discordant notes of alarm of papers in this country, the English idea begins to take firm root in administration circles. This is seen in the correspondence from the office of the "Lords of the Treasury," who instead of giving their signatures written as in the days of Jeffersonian simplicity and Jacksonian defiant firmness, imitate the aristocracy of Great Britain, and even by the use of an amanuensis, write at the end of an official letter "Chousem," auditor. This has come to be a part of the unwritten law of the circumlocution office. There is no truth in the statement that for the want of sufficient appropriations names cannot be written in full!

A Relic of the Rebellion.

The trial of Logan Sigman for the murder of William Higginbotham in 1861, was begun at Mount Vernon, Ky., Jan. 10th. Higginbotham was riding along the road, it is said, hurrahing for Jeff Davis, when Sigman shot him. Sigman was extradited from Missouri in 1885, and tried in 1886, the jury disagreeing. His defence was that he was a union soldier, and had a right to do the shooting. The G. A. R. are helping him to defend his case.

An Example of the Working of Free Trade.

About seven years ago, when nickel was put on the free list, the Wharton mines at Phœnixville, Pa., were turning out a large part of the nickel used in this country. It cost $3 a pound at the mines, and sold for $4. The Germans made nickel at $2 per pound, and when the duty of $2 was removed they rushed their nickel into our markets and undersold Mr. Wharton, who had to quit business. Just as soon as he gave up the fight nickel rose again to $4 per pound, and the Germans, who monopolized the supply, reaped the benefit of it, instead of the American manufacturer. About five years ago Mr. Wharton thought he had a chance to compete, and started up his works again. The Germans straightway reduced the price of nickel to $3, and he had to desist. Then the price rose to precisely the same figure as under the tariff. Nickel is no cheaper in this country than ever. We are dependent on foreigners for our supply, and the 500 men who worked in the Phœnixville mines are idle, or competing with laborers in some other business. This is the result of free trade as exemplified in one small industry, and American workingmen are not willing to see it extended.

Professor Mitchell Resigns.

Miss Maria Mitchell on the 11th inst. resigned the professorship of astronomy in Vassar college, insisting that she needed rest. The executive committee of the board of trustees laid the resignation on the table and gave Miss Mitchell indfinite leave of absence, her salary to continue till the trustees meet in June, when further action will be taken.

Congressman Milliken of Maine has introduced in the house a bill to take the tax off tobacco and the duty off sugar, with a rebate or bounty to compensate the producers of cane in Louisiana, and beet and sorghum sugar in Illinois, Kansas and elsewhere. This would amount to $10,000,000, and the reduction under the bill would reach $90,000,000. But this is not what the administration wants, as only a blow at the American protection sytem will please the British manufacturers.

Janauschek's big verdict against the hotel proprietor at Newport, R. I., whose badly-lighted hall caused an accident to the actress, attracts no little attention. This hotel at Newport, if the verdict stands, will prove the best-paying house that Janauschek has seen for some time.

George Gardner of Uxbridge, one of the victims of the Bradford wreck, was at the time on his way to Amherst, Mass., to marry Miss Florence Smith. After the accident he was taken to the Eagle hotel in Haverhill, where the wedding took place on the 12th inst., the ceremony being performed while the groom was lying in bed.

The excavation of Gangway rock is completed, there now being twenty feet of water at low tide between the beacon ledge and the navy yard; the work was on the 11th inst. surveyed and accepted on behalf of the government by Mr. Fernald, civil engineer. The contractors' schooner Yankee has been bertied at Russell & Odlion's wharf for the winter.

The Gloucester fishing schooners Wm. Parsons and Peter D. Smith are given up for lost, with all hands. They carried twelve men each, and their loss makes five widows and twenty-one fatherless children.

Miss Isabel C. Wingate of Stratham was one of a party of 100 ladies and gentlemen who left Boston on the 12th inst. for the Pacific coast, on an excursion under the management of Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb of Boston.

Harry McNeally, brother of the Saco bank thief, has temporarily given up his clerkship in the American express office in Saco, and left the city for the eastward on the 11th inst, presumably in the interests of the victimized bank. It is believed in Saco that he will accompany his brother Frank to the hiding place of the stolen bonds, wherever that may be, probably across the Atlantic. Harry recently said that he thought the bank would recover the securities in time, and it is thought this trip will decide whether that statement can be verified.

—Geraldine Ulmer, who made a name for herself in Yum Yum, is about to make another and more brilliant one by taking that of Sir Arthur Sullivan. "For he's going to marry Yum Yum."

"Did n't Know 't was Loaded"

May do for a stupid boy's excuse; but what can be said for the parent who sees his child languishing daily and fails to recognize the want of a tonic and blood-purifier? Formerly, a course of bitters, or sulphur and molasses, was the rule in well-regulated families; but now all intelligent households keep Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which is at once pleasant to the taste, and the most searching and effective blood medicine ever discovered.

Nathan S. Cleveland, 27 E. Canton st., Boston, writes: "My daughter, now 21 years old, was in perfect health until a year ago when she began to complain of fatigue, headache, debility, dizziness, indigestion, and loss of appetite. I concluded that all her complaints originated in impure blood, and induced her to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine soon restored her blood-making organs to healthy action, and in due time reëstablished her former health. I find Ayer's Sarsaparilla a most valuable remedy for the lassitude and debility incident to spring time."

J. Castright, Brooklyn Power Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "As a Spring Medicine, I find a splendid substitute for the old-time compounds in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, with a few doses of Ayer's Pills. After their use, I feel fresher and stronger to go th ough the summer."

Kentucky, according to the showing of the governor of the state, is powerless to enforce the laws against murder and other petty crimes; but it is sternly just in pursuing those who committed crimes against the rebel confederacy. A union soldier is now on trial in that state, on a charge of murder in having killed a rebel in 1861.

OH, WHAT A COLD!

This is the season for sudden changes in the weather, and a great many "take cold" either in their Head or on their Lungs, causing Coughs, Hoarseness, and Sore Throat. These troubles can be soon relieved and cured by taking Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific, which acts directly on the Throat and Lungs, entirely removing these difficulties.

Cured his boy of Croup.
C. M. Brooks, Lowell, Mass., says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific as a cure for Coughs, Colds, and Croup. I used it in my family last winter with the best results. Two or three doses cured my little boy of Croup, for which I am very thankful."

You can cure that Cough in a short time. You can cure your Catarrh if you persist in its use, as it will stop the secretion of Catarrhal matter in the head; it will relieve Croup in from three to five minutes.

The best he ever saw.
"The best medicine for Coughs and Consumptive Complaints that ever I saw is Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific," so says JOHN MCLAUGHLIN, of Boston.

Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific is sold by all Druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Present the full board, except Ald. Urch.

Committee reported "leave to withdraw" on the request of Cornelius Reagan for pay during the time he was laid up with sickness contracted in the line of his duty as police officer; accepted and adopted.

Bills amounting to $1667.89 were ordered to be paid.

The committee appointed to make arrangements with the Portsmouth Brewing Co. to furnish steam for the fire-alarm gong during the current year, asked for further time, the provisions of last year's contract to be continued in the meantime; granted.

Reports of city solicitor, city marshal, and the several departments of the municipal government, were received and placed on file.

Twelve hundred copies of the city book were ordered to be printed.

Ald. Seymour, in behalf of the board, presented the mayor with a gold-headed ebony cane, as a token of their approval of his recent proceedings in matrimony. In addition to resolutions which he presented, and which were adopted by the board, Mr. Seymour made some pleasant and humorous remarks, to which his honor responded felicitously.

Mr. Ripley exhibited two models of new street lamps, of copper and yellow metal, the copper one costing $4.90, or $5.75 erected, and the yellow metal one $4.35, or $5.20 erected. The matter of making a selection was referred to the committee on street lights, with power to purchase fifty lamps of the pattern approved.

The bill of the Electric Light Co. was taken from the table, and the committee on claims authorized to settle it.

The mayor made a verbal repart, that whereas, on the 1st of January last year, in consequence of the building of the Deer street sewer and other extraordinary expenses there was a balance of over $50,000 against the city, there was on deposit on the 1st of January this year the sum of $24,956.41 to the city's credit.

Adjourned for two weeks.

BEARS A CHARMED LIFE.

Conductor Weymouth, of the Western division of the Boston & Maine railroad, who was in charge of the train so disastrously wrecked at Bradford, Mass., on the 10th inst., has had a number of narrow escapes from injury within a few years. It was his train which six years ago went down into the highway with the iron "skew" bridge at Cole's Corner, Wells, Me., when several persons were killed and a large number wounded, the wreck taking fire and being destroyed. One day last summer his train—the express, running on its own time—was suddenly confronted on the track between North Berwick and Wells by another train which had no business there at the time, and only the vigilance and prompt action of the two engineers prevented a crash, the two trains being brought to a standstill when the cow-catchers of the engines were but a few feet apart. The week before the disaster at Bradford his train was partially derailed at Haverhill, Mass., but no damage resulted. In the accident of the 10th Conductor Weymouth escaped unharmed.

PORTSMOUTH BUILT VESSEL LOST.

The schooner Luis G. Rabel arrived at Sagua la Grande, Cuba, Jan. 12th, from Boston, having on board the mate and part of the crew of the barque D. Chapin, Walter C. Hall master, which sailed from Turk's island Dec. 13th for Boston, and was abandoned at sea, (no date or position given,) the captain and part of the crew being lost. The D. Chapin was built at this port in 1869 by Tobey & Littlefield, registered 541 tons gross, rated A 1, and was owned in Boston.

THE PRIVATE SECRETARY.

We publish the cast for the "Private Secretary," a farcical comedy in three acts, which is to be given at Music hall, on the evening of January 23, by local talent:

Rev. Robert Spalding,	Mr. Marsland's Private Secretary, C. P. Garvin
Mr. Cattermole, a rich East Indian,	Chas. W. Gray
Douglas, his wild nephew,	A. N. La Brie
Mr. Marsland, a country squire,	Frank W. Moses
Harry, his nephew,	Harry Washburne
Gibson, a Bond-street tailor,	Thomas Flannagan
John, a footman,	Ned Gray
Knox, a bailiff,	Chester Pike
Edith, Mr. Marsland's Daughter,	Miss Grace A. Sides
Eva, her friend and companion,	Miss Emily Hoyt
Miss Ashford, spinster and chaperone,	Miss Alice M. Sides
Miss Stead, a landlady,	Miss Georgie Moses

THE ELIOT BRIDGE.

The Eliot Bridge Co. of Dover held their annual meeting in that city this week, and elected Charles H. Sawyer, Charles W. Woodman, Thomas J. W. Pray and James E. Lothrop of Dover, John Bracewell of North Adams, Mass., Sylvester Bartlett, of Eliot and John E. Staples of York, as directors. The Eliot Bridge Co. of Maine held their meeting subsequently, and elected the same board of directors. The treasurer's report showed that during 1887 the number of market wagons crossing the bridge was 4294; pleasure wagons, 2561; carts, 330; double carriages, 68; foot passengers, 258; total receipts from tolls, $747.12. Expenses during the year; for repairs $800, other expenses $288.66; total $1088 66.

In the last number of Scribner's Magazine was a poem by Mrs. Elizabeth Akers, beginning:

"From the dingy wharves of old Boothbay
A lounging sailor roared—
'Ho Captain McKown! hooray! hooray!
The Water Witch has sailed away
With never a soul on board!'"

In the poem the Water Witch never was seen again; but the real Water Witch met a less romantic fate. The Boothbay Register's version of the story is as follows: "About eight years ago the Water Witch took a witching notion to go on a cruise of her own, so while Capt. McKown was hauling his trawls, she started away out by Monhegan and pointed for Africa. She was followed until dark, when the pursuit was given up. The next afternoon a Cape Cod fisherman saw her outside of Roon island, going southwest. She was overhauled, and a crew put aboard, with instructions to take her into Provincetown, but the wind being ahead, the captain ran into Cape Neddick for the night. From there Capt. McKown heard of her, and brought home the erratic craft."

The wedding of Miss Fanny Sheafe, daughter of the late William Sheafe, formerly of this city, and Dr. Walker of Concord, Mass., son of Hon. Joseph B. Walker, will take place in Trinity church, Boston, on Thursday, Jan. 19th.

Last evening Tony Denier's pantomine troupe gave, in excellent style, a revised edition, in three chapters, of the popular "Humpty Dumpty." The audience was large. The troupe is a particularly good one, and the fact that the spectators were kept in a roar of laughter the whole evening, shows how complete was the success of the entertainment. The clown was particularly funny, and the specialty acts were all admirably done.—Boston Globe.

The examination of Hon. E. H. Rollins, president of the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad, a witness in the case in the United States court against the Boston & Lowell railroad, will be resumed before United States Commissioner Hackett on Saturday.

The Athletic club on Tuesday evening of this week passed a vote of thanks to Mr. True W. Priest for the gift of a large and very handsome lounge, which has been placed on the speaker's stand in the new hall of the club.

It was reported on the 12th that George B. Wentworth, the Dover shoe manufacturer who was injured in the Bradford disaster, was dying.

MAINE CENTRAL RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

A large number of railroad men have sent in applications to join the Maine Central Relief association, about forty having done so this month. The entrance fee is $2 to all except freight brakemen and yard men, who have to pay $4. The dues are fifty cents per month, and the assessment upon the death of a member is $1. The nominee of the deceased receives $1,000. A sick member of the association receives $6 per week. The benefits received from the association are being appreciated by the railroad men, as is shown by the increasing number of applications that are being sent in from time to time for membership. All the prominent Maine Central railroad officials are either charter or honorary members of the association.

Judge Doe has enjoined the old board of trustees of the Dover assembly of Knights of Labor from dividing the funds, until the supreme court has passed upon the legality of the vote to divide.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1888" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

As a rule, all colored or highly perfumed soaps should be avoided as dangerous. They rely upon their appearance and odor (which disguises rank materials) for their sale. The whiteness and the odor of the IVORY SOAP are natural to it, and are due to the excellence of the material used.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

How Watch Clubs Are Formed.

Watch clubs have done a great deal for the business in this country and have put gold watches into the vest pockets of thousands who could never hope to buy them in any other way. It is not like the installment business. The club maker or dealer does not have to charge an exorbitant price for the watches and he runs little or no risk, for he never lets a watch go out of his hands without good security in the signature of a responsible man, who signs an agreement to assume the debt if the watch holder skips before the last payment is made. The dealer need not buy a watch until every dollar is paid in for it by the sixty or more members of the club. Then he draws a slip of paper from a box, and the number upon it designates the subscriber who is to have the watch that week. He notifies the lucky member that he has drawn a watch, and tells him to bring forth a surety, and he can carry it; but it remains the property of the dealer until the last dollar has been paid, and the drawer signs a document to that effect. The following week the collection of $1 is made from each member of the club, and another drawing takes place. This business has assumed wonderful proportions throughout the United States, and now there is scarcely a town without its watch club. Rogues have taken advantage of the scheme, but only in a small way, for they cannot operate more than one week in a place without being detected, and then the amount is too small to be attractive.—Dealer in New York Sun.

Sixty Thousand Useless Words.

"There is no man living," said a public school teacher the other day, "that knows every one of the 75,000 words in Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, nor half, nor a third of them. Nor is there a man who could define them if he were asked. Shakespeare, who had the richest vocabulary used by any Englishman, employed only 16,000 words. Milton could pick out from 8,000, but the average man, a graduate from one of the great universities, rarely has a vocabulary of more than 3,000 or 4,000 words. Right here in Buffalo there are Americans born and bred who contrive to express all their wants and opinions in 300 words, and in the rural districts the knowledge of 150 or 200 words is sufficient to carry a man through the world. So the unabridged dictionary is cluttered up with 60,000 or more technical or obsolete words that you never hear in ordinary conversation or see in ordinary books or newspapers."—Buffalo Courier.

Smallest Working Loom.

A Paterson machinist has completed a silk loom which occupies less space than a typewriter and weaves silk handkerchiefs of pretty pattern, four inches square. A child can operate it. Silk manufacturers of Paterson say it is the smallest working loom ever made.—Chicago Herald.

A Clever Advertising Trick.

Advertisers resort to all sorts of tricks to interest people. No one would suppose this was an advertisement for Little Hop Pills, but that is just what it is. They always cure constipation and kindred ills. All druggists, 25 cents. Buy. Try. Judge.

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cures of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

Only one small colliery was at work in the entire Shenandoah district on the 11th inst., and a coal famine is imminent in the coal districts themselves. Both sides in the fight were announced as "still firm and confident."

Peace on Earth

Awaits that countless army of martyrs, whose ranks are constantly recruited from the victims of nervousness and nervous diseases. The price of the boon is a systematic course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the finest and most genial of tonic nerves, pursued with reasonable persistence. Easier, pleasanter and safer this than to swash the victualling department with pseudo-tonics, alcoholic or the reverse, beef extracts, nerve foods, narcotics, sedatives and poisons in disguise. "Tired Nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," is the providential recuperant of weak nerves, and this glorious franchise being usually the consequence of sound digestion and increased vigor, the great stomachic which insures both is productive also of repose at the required time. Not unrefreshed awakens the individual who uses it, but vigorous, clear headed and tranquil. Use the Bitters also in fever and ague, rheumatism, kidney troubles, constipation and biliousness.

THE INCURABLE CURED!

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Feb. 24, 1887.

Gentlemen—Seven years ago a sore developed on my nose from a finger nail scratch. I tried a few simple remedies, but the sore would not yield. It grew worse every year for seven years. Many thought I had a cancer. Over a year ago I commenced taking S. S. S., and two dozen bottles entirely cured me. When I began with SWIFT Specific I was in very poor health, and could hardly drag about. After I had finished the course of S. S. S. I was strong and buoyant, and had a good appetite. I regard it as a most valuable medicine for Ladies in weak, delicate health. It is a household medicine with me. Yours respectfully,

MRS. R. W. WILSON.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 2, 1887.

Gentlemen—For twenty years I have had a sore on my left cheek. It had gradually been growing worse. The many physicians whom I had consulted were unable to do me any good. Last fall a year ago I began using S. S. S. As fast as I followed the cure, and it became more virulent than ever; so much so, indeed, that my family insisted that I should leave off the medicine. I persisted in using the S. S. S. At the end of two months the sore was entirely healed. Thinking that to evil was out of my constitution, I left off the medicine. But in November, ten months after, a very slight breaking out appeared. I at once began again on S. S. S. and now that is also disappearing. I have every faith in S. S. S. It has done me more good than all the doctors and other medicines I ever took. Yours truly,

A. K. SHANDS.

WINSTON, N. C., April 13, 1887.

Gentlemen—Two or three years ago a cancer came on my face. It soon grew to be quite large. It worry on me, and my general health was very poor. Last September I began a course of S. S. S., which I have continued to the present time with the happiest result. The cancer has entirely disappeared, there being no evidence or symptoms of a cancerous character left. My general health is good now, and my appetite better than it has been in years. I am 52 years old, and to-day I am working in the field planting corn. Yours truly, JOHN LAHLBACH.

Gentlemen—I had a sore on my upper lip for eight years, seven different doctors attempted in vain to heal it. One gave me a small vial for five dollars, which was a "certain cure." It is needless to say that it did me no good. About two years ago I became quite uneasy, as proof thought I had a cancer, and I took a course of eighteen bottles of S. S. S. The result has been a complete cure. The ulcer or cancer healed beautifully, leaving scarcely a perceptible scar. From that day I have been in excellent health, the Specific having purified my blood thoroughly, increased my appetite and perfected my digestion. In a word, I feel like a new woman, and, best of all, the eight year cancer is gone entirely. Yours sincerely,

MRS. W. P. CANNON.

THE OLD TIME TUMBLERS.

The Way in Which Table Glasses Came to Have That Name.

How many times a day do we use a word without stopping to think what it means? Every day at luncheon and at dinner we drink out of a tumbler. But I, for one, never thought why the large glass that holds our milk or water was so called until, once upon a time, I happened to have luncheon at All Souls' college, Oxford. All Souls' is a curious college. It has no students or "undergraduates," as we call them in England. It consists of a master and a number of "fellows"—men who have taken their degrees and have distinguished themselves as scholars. There is a quaint old rule in Latin, that says a man to be a fellow of All Souls' must be "Well born, well dressed, and a moderately good doctor in singing." There is no question nowadays of singing! But of good breeding and good scholarship there is. And to be elected a fellow of All Souls' is a great honor.

One of the most distinguished fellows is Professor Max Muller, the great philologist, who, though he is a German by birth and was not educated at Oxford, was elected to All Souls' as a mark of respect for his immense learning. The "common room," or the fellows' smaller dining room, is a delightful old place with its great fireplace and its walls all wainscoted with black oak, while through the great window with its heavy stone mullions you look out on to ancient ivy grown buildings round a quiet court which is filled with a space of velvet turf. On the day of which I speak Professor Max Muller was giving a luncheon in this splendid room to the charming and talented Princess Alice, the wife of the grand duke of Hesse Darmstadt, and second daughter of Queen Victoria. There were not a dozen guests besides the princess and her husband, and a very agreeable luncheon we had, with pleasant talk on all kinds of interesting subjects.

But what excited the curiosity of all the strangers present was a set of the most attractive little round bowls of ancient silver, about the size of a large orange. They were brought round, according to the custom of the place, filled to the brim with the famous ale brewed in the college. These, we were told, were tumblers, and we were speedily shown how they came by their names—a fitting lesson for the guests of a philologist! When one of these little bowls was empty it was placed upon the table mouth downward. Instantly, so perfect was its balance, it flew back into its proper position, as if asking to be filled again. No matter how it was treated, trundled along the floor, balanced carefully on its side, dropped suddenly upon the soft, thick carpet, up it rolled again and settled itself with a few gentle shakings and sayings into its place, like one of those India rubber tumbling dolls your baby brothers and sisters delight in. This, then, was the origin of our word tumbler, at first made of silver, as are these All Souls' tumblers. Then, when glass became common, the round glasses that stood on a flat base superseded the exquisitely balanced silver spheres and stole their names so successfully that you have to go to All Souls' and a few other old houses to see the real thing.

So do words, with the wonderful life that is in them, change and grow and get fresh meanings, full of interest and teaching and delight to those who think about them.—Wide Awake.

An English View of the Negro.

I returned to my own quarters, reflecting on the scenes I had witnessed, and I could not forbear wondering how far these civilized "southern Methodist Baptists"—as the B—— negroes called themselves—were removed from the fetish worship and sacred snake dances of their savage African ancestors. There is small room for doubt that the plantation negro is profoundly ignorant and superstitious; his belief in witchcraft, "charms," i. e., fetishes, and medicine men or women, being almost as strong (though kept strictly secret) in the civilized (?) emancipated negro of today as when he was first transplanted from his native African soil to the shores of the great American continent.—Times.

Medicine and Theology.

The coupling of medicine with theology in the Christian mission to Corea promises success. Since 1885 five American missionaries and their wives have been laboring in the capital city through the medium of schools and a hospital. Such success crowned the first surgical operation which the medical missionary performed that the confidence of the natives in his ability led them so far as even to bring him dead people to be restored to life.—Chicago Times.

The Razor Back Hog.

"They are great travelers, and always go in a trot. Their quadrupedal locomotors are in some way connected with an internal grunting arrangement. This capability for locomotion, and their innate sinfulness, scientifically explain their existence in West Virginia and their ancestry. There is no authority for even supposing that all the swine historically described as going down into the sea or lake with devils in them were drowned. The Sinaitic vatican and Alexandrian manuscript say 'choked;' so I stake my scientific reputation upon the assertion that the razor back hogs of West Virginia are descended from the survivors of those owned by the A. D. 1 pork raiser, for the reason that they have more devil in them than can possibly be compressed into modern pork, have cloven feet, a long tail, and never miss an opportunity to upset a bucket, sat a week's washing, or squeal when the baby is asleep."—American Magazine.

TERRIBLE

are Kidney and Liver diseases, and when once they have secured a firm hold on the human system there is no time to be lost if life is to be saved. Many remedies have been tried, but none have been so successful as Ath-lo-pho-ros. Many unsolicited testimonials have proved that Ath-lo-pho-ros has cured these diseases when physicians and all other remedies had failed. Backache, pain in the side, dullness, weariness, and headache, are often symptoms of these fearful diseases. Athlophoros, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, will give speedy relief. JOHN J. LASKEY,

NO. 63 PLEASANT STREET.

Salvation Oil, the greatest cure on earth for pain, may be relied on to effect a cure wherever an external application can be used. Price only twenty-five cents a bottle.

Evidence is accumulating that the band who lynched three men in Roane county, West Virginia, last October, for the murder of Rev. Thomas P. Ryan, were themselves the murderers, and they lynched innocent men in order to divert suspicion.

We think we can cure a bad case of Backache quicker with one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters, than by any other application, and after the Backache is cured, you can still wear the plaster without discomfort for two or three weeks, or longer. This combination of Smart Weed and Belladonna is a great hit, and it is hard to find any pain or ache that will not yield to it. Price 25 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Steamer Viola, thirty-three days out from Elba for Philadelphia, is feared to have been lost with her crew of thirty-eight men.

Consumption Can be Cured!

Not by any secret remedy, but by proper, healthful exercise, and the judicious use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, which contains the healing and strength-giving virtues of these two valuable specifics in their fullest form. Prescribed by physicians. Take no other.

"A Thing of Beauty" as Well as Strength.

A Live Senator.

Senator Chandler does not appear inclined to wait until the courtesy of the senate covers him as with a shield, but seems to have some idea that a republican senator should stand and be counted upon every vital question before the body in which he serves.

It is stated in some of the administration organs that "Judge" Lamar would have pulled through long since, except for the irrepressible junior senator from New Hampshire. As the senate is responsible for its share in placing a new judge upon the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States, Mr. Chandler has done quite right in looking up the record of the ex-secretary of the interior, and in not allowing the "courtesy of the senate," behind which gather at times cautious and politic members, to interfere with what he regards as his duty in the senatorial office.

Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb's California Trips.

Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb's winter trips to California are more popular this season than ever, and with good reason. They provide every possible comfort, both in transit and at points visited en route, and at the same time allow passengers the wildest liberty as to time and place of sojourn in California, and the time of return. There is a choice of routes both outward and returning, there being no less than five different routes from San Francisco or Los Angeles eastward. A dining-car service has been established in connection with all the westbound trips, and also for the returning parties on specified dates. Dining-cars are run on every train, and in some cases there will also be hotel cars. Vestibuled trains run in connection with several of the excursions, and in all cases the cars are the finest Pullmans in use in any part of the country, so that the passengers enjoy every luxury. Hotel coupons can be had in any desired quantity, good at any of the leading Pacific coast resorts, including the Raymond, at East Pasadena, the Hotel Arcadia, at Santa Monica, the Arlington, at Santa Barbara, the Hotel del Monte, at Monterey, and the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco. There are to be two excursions in February—on the 2d and 7th—and others in March. The February 7th party will remain in New Orleans during the Mardi Gras festivities. The second Mexico tour is annouced for March 12th. Descriptive circulars of the several trips can be obtained of W. Raymond, 296 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston. There are to be two excursions to Washington in March, on the 9th and 30th.

Gov. Ames and council of Massachusetts on the 11th inst. had a hearing on a petition for the commutation of J. E. Nowlin's sentence to imprisonment for life. Nowlin is the youth who murdered George H. Codman, a milkman of Somerville, Mass., for his money, and the council voted seven to two against commutation. The murderer will hang Jan. 20th.

To Save Life

Frequently requires prompt action, hour's delay waiting for the doctor may be attended with serious consequences, especially in cases of Croup, Pneumonia, and other throat and lung troubles. Hence, no family should be without a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has proved itself, in thousands of cases, the best Emergency Medicine ever discovered. It gives prompt relief and prepares the way for a thorough cure, which is certain to be effected by its continued use.

S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga., says: "I have found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup in all cases. I have known the worst cases relieved in a very short time by its use; and I advise all families to use it in sudden emergencies, for coughs, croup, &c."

A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middletown, Tenn., says: "I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."

"I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral," writes E. Bragdon, of Palestine, Texas, "believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died."

WORTHY OF NOTICE.

One of the finest productions of its kind ever exhibited in Portsmouth meets the eyes of all who enter Montgomery's Music Store. It is a life-size crayon portrait of our late highly esteemed fellow citizen Mr. D. H. Montgomery. The work is mounted and framed in an artistic manner, and reflects great credit upon the artist, Miss F. Evelyn Nute of Boston, whose natural talent in this direction is almost phenomenal. Considering the fact that all of her work is done free hand, and entirely without the aid of transfer processes, the above statement will not seem extravagant to those who have noticed the picture. The whole general expression is practically perfect, as well as every detail. This portrait is a direct copy from an ordinary cabinet photograph, and certainly no more striking likeness has been seen in this city for a long time. All orders for the above artist's work may be left at Montgomery's Music and Art Store.

"HUMPTY DUMPTY."

Crowded houses and standing room only, has been the rule of the week at the Windsor theatre, where Tony Denier's splendid pantomine company is at present playing. On Monday night there were 1064 tickets sold for the top gallery, which is only calculated to seat 450 persons, but they got stowed away in some manner best known to themselves. On Tuesday, every seat in this large theatre was occupied long before eight o'clock. It is needless to criticise a performance given by Tony Denier, as the public has long since become aware that his entertainments are par excellence; hence the crowds.—New York World.

At Music hall Monday evening, 16th inst.; tickets at Goodrich's; prices as usual.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Fred S. Wendell of this city is passing a few days in Brooklyn, N. Y., on a visit to her daughter, Miss Edith Wendell.

Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick and party, of Rye, have arrived at Longwood, Florida, where they are to remain until the last week in March.

"KEEP IT DARK."

"Keep It Dark," a three-act musical comedy, was produced for the first time in this city last night at the Arch Street theatre. It is a succession of amusing scenes, with catchy songs interspersed. It deals with the trails and adventures of three individuals, who are after the hand of an actress. W. T. Bryant, as Jasper Vaseline, a liver-pad inventor, is extremely funny in a dry sort of a way. Miss Lizzie Richmond, as Clementina Delancey, the actress, takes her part well. The rest of the support is capable. "Keep It Dark" will, without a doubt, prove a success.—Philadelphia Call.

The Keep It Dark Co. will perform in Music hall on Thursday evening, the 19th inst. Tickets at Goodrich's on and after Tuesday, the 17th.

IDENTIFIED.

Among the list of killed in the Bradford accident was the name of Albert A. Walker of Harrison, Me., and among the injured was the name of one who was supposed to be Mrs. Flora E. Walker, but up to the morning when the young woman died no word had been received at Haverhill as to her having any friends, and it was feared that she would remain unknown. But Wm. A. Roberts, agent of the Granite State Mutual Aid association, who lives at Rochester, this state, on arriving home from an extended trip and seeing the reports of the disaster, at once recognized Walker as a man in his employ, and also a member of Ivanhoe Castle, No. 1, Knights of the Golden Eagle, of Rochester. Mr. Roberts made the following statement to a Dover Democrat reporter:

"Walker has been at work for me in the insurance business for about a year, and had become so much attached to Rochester, which was his headquarters, that he left only last week for Harrison, Me., to sell his home there and bring his wife to Rochester, where they proposed to settle down. I received a letter from Walker saying that he had sold out and that his wife was coming on with him, and that they would be in Rochester on Tuesday afternoon, the 10th, in time to attend the meeting of Ivanhoe Castle, K. G. E., of which he was a charter member."

Mr. Roberts said Walker was a bright, smart business man, and very pleasant in a social way. Mr. Walker and wife went from their recent home in Maine to Boston by steamer, and were going from Boston to Rochester by rail, which explains why they were on the ill-fated train.

Advices of the 13th inst. from Haverhill say that the young woman supposed to be Mrs. Flora E. Walker, who died on the night of the 11th, was on that day fully identified as Mrs. Flora E. Ward of Bridgton, Me., whose husband arrived at Haverhill that day, and took the body home on the afternoon train. She leaves three children.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Boston, Hingham, Hull & Downer Landing Steamboat Co., held in Boston on Wednesday, the 11th inst., Col. Elbridge G. Pierce of this city was elected superintendent.

George N. Cole, who with his wife and child was killed by the railroad accident at Bradford, Mass., Jan. 10th, was a native of Kennebunkport, Me., and was on his way there to make a visit. Mr. Cole was superintendent in the dyehouse of Clark's woollen mill at Rochdale, Mass., and was formerly connected with the Pacific print works at Lawrence. He was the son of James B. Cole, formerly postmaster of Kennebunkport, and his wife was the daughter of Woodbury Goodwin of Kennebunk Harbor village. Their little boy, killed in his mother's arms, was four years of age. Mr. Cole's name was first given as E. P. Goodwin, on account of a letter found on his person from his brother-in-law of that name. The bodies were taken to Kennebunkport on the 12th inst. by Woodbury Goodwin, for interment.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $5 per pair. They are a great bargain.

Henry A. Hart of Portland, Me., one of the wounded in the Bradford disaster, died in the hospital at Haverhill, Mass., on the night of the 12th inst.

Notice has been served on the city of Dover, also upon Geo. F. Cater and wife, Mrs. Edwin I. Burnham and Mrs. Fannie Littlefield Trip, that action in a suit in favor of Mrs. Mary E. Adams will be brought against them to recover damages sustained by injury in having been run into on the street in that city on the evening of Jan. 6th by a sled on which were the four persons first named. It is not yet decided as to whether all or only one will be sued, but in all probability all will be included in the suit.

Ellery Albee, the Winchester savings bank defaulter, has been pardoned from state prison, where he had four years still to serve. He is alleged to by broken down with paralysis.

Possible Uses for the Phonograph.

In all that has been written about the uses to which the forthcoming Edison practical phonograph, nothing has been said of the facilities it will give people who can neither read nor write for correspondence. Indeed, there is no doubt but there will be an immense demand on the wonderful powers of the instrument from this class. The instruments into which books have been read will also repeat them to the blind, and those thus afflicted can have the choicest treasures of the libraries of the world at their service day or night.

The invalid, too, whose friends are away or busy or asleep, can have his faithful reader always at command. But all these things are not pertinent to this "railway world." The thought that suggested the paragraph is this: What a valuable thing a phonograph would be on a rapidly moving train during a long journey. It is hard on the eyes of many to read in traveling, or at night the light is insufficient or the car is darkened for sleeping. The restless passenger may have his faithful phonograph in his berth, and with the earphone adjusted can listen to its sweet voice at will, without disturbing anybody. Then, too, all know the difficulty of writing on a train. This will now be overcome. Not only for business correspondence may it be used, but an author's best thoughts often come to him amid the waits or among the inspiring scenes of a long journey. These may be faithfully recorded.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

The Germs of Consumption.

Dr. Brown Sequard, who has been preaching that bad ventilation of sleeping rooms and poor and monotonous food are the great causes of pithisis, treated of that disease at the last meetiug of the Academy of Sciences, in Paris, taking many of his examples from England. Wherever population is dense, and sleeping rooms ill aired or overcrowded, consumption prevails. Dr. Bailey reported that in Milbank prison there were, out of 100 deaths, forty-five from this disease.

According to the illustrious French doctor, a room in which a consumptive person sleeps is reeking with contagious germs if the air he exhales is not carried off. But how get rid of it in ill built houses or very cold weather, when it is as dangerous to open windows as to keep them shut?

To meet this difficulty Dr. Brown Sequard showed the academy an apparatus of his invention. A reversed funnel, the shape of a lamp shade, is placed at the end of a tube, so arranged in its curves and angles that when it is placed beside a bed the reversed funnel will be above the sleeper, and draw up the air he breathes. The other end runs into the chimney of the room. If there is none it is taken through a heating apparatus to an air hole. The heat is great enough to burn the disease germs.

USE

Horsford's

BREAD PREPARATION.

The acid phosphate in this preparation supplies the vital phosphates essential to the system, and assists digestion. No other baking powder does this.

Dr. J. E. L. Kimball, of Saco, says:

"I think Horsford's Bread Preparation is adapted to the wants of the system, and for domestic purposes stands unrivalled."

Dr. John Lord, of Biddeford, says:

"I give Horseford's Bread Prepartion my hearty endorsement, believing that it imparts to food, material necessary for the nutrition of the brain, preventing mental exhaustion, and acting as a nerve food and tonic."

Dr. J. A. LaPoint, of Biddeford, says:

"Horsford's Bread Preparation has been used in my family for a long time, with most satisfactory results. I think it superior to all other baking powders, because it restores the phosphates, those life-giving elements which are contained in the grains of wheat, but not in fine wheat flour."

Dr. L. E. Grant, of Great Falls, says:

"Horsford's Bread Preparation is far superior to cream of tarter in cooking flour. Phosphates enter largely into the composition of animal tissues. This preparation, being rich in phosphates, supplies the system with those valuable elements."

Dr. J. W. Preston, of Great Falls, says:

"It is beyond question that some of the essential elements of wheat are lost in milling, and they can only be restored by the use of such elements in making bread. Horsford's Bread Preparation furnishes just what is needed."

Dr. H. V. Noyes, of Berwick, says:

"I have tested Horsford's Bread Preparation, and believe it healthful, inasmuch as it restores to the flour those properties which are removed in milling. We made good bread with it."

Dr. F. E. Wilcox, of Rochester, says:

"The process of manufacturing wheaten flour, removes with the bran nearly all the phosphates, which are positively necessary to the growth and repair of the tissues of the body. These salts must in some way be supplied to the system, or the result will appear in some form of disease of the osseous or nervous systems. Horsford's Bread Preparation I believe to be free from alum and other deleterious ingredients, and contains a sufficiency of these vital salts to restore to bread the health-giving phosphates lost by the bolting process."

Dr. E. T. Hubbard, of Rochester, says:

"I recommend Horsford's Bread Preparation as an admirable adjunct to economical housekeeping. In my opinion it contains nothing detrimental to health, and it supplies to fine flour those phosphatic elements removed by milling."

Dr. Levi G. Hill, of Dover, says:

"The phosphates are the essential and vital constituent of all grains, and are declared to be the principal ingredient in Horsford's Bread Preparation. I endorse the correctness of the scientific principles claimed for this preparation, in restoring to the flour the nutritive phosphates lost in milling.

Dr. Albert G. Fenner, of Dover, says:

"My test of Horsford's Bread Preparation fully shows it to be all that it claimed for it, and amply proves the correctness and truth of the scientific principles upon which in is founded."

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1888" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Best and Purest Medicine EVER MADE.

Will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time. If you are wise and use the great blood purifier,

SULPHUR BITTERS.

We suffer with Dollars and Cents, Headache? Why? Why are we sick? Because our Blood is impure. Why are we troubled with Rheumatism? What makes you troublesome? Your Bowels are all out of order. Your appetite is gone. Why? Because your stomach is out of order. Your Liver is torpid. Why? Because your Blood is impure. Purify the Blood, and all these ills will vanish like mist before the sun. Sulphur Bitters will do it. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap Rum or poor Whiskey drink, to be taken by the glass, like other preparations which are advertised, but a medicine, and must be taken by the tablespoonful. Sulphur Bitters will cure you when all others fail. Sulphur Bitters will cure you when all others fail. Sulphur Bitters will cure you when all others fail. No person can remain long sick who uses Sulphur Bitters. They will cure you when all others fail. No person can remain long sick who uses Sulphur Bitters. They will cure you when all others fail.

The Dose is small—only a teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it, and you will be satisfied. Get it of your Druggist.

DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE.

If you are suffering from Kidney Disease, and wish to live to old age, use SULPHUR BITTERS. They never fail to cure.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

A Clever Advertising Trick.

Advertisers resort to all sorts of tricks to interest people. No one would suppose this was an advertisement for Little Hop Pills, but that is just what it is. They always cure constipation and kindred ills. All druggists, 25 cents. Buy. Try. Judge.

—Mrs. Noseup had always contended that her husband's tobacco habit was a vile and injurious one. "There," said Mr. Noseup, turning from his scientific journal, "it says here that there are no microbes to be found in tobacco." "That's where the microbe shows his good sense, Mr. Noseup."

Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most distressing, nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cures of chronic catarrh by any of the multitude of modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gratifying and surprising.

A Reprieve for the Condemned.

Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This budding hope blossoms into the fruition of certainty, if the bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspeptics who seek its aid. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnia of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with their hateful progenitor. Most beneficent of stomachics! who can wonder that in so many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, benefitted by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torments of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietors of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, malarial fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

ALL FOR GOLD.

They'll robe me in my bridal gown,
Ah me, ah me!
They'll robe me in my bridal gown,
The orange buds will be my crown,
The white veil will go floating down;
And I shall bear the splendor meet,
And wish it were my winding sheet.
Ah me, ah me!

They'll twine white gems about my neck,
Ah me, ah me!
They'll twine white gems about my neck,
And I shall give no sign, no check,
But well enough, I, too, shall reck,
That dewy pearls are for my tears;
The deadly opals for my fears,
Ah me, ah me!

They'll lay my prayer book in my hand,
Ah me, ah me!
They'll lay my prayer book in my hand,
While I shall calm and stately stand,
And hear the organ pealing grand,
And I shall neither faint nor fall,
But live and smile on through it all,
Ah me, ah me!

They'll lead me to the altar rail,
Ah me, ah me!
They'll lead me to the altar rail,
And my false lips will never fail,
Nor my false heart will ever quail,
As I breathe o'er those words of old,
And sell myself for love of gold.
Ah me, ah me!

—Boston Saturday Traveler.

AN APPETITE FOR GLASS.

How the Alleged Glass Eaters Deceive the Credulous Public.

Several gentlemen were discussing the other evening at an uptown cafe the peculiar appetites that museum freaks have lately displayed for glass. They were wondering if the sharp particles were digested, and one of the party said that the whole thing was a "fake."

"Why," said the knowing one, "the trick is ancient. I've seen it done hundreds of times, and can do it myself. You don't believe it, eh? Well to satisfy those of you who doubt my veracity, I'll do the trick."

A very thin glass, of the kind in which seltzer is usually served, was brought, and the amateur freak called for a glass filled with water. While the audience, which had increased in size, was wondering what was to come next, the gentleman coolly picked up the thin glass and deliberately bit off a piece, which he chewed with the utmost complacency. When it was reduced to the proper fineness the performer picked up the glass of water and, to all appearances, washed down the rather unpleasant dish with apparently as much satisfaction as if the particles of glass were delicate bits of turkey and the clear beverage champagne. It was noticed, however, that he did not drain the glass. Everybody looked at him in perfect astonishment and some of his friends, thinking it was an act of bravado which might prove fatal, wanted to send for a physician.

"Never mind calling a doctor," said the trickster, laughing heartily as the mystified expressions on their faces changed to looks of abject terror; "I'm all right, and now I'll expose the trick. Of course none of you believe I swallowed the glass, but the question is what became of it."

He then took up the glass from which he drank, and, putting a handkerchief over another tumbler, poured its contents into the empty receptacle. When the straining was finished the handkerchief held hundreds of fine particles of glass.

"Now you fellows want to know how the small pieces of glass got into the tumbler, don't you?

"In the first place there is little danger in chewing the glass if one is careful, but it requires a good deal of practice to eject it without being detected. If you watched me closely you saw that when I put the water to my lips my upper lip was laid over the rim, and before I drank a drop all the pieces which were under that upper lip were almost at the bottom of the water. To be sure one must be careful not to swallow any of the pieces with the water, but that can be done by closing the teeth. The finer the glass used the less fear there is of its being detected in the bottom of the tumbler."

Several of the audience tried to do the trick, but gave up in despair when their tongues and gums were cut by the particles of glass. It is, however, becoming very popular for blooded young men to bite pieces out of their glasses, and the time may come when a piece of glass for chewing purposes may be included in the bill for refreshments.—New York Evening Sun.

A Novel Necktie.

The manager of one of the large Chicago wholesale houses in the line of gentlemen's furnishings, shows a novel necktie which he has just received from Texas. It is a rattlesnake skin, made up in the form of a four-in-hand tie. The point-rattle is set in the center of the outer fold—to serve the purpose of a tie-pin. As it glistens and shows all sorts of shifting colors in the sunlight or gaslight it makes a very attractive, if not exactly conventional, tie. The owner says that it was sent to him as a sample, the sender saying that, as the stock of rattlesnakes in his country is inexhaustible, he can supply as many of these strange ties as the Chicago house may want.—Chicago News.

Shoes of the Confederacy.

Two ladies of our acquaintance, wealthy and exclusive at the beginning of the war, were glad, during its latter years, through the great change wrought in their fortunes, to find that their skill in making shoes, slippers and gaiters could furnish them with a modest income. These shoes were constructed from old broadcloth coats and pants, pieces of bombazine and any available black goods; their soles were often cut from the leather tops of worn out shoes, and their lacings were the coverings of hoopskirt wire dyed black. Toward the close of the war many of them sold for $30 and $40 per pair.—Jennie S. Judson.

THE NEW YORK MAIL AND EXPRESS

The Advocate of the Best Interests of the Home—The Enemy of the Saloon. The Friend of American Labor. The Favorite Newspaper of People of Refined Tastes Everywhere.

The New York MAIL AND EXPRESS, the favorite American newspaper of many people of intelligent and cultivated tastes, has recently made some noteworthy improvements, materially increasing its general excellence. It is in the broadest sense most carefully edited, and adapted to the wants and tastes of intelligent readers throughout the entire country—North, South, East and West. It is a thoroughly clean paper, free from the corrupting, sensational and demoralizing trash, miscalled news, which defiles the pages of too many city papers.

A National Newspaper,

OUR POLITICS.

We believe the Republican party to be the true instrument of the POLITICAL PROGRESS of the American people; and holding that the honest enforcement of its principles is the best guarantee of the national welfare, we shall support them with all our might; but we shall always treat opposing parties with consideration and fair play.

AGAINST THE SALOON.

The MAIL AND EXPRESS is the recognized National organ of the great Anti-Saloon Republican movement. It believes that the liquor traffic as it exists to-day in the United States is the enemy of society, a fruitful source of corruption in politics, the ally of anarchy, a school of crime, and; with its avowed purpose of seeking to corruptly control elections and legislation, is a menace to the public welfare and deserves the condemnation of all good men.

Chandler Ventilates the Mississippi Plan.

In the national senate, on the 12th inst., the resolution offered by Hon. Wm. E. Chandler of New Hampshire on the 10th of January instructing the committee on the judiciary to inquire into the suppression of the votes of the colored citizens of Jackson, Miss., at the recent municipal election in that city, and into the alleged participation in such suppression by the United States district attorney, deputy collector of internal revenue and a deputy United States marshal, was taken up. Mr. Chandler addressed the senate in explanation and support of it. He said he had communications from Jackson asking for such an investigation, and asserted that the facts stated could be proved by the testimony of the best men of both political parties. He had not, in the resolution, provided for power to send for persons and papers, because he apprehended that the facts would be all found on file in the department of justice. If that, however, should not prove to be so, he would desire to have power given to make a complete investigation. He sent to the clerk's desk and had read several letters and telegrams received by him, also a manifesto which first conveyed to the colored people of Jackson the information that they would not be allowed to vote. This manifesto, he said, displayed at its head an engraving of a couple of pistols, a couple of shotguns and a powder flask. In it the "young men of Jackson" announced their "ultimatum." It declares that, having seen one of their number hellishly murdered in the dark by a negro bully, set on by a negro policeman of a negro-cursed city, that corrupt radical negro government should and must be wiped out at any cost; that, if the negroes ran for office, they would do so at their extremest peril; and it warned all negroes "against attempting to force upon us the black and damnable machinery called government." The colored citizens under all the circumstances surrounding them had met in convention, had resolved that it would not be safe for them to attempt to cast their votes, and had consequently abstained from voting, so that none bat white men voted. The federal officers engaged in that business were Hardis, the district attorney, Wilson, the deputy collector of internal revenue, and Livingston, deputy United States marshal.

Racing Fishermen.

The new "Burgess schooner" Carrie E. Phillips reached Boston on Friday last from her third trip to George's bank, which was a successful voyage. Captain Powers, on hearing of stories about a defeat sustained by his boat by the schooners John H. McManus and Hattie I. Prior, stated that the owners of the Phillips would issue a challenge to the Prior and McManus, and a forfeit would be deposited Saturday afternoon. The Phillips would be ready to sail on Monday, the 16th, for George's, but if the challenge was accepted would remain in port until the captains of the Prior and McManus are satisfied that all conditions are favorable for racing. The owners of the Burgess schooner will agree to sail over any fair course named by either of the two boats named above. The match is to be for $1000 a side, the crew of the winning boat to take all.

A Model Newspaper.

In another column we print the advertisement of that sterling and reliable paper, the New York Mail & Express, and we wish to commend it to our readers as in the broadest sense a national newspaper, most carefully edited, and adapted to the wants and tastes of intelligent readers throughout the entire country—North, South, East and West.

It is sturdily republican, and a strong friend of American labor. Its influence is always for the better side, and temperance people know it as one of the strongest, most influential newspapers on the side of practical temperance reform. It is one of the very best news and home papers.

Sample copies are sent free, and we advise every one of our readers to send for one.

Another "Funny" Idiot.

Daniel J. Grady of Brooklyn, N. Y., died last week of lockjaw, caused by a cut on his hand received on New Year's eve. Grady and some friends were gathered around a table, when Grady rose to light his cigar. As he was about to resume his seat a practical joker among the young men pulled his chair away. In falling Grady threw out his arm, and his hand struck and broke a china cuspadore. The wound inflicted by the broken china did not trouble Grady for some days, but finally caused tetanus and death. The coroner's jury found a verdict of accidental death.

GOOD CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT.

Two parties have been in this city, one from Biddeford, Me., the other from Haverhill, Mass., to buy the block corner of Jefferson and Water streets, containing two stores and six tenements; but I prefer to sell it in conjunction with my other real estate, namely, house No. 5 Walden street, with barn and lot; house and large barn, No. 1 Holmes court; and lot 130X90 feet on same court, running down to the river. Half the purchase money can remain on interest at six per cent.

William Coombs, who has been a tenant in the Water street block, will be there no more.

The property is offered for sale on account of my desire to close up my business here. JOHN O'BRIEN.

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

"A Thing of Beauty" as Well as Strength.

"HUMPTY DUMPTY."

This evening, at Music hall, Tony Denier's Humpty Dumpty entertainment will be presented, and all lovers of pantomime should be there, as a large number of them will be, Tony Denier's reputation as the chief purveyor of such entertainments being established and well merited. Tickets at Goodrich's, and at the door.

SEEMS LIKE A JUG HANDLE.

A Boston writer on financial and railroad matters last Friday said: "Boston & Maine sold off two points from 211, recovering to 210 1-4. The accident at the Bradford bridge was undoubtedly the cause of the decline, and second thought the cause of the recovery, for whoever remembers the lease of the Eastern road to the Boston & Maine will recall that accidents on either road are practically at the cost of the Eastern. And now that the Boston & Lowell lease to the Boston & Maine has gone into effect, its accidents are likewise a charge against the Eastern. There is no special provision to that effect, but the order of liens as provided in the leases makes the Eastern road the residuary legatee of profits and losses, with a limit on the profits. The loss in the case of this accident is placed at $200,000, and, while possibly rather high, it will do for an approximate estimate. Eastern common stock was 105 bid, 115 asked, against the last previous sale of 116 7-8."

COMMITTEE MEETING.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for the dedication of the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument will hold a meeting in the common council chamber this (Monday) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

MORE WEATHER.

Saturday was a fine day, and the excellent sleighing caused the influx into the city of a great number of farmers' teams from the surrounding country, with the usual beneficial influence on trade.

Sunday morning the weather was threatening, but not until after very good-sized congregations had assembled in the churches did the rain commence to fall; when the people were dismissed they found the nice sleighing turned to slush, and the sidewalks, which were well sanded by the city laborers on Saturday, as dangerously slippery as at any time this season. Last Sunday was the sixth consecutive one of stormy weather.

"KEEP IT DARK."

The musical comedy, "Keep It Dark," which was put on the boards last night, is a thoroughly laughter-compelling piece of work, and was uncommonly well acted and sung. It is far above the average run of modern comedies, and kept the house in wonderful humor. Mr. Bryant, Julia Wilson and Lizzie Richmond especially distinguished themselves.—Fitsburg Chronicle-Teleraph.

At Music hall Thursday evening, Jan. 19th; tickets at Goodrich's, on and after Tuesday.

Mrs. John Connors, formerly for many years landlady of "The Old House at Home," on Daniel street, torn down several years since, last week went to New York to make a home with relatives there.

The Concord railroad will sell round trip tickets to Concord from this city and return, for the Department Convention, G. A. R., Feb. 2d and 3d, for $1.50. The Eagle and Phoenix hotels of Concord have reduced their rates for the occasion to $2 per day.

The Seward house on the harbor front of Gerrish's island, purchased last year by Mr. Albert Stickney of New York, is about to be extensively enlarged and repaired for a summer residence for him and his family.

Mr. George A. Perkins and wife will leave about the 1st of February for Fernandina, Florida, in hope that Mr. Perkins' health may be benefitted by a sojourn in the south.

The trial term of the Supreme court commences at Exeter on Tuesday, before Hon. W. H. H. Allen, judge. The Sanborn will case, the trial of which it had been expected would consume several days, has been settled.

The old Wentworth mansion at Little harbor forms the background for a story by Barrett Wendell in Scribner's for February, entitled "The Last of the Ghosts." The headpiece to the article is a drawing of the old mansion.

Mr. Elvin Newton, his wife, and their son Sherman T. Newton, were reported on Sunday to be all seriously ill.

Mr. Charles P. Garvin, of the State street club house, is winning—perhaps it would be nearer the fact to say has won — deserved recognition as a caterer. This (Monday) evening he serves dinner at the club house for the Innate club; and on Tuesday evening he serves (in Mechanics' hall) the supper for the people attending the Shoemakers' ball in Franklin hall, and on the same evening sets forth a feast at the club house for the officers of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias and their invited guests, including the grand officers of the state.

The officers of DeWitt Clinton Commandery, Knights Templar, will be installed this evening by P. E. C. Andrew P. Preston.

Rt. Rev. W. W. Niles, Episcopal bishop of New Hampshire, will be at St. John's church on one of the last Sundays in February, for the purpose of administering the rite of confirmation.

Recitals by pupils of Mrs. Sarah Neal Harris on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, 17th and 18th insts., at Music hall. Tickets thirty-five cents; all seats reserved—coupons to be procured at Mr. Goodrich's bookstore.

The train due here from Boston at 8:50 o'clock Saturday evening was twenty-five minutes late, owing to the giving out of the engine of a train which left Boston before it. On coming up with the disabled train it was pushed on ahead until a station was reached where it could be switched off, so as to allow the Pullman to pass.

The schooner Agnes E. Downs, Levi Downs master, of this port, one morning last week was one of the only two schooners at the central fish wharf in Boston, she having 14,000 lbs. of cod and haddock on board, and the other vessel, from Georges, 40,000 lbs. of haddock. The two fares were sold at $4 per hundred lbs. for haddock, and $3.75 per hundred for cod. Soon afterward other schooners commenced to arrive with good fares, and before noon the docks were crowded, and prices had dropped to $2 for haddock and $1.75 for cod.

A delegation of members of New Hampshire Lodge, I. O. O. F., went to Rye on Sunday to attend the funeral of Bro. Aaron R. Locke of that town.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $5 per pair. They are a great bargain.

The city marshal in another column gives notice that sliding on the sidewalks, or the throwing of snowballs or other missiles in the streets, will cause the offenders to be dealt with according to the laws of the state in such cases made and provided.

Mr. Oscar Marr of Kittery, engineer of the ocean tug Ice King, arrived at his home last week on a short visit while the steamer is laid up for a few days for repairs to her boilers.

George B. Wentworth, the prominent shoe manufacturer of Dover, died in Haverhill, Mass., on Saturday, the 14th inst., from injuries received in the railroad accident at Bradford on the 10th. His remains were taken to Dover on Saturday afternoon.

The vacant postmastership at Concord developes several candidates. The People and Patriot facetiously suggests that the proper mode of selecting a new incumbent would be to call a meeting of the democratic voters who receive their mail matter at the post-office and have an expression by ballot of their preference for a candidate. The result, it is suggested, could be sent to the president by means of a committee properly selected, and no attention be paid to the bosses at Franklin or Portsmouth, who might have different arrangements as to filling the office. This sounds well, but the editor of the People and Patriot ought to know that when the certificate of election would be presented to the president the papers would be carefully laid away in the appropriate pigeon hole until the other fellows were heard from. This new programme is rather too freshly ingenuous to be successful. The appointment will come in the old way.

The four-masted schooner Clara Goodwin, Wyman master, from Baltimore with 1508 tons of bituminous coal, arrived at the Concord railroad wharf on Saturday. She is a big one, but is completely overshadowed by the mammoth four-master T. A. Lambert, lying at the same wharf, which brought in over 2500 tons of coal.

The press despatches on Saturday announced that Harry A. McNeally, brother of Frank C. McNeally, the Saco bank robber, sailed from New York that day for Europe, probably on a mission to recover the stolen bonds.

"I WISH YOU HAD SOAP THAT WOULD FLOAT," a lady said to a clerk in a large grocery store. "You have no idea how ordinary soap is wasted. The servants let it remain in the bottoms of the wash-tubs, dish-pans, and scrubbing-pails, and when the water is poured off, the soap has the consistency of mush, and a new bar must be taken from the box. If the soap would only float, they would see it, and take it out of the water when they were through with it."

The "IVORY SOAP" floats, replied the clerk. Oil will float; and, as the "IVORY SOAP" is made of oils, and is 99 44/100 per cent. pure, as a matter of course it will float.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

DR. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory.

Very respectfully,
ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

Johnny, Get Your Gun.

The efforts of Secretary Whitney to establish a gun foundry at the Washington navy yard have not met with the best of success. The failure seems to be due in great part to incompetence and lack of mechanical skill in the ordnance bureau. In the case of the first gun made there the boring tool broke inside of the muzzle. Now it is learned that the breech-block for the new ten-inch gun for the monitor Miantonomah has stuck fast in the gun and has got to be bored out. This involves not only several extra weeks of labor, but the block itself, which cost a thousand dollars, is a total loss.

We walk in the midst of secrets, we are encompassed with mysteries, but it is an open secret that there is no remedy in the world so wonderful as Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for coughs and colds.

The only survivor of the crew of the French sailing vessel Ministren Batucci, which was wrecked recently, has arrived in London, and charges the captain of the English steamer Kingsdale with refusing to tow the vessel to the nearest port, though she was in a sinking condition. The result was the loss of twenty-two lives.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

A bill has been introduced in the Virginia legislature to pension disabled Confederate soldiers, and the widows of those who were killed.

"The Table Robs more than the Thief."

Frau Voggenhuber, a celebrated singer who was connected with the Berlin opera house for twenty years, is dead.

When the eyes become weak or the lids inflamed and sore, a disordered system or a scrofulous condition of the blood is indicated, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy. It invigorates and vitalizes the blood and expels all humors.

It is said that a "trust" will be formed for the purpose of sustaining the prices of copper wire.

Martin Dooley, aged sixty-five years, a section hand, was instantly killed by an engine in the railroad yard at Concord on Saturday.

Business Chances.

If you suffer from backache, kidney troubles, sore muscles, rheumatic pains or weak lungs, apply a Hop Plaster over seat of pain. It wonderfully soothes and strengthens the parts.

It was reported on Saturday from Concord that George E. Jenks, one of the prominent citizens of the place, had not been seen since leaving his home the previous day, and suicide was feared.

I am subject to sudden colds, followed by hard coughs, for which I use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and find it the best remedy. We always have it in the house, and would as soon be without flour as the Balsam. A. Dunklee, Postmaster, West Brattleboro', Vt.

Indianapolis had a $1,000,000 fire on Saturday.

Counterfeits are always made to look as near like the original as possible. Housekeepers are cautioned against the many worthless and damaging imitations of James Pyles' Pearline, some put up in similar looking packages, and others with names sounding like Pearline, which dealers may endeavor to urge upon them.

Senator Ingalls has lost his house and library at Atchison, Kan., by fire.

Rev. Alfred S. Patton, editor and owner of the Baptist Weekly is dead.

New lungs cannot be made by medicines, or the skill of Physicians; but the old ones can be strengthened and preserved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma and all diseases of the lungs. You cannot make a mistake. Try it.

—The way to date letters correctly is to make a straight mark and then add the figure eight until you are tired.

—Wife: "In the rivalry between Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Potter for histrionic honors, John, which lady do you think is leading?" Husband: "Why, I understand that Mrs. Langtry is still two brands of soap ahead."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,fri,6tjall

This is Good Enough

Mr. C. E. Bartholomew, Kalamazoo, Mich., says: "I owe my life solely to Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. Those persons who do not need Iron, but who are troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Try them.

THE SUPPLY OF MUSK.

Perfumes that the Jersey Marshes Furnish for Ladies' Handkerchiefs.

A reporter was in a drug store the other evening. The store is kept by a friend of his. A lady came in and bought an ounce of musk extract. After she had gone out the reporter said to his friend, the druggist:

"I dare say that the race of fragile, but aromatic, little deer from which musk is obtained must be nearly extinct by this time, is it not?"

"Not the fragile and aromatic little deer that furnishes the musk I sell," replied the druggist. "That fragile and aromatic little deer isn't any nearer extinction now than he was when he first began to dive and burrow, and that was away back in the pristine years."

"Why!" exclaimed the reporter. "The animal that supplies the musk of commerce lives among the palm clad hills of Central Asia, where picturesque native hunters follow its tiny track, risking their lives and undergoing great toil and hardships to secure the almost infinitesimal sac which envelopes the precious perfume, and by painful journeys of miles and miles they bear it to the marts of trade, where it is sold for many times its weight in gold. Everybody knows that."

"Yes," said the druggist, "I've heard of that. But the way I find it now is different. The animal that supplies the musk of commerce around these parts lives largely in those luxuriant realms of bog and malaria known as the Jersey marshes, where the following of its track is attended with no risk to life, no toil, no hardship. I never knew it to be attended with much but a jug of rum and a long handled spear. The hunters are picturesque, though. An old fur cap, a large chew of tobacco oozing over an unprotesting red chin whisker, and a pair of gum boots filled with the legs of hickory overalls, and a long, lank Jerseyman. That ought to pass for picturesque, hadn't it? But none of these hunters ever said anything to me about an infinitesimal sac, enveloping a precious perfume, nor ever complained about having to journey many painful miles and miles to reach the marts of trade; nor have I any recollection of their demanding many times its weight in gold for the precious perfume. Not any hunters that I ever dealt with didn't. They just jumped aboard a ferryboat, landed on this side and hoofed it up here, and, chucking on the counter what he had to sell, said:

"'That ye be, Kernel! Didn't have much luck yist'dy, an' only slashed the pods out o' ten. They're bang up uns, though. O't to be wuth ten cents a pair, Kernel.'"

"Do you mean to say"— the reporter began, but the druggist interrupted him.

"Yes," said he; "I mean to say that the picturesque hunters who risk their lives on the trail of the musk deer in the Central Asian mountains can do better by pocking their grips and coming over here and chasing the wily muskrat on the Jersey marshes. They might have to wear more clothes, but they'd get more musk and find a market right under their nose. Yes, my son. The effete orient is no place for the musk hunter nowadays. The robust occident beckons him and he had better come. He needn't fetch his spear with him. They are plenty here at fifty cents per spear."

"But somebody sells the genuine oriental musk yet, certainly," insisted the reporter.

"Yes; oh, yes," said the druggist. "There's a good deal of it sold yet; but it's all nonsense. What's the use? A drop of Jersey musk will reach just as far and last just as long as a drop of the most aristocratic article that ever came from Asia. A lady carrying a drop of the imported musk to church with her will not make the congregation a bit sicker than if she had insinuated a drop of the home made stuff into her garments. Neither will the high collared youth who sits down next to you at the theatre, exhaling reminiscences of an Asiatic musk deer hunt, arouse in you any stronger desire to sweep upon him as an army with banners and dust the floor with him, than will the same young man if he simply recalls to you the hole where the muskrat disappeared. Then what's the use? There ain't any. No one can tell the difference and I keep the home article. It's as good as the best and can be sold for less. Mind you, I say can be sold for less. Some of the finest and most delicate colognes I sell today are made from the aromatic secretion of the muskrat of the Jersey marshes. I mention myself, but if I should place 100 New York druggists in a bunch and let you chuck a stone at the bunch you couldn't hit a man in it who isn't on just as intimate relations with the Jersey muskrat as I am."

"Then," said the reporter, "the Jerseymen who hunt the muskrat must make a nice thing of it."

"As far as it goes, yes," replied the druggist. "But as ten or a dozen muskrat pods will make enough extract to last a year in any drug store with a fair trade in perfumes, there might be more money in it than there is for the hunter. But then you see the musk pod isn't all there is to the muskrat. He is an animal of great resources, the muskrat is. For instance he furnishes the material for many thousands of sealskin caps, muffs, gloves and trimmings. So you can readily see that neither the musk deer, the seal, nor the rabbit need go off and be extinct so long as the great American muskrat lives, breathes and has his being."—New York Evening Sun.

MAIL AND EXPRESS

The Advocate of the Best Interests of the Home—The Enemy of the Saloon. The Friend of American Labor. The Favorite Newspaper of People of Refined Tastes Everywhere.

The New York MAIL AND EXPRESS, the favorite American newspaper of many people of intelligent and cultivated tastes, has recently made some noteworthy improvements, materially increasing its general excellence. It is in the broadest sense most carefully edited, and adapted to the wants and tastes of intelligent readers throughout the entire country—North, South, East and West. It is a thoroughly clean paper, free from the corrupting, sensational and demoralizing trash, miscalled news, which defiles the pages of too many city papers.

A National Newspaper,

OUR POLITICS.

We believe the Republican party to be the true instrument of the POLITICAL PROGRESS of the American people; and holding that the honest enforcement of its principles is the best guarantee of the national welfare, we shall support them with all our might; but we shall always treat opposing parties with consideration and fair play.

AGAINST THE SALOON.

The MAIL AND EXPRESS is the recognized National organ of the great Anti-Saloon Republican movement. It believes that the liquor traffic as it exists to-day in the United States is the enemy of society, a fruitful source of corruption in politics, the ally of anarchy, a school of crime, and, with its avowed purpose of seeking to corruptly control elections and legislation, is a menace to the public welfare and deserves the condemnation of all good men.

Work of the Blizzard.

A Minneapolis despatch of the 15th says that reports from various Dakota towns show that a large number of deaths from freezing occurred during the blizzard of last week. The dead thus far brought into Yankton number nine, while seven persons were brought in who have their limbs badly frozen and amputation rendered necessary. At St. Olaf, Miss Brady, a school teacher, and a pupil lost their lives. The body of an unknown man was found a mile from Sioux Falls, standing erect in the snow. Bodies of four men have been taken to Sioux Falls. Nine people living around Huron are known to be dead; four farmers who left an hour before the storm broke are missing, and there is no doubt but that they perished. Two school children at Caron died, and their teacher was badly frozen. At Claremont four persons were lost. At Parker, Miss Lizzie Dwyer and four of Peter Wiergan's children lost their lives. At Faulkton, Miss Emma Lamar, a school teacher, and Carrie Aulan, a pupil, are dead. The mercury for three days ranged from twenty to forty degrees below zero.

Helena, Montana, reported the temperature there at forty-five below zero, and fifty-nine below at Belgrade on the night of the 13th.

From Canton, Dakota, came the following reports of deaths: Two men at Primghar, Ia.; two school children at Inwood, Ia.; two men between Marion Junction and Bridgewaters; one man near White Lake; two boys and ninety-five head of cattle near Larchwood, Ia.; four school children near Lennox, Dak.; one of the last named, a boy, was alive when found, after being in the snow for thirty-six hours, but soon died.

Nebraska City, Neb., reported two men and a child frozen to death. At Hitchcock, Dakota, an old man and his son perished. At Rushmore, Minn., Mrs. Knutson's husband was absent and she went to look for him, on Friday; she was found frozen stiff within forty feet of her door.

At Chester, Minn., Thursday, six children of James Baker were frozen to death while going home from school. At Albert Lea, Minn., the thermometer was forty-two below, Saturday night, and Ole Agge froze to death.

At Stuart, Nebraska, Mrs. Chapman and her two grandchildren perished on Thursday. At Watertown, Dakota, Miss Sarah Doland, a school teacher, perished the same day.

From all points in the frigid region come reports of disaster and death, and it is believed the total loss of life will reach into the hundreds.

The end of the blizzard, with a thunder storm accompaniment, struck Tennessee on Sunday morning; at Memphis four inches of snow fell, the thermometer fell to ten degrees above zero, and there was good sleighing.

A despatch from Austin, Texas, says a norther set in there at six o'clock Saturday evening, when the temperature was at seventy-four, and before midnight the mercury was down to ten, the lowest ever known there.

Advices of the 16th from Kansas, Minnesota, Colorado and Dakota, only add to the horrors of the first accounts.

"G-WHIZ-Z!"

Limited Express Trains—Five Hours Saved Going West or Southwest via Chicago to Council Bluffs or Kansas City.

The "Great Rock Island Route" has adopted a fast-time schedule which guarantees a rate of speed between above named points heretofore unattained in western railroading. Its "Council Bluffs and Pacific Limited Express" leaves Chicago at 7:30 P. M., and arrives in Council Bluffs at 11:30 A. M. next day. This is a magnificent train, including Pullman palace sleepers (price of berths greatly reduced) and dining cars. The "Kansas City and Pacific Limited Express" leaves daily at 5:00 P. M., and arrives in Kansas City at 9:05 A. M. next day. The equipment of this train is also superior and unsurpassed, consisting (in addition to first-class day coaches) of new and elegant reclining chair cars and Pullman palace sleepers (berths at reduced rates) and buffet cars. Speed, safety, comfort and luxury have long been recognized as characteristics of the Rock Island, and, more than ever, are these traits now exemplified in its fast train service, which guarantees a delightful journey, consuming only sixteen hours' time between Chicago and Council Bluffs or Kansas City. At both these points, connections are made (in union depots) with fast trains running through to California and all points on the Pacific coast.

MARITIME NOTES.

The schooner Active, of this port, Frisbee master, arrived here on Sunday from Weehawken with a load of coal for O. F. Philbrick & Co., who were very glad to see her, their stock having been entirely cleaned out some days before her arrival. The Active has been nearly a month on the way, but Capt. Frisbee has done well to get her here when he did, the weather since he left Weehawken having been as bad as though made to order for the purpose. Big three-masted and four-masted schooners, and barges in tow of powerful ocean tugs, have been driven back to Chatham or even to Hyannis two or three times, after getting well up to the point of Cape Cod; and one big craft, after sighting Cape Cod light till she was tired, found her way back to Vineyard Haven nearly two weeks after leaving there for Boston. Coasting along the New England shore in winter may include some elements of fun, but they are not apparent to the casual observer.

The schooners W. H. Fredson, from Hoboken with 1038 tons of coal, and the A. W. Smith with 877 tons, the Jno. Proctor with 786 tons, and the Florence Randall with 1106 tons, from Baltimore, all to J. Albert Walker, arrived at this port on the 16th.

RAILROAD ITEMS.

Conductor Gilman's train on the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad struck an unknown man near Kennebunk last Saturday night. The victim was taken to Biddeford on the next train, and died in about in hour. He was about thirty years old, five feet seven inches tall, weighed one hundred and fifteen pounds, was of smooth, full face, and neatly dressed. Upon his person were found two pawn tickets for an overcoat and mason's tools, from Nelson's pawnbroker's shop, Boston. A letter was also found addressed "Brother Mac," and signed G. W. Seagar, Springfield.

The annual report of the Boston & Maine Relief Association shows a total membership of 1414, of which 565 were added in 1887. Thirty-nine members were relieved during the year at a cost of $6109, and twelve death claims, amounting to $11,769, were paid. A balance of $4610 is reported in the hands of the treasurer.

The Boston & Maine railroad managers are making a cut under the track a short distance west of the depot at Hampton, to allow the overflow of water at that point to pass under the grade.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

During a recent storm at the mouth of the Columbia river in Oregon the waves dashed over the top of the lighthouse, 190 feet above the sea level, and extinguished the light. So the papers say. They evidently have magnificent waves at the mouth of the Columbia river in Oregon; also magnificent liars.

Miss Alice Varney, daughter of Dr. A. H. Varney of South Newmarket, has resigned her situation as teacher of the high school in that town, and accepted a position in the high school at Chelsea, Mass. Miss Varney is a graduate of the Robinson female seminary of Exeter, class of '83.

Among the recent transfers of real estate in York county, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds, were the following: York—Josiah Norton to Frank E. Bowden, real estate for $250; Joseph H. Junkins of Rollinsford, N. H., to Bradford H. Wentworth of South Berwick, wood land in York for $425; George S. Varney of Manchester, N. H., to Clifton B. Hildreth of York, real estate in York for $43. South Berwick—Mary F. Grant to Edward A. Warren, wood land for $600. Wells—Moses Perkins to Elias C. Geyer, real estate for $1; Oliver J. Wadleigh of Boston to John F. Shapleigh of Dover, N. H., real estate in Wells for $2100; William A. Bedell of South Berwick to John F. Shapleigh of Dover, real estate in Wells for $1175.

Florence Silk Mittens.

This engraving shows the latest style of these goods. It is published as a protection for those ladies who wish to obtain mittens well-made from genuine Florence Knitting Silk.

The pattern shown here is lined in back and wrist throughout with silk. They are perfect fitting, and in cold climates are far more comfortable than any glove, and more dur- able and quite as elegant and fashionable as the best of gloves.

Sold by all enterprising dealers, who can be supplied at our agency, No. 18 Summer Street, Boston. Our latest book on knitting (186th edition) contains over 100 valuable Illustrated Rules, including full instructions for this mitten. Mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in stamps.

NOT MUCH OF A MISTAKE, AFTER ALL.

At the recent banquet of the democracy at Manchester the tickets to the feast of reason were placed at a low figure. The rate at which the unterrified were allowed to partake of the feast did not allow a high order of wines. Perhaps it was for this reason, or some other, that a distinguished orator of the party made a slip of the tongue. He referred to the statesman at the head of the government. "This man Cleveland," said he, "is well enough. He has given us a clean administration, and in some respects is a good democrat, but he is not as much of a statesman as"—hesitating for an example—"as Daniel Marcy!"

After the benediction, the orator remarked that he had got somewhat mixed on the Marcy illustration, as he meant William L. Marcy of New York, a name venerated in democratic circles from its association with the principle that to the victors belong the spoils, in opposition to any modern doctrine of civil service reform.

"Never mind," suggested the speaker who sat next to him, "it will please the old captain. You know he does not think much of Cleveland, anyway."

AN APPEAL THAT SHOULD FIND READY RESPONSE.

The directors of the Cottage Hospital, now incorporated, have secured $500, which they have paid over to the trustees to be invested as the nucleus of a permanent fund for the hospital. It is desired that the fund shall reach the sum of $10,000, at least, before any of the interest shall be used, and contributions toward the fund will be most gratefully received. Will not the philanthropic among our citizens, and the generous "Sons of Portsmouth" abroad, aid this good work, enabling it to advance, as it has done thus far, without incurring debt, and to meet the demands which are sure to come from a constantly increasing number of patients? The form of gift or bequest should be as follows:

"I hereby give [or bequeath] to the Trustees of the Chase Home for Children and Cottage Hospital in Portsmouth, N. H., the sum of $——— for the Permanent Fund [or for the present needs] of the Cottage Hospital."

Any special information will be gladly given, if desired, by Mrs. Daniel Marcy, President of the Board of Directors of the Cottage Hospital.

"WALKING ON THE SEA."

"For we walk by faith, not by sight;" "I can do all things through Him who strengtheneth me;" these were the leading passages in the Universalist sermon on Sunday.

Man hopes to have possession of the earth, more than this he hopes to have possession of the Universe in all its constituent elements of fire, water, earth and air.

The promise that the meek shall inherit the earth is not visionary. The gentle, the serene, the trustful, the faithful in trouble, shall inherit the earth and hold dominion over its waters.

Jesus had many discouragements. The whole world knows his story. Over the billows of ignorance, stolidness, misunderstanding, cruel estimates, betrayal, execution, he treads calmly and serenely. Over ages of bigotry, blindness of interpretation, inhumanity to man, he walks to-day, never stopping to count discouragements; should he do so, like Peter, he would fail.

God exists to-day in Nature as kindly as ever he did. We need not a Master to do marvels for us. We need no wonders that do not console when all that we hoped and all that we loved is laid under the sod. Only what man has done comforts us. Only what good men can hope to do strengthens us. A sight, a superinfinite thing is of no avail in human discouragements.

Those who heard Dr. Hedley's lecture felt that power over outward things is truly not a change of the outer, but a serenity and faith in the inner man. We need faith in man. We need an enduring faith in self. Not that even in following Christ we shall ever walk on water, but, as he did, glorify the inward man by exemplifying all that man can do.

The positivest faith which worships great characters, ignores Christ because he has not been made, what he really is, a possible man of to-day. In our Sunday schools our children should be taught truly. That is our bounden duty. If told to follow Jesus, give them something which they can actually follow. And moreover give them the truth.

The original historians of Jesus, writing so long after his death, have naturally concentrated a great deal of truth in the form of a short yet powerful story. It is the oriental way of writing, and it remains for us to find the real essence and encouragement that lies hidden therein. We need a perfect man. We need the men who

* * * "can believe in better things to be"
"So though the shadows still obscure our way,"
"We see the light reflected from the skies"
"That crowns thy brows, O man of Galilee."

THE SHOEMAKERS' BALL.

An instrumental concert preceding the dancing has become a popular feature of public balls, and the Shoemakers of Portsmouth, not to be in any way behind the fashion, at their ball given in Franklin hall this (Tuesday) evening will present the following programme, performed by the Shoemakers' orchestra, which will also supply the music for dancing:

1. March, Eisenberg
2. Cornet solo, Selected

Edwin A. Tilton, Organist;
Frank J. Philbrick, Standard Bearer;
Horace A. Massey, Sword Bearer;
Fred H. Ward, Warder;
James A. Rand, 3d Gd.;
Frank L. Pryor, 2d Gd.;
Morris C. Foye, 1st Gd.;
Robert H. Ball, Sentinel.

The first of the recitals by the pupils of Mrs. Sarah Neal Harris takes place at Music hall this evening. Many tickets have been sold, and a very interesting and pleasurable entertainment is promised.

The sleighing all about is reported to be excellent, Sunday's rain having damaged it but very little.

It is said that Edward Russell, who formerly for several years ran a refreshment saloon on the Dow farm at Rye, has leased the Hartshorn place, so-called, at Sagamore bridge, for a term of years from Mr. C. P. Wendell.

Mr. Garvin, of the State street club, proposes to enlarge his highly prosperous business by establishing a ladies' dining room as soon as he can secure the desired premises.

Miss Flora Dimick of this city will leave about the 1st of February for Orlando, Fla., to pass sevsral months with friends.

The churches on Sunday morning were in general occupied by congregations much larger than usual; but probably many of the worshippers were sorry they attended, as they slipped along toward home after the close of the services. The evening congregations were small, and some of the churches did not open for service at all.

By request, Rev. W. A. McGinley will next Sunday repeat in the North church the sermon delivered by him on New Year's day.

The ice-men of this city generally commenced havesting their first crop of ice for this season on Monday. It is about thirteen inches thick, and of average good quality.

Intelligence was received in this city on Monday of the death in New York the previous day of Mr. Frederick W. Nowell, son of Rev. William G. Nowell. He was a young man of much promise, and his early death is a sad blow to a large circle of friends. The body will be brought to this city for interment.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $5 per pair. They are a great bargain.

John H. Canney, "the pirate of the Piscataqua," who has served time in the state prison for burglary, and has been tried more than once for other crimes, was arrested in Dover on Sunday night for threatening the lives of citizens. The city marshal of Dover thinks Canney was the burglar of the Alton post-office. He won his maritime title by his exploits along the shores of the river, at Dover point, in Eliot and other places, in stealing everything he could lay his hands on, operating from a boat, several years ago. He is not a specially estimable citizen.

By special request of Louis Bell Post, No. 3, G. A. R., of Manchester, Major M. T. Belton of this city, who instituted that post twenty years ago while department commander of New Hampshire, will install its newly elected officers on the 20th inst.

Mr. Richard A. Pinkham has sold his kiln of bricks at Dover point to Boston parties at $7 a thousand.

Capt. Edmund A. Dixon of Eliot died in that town on the 13th inst., in the 67th year of his age. Capt. Dixon was a very pleasant, honorable man, and all his life a democrat. In 1861 he raised Co. G of the 27th Maine Reg't, Col. M. F. Wentworth, and served as its captain during the nine months of its enlistment. He leaves three daughters, all of whom are married; his wife died several years ago. His remains were interred in the old family burying ground at Eliot on Sunday, the 15th.

Mrs. Garfield, mother of President Garfield, is reported to be dying.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

Lucky and Rich.

A Washington letter writer thus refers to a well-known Dover man: "A recent statement in print is that a gentleman who recently died in Baltimore has bequeathed a legacy of $1000 to Mr. James I. Christie, assistant sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate. Mr. Christie is the man of all men who best exemplifies the old proverb 'that it is better to be born lucky than rich.' Some one is constantly dying and leaving him a legacy. He has no enemies in the world. Wherever he goes he is beset with invitations, and no one will give him a chance to respond. He is a stanch republican, but if the United States senate was to-morrow to become unanimously democratic no senator would for a moment think of hinting at turning him out. When free passes were in vogue he had twice as many of them as any public man in America. If he matches for half dollars, if he throws dice, if he buys a lottery ticket or takes a chance in a raffle, he invariably wins. At horse races he can go it blind, but he never misses the winning horse. He was never known to be in ill-humor, and senators who get up junketing committees during the recess of Congress will actually almost quarrel for Christie to take their committee in charge. He is a bachelor of many years standing, weighs nearly 300 pounds, but is very active, and his powers of absorption of both liquids and solids are simply marvellous. He has lots of money, and it keeps on piling up, as he never has the opportunity to spend any."

The Milton Manufacturing Co., organized in Berwick, Me., for the manufacture of leather-board and paper, with a capital stock of $100,000, par value of shares $100, capital paid in $80,000, last week filed their certificate of organization with the secretary of the state of Maine. John M. Carricabe is president; Andrew H. Godfrey, treasurer; John M. Carricabe, James Houghton and Andrew H. Godfrey, directors.

The post-office receipts at Biddeford for the last fiscal year were $10,012 75; at Saco, $4 898 58; at Kennebunk, $2,333.-64; at South Berwick, $2,094.15. If York takes in three or four hundred dollars at each of its half-dozen or so post-offices, it would make a good showing by lumping the lot.

The South Berwick Building Association has organized at South Berwick, with a capital of $10,000, all paid in. The officers are as follows: William Flynn, president; John H. Plummer, treasurer; John M. Thompson, clerk; George W. Tebbetts, Stephen Nason, Isaac Herson, Wm. Flynn, William N. Litchfield, directors.

Dirigo Encampment, No. 7, I. O. O. F., of Kittery, Me., elected the following officers last week: C. P., Samuel A. Jackson; E. W., Oliver B. Moody; H. P., Theo. Wilcox; Scribe, Geo. O. Wilson; J. W., J. E. Remick; Treas., W. W. Locke; Trustees, Daniel W. Marden, O. B. Moody, F. E. Rowell.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

The supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias has suspended the Pennsylvania grand lodge, numbering 25,000 members, till they amend their by-laws to conform to those of the supreme lodge.

"The Table Robs more than the Thief."

The life-saving patrolman on Plum island on Sunday found two skeletons lying side by side, a quarter of a mile from the shore, where they could not have been thrown by the sea.

When the eyes become weak or the lids inflamed and sore, a disordered system or a scrofulous condition of the blood is indicated, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy. It invigorates and vitalizes the blood and expels all humors.

Rev. C. W. Huntington of Providence, R. I., has accepted the pastorate of the High street Congregational church at Lowell, Mass.

As the result of the first trial of the Lick telescope in California a star has been discovered in the sword of Orion, and the rings of Saturn have been divided and resolved into a certain number for the first time. It looks as if the sanguine expectations which astronomers have based on this mighty instrument were to be realized. The telescope will bring the moon within an apparent distance of forty miles, and if there is a man in that satellite he can hardly escape being found out.

Business Chances.

If you suffer from backache, kidney troubles, sore muscles, rheumatic pains or weak lungs, apply a Hop Plaster over seat of pain. It wonderfully soothes and strengthens the parts.

It is certain that the longer a speech, the weaker it is, but not so with a cold—the longer it runs, the worse it becomes. A cold, be it ever so light, is no trifle, it should be checked in its early stages. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the "Balm of Gilead" that millions say is divine in its origin.

—Old farmer (to amateur ditto): "What do you feed to your pigs?" Amateur farmer: "Corn." Old farmer: "In the ear?" Amateur farmer (in disgust): "No; in the mouth."

"My Son is a Son 'till He gets Him a Wife, but my Daughter is my Daughter all the days of Her Life."

Both my son and my daughter took Little Hop Pills regularly. It regulates the bowels and always cures sick or bilious headache, indigestion and kindred ills. All druggists, 25 cents, or mail stamps to Hop Co., New London, Conn.

—Brown (who had given his friend a cigar): "These are something like cigars, eh, old boy?" Jones (dubiously, regarding his): "Yes-er, something like What are they?"

Those persons who do not need Iron, but who are troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Try them.

—"Doesn't your conscience trouble you, Bobby, for eating those preserves, which you know had been saved for your little sister?" inquired his mother. "Yes, ma," responded Bobby contritely, "I think it does. I know I've got a pain somewhere."

Ayer's Hair Vigor improves the beauty of the hair and promotes its growth. It prevents the accumulation of dandruff, cleanses the scalp, and restores a natural color to gray hair. Have you received Ayer's Almanac for the new year?

—An auctioneer said, "Here, ladies and gentlemen, is a painting which has been for the last 500 years attributed to the great Raphael without his ever protesting." He knocked down the picture immediately to a country collector.

Ministers, Lawyers, Teachers, and others whose occupation gives but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and biliousness. One is a dose. Try them.

—A young lady received a special-delivery letter. The messenger handed her the book to sign for it. She took the book, and, instead of writing her signature, she wrote: "Dear John: Glad to hear from you. Come up Sunday night." She had answered the letter.

I am subject to sudden colds, followed by hard coughs, for which I use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and find it the best remedy. We always have it in the house, and would as soon be without flour as the Balsam. A. Dunklee, Postmaster, West Brattleboro', Vt.

—The obscure Arab who invented alcoholic stimulants died more than 900 years ago, but his "spirit" still lives.

Counterfeits are always made to look as near like the original as possible. Housekeepers are cautioned against the many worthless and dangerous imitations of James Pyles' Pearline, some put up in similar looking packages, and others with names sounding like Pearline, which dealers may endeavor to urge upon them.

—Customer (getting measured): "How much are these trousers going to cost me?" Tailor: "Twenty-two dollars, sir. How many pockets do you want in them, sir?" Customer: "None. I won't need any pockets after I've paid for the trousers."

New lungs cannot be made by medicines, or the skill of Physicians; but the old ones can be strengthened and preserved by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, a sure cure for coughs, colds, asthma and all diseases of the lungs. You cannot make a mistake. Try it.

—Breakfast preparations: Old man (calling down the stairs to daughter): "Clara!" Daughter: "Yes, papa?" Old man: "Ask that young man in the parlor which he prefers for breakfast, milk rolls or Vienna bread."

DR. SCHENCK'S

Mandrake Pills have a value as a household remedy far beyond the power of language to describe. The family can hardly be true to itself that does not keep them on hand for use in emergencies.

MANDRAKE

Is the only vegetable substitute for that dangerous mineral, Mercury, and while its action is as sure, it is fully equal, it possesses none of the noxious effects.

In Constipation, Mandrake acts upon the bowels without disposing them to subsequent Costiveness.

No remedy acts so directly on the liver, nothing so speedily cures Sick Headache, Sour Stomach and Biliousness as these PILLS.

For Sale by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. per box; 3 boxes for 65 cts.; or sent by mail, postage free, on receipt of price. Dr. J. H. Schenck & Son, Philad'a.

INGALLS' MANDRAKE COMPOUND — TRADE MARK

Among the various organs of our system, none perform a more essential part than the Liver and Kidneys, and so many people are afflicted with diseases of these organs, causing the Blood to become impure, that it is our first duty to assist them in their work. This is done in a thorough manner by Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, which is purely Vegetable, and is worthy of a fair trial.

ARIZONA'S BURIED CITY.

"In to-night's lecture," said Lieut. Frank Hamilton Cushing at a special meeting of the Academy of Science, "I will detail, first, the circumstances which led up to my discovery of ancient Los Muertos, or the City of the Dead, in the Salt River valley of Arizona, and then show the relations of the characteristics of this city to those of the modern Zuni, and vice versa.

"At an early age I contracted the habit of wandering about the woods of western New York and discovering fossils, curious stones, etc., and from their resemblance to living forms I had seen I tried to formulate some theory as to their origin. These theories, I subsequently found, harmonized very wonderfully with those entertained by a whole people as a religious belief. I refer to the Zunis. I began to ponder whether there was any system observed by these people in this matter, and I was led to observe characteristics of soil and topography which accompanied the occurrence of a camp site among the Indians."

After minutely describing his course of training in this respect, and showing how, even in plowed fields, traces of former human occupation had been discovered, Professor Cushing referred to the five or six years he had lived with the Zunis, and said that the narration of his experiences and discoveries had so interested a New England lady named Mrs. Hemingway that she organized the Hemingway Southwestern Ethnological expedition to carry out the line of his explorations, and this led to the discovery of Los Muretos.

"A number of like mounds," continued the speaker, "happened to meet my gaze, and hidden away under the mesquite forest I saw unmistakable signs of an ancient Indian village. Art remains—fragments of pottery and other peculiarities precisely similar to those found in Zuni—were discovered. After several feet of excavation had been made the walls of a veritable city more than three miles in length were laid bare. From deductions made from all the surroundings I concluded that the newly discovered city was about twenty times the size of the modern Zuni. The architecture may be characterized as composed of terra cotta.

"Thirty-three blocks of houses have already been excavated. The population of Zuni being 1,600 souls, that of Los Muertos may be estimated at that about eleven centuries ago, when it was abandoned. The most interesting characteristic which proved that the city had been overwhelmed by a succession of earthquakes was that the walls opened up, as it were, as though they were on hinges at the bottom. Similar peculiarities have been observed during the recent earthquakes in Mexico.

"On account of the suddenness of the catastrophe the inhabitants had no time to remove a single article, and, therefore, all that could withstand the effect of time are scattered about as in the days of their use, such as ancient jars, mills and axes. The latter bunches, with their handles burned off, lie on the ground as they fell.

"A most interesting discovery was made," said the lecturer, "respecting the pottery in this ancient village. The water jars contained an apparently artificial break in the continuity of an ornamental band on the exterior and the food jars on the interior precisely similar to those of the Zunis, so that I am led to believe from this and other peculiarities that the inhabitants of Los Muertos were the ancestors of the Zunis. These bands, I found, while living with the latter people, were not caused accidently, and possessed a deep meaning.

"I endeavored to learn the unmanly art of making pottery, for the women always make it, and while sitting among them molding some clay, I commenced to whistle softly. The women rose in horror and exclaimed: 'Child! child!' I was amazed, but an old woman led me aside and said: 'You must never whistle or sing or make any sound that would awake an echo in the canyon while making pottery, for if you do the voice will go out while it is burning and the pottery will crack.'

"All savages, I found, believed that everything that has motion, heat or sound of itself must have life. The Zunis have observed that whenever a vessel breaks or becomes useless, in other words when it dies, it gives a loud twang, especially during the burning process, and they think a vessel is imitative like the echo. Furthermore, they think when a vessel is put on the fire that it sings, and they believe that the vague existence they give to the vessels has something to do with the good qualities of the food taken from them.

"They would not let me whistle because they believe the sound of my voice would enter the clay and break it when it was subjected to heat. These ideas give a more rational aspect to the superstitious feeling the savages bear towards their fetiches and idols.

"I supposed there were no Zuni ruins west of the center of Arizona, but here, much further in that direction than I could ever have imagined, I found this marvelous city of the dead. The Zunis consider their households as entities, and by a natural course of reasoning they have been led to believe that their household articles should take their place among their gods. The Zunis' conception of the soul is very curious. It is supposed that the priests of heredity have also by heredity power over their own souls, which enables them on great occasions to separate their souls from their bodies, and at death they do not require any ceremonial or sacrifice, like ordinary mortals."—San Francisco Examiner.

Naval Intelligence.

The secretary of the navy has selected names for the new naval vessels now in course of construction, and his choice has been approved by the president. The nineteen-knot cruiser being constructed at Philadelphia is to be called the Philadelphia, and the sister ship building at San Francisco has been named after that city. The three 1700-ton gunboats will be called the Yorktown, Bennington and Concord, and the 870-ton gunboat will be known as the Petrel.

Capt. H. B. Seeley is detached from command of the St. Louis, but continues in command of the League Island navy yard.

Comdr. Wm. Whitehead is ordered to command the St. Louis.

Lieut. Rogers H. Galt is detached from duty at the Midvale Steel Works, and ordered as inspector of steel for the new cruisers at San Francisco.

Asst. Paymaster J. D. Doyle is ordered to examination for promotion.

Second Lieut. H. C. Haines, U. S. M. C., is granted two months leave, with permission to leave the United States.

First Lieut. Samuel Mercer is ordered to command the marine guard of the Saratoga.

The New York Times is very much disturbed by Senator Chandler's abruptness in the United States senate, and warns the republican party not to be led astray by him. The republican party in general, and Hon. Wm. E. Chandler in particular, are not accustomed to look to the democratic press for rules for their guidance; and if ever they do fall into such a habit, they will probably listen to American democratic papers, and not to a mere organ of the British manufacturing interest, like the New York Times. Whatever that paper approves of and supports, it is safe for the American citizen to oppose.

It will be recollected that Gen. Butler had to answer recently in the United States circuit court in a suit brought by the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers for certain balances of funds which the general failed to pay over. A verdict for a considerable sum was found against him. But Butler does not surrender easily. Though vanquished he can argue still, and he took exceptions that the designation by Circuit Judge Colt of District Judge Carpenter of Rhode Island to hold the Circuit court term at which the case was tried, was not technically filed in the office of the clerk of the district court, and the appointment was invalid. The question was presented to Judge Colt, who has overruled the motion of Gen. Butler. The filing of the paper, or not filing it, is not in itself an act or omission which affects the validity of the proceedings. The general's point is fine, but not strong enough to deprive the Soldiers' Home of the amount of the verdict. The essence of the act requiring the services of the district judge is the determination and decision of the circuit judge in accordance with the law of the United States, and not the mode of putting the order on paper or filing it.

MATTERS IN YORK.

Miss Julia Knight of Eliot is a guest of C. B. Hildreth.

A party of young people met at the house of Mr. George Lord on the evening of the 14th to celebrate the sixteenth birthday of his youngest daughter, Nellie. Games of progressive authors were played. The style of playing the games was novel, and created much fun and merriment for the company. Crowns and dunce caps were placed upon the heads of the ladies and gentlemen who won at the head and booby tables, the gentlemen to accompany his partner in to supper. The tables were bountifully laden with cake, nuts, fruit and confectionery. After partaking the company again repaired to the parlors, where music and games filled up the evening's entertainment. The party left wishing Miss Nellie many happy returns of the occasion. SUE.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY POINT, ME., Jan 14th.

Gentlemen of the New Hampshire Gazette: An old chap would like to talk with you, through the columns of your fair dealing paper, about a thing or two that bothers his foggy old pate.

In the first place, the decalogue ought to be plain enough for any living man to understand and obey, but things are getting so awfully twisted and mixed up in this saltish kind of place that it is hard climbing aloft. If a fellow is rough shod, shows out his "cussedness" generally, knocking a man down once in a while, he is not admired; I guess not; he could not get a recommendation to peddle corn-plasters, if it depended on the vote of the town. But if he has a sweetish manner; never, never swears, and has cheek enough to hide his deficiencies and art enough to hoodwink his betters, he can compass mighty mean things—and a seat above. Talk of "throwing corn to democrats!" even that, bad as it might be, would be better than throwing half statements in such a way as to be equal to whole lies. JOTTO.

ELIOT ITEMS.

ELIOT, ME, Jan. 16th.

The Advent people have been holding a series of meetings at their chapel for the past week or so, with good apparent influence, and it is hoped they will continue.

The Eliot Library Association held their entertainment in the Methodist church at East Eliot last Tuesday evening; there was a large attendance, and the exercises were very interesting. It was a "Longfellow" evening. Dr. J. L. M. Willis read an essay from Longfellow. A reading was also given by G. E. Hammond, chairman of the musical and literary committee; a violin solo by Dr. Willis, with accompaniment by Mrs. Willis; and excellent declamations by Fitz Hugh Mathes, and Frank M. Dixon, a young man from the south part of the town, now a photographic artist in South Berwick, a graduate of the New Hampshire college, where he took the prize for declamation in 1882, were also given.

Mrs. Leander Plaisted was thrown from a sleigh last Tuesday evening and struck on her head, but fortunately escaped dangerous injury. The frightened horse broke the sleigh to pieces quite badly.

The musical and literary committee of the Library Association met at Prof. Farmer's house on Thursday evening last, to make arrangements for the entertainment to be given in the Congregational church on the evening of Jan. 24th, at which music will be furnished by the choir of St. John's church, Portsmouth, with solos by Mr. Charles Gray, the well known basso. The entertainment will undoubtedly be one of rare excellence, and will attract a large audience. J. Howard Paul piloted a company of twelve on Tuesday evening, the 30th, to the entertainment at East Eliot. We hope to see all friends of the enterprise at the next one, if the weather is favorable. HARRY.

Large flocks of screech owls have been hovering around the cornices of high buildings for some time in Columbus, Ind. An investigation was made, and it was found that the owls were catching and devouring hundreds of English sparrows. They drag them from their nests or roosting places beneath the cornices, carry them away, and devour them. Let a large bounty be at once placed on the raising of screech owls, and a heavy penalty—death or worse punishment—placed on the killing of one of the beneficent American birds.

WM. S. WILLEY, Lafayette Road.

Good Chance for Investment.

TWO parties have been in this city, one from Biddeford, Me., the other from Haverhill, Mass., to buy the Block corner of Jefferson and Water Streets, containing two stores and six tenements; but I prefer to sell it in conjunction with my other real estate, namely, House No 5 Walden Street, with Barn and Lot; House and large Barn, No. 1 Holmes Court, and Lot 130X30 feet on same Court, running down to the river. Half the purchase money can remain on interest at six per cent.

William Coombs, who has been a tenant in the Water Street Block, will be there no more.

☞ The property is offered for sale on account of my desire to close up my business here.

JOHN O'BRIEN, Cash or Trade.

Notice.

WE have now on hand and offer for sale a fine lot of Yorkshire and Chester White Shoats, weighing from 40 to 175 lbs.

NOTICE.

CITY MARSHAL'S OFFICE, Jan. 14th, 1888.

SLEDDING OR COASTING, in or on any street, machine, or any vehicle whatever, for amusement or pastime on any part of the sidewalks of the City of Portsmouth, N. H., is hereby strictly forbidden.

FURTHER, any person found throwing snowballs, ice, or any substance whatever, at passing teams or their occupants, in the streets of the city, will be dealt with according to the laws of the state in such cases made and provided.

Attention is called to Chapter 109, Laws of the State of New Hampshire, passed June session, 1883. Signed, jl6,1w JEFFERSON C. ROWE, City Marshal.

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.: "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

Florence Silk Mittens.

This engraving shows the latest style of these goods. It is published as a protection for those ladies who wish to obtain mittens well-made from genuine Florence Knitting Silk.

The pattern shown here is lined in back and wrist throughout with silk. They are perfect fitting, and in cold climates are far more comfortable than any glove, and more durable and quite as elegant and fashionable as the best of gloves.

Sold by all enterprising dealers, who can be supplied at our agency, No. 16 Summer Street, Boston. Our latest book on knitting (1887 edition) contains over 100 valuable illustrated Rules, including full instructions for this mitten. Mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in stamps.

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children was held at the headquarters of the society in Portsmouth on Monday evening, Jan. 16th.

The treasurer reported the receipts and expenditures during the year, and that the funds on hand amount to one hundred and twenty-six dollars and thirty-two cents. The accounts were audited and found to be correct.

Children abused by parents	18
" " " guardians and custodians	8
" found starving	4
" " destitute of clothing	14
" " dead in consequence of cruelty and neglect	3
" provided with homes	6
" under legal guardianship at the present time	6
" in custody of the society, no homes yet provided	2
" provided with garments by the aid of the society	6
Cases of cruelty prosecuted	4
Total	71

The report was accepted and placed on file.

The following-named gentlemen and ladies were elected officers of the society for the ensuing year:

President, Thomas E. O. Marvin;

Vice Presidents, David B. Macomb, John S. H. Frink, Alexander H. Ladd, Frank Jones, Henry E. Hovey, Mrs. Ichabod Goodwin, Mrs. C. W. Pickering, Miss E. A. Haven;

Directors, T. E. O. Marvin, James R. May, Charles E. Batchelder, Augustus W. Odiorne, Mrs. A. W. Haven, Mrs. J. J. Pickering, Miss M. R. Lyman, Miss A. F. Jenness, Miss M. A. Foster, Miss Hope Goodwin, Miss Kate M. Haven, Miss Stella C. Webster;

Secretary and Treasurer, James R. May;

Counsel, C. E. Batchelder;

Trustees of Permanent Fund, J. S. H. Frink, J. B. Sanborn, Sarah J. Pickering;

Finance Committee, A. W. Odiorne, Miss M. A. Foster.

OFFICIAL VISIT.

Damon Lodge, No. 9, Knights of Pythias, of this city, was visited on Tuesday evening by Grand Chancellor E. K. Webster of Pittsfield, Grand Vice Chancellor Herman Manson of this city, Grand Prelate O. T. Kimball of Dover, and other grand officers of the state. Supper was served at the State street club house after the official inspection.

AN EXCELLENT INSTITUTION.

One of our old and honored societies, the Portsmouth Seamen's Friend Society, is about re-opening its quarters in a permanent Home near the northerly end of Market street. Its former restaurant in State street was for years very popular, affording excellent food at reasonable prices. We remember it issued tickets, which many of us bought to give persons adrift asking for charity,—money in most of such cases being a doubtful good. The tickets were a sure passport to a good meal, and we hope the society will issue them again. The present location seems wisely chosen. It not only skirts our busiest wharves and is on the way of a good deal of trade from Kittery and Eliot, but it is in the centre of a large class of workmen who no doubt will be glad of a cup of hot coffee this cold weather. A good temperance restaurant in that part of our city cannot fail to find favor, to say nothing of clean and quiet lodging rooms. The house will be a boon to many a poor man in exigent circumstances. We understand some of our best citizens have the matter in hand. It is a good and needed enterprise, which everybody will—or should—be glad to further.

WATCHER.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

TUESDAY, Jan. 17th; Colt J.

Fairbanks, assignee, vs. Amoskeag National bank. This case, in which was a motion by the defendant for a writ of certiorari, was assigned for hearing today. Counsel for the complainant now asks for a delay until some change is made in the record of the clerk of the District court, a motion to this end having been filed in the District court. The hearing was continued to Feb. 1st.

DEATH OF WM. A. CROMWELL.

Col. William A. Cromwell, of South Berwick, Me., while out riding in Auburn, Me., on the 16th inst., was thrown from the team through the horses running away, and died in a short time, his skull being fractured. Col. Cromwell was born in this city in 1828. He was at one time postmaster of South Berwick, and held other positions of trust. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1860; was afterward chief clerk in the fourth auditor's office at Washington; was special agent of the treasury department in 1867; and for fifteen years was passenger agent of the Lake Shore & Michigan railroad. In Maine politics of late years he had been very active and influential, having served as member of the democratic state committee. In November, 1886, he was appointed deputy collector of internal revenue by Collector Redman, and was re-appointed in July, 1887, when the consolidation took place, by Collector Page of this city. Socially he was a pleasant man. He leaves a widow and one son, W. Avery Cromwell, employed on the Boston & Maine railroad.

THE SHOEMAKERS' BALL.

The Shoemakers' ball in Franklin hall on Tuesday evening was a brilliant success in every particular. The attendance was very large, the floor and galleries being thronged. The preliminary concert by the orchestra was very fine, and the dancing music excellent; and the supper, served at intermission in Mechanics' hall by Mr. C. P. Garvin, was abundant and appetizing. The floor director's badge was a representation of a lady's boot of white kid, with alligator trimmings; the assistant director's badge was similar in style, but of russet kid; and the badges of the aids were of blue leather. The dance orders, designed and printed in three colors by Mr. B. I. Walden, were the neatest and most artistic thing of the kind produced in the city this winter.

In spite of the storm on Tuesday evening a good audience assembled in Music hall, the occasion being the first recital by the pupils of Mrs. Sarah Neal Harris. The programme was gone through with in a very pleasing manner, and the entertainment was a strong endorsement of Mrs. Harris' ability as an instructor in elocution.

The second and concluding recital occurs this evening, with an entire change of exercises.

The Young People's Association of the North church will hold a literary meeting in the chapel on Middle street, Thursday evening. All the young people are cordially invited.

There was a very fair audience at Music hall on Monday evening, at the entertainment given by Tony Denier's Humpty Dumpty company. The performance was good, especially the first part, the Ashton brothers, athletes, Millis, the ventriloquist, and Revillo, the necromancer, being especially pleasing in their exercises.

Lewis E. Staples has a few more of those large size all wool Blankets at $5 per pair. They are a great bargain.

Mr. Crete Pulver, advance agent of the Daniel Boone Co., was in this city on Tuesday arranging for the giving of the show here next Tuesday evening, Jan. 24th. The company includes thirty-six actors and actresses, five horses, a donkey, and a cage of wolves and bears. The public will be pulverized by this combination.

Bank Commissioners James O. Lyford of Concord and Alonzo I. Nute of Farmington are in town making the annual examination of the Portsmouth savings banks.

The committee on dedication of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument organized on Monday evening by the choice of George E. Hodgdon as chairman, Stephen Decatur as secretary, and Wm. Ward as treasurer.

Mr. James M. Haley of this city on Tuesday assumed the duties of keeper of Whale's-back light, in place of Mr. Ellison White of Newcastle, resigned. Mr. Haley is an experienced lightkeeper, and a trustworthy man.

The double dwelling house at the foot of South Mill street, advertised for sale by auction at noon on Thursday, has one of the pleasantest locations on the river front of the city. The buildings are new and well arranged, and the sale is to be positive to the highest bidder.

Mr. Thomas E. Call of this city, recently deceased, was a member of the Strafford County Masonic Mutual Relief Association, and the amount of the relief, $746.48, was paid to his family last Saturday.

Mr. True L. Norris has assumed the editorship of the Times.

Mrs. Hovey, wife of Rev. Henry E. Hovey, rector of St. John's church, left the city on Tuesday for New York, to pass a month's visit with relatives and friends there.

Mr. John Nutter, one of our most respected elderly citizens, is reported to be seriously ill.

Mr. Alexander Fisher, formerly of this city, but for many years past a resident of Barnstable, Mass., is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Augustus F. Spinney, on Pleasant street.

A Kittery Point subscriber enquires in an injured tone why we do not defend our Kittery Point correspondent, "Aunt Molly," from the petty flings of the Point correspondent of a Biddeford paper. The explanation is easy. In the first place, we are not aware that our valued contributer of Kittery Point news needs any defence in any matter, from anybody; and secondly, we many years ago learned that there was little profit in loading a howitzer to go gunning for a sandpeep.

MARINE CHRONICLE.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH.

IN LOWER HARBOR Jan 16th.

Brschs Anita, Cleveland, and Clifton, McLane, New York for St John, N B.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

THE cakes of IVORY SOAP are so shaped that they may be used entire for general purposes, or divided with a stout thread (as illustrated) into two perfectly formed cakes for toilet use.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Lamar was confirmed as justice of the United States supreme court, Vilas as secretary of the interior, and Dickinson as postmaster general, by the senate on the 16th inst. Riddleberger, Stewart of Nevada and Stanford of California, voted for Lamar; all the other republicans voted against his confirmation.

By a double-runner accident at Haverhill, Mass., Monday evening, one person was killed and seven others badly injured, several of whom it is feared will die. The sled ran into a coal cart.

A Reprieve for the Condemned.

Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This budding hope blossoms into the fruition of certainty, if the bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspeptics who seek its aid. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnia of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with their hateful progenitor. Most beneficent of stomachics! who can wonder that in so many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, benefitted by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torments of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietors of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, malarial fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

Over 800 miles of railroad track were laid in Canada during the last six months of 1887.

"The Table Robs more than the Thief."

Sam Ralston, son of the California financier, William C. Ralston, who drowned himself many years ago, followed the paternal example and committed suicide at Georgetown, Cal., last week.

When the eyes become weak or the lids inflamed and sore, a disordered system or a scrofulous condition of the blood is indicated, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy. It invigorates and vitalizes the blood and expels all humors.

Clark's thread works in Kearney, N. J., have been shut down on account of the great strike of coal miners.

Business Chances.

If you suffer from backache, kidney troubles, sore muscles, rheumatic pains or weak lungs, apply a Hop Plaster over seat of pain. It wonderfully soothes and strengthens the parts.

Stephen Heller, the distinguished pianist and musical composer, is dead, aged seventy-five years.

For three weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. I tried some of the many catarrh remedies without any relief. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, 1st Division New York Appraisers' Office.

I was troubled with catarrh in my head to an annoying extent for three years. After using one bottle of Ely's Cream Balm I was entirely cured.—Wm. J. Cline, Victor, N. Y.

The New England Farmer is publishing a series of interesting articles on ensilage, and its present status in New England. It has also added a poultry department to its many attractive and useful features.

"Lighty, Lightly Falls the Snow,"

And with it a cold that may seem light at first, but soon a cough sets in that keeps awake nights, and worries us daytimes. Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific is the best remedy for colds, coughs and hoarseness ever put in the market. A few doses will relieve, and a continued use will cure the most obstinate cold or cough.

—Customer (in drug store): "Now you are absolutely certain, are you, that this is the genuine Karlsbad water?" New clerk: "Oh, yes indeed; and very fresh too. I compounded that very bottle this morning."

A Reprieve for the Condemned.

Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This budding hope blossoms into the fruition of certainty, if the bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspeptics who seek its aid. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnia of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with their hateful progenitor. Most beneficent of stomachics! who can wonder that in so many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, benefitted by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torments of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietors of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, malarial fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

DISTORTED MODES OF SPEECH.

"Medical Greek," "Dog Latin" and other Jargons—London Cadgers' Dialects.

It may be interesting to glance at a subject closely connected with that of artificial language—the attempts that have been made to twist existing forms of speech into such new shapes as would form a new tongue. These efforts have been exhibited chiefly by persons who were anxious to have the use of a language which only themselves and their chosen friends should be able to speak or understand.

Most famous of these distorted modes of speech is that which is variously known in England as "Medical Greek," "St. Giles' Greek" and "marrowskying." This consists of transposing all the initial consonants in a sentence, and it does, when spoken fast, give the effect of an unknown jargon. Thus in Medical Greek a mutton chop is a chutton mop, a bull dog is a dull bog, butterfly is a flutterby and so on. It is a very simple matter to acquire a great degree of facility in speaking this lingo, but very difficult to understand it readily when spoken fast. The following familiar verse, beginning "Hush, my babe, lie still and slumber," rendered into Medical Greek, will serve as a good specimen of the dialect:

Bush, by mabe, stie lill sand lumber,
Ally honegels board ay thed;
Blevenly hessings nithout wumber,
Fently jawling on by thead.

It will be observed that when a word begins with two consonants only one of them need be taken. I have also spelled phonetically those words where the ordinary rules would give a wrong sound.

The name "Medical Greek" comes from the fact that this dialect has long been in use among the medical students at the London hospitals, who find it convenient when they wish to speak to each other in the presence of a patient without his being able to understand them. It is also largely spoken by the students of the London university.

At Winchester college the students employ a form of what is known in this country as "Dog Latin." It consists of repeating the vowel of every syllable and prefixing to that vowel the letter g, accenting this additional syllable. Thus, "Can you go with me?" would be "Cagan yougou gogo wigith mege?" The Winchester boys call this the "Ziph" language, and it is probably of considerable antiquity. De Quincey learned it in his youth, and Dr. Wilkins in his work describes it as a well known device for making a conversation secret.

A less complicated jargon prevails at some of the other English schools, consisting simply of adding the syllable vis to each word. Thus, "Willvis youvis govis withvis mevis?" This resembles the "ugry igry ogry" dialect of American school girls, familiar to every one. In France, the boys add the syllable dregue in the same way: Thus, vousdregue avezdregue tortdregue for vous avez tort.

Two secret dialects are employed by the London cadgers, and only long practice can make them intelligible to one who has not been born and bred in the precinct of St. Giles. The first of these is called "Back Slang," and consists theoretically in spelling backward the principal words in a sentence. But as the orthographical notions of the average cadger are, to say the least, eccentric; and as many of the words which were originally formed in this way have been greatly altered in use, the vocabulary of a cadger is practically a new language, uncouth and unintelligible to all except his own companions. For instance, penny in back slang is yenep; a pint is tenip, namesclop means a policeman, and gennet ten shillings.

The other dialect spoken by the street vagabonds of London is known as the rhyming slang, which is described by an English writer thus: "The substitution of words and sentence which rhyme with other words intended to be kept secret. It transforms into a rough speech the various odds and ends of old songs, ballads and street nicknames which are suitable to the purpose." The same author gives a list of examples. Thus frog and toad means "the road;" finger and thumb means "rum;" cat and mouse "a house," and I'm afloat "a boat."

Back slang plays an important part in the lower forms of French argot, in the peculiar slang spoken by Spanish thieves and called germania; in the German rothwelsch and in the Italian furbesco. In fact the author of a slang dictionary, published in London in 1864, shows that the same principle runs through the jargon of the Bazeegars, or wandering jugglers in Hindustan, and cites a number of interesting examples to prove it.—H. T. Peck, Ph. D., in Home Journal.

Engineers' Paralysis.

"It's a strange fact, but nevertheless true," said a railroad engineer to me as we were whirling over the track between Lake Elmo and St. Paul, "that more engineers have been paralyzed during the past year than in any year since railroads were first started. There's a train that runs from St. Paul to Stillwater, on the Omaha, that we call the hospital train, for every man that runs with it has either had a stroke of paralysis or has been injured in some way or other. A scientist stated that the paralytic strokes were due in a manner to the rapidity with which the trains run nowadays, the constant motion and nervous strain breaking a man down."—Pioneer Press.

Main Field of Education.

A physician declares that our educational systems overlook the fact that the main field of education is the nervous system. A comprehensive system of physical education is necessary for the development of latent power, so that thought, desire and will shall take the form of action.—Chicago Times.

New Hampshire Insurance Company.

The eighteenth annual statement of this popular company strengthens the claim to its frequent synonym, "sound, solid and successful."

An insurance company that pursues its yearly course and performs its daily duties by correct and safe methods, sound and scientific principles, pays it losses promptly and fairly, and escapes the usual shipwrecks peculiar to the hazardous nature of the business, is entitled to confidence, words of commendation and liberal patronage.

Its eighteen years of honorable record has brought increasing strength each consecutive year and ability to render to the property owners greater security and usefulness.

The past year has been marked with great success, and another substantial block added to the company's pyramid, notwithstanding the numerous sweeping fires.

The report shows $1,269,088 39, total cash assets, of which $504,344.36 is set aside as liabilities, or to meet expected losses on policies in force, and $500,000 capital stock.

The total receipts for 1887 were $705,-768 98, and the total disbursements $607,-288 19, showing that the superior financial management has maintained the progressive march of the company.

The directors have wisely paid dividends only from receipts for interest, so that all receipts from premiums, above losses and expenses, are held intact for the protection of the policy holders and to strengthen the company.

During the eighteen years, with no change of management, the company has paid six thousand six hundred and eighty-four fire losses, amounting to the fabulous sum of $2,667,150, an average of less than four hundred dollars for each loss.

Economy and prudence have been distinctive features, the salaries paid being less than five per cent of the premiums. These figures indicate more forcibly than mere words that the company has the ability and disposition to honorably meet its contracts, and do a safe, prudent business, creditable to the city and state.

These things said, it would be superfluous to bestow compliments upon the company's management. Such results do not merely happen; they are wrought out by skill and diligence, by toil of brain and hand, and the bare record of them is the highest praise that can be given to the faithful workers.

Among the successful and stirring corporations that characterize New England, the New Hampshire Fire Insurance company stands outs boldly and securely, like the "Old Man of the Mountain," and solicits risks on productive non-hazardous property, at reasonable rates, through local agents. The same well known officers and directors manage the affairs of the corporation, namely: Ex-Gov. J. A. Weston, president; Hon. S. N. Bell, vice president; Geo. B. Chandler, treasurer; John C. French, secretary; W. H. Berry, assistant treasurer.

Mr. Charles A. Hazlett has been agent of the company in this city from its start, and has written policies to the amount of hundreds of thousands of dollars, to the entire satisfaction of the assured.

A Whilizig Jail.

The contract for the new county jail in Dover has been awarded to the Pauly Jail Building & Manufacturing company of St. Louis, Mo.; price, $26,000. It will be rotary, of iron, two tiers of ten cells each; in the rotary part accommodations for forty prisoners; in the jailer's quarters four iron cells, with accommodations for four prisoners in each cell. It will be impossible for any jail breaker to escape from the rotary part, as it can be kept all the time rotating by water power. The contract provides that the jail shall be finished by September 1st, 1888. There is only one other jail of the kind in New England, at Burlington, Vt.

Speaker Carlisle was seized with a congestive chill while at dinner on the 17th inst., and his condition caused some alarm. The trouble was undoubtedly due to overwork in arranging the committees of the house, which is a most exhausting and perplexing job, in view of the many conflicting interests and the numerous applicants for places. It is earnestly to be hoped that his indisposition will be only temporary.

The Chicago board of trade has again called upon Congress to retaliate against France and Germany for their exclusion of American pork by prohibiting the importation of some of the products of the two countries. It is an unfavorable year to secure such a retaliatory measure, as Chicago and the other western cities ask for. The administration is a democratic one.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

"MUSIC" AND GOOD FELLOWSHIP.

Joseph A. Randall, a member and ex-foreman of Col. Sise Fire Engine Co., No. 2, having recently assumed matrimonial honors was on Wednesday evening of this week visited at his home on Mulberry street by the entire company, each member being armed and equipped with such musical instrument as he considered himself best qualified to contend with. The proceedings opened with a concert in which, while each performer sought to outdo all the rest in vigor, there was such a marked discrepancy of time and tune as would have detracted from its enjoyment by a finished musical critic. Following this touching testimonial of esteem, the firemen entered the house, and Foreman Willard M. Gray, on behalf of the company, presented the newly married couple with a handsome silver tea service, with the best wishes of the company for their long continued prosperity and happiness. Mr. Randall responded very neatly, and the visitors then sat down to an oyster supper which had been provided in anticipation of their call, although their "music" and their very handsome gift were unexpected features of the occasion so far as Mr. Randall and wife were concerned.

DID PRETTY WELL.

At the exhibit of poultry, fancy birds and pet stock in Phenix hall, on Concord, last week, Mr. Albert E. Grover of South street, this city, had on exhibition twenty-five pigeons of various breeds, also rabbits and Guinea pigs, and took prizes as follows:

Pigeons: 1st prize on Ring Doves; on Silver Pouters; and on pair of White Carriers; 2d prize, on Yellow Faus, and on Red Tumblers.

Rabbits: 1st prize on pair of Lockears; on pair of Angoras; and on pair of Himalayans; special prize for best exhibit of rabbits of all breeds.

Seven first prizes, three second prizes, and a special prize for the best general exhibit, is a pretty good showing.

When taking the cars in Concord for home, Mr. Grover let loose the pair of carrier pigeons which had received the 1st prize in their class; and on arriving home the birds were found there all right, and all ready for a trifle of something in the line of refreshments. This tends to prove that carrier pigeons can beat the average time of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad trains between Concord and this city, without hurting themselves.

PORTSMOUTH FIRE ASSOCIATION.

At the annual meeting of the Portsmouth Fire association, held in this city on the 18th inst., Frank Jones was elected president, John W. Sanborn vice president, Alfred F. Howard secretary, and Justin V. Hanscom treasurer.

MATRIMONIAL.

The Charles River Baptist church in Charlestown, Mass., was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Thursday evening, Jan. 12th, the contracting parties being Herbert E. Smith of Plymouth, Florida, formerly of Jamaica Plain, Mass., and Miss Ida Bertina Tobey, daughter of Mr. Samuel A. Tobey of Charlestown, formerly of South Eliot, Me. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Richmond, pastor of the church, in presence of a company that filled the edifice. The bridesmaids were Miss Hattie Nowell and Miss Aletta S. Langton; the ushers were J. S. Trowbridge and H. C. Brown of Winchester, Mass., and E. J. Mosman and F. E. Nason of Jamaica Plain. The bride was attired in a very pretty suit of cream colored cashmere, trimmed with lace and ribbons. After the ceremony a short informal reception was held in the church vestry, after which the couple left for Plymouth, Fla., where the groom is engaged in business, and where the newly wedded pair will make their home. Some very costly and beautiful presents were bestowed, including a silver service from the bride's associates in the house of H. C. Sleeper & Co. of Boston, where she has been employed as assistant bookkeeper; a Singer sewing machine; a very fine French clock; two silver fruit baskets, silver cake baskets, dozen solid silver tea spoons, dessert spoons, pickle dishes, nutpicks and crackers, and many other useful and handsome gifts.

Persons looking for desirable investments in real estate should not forget the auction sale at noon to-day, on the premises, foot of South Mill street, of the new one and one-half story cottage house, fitted for two tenements, occupying that pleasant and sightly location.

We acknowledge the courtesy of an invitation from Mr. C. B. Amazeen, formerly of this city but now of Washington, D. C., to attend, with ladies, the first grand ball and reception of the Washington Merchants' Rifles, Co. D, 3d Batallion Dist. Columbia National Guard, given on Wednesday evening, the 18th inst., in Grand Army hall at Washington. Had we been there that evening we should certainly have attended the reception; but as owing to some blunder the voters of this region have failed to elect us congressman, or United States senator, or something, we were unavoidably absent from the capital on that occasion.

This evening, at Music hall, the Keep It Dark Co. will present their three-act musical comedy written by George Hoey, and which from the press reports we are satisfied is full of fun from beginning to end. The play is full of mirth-provoking situations, and treats of the troubles of the inventor of a liver-pad, an ex-magician and a giddy masher in their endeavors to win the heart of an actress. Tickets at Goodrich's.

John H. Canney, the "Pirate of the Piscataqua," was taken before Police Justice Tufts of Dover, Jan. 16th, for discharging firearms in the compact part of the city. Sixteen witnesses appeared to testify that the fellow is a nuisance on general principles, and though he begged on his knees not to be sent to jail, and for a chance to rid the city of his presence, the magistrate gave him a fine and costs amounting to $19.76, with jail in default of payment; also ordered him to give bonds in $200 to keep the peace for one year. The pork barrels, corn, wheelbarrows and oars of the Eliot and Dover point farmers will be safe for a time, so far as the famous pirate is concerned.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Dover Horse Railroad Co. was held on the evening of the 16th inst. Mrs. Mary E. G. Dow was elected on the board of directors, and was afterward unanimously elected president by the board; her husband, Henry Dow, was elected treasurer, and Thomas J. Smith clerk.

Grand clearance sale of dress goods at Lewis E. Staples.' Greatly reduced prices for two weeks. Remnants marked way down.

Alaskan Indian Women.

There is one prerogative of the Alaskan Indian women that I must not fail to note as showing their perfect equality with the men. Every one knows how common a vice polygamy is among savages (a theme on which many moral writers dwell, and throws stones without stopping to observe the large amount of Mormon glass in our own national conservatory), and in this lack of morality the Alaskans are fully up to the average savage standard; but it is not confined wholly to plural wives; occasionally some long, forsaken female rises in the majesty of her right and marries a couple of husbands, so as not to be behind the fashionable follies of her tribe. —Lieut. Frederick Schwatka in Demorest's Monthly.

Ex-Secretary Holcomb, of the American legation at Pekin, says that out of the 400,000,000 inhabitants of the Chinese empire fully 3,000,000 spend less than $1.50 a month for food.

The Feet in Cold Weather.

Sit before retiring for the night with the feet in as hot water as can be borne. Try putting the feet in a little at a time and taking out, then trying it a little longer again and again, till you will be surprised how hot you can bear it. Sit for a time, say for ten or fifteen minutes, or longer if you choose, when your feet will be very red and look almost parboiled. Then take a crash towel and dry thoroughly. Heat before the fire till perfectly dry, then draw on a pair of clean hose and go to bed. You will be surprised to see how warm your feet will be all next day. I do not advocate wearing hose at night only after such a footbath. A few such baths will give you warm feet all winter; it brings the blood to the feet, the lack of which makes them cold.—Detroit Free Press.

DIED.

BROWN. In this city, Jan. 17th, Mrs. Mehitable B. Brown, aged 58 years.

PORT OF PORTSMOUTH

Schs Charles E Balch and Charles F Tuttle, from this port arr at New York 17th.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW F. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

Good Chance for Investment.
TWO parties have been in this city, one from Biddeford, Me., the other from Haverhill, Mass., to buy the Block corner of Jefferson and Water Streets, containing two stores and six tenements; but I prefer to sell it in conjunction with my other real estate, namely, House No 5 Walden Street, with Barn and Lot; House and large Barn, No. 1 Holmes Court, and Lot 130X90 feet on same Court, running down to the river. Half the purchase money can remain on lot, rent at six per cent.

William Coombs, who has been a tenant in the Water Street Block, will be there no more.

☞ The property is offered for sale on account of my desire to close up my business here.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREAT

German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells depend on SULPHUR BITTERS and they will cure you.

Do you suffer with that tired and all gone feeling; if so, use SULPHUR BITTERS; it will cure you.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and work shops; clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

If you do not wish to suffer from Biliousness, Dyspepsia, use a bottle of SULPHUR BITTERS; it never fails to cure.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

SULPHUR BITTERS will make your blood pure, rich and strong, and your flesh hard.

Try SULPHUR BITTERS to-night, and you will sleep well and feel better for it.

PENNYROYAL PILLS

"CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH."

The Original and Only Genuine.

Safe and always reliable. Beware of worthless imitations. Indispensable to LADIES. Ask your Druggist for "Chichester's English" and take no other, or inclose 4c. (stamps) to us for particulars in letter by return mail. NAME PAPER. Chichester Chemical Co., 2211 Madison Square, Philada., Pa.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. Ask for "Chichester's English" Pennyroyal Pills.

Many London ladies crop their hair short and wear an almost entire wig, and consequently catch cold more frequently than their American cousins, but of course they all use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

C. E. Young, confidential book-keeper of the Michigan Carbon works, Detroit, and later the secretary and treasurer, is under arrest charged with embezzling $50,000. His stealings extend over three years. He has been living at a fast rate.

Business Chances.

If you suffer from backache, kidney troubles, sore muscles, rheumatic pains or weak lungs, apply a Hop Plaster over seat of pain. It wonderfully soothes and strengthens the parts.

Ship T. J. Berry, Watts master, of Thomaston, Me., has been abandoned at sea, off Australia. Fourteen persons are known to have been saved, but one boat, with eleven men, is missing.

Both branches of the legislature of Washington territory have re-enacted the woman suffrage law, but exempted women from jury duty.

"My Son is a Son 'till He gets Him a Wife, but my Daughter is my Daughter all the days of Her Life."

Both my son and my daughter took Little Hop Pills regularly. It regulates the bowels and always cures sick or bilious headache, indigestion and kindred ills. All druggists, 25 cents, or mail stamps to Hop Co., New London, Conn.

The U. S. S. Enterprise sailed from New York on the 17th inst. for Boston, with prisoners from the Brooklyn navy yard to be confined in the new general prison at the Boston navy yard. After delivering the prisoners, she will sail for Gibraltar, to supply the vessels of the European squadron with ammunition, and then continue on a three years' voyage around the world.

Those persons who do not need Iron, but who are troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Try them.

Now comes the chamber of commerce of Boston, to complain of the delay in the delivery of postal matter, on account of the inadequate force employed. Mr. Vilas is a first-class politician, but he knows very little about the mail service and the needs of the public.

Ayer's Hair Vigor improves the beauty of the hair and promotes its growth. It prevents the accumulation of dandruff, cleanses the scalp, and restores a natural color to gray hair. Have you received Ayer's Almanac for the new year?

The body of the man who was killed by a train at Kennebunk on the 14th inst. has been identified as that of John McMeanamin of Portland.

I am subject to sudden colds, followed by hard coughs, for which I use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and find it the best remedy. We always have it in the house, and would as soon be without flour as the Balsam. A. Dunklee, Postmaster, West Brattleboro', Vt.

Richard K. Fox, the prize-fight editor, began his journalistic career on a religious paper. He is now an authority on slugging, and said to be worth $500,000. This illustrates the advantages of starting in life with a religious training.

It is denied that Russia contemplates disarming. Such a denial is superfluous.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

—A young lady received a special-delivery letter. The messenger handed her the book to sign for it. She took the book, and, instead of writing her signature, she wrote: "Dear John: Glad to hear from you. Come up Sunday night." She had answered the letter.

THE FATAL LETTER.

From the Diary of INSPECTOR BARNES.

BY

JULIAN HAWTHORNE.

[Copyrighted, 1888, by O. M. Dunham]

Winter is the best time for stealing; property is then heaped together in greater masses than at other seasons, and its owners sleep more soundly. Besides, a thief can manage to pull through the summer somehow, but in winter he must life in the city, and to do that money is indispensable.

But the police are as active as the criminals, and the battle between the two is fought uninterruptedly from November till March. The courts are kept busy, and the jails are well stocked; crime is scorched, but not killed. That old serpent dies hard, and is always thrusting up its ugly head in a new place. On Fifth avenue the sidewalks had been cleaned and the snow piled up in the roadway, affording fair sleighing for the graceful cutters that speeded up and down the stately thoroughfare. The people on the sidewalks were well and warmly clad, and altogether the spectacle had a certain brightness and cheerful vivacity. As night came on and the street lamps were lighted, the sleighs, with their jingling bells, disappeared, and only a few belated pedestrians hurried along the pavements.

When we first see him, he has just passed the Brunswick Hotel, and, hurrying on the east side of the avenue, is walking northwards. His gait is swift and vigorous, betokening a powerful and healthy physical organization, and a concentrated and capable mind. He is evidently bounded on some affair of importance; indeed, when we contemplate the expression of his strong, ruddy, well-moulded face, we are inclined to hazard the opinion that only affairs of importance ever engage his attention.

He leaves behind him as he goes the fragrance of an excellent cigar. A thick overcoat is buttoned across his broad chest, a round-crowned hat is on his head, and his hands are encased in warm gloves. His eyes, without being restless, are at once penetrating and comprehensive in their glance, and take in quietly and easily everything that lies within their range. He is a man whose wits are always about him. He has the air of good society, and yet there is something about him that distinguishes him from the ordinary "society man." We feel that he must have raised himself in some way above the common level, that his name, if we knew it, is one with which we should be familiar. Who is he?

On a street corner a few blocks above the hotel was standing a tall gentleman, somewhat past the prime of life, but of upright and military bearing, and wearing a long sweeping moustache, slightly tinged with gray. His dark eyes and aquiline nose gave his countenance an aristocratic look. He seemed to be exploring his pockets for something, but, as the pedestrian approached, he stepped up to him and said courteously:

"May I trouble you, sir, for a light for my cigar?"

The other halted, took his cigar from his mouth, and handed it to the speaker with a bow. When the latter handed it back with a "Thank you!" he remarked, "It's cold evening," and passed on. Little did either imagine how soon and how strangely fate was to bring them together again.

The image of the military-looking gentleman passed into the other's memory, and remained there, never, so far as he knew, to be recalled. Continuing his brisk walk, he drew near one of the large club houses that decorate the avenue, just as a couple of men descended the steps arm in arm. One of them—a portly personage with a broad red beard—he recognized, and exchanged a silent salute with him; the other, a younger and slenderly built man, with small side-whiskers and a handsomely cut mouth, was a stranger to him. "That's a clever fellow," he said to himself, as he strode onward. "I wouldn't like to have any woman I had a respect for get in his way!"

In a few minutes more he turned down a side street, ran up the steps of a handsome house a short distance from the corner, and pulled the bell. The door was opened, he tossed away his cigar and entered.

"Mr. Owens is at home?"

"He is, sir. Will you walk into the library?"

The visitor followed the girl down the wide and handsome hall, and passing through a door on the left found himself in a large room, the walls of which were lined with bookshelves to a height of five feet from the floor. Nothing in the room could have been exactly duplicated. It was the whim of the owner to render his library and contents incomparable, and he had the means and resources to carry out his whim.

When the visitor entered the room, it was empty. The fire of cedar logs burned brightly on the hearth, whose polished surface reflected its light. The visitor advanced to the fireplace, and stood there, drawing off his gloves and examining the curious workmanship of a bronze work that rested on the mantelpiece, when the sound of a step on the polished floor made him turn, and he saw the master of the house advancing towards him.

"Glad to see you, Inspector Byrnes."

"How do you do, Mr. Owens?"

Mr. Owens was evidently doing tolerably well. He was at this period a man of about thirty-five years of age, with a handsome, intellectual countenance, clean-shaven mouth and chin, light brown hair, thinning out on his high temples, and a figure and bearing that indicated clean living and high breeding. Courtland Owens was the descendant of several generations of American gentlemen; he and his forefathers had been brought up to wealth, and had taught themselves how to make a graceful and fitting use of it. But, with the instinct of all genuine Americans, none of them had been idle men. They had followed, some one avocation, some another; they had been merchants, statesmen, diplomats, bankers, directors of great industrial enterprises; all the higher offices of citizenship had been filled by them with credit and capacity. As for the present inheritor of the name, he was first of all, by training and temperament, a student and a connoisseur; but he had also entered into the active life of his day, and had been for nearly ten years past the partner and personal friend of one of the greatest financiers of the epoch. Never were two men more unlike than the two members of this famous firm in every external appearance and characteristic; and yet the bond between them was much closer and more cordial than exists between many men far more as one in general sympathies.

"I have something I need your advice upon, inspector," Mr. Owens remarked. "Take off your overcoat and sit down. I shan't let you go in five minutes, nor perhaps in half as many hours. So you might as well make yourself at home."

The chief of the New York detectives, with the cheerful composure that belonged to him, removed his thick topcoat and seated himself near the hearth. Courtland Owens drew up a chair in proximity to his, and also within reach of a small inlaid table, containing a drawer fitted with a polished brass lock.

"We are in trouble," began Mr. Owens; "at least I am, on Golding's account."

"Golding—your partner! Why, what can be the matter with him?" The inspector spoke with a certain sense of amazement; for Maxwell Golding, the man of mines, railroads and telegraphs, whose riches were incalculable and whose work in all enterprises was proverbial, seemed to the popular apprehension inaccessible to all troubles, save such as might fall within the domain of the physician or, perhaps, the clergyman. But as the inspector glanced at his host's face, its serious expression apprized him that the matter could not be a light one, and he settled himself to listen to its unfolding with becoming gravity. This thrilling detective story, which is founded on facts, furnished by Inspector Byrnes, the most famous detective in the world, will be continued in the Boston Daily Globe next Monday, Jan. 23d, and every week-day until completed. As there will be a tremendous demand for the Globe while the story runs, you should be sure and order it in advance of your dealers.

THE OLD SQUIRREL RIFLE.

The Ancient Arm of a Kentucky Hunter. Loading a Flint Lock Gun.

I will describe the genuine ancient Kentucky squirrel rifle, sketches of which I have in my possession, made from the best models.

The barrel is four feet long and nearly an inch in diameter, while the bore is but little larger than a common round lead pencil; just great enough, in other words, to take into it a round leaden bullet of about one-tenth of an ounce avoirdupois in weight. The stock is of curly maple, elaborately carved out of a single piece of wood, and extends from the semi-circular brass heel plate to the brass half ring of mounting under the fore tip of the barrel. What is called the "drop," or bend of the breech, is very slight as compared with the fashion of the latest guns; indeed, some of the old guns have almost straight stocks and most of them have a grease pot either opening in the heel plate or in the left side of the stock near that plate. The trigger guard is of brass and beautifully curved, while the thimbles for the ramrod are placed under the barrel stock, in which is a semi-circular longitudinal groove that becomes a round hole in the wood of the lower part of the stock. The lock is the best model of flint and steel mechanism, elaborately carved and perfectly fitted into the right side of the stock near the lower extremity of the barrel. The trigger is double, the posterior one setting by a hair spring arrangement, and regulated by an intermediate screw, the forward one at the least touch releasing the hammer that bears the flint, which in turn strikes open the steel pan and drops its spark into the priming. In the under part of the stock, just behind the guard, is a tiny hole into which is thrust a small quill, probably a primary quill of the golden winged woodpecker. This feather is used to put into the "touch-hole" to prevent the powder from running out during the process of loading.

The ammunition for this gun is the finest Kentucky powder, leaden bullets molded by hand and some strong, thin white cotton shirting for "patching." The bullets are carried in a pouch, the powder in a finely carved horn, and the charge is measured in a boar's tooth charger.

To load the gun, put the feather in the touch hole at the pan, pour in a boar's toothful of powder at the muzzle and then, unrolling the patching cloth over the mouth of the bore, lay on a bullet and press it down even with the rim of the barrel, cut of the cloth as close to the lead as possible, and with the ramrod push the missile home to its bed on the powder. Put the ramrod back in the thimbles, take out the feather and fill the pan with powder for priming; close the pan and your rifle is loaded.—Maurice Thompson.

The Man Milliners of France.

If ladies are invading the trades and professions which they could not before equal rights were thought of, the men are avenging themselves. Most of the French hatters now work for both sexes, and their shop windows vie with those of the modistes in exhibition of trimmed hats, smart, neat, stylish, and, in short, tempting as they can be. A hatter said to me: "I would not venture to make up flowers and flimsy stuffs into hats and bonnets. A woman's fancy and light fingers are wanted for that. But I don't fear competing with no matter what milliner when the trimmings are rich and solid. We keep an artist, who has had medals in the Salon, to design hats trimmed as you see them." High art is running into the channels into which it flowed in the Eighteenth century, and which were left dry from the time of the revolution up to a few years ago. The impetus was given by the Universal exhibition, and, must I say it, the corruption of the French theatre, as well as the necessity under which managers found themselves of pleasing the eyes of gilded "rastouquoueres," ignorant of French, and wishing to show their womenkind what Parisian style in dress was.—Paris Letter.

Unless You Have the Gift.

To the question, how to write, I should say don't write at all, unless you are sure you have the gift, which is God given, born with you, and can no more be made to order than can a taste for music when one has no ear for it. Don't think you can write because you are fond of reading stories and devour everything which comes in your way, or because you think yourself as capable as your friend, who has achieved a success you fain would emulate. You must have the ideal world in you and about you. You must early be familiar with the imaginary people who are to make real, and who, if you are real yourself, will come to you sleeping and waking, at day dawn and sunset, and laying their shadowy hands on yours will hold you fast until you tingle to your finger tips and can no more keep from writing than the bird can keep from singing when the dew is on the grass and the morning is at its freshest. If you have never experienced this glow of enthusiasm, if you have no imagination and are taking up writing as you would any other business, because you think it will pay, or you want fame and money, don't try to write, for if you do it will be stilted and unnatural.—Mary J. Holmes in New York Mail and Express.

Sawdust by the Bale.

Baled sawdust is the latest output of the saw mills of Maine. It is put up in neat half cord packages covered with burlaps. A powerful hydraulic press is used to press the packages, and the entire supply is shipped to Boston, where it is used by the street car companies for bedding for horses. A portion of it is used for packing. The cost of transportation is reduced about one-half by the bailing process. I expect to see the sawdust of all the mills in the northwestern lumber district utilized in this way before long. —Globe-Democrat.

The Only Remedy

FOR

Contagious Blood Poison.

Mr. D. B. Adams, Union, South Carolina, writes: "I was afflicted with a terrible case of blood poison for about thirteen months. I was treated by the best physicians, and used various kinds of remedies, but received no substantial relief. I finally tried the Swift Specific, and about four bottles cured me sound and well."

Col. H. Kleser, editor and proprietor of the Opelika, Ala., Times, under date of August 5, 1887, writes: "When I was a young man, through indiscretion, I contracted a disease which has stuck to me for years. Some five or six years since I was troubled with pains, so as to make it difficult for me to walk. Having advertised the S. S. S. in my paper for several years, I concluded I would try it to see if there was any efficacy in the medicine. I commenced using it according to directions and used half dozen bottles, when I was on a way station, and, getting left, I walked the seven miles and have never felt any return of the old malady. After experiencing the good effects I must say I am satisfied with the result. I am sixty eight years of age and I feel now like a young man and can go to the store when necessary without get up from six to eight thousand cms without any inconvenience. I send you this without solicitation.

Mr. F. Woehl, 211 Noble Avenue, Chicago, under date of June 12, 1887, writes: "I deem it my duty to thank you for the cure I received from your excellent medicine. I contracted a very severe case of blood poisoning about two years ago. Hearing of your medicine, I went to a drug store, the proprietor of which persuaded me to buy a preparation of his own, which he said was a sure cure. I used six bottles of his stuff and grew worse all the time. At last I got disgusted and despaired of a cure. I met a friend who told me that your medicine had cured him. I went to the same druggist again and demanded your medicine. He reluctantly sold me twelve bottles, and I am now perfectly cured. I write this for the benefit of sufferers, to prevent their being deceived by false representations. I think you again for the benefit derived from your medicine."

Dr. J. N. Cheney, a prominent physician, residing in Ellaville, Schley County, Georgia, in a letter recounting the marvellous success he has in curing contagious blood poison cases in his extensive practice, writes: "Those who know the almost inevitable, permanently disastrous effects of mercury will welcome your discovery of S. S. S. as a boon to humanity. The medical profession, always wary of proprietary medicines, is coming slowly, and in some cases secretly, to the use of S. S. S. in cases of blood disorder. Of course a medicine that cures poisoning in its worst form must prove the blood of every disorder."

BILIOUSNESS.

This very common complaint, which is caused by a dormant or inactive liver, can be cured in a short time by using Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, as can also the various diseases arising from inactive liver or kidneys. These organs, if inactive, will allow impure blood to enter the heart, causing tightness about that organ and palpitation.

She suffered thirty years.

Mrs. Dudley Chandler, of Melrose, Mass., says: "I had suffered with Palpitation of the Heart more than thirty years before I found anything to give me essential relief. Last fall I tried Ingalls' Mandrake Compound, and, remarkable as it was, this Compound relieved me in two days, so that for several months afterwards I felt not the slightest touch of it, and am perfectly free from it now. Sometimes, before I took this Compound, the pulsations of my heart were so violent as to shake my whole body with rapid agitations, and at times I fainted and became entirely insensible. Now I am perfectly free from all this suffering. Consequently I can most sincerely and earnestly recommend this Compound to all like sufferers, as pre-eminently the best medicine I ever knew for Palpitation of the Heart."

Ingalls' Mandrake Compound is sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles for $5. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

A Reprieve for the Condemned.

Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This budding hope blossoms into the fruition of certainty, if the bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspeptics who seek its aid. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnia of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with their hateful progenitor. Most beneficent of stomachics! who can wonder that in so many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, benefitted by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torments of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietors of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, malarial fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

By a little clerical error about a quarter of a century ago, the Forty-first Regiment of Kentucky volunteers in the union army failed to be mustered out of service, and the survivors now claim back pay for the twenty-three years they have been on the muster rolls since the rest of the war closed. The regiment was recruited at Covington, Ky., and the veterans met the other day, and decided to forward their claims to Washington. Each man wants $3588.

A Second Tour Through Mexico.

There could not possibly be a more comfortable or delightful way of seeing Mexico than the enterprising firm of excursion managers, Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb, have provided. One tourist party recently started from Boston, and the second and last will leave the East on Monday, March 12th. The second tour will occupy forty-seven days, and will include the Southern States and Mexico. The journey will be made in the magnificent train of vestibuled cars recently constructed expressly for the service of the firm by the Pullman company. This is the finest train ever seen on any railroad, and its many comforts and luxuries will find appreciation in such a trip. A special time schedule will enable the party to visit many out-of-the-way points, and to see much that ordinary tourists miss altogether. The route to be travelled south of the Rio Grande comprises over 3,000 miles, and the leading cities on three different lines of railway will be visited. The Mexican Central Railway will be traversed for its entire length. In brief, this is one of the grandest excursions Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb have ever planned. The number of passengers will be limited. In addition to the Mexico tour there will be several more excursions to the Pacific coast in February and March. W. Raymond, 296 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston, will be happy to suppy descriptive circulars. There are to be two excursions to Washington in March—on the 9th and 30th.

Boston Museum.

The grand scenic production of the season, "The Bells of Haselmere," from the Adelphi, London, where it succeeded the famous "Harbor Lights," and where it has been running to enormous business since July last, will take place next month. Mr. William Sidney, of the Adelphi Theatre, who directed the preparations for the Boston Museum's grand production of "Harbor Lights," sailed from Liverpool on the 14th inst., for the purpose of co-operating again with Mr. Seymour, who is already giving much time and attention to the novel and very extensive details of "The Bells of Haselmere," on this its first production in the United States.

Washington advices say the progress of the work in the ordnance department of the Washington navy yard,—or what once was the Washington navy yard,—has been anything but favorable of late. Bosses have been appointed in the department without any regard to experience or fitness, simply because of their former or present political usefulness. There is no end to the blunders and delay occurring since these men have been in control. Thousands of dollars have been lost by their mistakes, which would never have occurred had competent men been appointed. The new ten-inch gun, which is still delayed in the shop, is a striking example of the loss of time and money due to their ignorence and incompetence. The delay is due to the fact that the breech plug is stuck in the gun. Men have been trying to remove the plug for weeks, and thousands of dollars have already been spent on their blunders. Reformer Whitney's appointees in the gun foundry are very generally good workmen, but in the line of wire-pulling only, knowing nothing of mechanical affairs.

A boy and girl, evidently a brother and sister, aged about twelve and sixteen years, were found recently by a Chicago person near Burlington, Iowa, a few days ago. Their bodies were found in the Mississippi river, lashed hand and foot to a floating log, and without clothing. The boy's head was crushed in.

A Strange Disease.

In no physiological phenomena is the influence of the nerves upon the body shown so forcibly as in the case of homesickness, which, when prolonged and intensified, becomes a mortal disease. The melancholy of the nature which loves home and despairs of again seeing it preys upon the nervous system till it is wrought into a state of abnormal excitement which presents distinct physical symptoms. Respiration presently becomes labored, and is more like sighing than breathing; the face wears the pallor of a corpse already; the heart beats with the swiftness of great debility; there is no appetite, there is no sleep; secretions become irregular, and congestion a matter of course: the sight becomes dim, fever sets in, and either sudden death closes the scene, or the exhaustion of the fever carries off the patient after prolonged suffering.

There is no cure for this terrible illness, after it is strongly established, but return to the native country, and sometimes that cure is undertaken too late. It attacks mountaineers, singularly enough, more frequently than any other class of people, and the only preventive against it is the presence of some other equally strong emotion with the love of home, or some absorbing occupation which leaves one no time to think, and hardly to feel. Perfectly sane though the patient be, he has all the impediments of insanity in an effort for recovery, and is as pitiable as any victim in the records of suffering.—Harper's Bazar.

A Railroad in the Arctic Circle.

The Swedish and Norwegian railroad, which is now building from Lulea, on the Gulf of Bothnia, to Lafoden, on the North sea, is partly situated within the arctic circle. 1,200 miles farther north than any railroad in Canada. The winter has not, however, been found too severe by the English employes and their wives, and the snowfall is less than in some more southern latitudes, while the darkness of the long winter nights is partly compensated by the lights of the aurora. The line is being built by an English company in order to tap the enormous deposits of iron ore in the Gellivare mountains. It is feared that the ore in the Bilboa district is nearly exhausted, and as this is the main source of supply for many steel works in the United States and Europe, a new field of non-phosphoric ore suitable for steel rail making is very desirable. A considerable demand exists already for the Gellivare ore, and hydraulic machinery, capable of delivering on board ship 10,000 tons of ore in twenty-four hours, is being installed on the company's wharf at Lulea. The engines and cars used have been built in England. The former have eight coupled wheels, and weigh 127,000 pounds in working order. The ore cars are made of steel throughout, and are 50,000 pounds capacity.—Railroad Gazette.

Talking on the Street.

A man who claims to have tried it time and again says that if you pass two or more men talking on the street, and listen for a chance word as you go by, that word will be "dollars," or "money," or some word of a kindred signification. He has found it so in nine cases out of ten.—Philadelphia Times.

Don't Wait

Until your hair becomes dry, thin, and gray before giving the attention needed to preserve its beauty and vitality. Keep on your toilet-table a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor—the only dressing you require for the hair—and use a little, daily, to preserve the natural color and prevent baldness.

Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. I recommend your preparation as the best hair-restorer in the world."

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delavan, Ill.; "but after using a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy."

Prices: 35, 50 and 75 cents. Seats on sale at Goodrich's, Saturday, Jan. 21st.

The Biddeford Journal relates the following story, as told by two prominent professional gentlemen of Portland who on a recent trip to Boston over the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine road had their attention attracted by a drunken man on the train: "Just beyond Greenland the drunken fellow left the car to go into the one ahead, and the next instant he was seen to stagger and plunge headlong from the platform. The train, which was running forty miles an hour, was stopped at Hampton and went back to pick up the man, who was found near the place where he fell from the car, sitting bolt upright in the ditch beside the track, leaning his head against his hand. It was thought he was badly hurt, and the conductor of the train ordered his removal to the baggage car, whereupon the man opened his eyes and bracing up ejaculated, 'Guess not; I bought er fus' class ticket to Boston, an' I don't propose to travel in any baggage car.' Then he climbed into one of the passenger cars and the train proceeded on its way."

DEATH OF CHARLES E. BUZZELL.

Mr. Charles E. Buzzell died at his residence on Cabot street, Wednesday evening, Jan. 18th, of typhoid pneumonia, after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Buzzell was the junior member of the firm of H. B. Buzzell & Son; for many years was a teacher in the public schools of the city; for seventeen years was superintendent of the Sunday school of the Court street Christian church; was Past Grand of Piscataqua Lodge and Strawberry Bank Encampment, I. O. O. F., and a member of Alpha Council, Royal Arcanum; and was ever a man of worth, and a good citizen.

LIEUT. TAUNT'S DISAPPEARANCE.

A despatch from New York says that naval circles there are very much exercised over the reported disappearance of Lieut. Emory H. Taunt. Lieut. Taunt was tried by court-martial in New York recently upon charges of a very serious character. The principal charge was that he absented himself from duty without leave, and put up at a New York hotel with a notorious woman, whom he introduced as his wife. The court found him guilty of the charges, and, it is understood, sentenced him to dismissal. Lieut. Taunt, however, has very influential friends, and they were not willing that his family should be disgraced. They claimed that Lieut. Taunt's acts were due to insanity—that the hardships incident to his service in the arctic regions, and afterward in Africa, unsettled his reason. At last they succeeded in obtaining Secretary Whitney's permission for an examination of Lieut. Taunt's mental condition by the medical examining board. An order was issued directing Taunt to report at the navy department at once for examination. It was then learned that he had disappeared, and no one, not even the members of his family, seem to know where he is.

MATRIMONIAL.

We take the following from the Boston Post of Thursday, the 19th inst.: "Trinity church was well filled last evening with the relatives and friends of Dr. Charles R. Walker of Concord and Miss Frances Sheafe of Boston, who were united in marriage by Rev. Phillips Brooks at seven o'clock. A novel feature was the passing to either of the side aisles of two ushers, while the remainder of the party passed up the centre aisle. The bride wore a charming toilette of cream ottoman silk over a petticoat of point d'Alencon lace. Her train was rounded and edged with a thick roll of satin. Over the high coiffure the long veil was caught by a white ostrich aigrette. She was given away by her brother, Mr. William Sheafe. Miss Mary H. Sheafe acted as maid of honor in an attractive creation of white valenciennes lace over a gros-grain slip to match. The entire front of her skirt was composed of tiny loops of gros-grain and lace. She wore a necklace of diamonds, and carried Marechal Niel roses. Nat W. Walker of this city was best man. The ushers, under charge of Edwin Sheafe, were Sam W. Bates, Waldron Haskell, Eustace Jacques, F. E. Zerrahn of Boston, and Frank P. Andrews, John P. George and Dr. H. M. French of Concord. A reception was held at the bride's residence, Beacon street. Dr. and Mrs. Walker will reside at Concord, after a southern tour."

Ladies should examine the remnants of dress goods at Geo. B. French's.

Tickets for Mr. Garvin's benefit in Music hall on Monday evening next are selling very rapidly and a good house is already assured. "The Private Secretary," the play to be given on that occasion, will include in the cast the very best dramatic talent in the city, which insures it a splendid representation.

Mrs. Silas Philbrick fell in her yard on State street, Wednesday of this week, and broke one of her wrists.

The Lasters' Union removed from Market street to quarters in Frye's block on Congress street, Thursday.

Though the first recital at Music hall by the pupils of Mrs. Sarah Neal Harris was attended by a good audience, there was a much larger house on the second night, when the exercises passed off even better than on the first evening, the slight nervousness on the part of some of the performers at the first recital having worn off. A very pleasing feature of the second evening's performance was the singing of the Orpheus club—the new and very appropriate title of the P. A. C. quartette.

Ambrose Card, for some time employed as watchman at the Rockingham house, left this city on Wednesday of this week for southern California.

The double cottage house on South Mill street, sold at auction on Thursday by Mr. J. P. Morse, was purchased by Mr. John S. Wendell for $950.

The ladies of Storer Relief Corps gave an oyster supper in Grand Army hall on Thursday evening. Preceding the supper a regular meeting of Storer Post was held.

The Rye Beach Improvement company will give three grand entertainments in the town hall of that town on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, Jan. 26th, 27th and 28th.

Hon. A. W. Sulloway of Franklin was in town this week. From the particularly spic span appearance of the president of the Northern railroad, from his new dress hat down, it was surmised that he was en route to Washington. The care with which the Franklin politician ordered his new dress coat hung on a wire frame in the wardrobe in his apartments at the Rockingham, convinced the boys that Alva was on his way to the capital to dine with the president and arrange the appointment of postmaster at Concord.

At the regular meeting of Rockingham Lodge, I. O. G. T., on the evening of the 18th inst., Mr. John S. Rogers, president of the Rockingham Dramatic club, presented the lodge with a handsome clock, purchased with the net proceeds of an entertainment recently given by the club.

George O. Donnell of this city has been granted a naval invalid pension.

Mr. John W. Caswell has withdrawn from the custom house, and will devote his energies to the business in which he has before engaged at Long wharf. John regards his time worth more than two dollars a day. He also has become convinced that politics are mighty uncertain.

The Dover police on the 17th inst. searched the premises of John H. Canney, the Pirate of the Piscataqua, and made a very good haul of goods believed to have been stolen, including clothing in variety, razors, knives, several watches and chains, wrenches, revolvers and ammunition, and two bags of silver money amounting to about forty dollars, secreted in the attic under the eaves. Mr. Jones of Alton, whose store was burglarized some weeks ago, and who was twice fired at by the thief, has positively identified some of the dry goods and the revolvers as having been stolen from his store. The pirate is likely to make a visit to Concord.

The famous Sanborn will case, before reported settled without a trial, it is announced was settled by the payment of $5000 to the contestants, the balance of the large estate to be distributed in accordance with the provisions of the will.

Grand clearance sale of dress goods at Lewis E. Staples.' Greatly reduced prices for two weeks. Remnants marked way down.

President Mary E. H. G. Dow, of the Dover horse railroad, issued her first general order on the 18th inst. It notifies the public that trip fares are reduced from six cents to five cents each.

Mr. Herbert Waldron and Miss Mertie F. Jewell of Bow Lake, Strafford, were united in marriage on the 13th inst. They have taken up their residence in Hampton, where both are employed in the new shoe factory of V. K. & A. H. Jones, Mrs. Waldron as head book-keeper and Mr. Waldron in the cutting department.

A Maine man has looked up the records of thirty-six boys who about fifty years ago went to the "little brown school house" in Sanford, York county, Me. All have become prosperous and excellent citizens. Four are prominent lawyers, one a successful Boston physician, thirteen prosperous merchants, one a wealthy Kansas farmer, one is superintendent of the national life-saving service, one is an officer in the United States navy, and five are bankers. Four have been mayors of their respective cities; and seven still live in Sanford, where they are all prominent as citizens.

From the various reports of shipmasters, of floating logs seen in various localities, and "undoubtedly from the great Joggins timber raft," it appears that the disastrous raft has already spread itself over about ten thousand square miles of the ocean's surface, and if it keeps on will soon occupy a space about ten thousand miles square.

Beavor Webb, the British yacht designer, has written to the American yacht club of New York asking for the dimensions of a yacht to challenge for the American's cup under the new rules. The corresponding secretary was ordered to furnish him full particulars.

a man for groaning when he has Rheumatism or Neuralgia. The pain is simply awful. No torture in the ancient times was more painful than these twin diseases. But—oughtn't a man to be blamed if, having Rheumatism or Neuralgia, he wont use Ath-lo-pho-ros, when it has cured thousands who have suffered in the same way. It has cured hundreds after physicians have pronounced them incurable.

"The skill of five physicians could not cure me of Rheumatism which had settled in the hips, neck and shoulders. So intense was the pain that sleep was almost impossible. The first dose of Athlophoros gave me relief, and the third enabled me to sleep for four and a half hours without waking. I continued its use, and am now well. REV. S. H. TROYER, New Albany, Ind."

THE ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 Wall St., N. Y.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW P. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

SAID Uncle Sam: "I will be wise,
And thus the Indian civilize:
Instead of guns that kill a mile,
Tobacco, lead and liquor vile,
Instead of serving out a meal,
Or sending Agents out to steal,
I'll give, domestic arts to teach,
A cake of 'IVORY SOAP' to each.
Before it flies the guilty stain,
The grease and dirt no more remain;
'Twill change their nature day by day,
And wash their darkest blots away.
They'll turn their bows to fishing-rods,
And bury hatchets under sods,
In wisdom and in worth increase,
And ever smoke the pipe of peace;
For ignorance can never cope
With such a foe as 'IVORY SOAP.'"

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Good Chance for Investment.

TWO parties have been in this city, one from Mass., to buy the Block corner of Congress and Water Streets, containing two stores and six tenements; but I prefer to sell it in exchange for any other real estate, namely: Block No. 6 Walden Street, with Barn and Land; House and large Barn, No. 1 Holmes Court, and Lot 30x90 feet, on same Court, running down to the river. Half the purchase money can remain on interest at six per cent.

William Coombs, who has been a tenant in the Water Street Block, will be there no more.

Savings of the Chinese.

The Chinese in California do not deposit their savings in our banks, but leave their surplus earnings with some storekeeper for safety until they are ready to send the money to China. The storekeeper does not pay the depositor any interest; on the contrary, he charges him a small sum for taking care of the money. The result is some of the principal merchants in San Francisco have a large amount of money in their hands all the time. The danger of being robbed is very slight, as all the employes and attaches of the store sleep there, and there is no time, day or night, but what some one is awake and moving about. The money is generally kept in a fire proof safe or vault.—San Francisco Cor. Chicago Herald.

Fortunes of the Rothschilds.

It would seem that the fortune of the Rothschild dynasty is getting scattered by the recent marriages of the young people. Now it is Mlle. Aline who marries a Sassoon; the other day it was her elder sister who married M. Lambert, of Brussels, and her cousin, Mlle. Helene, who married a Dutch diplomat, Baron von Zuylen; not long ago a Mlle. de Rothschild became Princess de Wagram, another Duchesse de Gramont, another simple Mme. Ephrussi and another Lady Roseberry. Tradition says that the old Baron James left a fortune of 830,000,000 francs, which was divided among his children, four sons and a daughter, the Baroness Nathaniel. Thus each inherited 175,000,000 francs, which have doubtless increased and multiplied.—The Argonaut.

An Astronomer in Command.

Gen. Mitchel was at this time 52 years old. He was of an extremely wiry frame, and was possessed of wonderful endurance. His hair had lately grown gray, which made him look older than he really was. He was accustomed to ride a horse whose gait was a pace. On this horse he was all over the camps at all hours of the night and day. The guards were never certain of his coming. The men soon learned of his previous occupation, and called him "Old Stars." A sentinel who had been repeatedly visited while on duty once remarked that he "never could look up without seeing 'Old Stars' coming along on his screw propeller."—"Life of O. M. Mitchel, Astronomer and General."

The Art of Complimenting.

It is a rare accomplishment in man or woman to be able gracefully to make compliments. The difficulty lies in the fact that honest praise or approval always loses by being a little coaxed or petted." The briefest expression which bears the air of sincerity is better than the most elaborate effusion and profusion of complimentary phrases, which "by daily use have almost lost their sense." One need not be rude to be true; but if, on the other hand, he is too effusive he forfeits his best claim to credit.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Our Oldest Canal.

The oldest canal in America is for sale. It is called the Union canal, and extends from the Schuylkill river, near Reading, Pa., to the Susquehanna at Middletown. The route was first surveyed in 1762, but the canal was not completed until 1827. It is eighty-nine miles in length and cost $5,000,000.—Chicago News.

Many a youth has ruined himself by forgetting his identity and trying to be somebody else.—Good Housekeeping.

Salvation Oil is the greatest pain-destroyed of any age or clime. For the cure of neuralgia, rheumatism, and wounds occasioned by accidents, such as cuts, bruises, sprains, burns, and frost-bites it has no equal. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

Both my son and my daughter took Little Hop Pills regularly. It regulates the bowels and always cures sick or bilious headache, indigestion and kindred ills. All druggists, 25 cents, or mail stamps to Hop Co., New London, Conn.

Senator Walthall of Mississippi has been re-elected to the United States senate.

I am subject to sudden colds, followed by hard coughs, for which I use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and find it the best remedy. We always have it in the house, and would as soon be without flour as the Balsam. A. Dunklee, Postmaster, West Brattleboro', Vt.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

A Second Tour Through Mexico.

There could not possibly be a more comfortable or delightful way of seeing Mexico than the enterprising firm of excursion managers, Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb, have provided. One tourist party recently started from Boston, and the second and last will leave the East on Monday, March 12th. The second tour will occupy forty-seven days, and will include the Southern States and Mexico. The journey will be made in the magnificent train of vestibuled cars recently constructed expressly for the service of the firm by the Pullman company. This is the finest train ever seen on any railroad, and its many comforts and luxuries will find appreciation in such a trip. A special time schedule will enable the party to visit many out-of-the-way points, and to see much that ordinary tourists miss altogether. The route to be travelled south of the Rio Grande comprises over 3 000 miles, and the leading cities on three different lines of railway will be visited. The Mexican Central Railway will be traversed for its entire length. In brief, this is one of the grandest excursions Messrs. Raymond & Whitcomb have ever planned. The number of passengers will be limited. In addition to the Mexico tour there will be several more excursions to the Pacific coast in February and March. W. Raymond, 296 Washington street, opposite School street, Boston, will be happy to supply descriptive circulars. There are to be two excursions to Washington in March—on the 9th and 30th.

A Reprieve for the Condemned.

Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This building hope blossoms into the fruition of certainty, if the bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspeptics who seek its aid. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnia of which chronic indigestion is the parent, disappear with their hateful progenitor. Most beneficent of stomachics! who can wonder that in so many instances it awakens grateful eloquence in those who, benefitted by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torments of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietors of the Bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, malarial fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

—Young husband (who thinks of reforming): "Jennie, my dear, I know you have been grieved and pained for a long time on account of my absence from home every evening. I'm going to turn over a new leaf and begin to-night." Young wife: "Oh, Edwin, you don't know how happy you've made me. Cousin Jack wants me to go to the theatre with him to-night, and you can take care of the baby."

"The Table Robs more than the Thief."

—Anxious Arkansaw Mother— 'Tommy, is that a green persimmon you air eating?" "Yes, maw." "Don't you know it ain't healthy to eat green persimmons on an empty stomach?" "I ain't eatin' this green persimmon on an empty stomach. I ate a peck of 'em before I tackled this one."

When the eyes become weak or the lids inflamed and sore, a disordered system or a scrofulous condition of the blood is indicated, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy. It invigorates and vitalizes the blood and expels all humors.

—"Johnnie, I'm ashamed of you. You don't do nothing I tell you. I see you'll have to have your head examined, so I'll know just what you can do." (A few days have passed.) "Here, ma? Here's a map and all about my head. Just been 'zamined, and you'll have to pay the man seventy-five cents."

Are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging. Try them.

—"My little nephew, aged three," says a lady, "was fond of playing crab by running along, puffing and whistling in imitation of the engine. One day I chanced to step in his way as he was going at full speed. He stopped, and instead of requesting me to give him the right of way remarked solemnly: 'The engine will wait till that cow gets off the track."

—Bobby (who lives in a flat): "Pa, why are they called 'apartment' houses?" Father (a victim): "Because they come apart so easy."

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

TERRIBLE

are Kidney and Liver diseases, and when once they have secured a firm hold on the human system there is no time to be lost if life is to be saved. Many remedies have been tried, but none have been so successful as Ath-lo-pho-ros. Many unsolicited testimonials have proved that Ath-lo-pho-ros has cured these diseases when physicians and all other remedies had failed. Backache, pain in the side, dullness, weariness, and headache, are often symptoms of these fearful diseases. Athlophoros, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, will give speedy relief. ADAMSON'S

BOTANIC COUGH BALSAM

More than twenty years ago Adamson's Botanic Balsam was introduced generally throughout New England as a remedy for Coughs, Colds and Pulmonary complaints. Since its introduction it has constantly won its way into public favor, until now it is the universal decision that ADAMSON'S BOTANIC BALSAM is the best remedy for curing Coughs, Colds and Asthma.

PNEUMONIA A GERM DISEASE.

Said to Be Infectious but Not Contagious. Fresh Air and Exercise.

And now the theory is held that pneumonia, too, is to be classed as a germ disease. The authority for this opinion is Dr. A. G. Siebert, a German-American physician of New York, one of the most competent authorities on the subject in America, and an indefatigable investigator on modern scientific methods of the causes of pneumonia, and especially the degree to which the weather furthers this disease.

"It is my belief, certainly," said Dr. Siebert, "that pneumonia is an infectious, though not a contagious, disease. People do not take it from each other, but they may take it from the same place. In my practice, as a very common thing, in the same family, two or more would have it. In a Bavarian prison, out of 500 inmates, sixty-two died of pneumonia in one year in one ward. Not another ward was touched. Dr. Emmereich was the physician attendant. He ordered the floor of this ward to be torn up. Beneath it there was found a filling of refuse, impregnated with moisture in the proportion of 27 per cent. to the whole mass, from the washings which had dripped through the boards. The rubbish was analyzed under powerful microscopes, and in it were discovered miasms, which a few years ago Dr. Friedlander had pointed out as being found constantly in the lungs of people who had died of pneumonia. This is one indication.

The infectious diseases begin with a sudden chill. So does pneumonia. Pneumonia lasts generally from seven to nine days, disappearing with a crisis and a profound sweat, and when the crisis is past, the patient, though weak and exhausted, is otherwise perfectly well. This is the character of fever and the infectious diseases. Again, among people exposed even to the severest conditions of winter weather in the open air pneumonia is a thing almost unknown. The Arctic explorers in the extremes of ice and snow and in pure air had no pneumonia. They had many other diseases, though, incident to cold and hardships. Pneumonia occurs in summer as well as in winter, proving that cold is not an indispensable cause. All physicians of much practice have found cases of pneumonia originating in the same house at different times of the year, and it is frequently the case that those who have it once have it again. The latter fact is well known. An explanation of this, which is at least allowable, is that the locality is the cause of the disease rather than special susceptibility in the people attacked by it.

"Pneumonia is a house disease, as is the case, according to my belief, with inflammatory rheumatism and diphtheria. In the warm air of the house the system is made sensitive to the cold, but the cold is only the producing cause. It prepared the coddled lungs for the pneumonia poison which had its real origin in damp and dirty rooms or cellars.

"What is the cure? Well, the steps to the cure have unhappily advanced but little. But the relief and the prevention are—no medicine and plenty of fresh air. If you have consumption, a dangerous cold, or the fear of pneumonia. I should say, if you cannot fresh air anywhere else, go to the Arctics for it; but get that, at all events, if you want to live. A consumptive who followed my advice lived two years longer than any expectations had been held that he could live. What was the advice? No medicine and a voyage in September down the Atlantic coast, with directions to keep on deck as long as was up, rain or shine, and to sleep with the porthole open, except when it rained. His friends prophesied that he, being seemingly in the last stages of consumption, would come back in three weeks a corpse. In three months he came back with an added weight of fifteen pounds. He lived two years longer, pursuing the fresh air regimen. On his death-bed he told me that the open air had given him those two years. His was a genuine case of tuberculosis, too."

"What, then, is the connection between the weather and the cause of pneumonia, if, as you believe, pneumonia is a germ disease?"

"No poison can enter the blood except through a raw surface; and it is only where the respiratory tract has been irritated that the poison germ can enter the lungs."

"What weather, then, prepares the lungs for the reception of the poison seed?"

"Whenever you find three things—humidity, cold and a wind of over fifteen miles an hour—look out for pneumonia. February is pneumonia's carnival month, and by actual statistics, I have compared the weather constituents for each day for a space of three years, with 600 cases of pneumonia occurring during that time. In this comparison the facts are that regularly on the days of humidity, cold and high wind the pneumonia statistics reach their top mark. This is not theory; there is the record. The worst pneumonia account is not necessarily on the coldest days, for with extreme cold there is very probably no extreme humidity. It is the two together that ravage. Dry cold makes no such sore. Consumptives who thrive well in the high and dry cold of Davoes, Switzerland, in winter, suffer most in May."—Chicago Times.

A Good War Horse.

At a dinner not long ago one of the guests remarked that Bavarian horses were celebrated for their general worthlessness. He said that a dealer sold one to a German officer during the Franco-Prussian war, and warranted him to be a good war horse. The soldier came back afterward in a towering passion and said he had been swindled. "And how?" said the dealer. "Why, there is not a bit of 'go' in him, and yet you warranted him as a good war horse." "Yes, I did; and, by George! he is a good war horse. He'd sooner die than run!"—Exchange.

How a Dying Child Was Saved!

CICERO, HAMILTON CO., IND., Sept. 18, 1887.—The following is a true account of what your S. S. S. has done for our little daughter, Hazel, now four years old. When 12 months old a lump appeared on her heel, which slowly grew larger. The family physician thought it was caused by a piece of broken glass or needle, but failed to bring anything to light. The child became feebler all the time, seeming to lose the use of her leg, and finally quit walking entirely. The middle finger and thumb of either hand became enlarged, the flesh becoming hard. The hip joints became involved, so that when seventeen months old she could not stand, having lost the use of leg and arm. Partial curvature of the spine also followed. The nervous system was wrecked, muscles contracted, and there was general wasting of flesh and muscle. At eighteen months of age she was placed under the treatment of a prominent physician of Boston, Mass., but at the end of ten months she had declined to such a degree that she was in a dying condition. This was in April, 1886. We took the child away not knowing what to do. In this dreadful dilemma we were over-persuaded by friends to try "one bottle" of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC, which we did, and before it had all been taken we saw a change for the better in her symptoms. We kept it up, and have done so to this day, and will keep it up, if the Lord wills, for many days to come, for it has brought our dying Hazel to life, to vigor, to strength and health again. The ashen hue of her cheeks has changed to a rosy tint. She is able to walk anywhere, her languor and melancholy have passed away, and she is now a blithe, cheerful, happy romping child. Should you wish to increase your testimonials of proof of the virtue of S. S. S., our names and what we have said is but a portion of what we owe to you, should you wish to use them.

Finally yours,
H. L. F. SWIFT.

Secretary Whitney's "Improved" System.

In relation to the recent court of inquiry at the New York navy yard, covering the charge against Pay Inspector Stevenson of selling the Richmond's boilers at auction without first receiving authority to do so, a prominent naval officer is reported as saying:

"The question may be pertinently asked of the secretary of the navy: 'Could this irregularity have occurred under the system in practice before Mr. Whitney adopted his consolidation scheme?' Under the old system at least two bureaus, as well as their representatives at the navy yards, would have had to know what things were sold, and their books would have been checked against each other, showing the amount of money realized from the sale. The pay department would have made sales of articles advertised by the bureau having articles to dispose of, and would have had to account to the bureau for the money realized, and the sale would have been attended by a representative of the bureau. But under Secretary Whitneys' improved system, the general storekeeper has complete control of everything in the way of moveable stores."

New Hampshire Press Association.

At the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Press Association, held in Concord on the 18th inst., the following officers were elected: President, Albert A. Rotch of Amherst; vice presidents, Josiah B. Sanborn of Concord, James D. P. Wingate of Exeter, Arthur E. Clarke of Manchester; recording secretary, P. B. Cogswell of Concord; corresponding secretary, Sylvester C. Gould of Manchester; treasurer, Thomas W. Lane of Manchester; executive committee, Geo. A. Blanchard, Frank G. Edgerly, John M. Hill of Concord; auditors, Edson C. Eastman of Concord, Lorey M. Gould of Lake Village.

Freemasons Not Popular in Mexico.

Advices from the city of Mexico say that public indignation has been aroused in the state of Puebla over the assassination within a few months in a remote part of the state of several Freemasons, whose political and religious ideas were repugnant to the fanatical Clericals. Freemasons throughout the republic support the re-election of Gen. Diaz, and this fact partly explains such acts as those which have shocked the respectable and law-abiding citizens of Puebla. The Clericals in the district mentioned have declared that they will kill every Freemason.

A West Virginia Vendetta.

A despatch of the 19th inst. from Charleston, W. Va., is as follows: "Word reached here from Oceana, Wyoming county, that the Hatfield gang made a raid Saturday night on the house of Sim McCoy, a brother of Randall, whose house was burned and a portion of his family killed several days ago, and taking Mrs. Randall to a tree, tied her to it and then shot her to death, together with her eldest son. The house was set on fire and McCoy and his two youngest children burned to death."

Caught a Tartar.

A St. Louis despatch of the 19th inst. says: "An attempt was made on a Wabash train last night by robbers near Missouri City. The train was flagged, and the engineer ordered out of his cab. The officials had received information that an attempt would be made to rob the train, and were prepared. A volley from shot-guns met the robbers, and the leader was shot down. The officers pursued the robbers, and some of them were captured."

The New York Tribune has the following in regard to naval and navy yard affairs at that station: "The investigation of the board of officers detailed to inquire into the recent fire at the navy yard, has led to the belief that the blaze was due to a small stove in the building; in view of the fact that there has been considerable promiscuous smoking in the yard, notices have been posted in the different offices prohibiting it. The corvette Enterprise has been reported 'perfect' by the board of inspection, which gave her a trial a few days ago, and after visiting Boston she will sail for Gibraltar, where she will join the European squadron. The Trenton will go into the dry dock in a day or two, and will have a final inspection before going to sea; it is reported that she will go to Valparaiso to become the flagship of the Pacific squadron. The Nipsic has received her sailing orders, and is to join the Pacific squadron, first visiting the Cape de Verde islands, thence to Montevideo, and then through the straits of Magellan to Valparaiso. The orders to rig the Chicago have been received, but there is some delay about it, the cause of which is unknown. A large number of discharges from the yard were made last night, because of a falling off of the appropriation."

The oldest Protestant church edifice in America will be described in the February American Magazine, as well as what may have been the earliest steam railway; while Henry W. Austin will dip still farther into our antiquities by a poem on "Mastodon Saurus."

"Ramblings in the Far West," by the late General Randolph B. Marcy, and "On the Outposts—1870," by Edmund Kirke, in Harper's Magazine for February, seem to be preparatory articles to Mr. Charles Dudley Warner's series on "The Great West," to begin in the March number. General Marcy's experiences are tales of adventure most captivating to read, and hard to believe when one glances at the cities and towns which dot the vast stretches of country that a few years ago were boundless prairies or howling wilderness.

James Edward Nowlin, the murderer of George A. Codman in Somerville, Mass., was hung in the jail at East Cambridge on Friday. He met his fate calmly, and died instantly.

Governor Semple has signed the bill giving the ballot to the women of Washington territory.

—"Did you ever back a horse, Darringer?" "Only once, Romney." "Did you win?" "I lost $60. I backed him into a shop window."

—"Now, Mary Ann," said the teacher, addressing the foremost of the class in mythology, "who was it that supported the world on his shoulders?" "It was Atlas, ma'am." "And who supported Atlas?" "The book doesn't say, but I guess his wife supported him."

—Miss Waldo (of Boston, discussing literary matters): "Have you read 'Homo Sum,' Mr. Wabash?" Mr. Wabash (of Chicago, who is keeping up his end of the conversation with difficulty): "Well—er—yes, Miss Waldo, I have read Homo some, but not a great deal."

—It was a few minutes before dinner when little Fred inquired: "Mamma, have I been bad to-day?" "Yes, Freddie, very bad indeed." "Do you think you will send me to bed without any supper?" "I have a great mind to." "Well, mamma, I wish you would let me know now, so that I can tell how much dinner to eat."

—The greedy turkey gobbled up the goodly fare and grew fatter day by day, but the prudent turkey, suspicious of such bountiful grub, refused to eat and grew rapidly thinner. Finally the master came and said: "Better keep the fat turkey for Christmas; if we do not kill the thin turkey, he may die on our hands." Moral—Enjoy the good things of life as they come.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

PREPARED BY

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

Several persons were drowned on the 18th inst. in Sand lake, ten miles east of Ennis, Texas. Two young ladies, daughters of William Williams, a farmer, and a young man named Babbitt, were skating on the lake, when the ice gave way, and they sank in four and a half feet of ice cold water. Miss Babbitt and two little girls, eight and fourteen years old, also daughters of William Williams, who were on the shore watching the sport, were drowned in attempting to rescue their friends. A brother of the Williams girl ran to the scene from the house, a quarter of a mile distant, and was also drowned while trying to save his sisters. Mrs. Williams, his mother, made an effort to save them all. She was pulled down and would have met the fate of her children but for the timely aid of her two little daughters, aged ten and twelve, who threw her a rope and succeeded in pulling her ashore.

Florence Silk Mittens.

This engraving shows the fairer style of these goods. It is published as a protection for those ladies who wish to obtain mittens well made from genuine Florence Knitting Silk.

The pattern shown here is lined in back and wrist throughout with silk. They are perfect fitting, and in cold climates are far more comfortable than any gloves, and quite as elegant and fashionable as the best of gloves.

Sold by all enterprising dealers, who can be supplied at our agency, No. 18 Summer Street, Boston. Our latest book on knitting (187 editions) contains over 100 valuable illustrated Rules, including full instructions for this mitten. Mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in stamps.

THE "PEOPLE'S THEATRE."

At Franklin theatre, on Monday evening next, Mr. George A Hill's original People's Theatre Co. will commence a week's engagement. The company comes here direct from Boston, where a most successful season of fifty consecutive nights has been played. Of this company the Boston Herald of Dec. 26th said:

At the Dudley street opera house, this week, the company of clever performers who are endeavoring to win recognition by giving good attractions in a creditable manner at cheap prices, will present three changes of bill. To morrow afternoon and evening and Tuesday evening they will appear in "Rip Van Winkle," on Wednesday and Thursday evenings "East Lynne" will be presented, and on Friday and Saturday "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" will be the attraction.

Popular prices; see advertisement; tickets now on sale at Stich Ban.

"THE LAW'S DELAY."

The young wife of a non-supporting husband went to Exeter by the morning train on Friday, and returned to her work at quarter past ten A. M., having in the meantime told her tale of woe to Judge Allen, who granted her a divorce from the bonds of matrimony.

"DANIEL BOONE."

The initial production in this city of the romantic border drama "On the Trail; or, Dan'l Boone, the Pioneer," occurred at the Opera house last night. It seemed that the entire population of the city was there en masse to witness it, as "standing room only" was at a premium at 7:30. It is safe to say that not a solitary individual went away dissatisfied with the piece or the company. An agreeable and important feature was the entire absence of the "blood and thunder" element which we have been so accustomed to in dramas of this kind. Captain Jack Lavelle, late chief of scouts of the United States army, appeared as Daniel Boone, and surprised all by his masterly rendering of this rather difficult part. He is the possessor of rare histrionic ability and will soon develop into a capital actor. His acting possesses the merit of being natural in the extreme, and the horses, animals and Indians were a great feature. The support was excellent, the scenery superb, and all in all it was a perfect production. Not the least notable feature of the evening by any means was the excellent music furnished by the orchestra connected with the company. We predict a long and successful run for this play.—Oil City Derrick.

This sensational border play will be presented at Music hall on Tuesday evening, Jan. 24th, and seats go on sale at Goodrich's to-day; see advertisement.

MARINE DISASTER.

The schooner C. W. Locke, of Addison, Me., D. H. Lamson master, from Perth Amboy for this port with 320 tons of coal to C. E. Walker & Co., was run down and sunk on Friday morning between the Isles of Shoals and Portsmouth harbor by the fishing schooner Anna H. Mason, and with her cargo is a total loss.

The C. W. Locke registered 218 tons, and was built at Port Republic, New Jersey, in 1862; she was valued at $3000, and was insured; the cargo was insured for $1500 in the Boston Marine company, but the consignees would much rather have received the coal than the insurance. The schooner carried a crew of six men, all told, and had been on the way from Perth Amboy since Dec. 24th, having had an unfortunate trip all through. On Sunday, the 8th inst., she carried away her jibboom, and had to put into Provincetown, Mass., for repairs, leaving there on Friday, the 13th; she also made a harbor at Salem one night the early part of this week. When she was struck by the fishing schooner two of the crew were below in their bunks, and all hands lost everything except what they stood in, as she was struck amidships on the starboard side and cut nearly in two, going down in less than five minutes, the crew having barely time to get the boats cleared away before she sank. The Anna H. Mason did not attempt to offer assistance, which is perhaps to be accounted for by the fact that her own bows were stove in, and that she was in a sinking condition. Shortly after abandoning their vessel the crew of the C. W. Locke hailed the fishing schooner Starry Flag, Capt. Charles Allen, which took them on board and brought them into this port. Capt. Lamson reports that at the time of the collision his vessel was on the port tack, with a stiff breeze, smooth sea and fair weather, and that the other vessel was running free.

The Anna H. Mason was towed in early Friday morning by the tug Cocheco, her crew working hard at the pumps all the time to keep her afloat; she was run on the shoal ground inside of Four Tree island, being nearly full of water when she was grounded. She was formerly owned at this port, having been built at Kennebunk, Me., in 1875, for William Langell and Franklin R. Bragdon of York, Me., Hartley H. Mason of this city, and others, and named for Mr. Mason's wife. She registeres about thirty tons, is owned in Gloucester, and is commanded by George Savoy; she will probably be repaired on the railway at Kittery.

ELIOT, ME., Jan. 19th.

Editor Daily Chronicle: Your correspondent from Eliot, to whom we are indebted for frequent and kind reports of the doings of the Eliot Library Association, has through a misunderstanding—not in any way his own—made an error in his last communication to your paper, relative to a concert on Jan. 24th, by the choir of the St. John's church, Portsmouth. We had hoped to have the choir with us on that night, but owing to the many engagements of the several members, they were unable to accept our invitation. I make this correction that their friends and ours may not be disappointed. Our entertainment on the 24th is to be a "Lowell Night."

S. J. FARMER, Sec'y E. L. A.

A cable despatch from Yokohama, Japan, of Jan. 20th, announces the arrival there of the ship Grandee of this port, Capt. B F. Jacobs, after a passage of over six months from New York.

The steam tug L. A. Belknap arrived from Portland on Thursday last, and took in tow back to that port on the same afternoon the barkentine Hancock, which had discharged a cargo of hard pine timber at the navy yard for the department of yards and docks.

On Friday evening a rehearsal of "The Private Secretary" was given in Music hall, at which were present representatives of the press and invited guests. The entertainment, which is to be given on Monday evening, is for the benefit of Mr. C. P. Garvin, the popular proprietor of the State street club house, and will be presented by some of the best local talent. The rehearsal last evening showed that the several parts have been well cast, and that a fine representation of the laughable comedy will be given. A look at the plan of the hall at Goodrich's leaves no doubt of a crowded house on Monday evening and that it will result in a substantial contribution to the beneficiary.

Ladies should examine the remnants of dress goods at Geo. B. French's.

Grand clearance sale of dress goods at Lewis E. Staples.' Greatly reduced prices for two weeks. Remnants marked way down.

The Rockingham quarterly meeting of Free Baptists met at South Berwick on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Delegates from the New York Central Association, Massachusetts Association and Merrimack Valley Association were present. The opening sermon was preached by Rev L. E. Hall of Kittery.

The Music hall orchestra will be largely increased on Monday evening, on the occasion of Mr. Garvin's benefit. If you want a seat in Music hall on Monday evening, better go to Goodrich's this morning as early as possible.

Many of our citizens complain that they do not know when the mails are collected from the various mail boxes throughout the city, and that they have no means of knowing, as there is no published statement to that effect, nor any card on the boxes stating when mail is taken from them, and oftentimes mail is delayed on that account.—Times.

At the time the mill of the Exeter Manufacturing company was burned last October a considerable amount of firemen's property was stolen, consisting of hats, hose pipes, lanterns, axes and other articles. Since then the police have been on a still hunt, and on the night of the 19th they made a raid on the rooms of several academy students and found some of the missing articles, including hats, lanterns, axes and baskets. No arrests were made.

It is stated that the amount that this state is entitled to draw from the general government this year for military purposes is $82,000—more than twice the sum allowed last year, and it will be mostly used in the purchase of ammunition.

USE

Horsford's

BREAD PREPARATION

IF YOU WANT

Delicious Biscuit, Cakes, Etc., that can be eaten hot without detriment,

The acid phosphate in this preparation supplies the vital phosphates essential to the system, and assists digestion. No other baking powder does this.

Dr. H. E. Hill, of Saco, says:

"I consider Hosford's Bread Preparation better than any other that I have ever seen or used in my family, for raising bread, etc."

Dr. H. A. Weymouth, of Saco, says:

"In Hosford's Bread Preparation, we appear to have an article which not only serves to raise bread perfectly, but containing the nutritive phosphates, it restores those properties to the flour which are lost in bolting, thus adding greatly to the nutritive value of the bread produced with it."

Dr. S. Abbott, of Biddeford, says:

"Having examined Horsford's Bread Preparation, I am satisfied that it supplies to the system those elements necessary to health, which are removed in the process of making flour."

Dr. J. H. Keating, of Biddeford, says:

"I can heartily recommend Horsford's Bread Preparation as superior to any baking powder yet brought to my notice."

Dr. J. E. Larocque, of Biddeford, says:

"I have tried Hosford's Bread Preparation, and believe it is one of the best nutritious substances ever introduced. It contains all the elements necessary to sustain and invigorate the brain and system generally. I recommend its use to all."

Dr. Frank Gratton, of Biddeford, says:

"We have used and are greatly pleased with Horsford's Bread Preparation. From the peculiar property it possesses of restoring the phosphates to fine flour, it is preferable to any baking powder that I know of."

Dr. F. P. Virgin, of Rochester, says:

"I believe in the correctness of the principle claimed in the use of Horsford's Bread Preparation, namely the restoring by its use to super-fine wheat flour the phosphates removed in milling. These phosphates are essential constituents of the human body. I have been accustomed to eat bread made by the use of this preparation, and it is very light and palatable."

Dr. J. S. Daniels, of Rochester, says:

"It affords me pleasure to recommend Horsford's Bread Preparation to my patients and the public. The bread is more nutritious and easily digested than when made with ordinary cream of tartar."

Dr. Chas. A. Fairbanks, of Dover, says:

"Upon theoretical grounds I should think Horsford's Bread Preparation an excellent means for the introduction into the system of the phosphates. Excellent scientific authority asserts that the phosphates perform a multifarious part in the process of life."

Dr. Chas. A. Tufts, of Dover, says:

"I have read Dr. Fairbanks' testimonial in regard to Horsford's Bread Preparation. I have used this in my family, and cheerfully endorse what he has written."

Dr. E. E. Holt, of Portland, says;

"I am prepared to accept all the claims of Horsford's Bread Preparation as a decided advance in bread-making, knowing with what care and skill it is prepared, and the high scientific standing of its author."

Dr. Gardner Ludwig, of Portland, says:

"I have used Hosford's Bread Preparation, and have no doubt that it restores the phosphates lost by bolting. I am a dyspeptic, and have not eaten new bread at tea time for a long time, till recently I ate new bread made from this powder, and felt no inconvenience from it."

JANUARY 1st, 1888

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own, proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW F. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

Many London ladies crop their hair short and wear an almost entire wig, and consequently catch cold more frequently than their American cousins, but of course they all use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

—The czar and his family will go to St. Petersburg for a ten weeks' visit as soon as their new winter boiler-iron garments are sent home from the foundry.

Business Chances.

If you suffer from backache, kidney troubles, sore muscles, rheumatic pains or weak lungs, apply a Hop Plaster over seat of pain. It wonderfully soothes and strengthens the parts.

—"Yes," he said, "I tried once to eat thirty quail in thirty days, but I found it impossible. Why, I failed on the third bird." "Make you sick?" "No, it didn't make me sick; I ran out of quail."

"My Son is a Son 'till He gets Him a Wife, but my Daughter is my Daughter all the days of Her Life."

Both my son and my daughter took Little Hop Pills regularly. It regulates the bowels and always cures sick or bilious headache, indigestion and kindred ills. All druggists, 25 cents, or mail samples to Hop Co., New London, Conn.

—The funniest of the funny transpositions occurred when a man who wanted to advertise for a "fawn colored bull terrier pup" was made to advertise for a "fire alarm bell tower key." This is what happened in the Worcester Spy office the other day.

I am subject to sudden colds, followed by hard coughs, for which I use Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and find it the best remedy. We always have it in the house, and would as soon be without flour as the Balsam. A. Dunklee, Postmaster, West Brattleboro', Vt.

—A little girl on leaving a party of ladies and gentlemen had been kissed good-bye by those of her own sex only. As she seemed somewhat unwilling to move, her mother asked her what was the matter, when she lisped, "I want to tiss the mens."

Ministers, Lawyers, Teachers, and others whose occupation gives out little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and billiousness. One is a dose. Try them.

—Apartment-House Keeper—"How is that young man in the back room getting along, Sally?" Chambermaid—"He's no young man. He's married." "Married?" "Yes'm. He never can find his necktie nor his hat nor his overshoes nor nothin' until I looks for 'em."

For three weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in the temples. I tried some of the many catarrh remedies without any relief. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, 1st Division New York Appraisers' Office.

I was troubled with catarrh in my head to an annoying extent for three years. After using one bottle of Ely's Cream Balm I was entirely cured.—Wm. J. Cline, Victor, N. Y.

—Mrs. Hendricks (to caller)—"No I didn't read the story, Mrs. Hobson. My husband read it and told me that it ended dreadfully, and I don't like that style of novel." Mrs. Hobson (surprised)—"Why, it ended beautifully, and they were married in the last chapter!" Mrs. Hendricks (with a set look on her face)—"I'll speak to Mr. Hendricks about it again."

Those persons who do not need Iron, but who are troubled with nervousness and dyspepsia, will find in Carter's Little Nerve Pills a most desirable article. They are mostly used in combination with Carter's Little Liver Pills, and in this way often exert a most magical effect. Take just one pill of each kind immediately after eating and you will be free from indigestion and dyspepsia. In vials at 25 cents. Try them.

—Labor leader—"Bill Gumps was nominated by the labor party last night. American mechanic—"So I heard." "You'll support him, won't you?" "No, it isn't necessary that I should support him." "Why ain't it?" "His wife does that."

Ayer's Hair Vigor improves the beauty of the hair and promotes its growth. It prevents the accumulation of dandruff, cleanses the scalp, and restores a natural color to gray hair. Have you received Ayer's Almanac for the new year?

—Wife—"What under the sun are you doing?" Husband—"Trying to tie this string around my finger." "Why, I did not ask you to do any errand." "No. This string is to remind me that I have nothing to remember to-day."

You

Will never regret sending three two-cent stamps to pay postage, to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for a copy of Dr. Kaufman's Great Medical Work; 100 pages, colored illustrations; of great value to every family.

—De Smith—"Don't you think Miss Travis very cold and distant?" Popinjay—"She ought to be; she has gone to Toronto to spend the winter."

A Fortunate and Grateful Woman.

Mrs. J. H. Giles of Everett, Pa., says: I suffered for many years from Kidney and Gravel trouble. Besides, I had other complaints common to my sex. I began using Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y. A few words tell the result. I am a happy and perfectly well woman once more. Thanks to Dr. Kennedy and his Favorite Remedy. Price $1. f18

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon,wed,fri,6t(all)

The Devil Fish Described by Hugo

Is not a more tenacious monster than malaria, whether it takes the form of chills and fever, bilious remittent, ague cake or dumb ague. Like the octopus of the story it clasps the victim in its sinewy arms, and holds him closer and closer in a horrible embrace. Attacked with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, however, it gradually relaxes its tremendous grip, finally abandons it, and the quondam sufferer, liberated at last, rejoices in the sense of new born freedom, engendered by the restoration of complete health. Dyspepsia, too, and constipation, those old and remorseless enemies of the human family, give ground, and are finally driven from the field by this Napoleon of remedies, the greatest, the purest in the family pharmacopœia. Rheumatism succumbs to it, so do kidney troubles. The nerves, when over-strained, regain quietude and vigor by its aid, and the ability to rest tranquilly and eat with zest are increased by it. Resort to it in time and avoid unnecessary suffering.

—Mrs. Richard Harris has a queer monument erected in the Atchison (Kansas) cemetery, to the memory of her former husband, who died of delirium tremens, aged forty-one. The monument is a red granite shaft, with the image of a serpent wound around about it from the base to the apex.

If a Body Kiss a Body,

But to enjoy it one must have smooth, clear lips. Chapped, rough lips made smooth and clear by one application of Hop Ointment. Warranted to cure. At all druggists.

—Boston girl: "Have you read the new book, 'The Modern Paradise?' Chicago girl (languidly): "Oh, dear, no." "You'd better; you'll find it intensely interesting." "But, my dear, I have read other guide books to Chicago, until I am most lively weary."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is prescribed and recommended by eminent physicians, and is taken with perfect safety by old and young. Its cleansing and vivalizing effects are sure and speedy, and it is universally conceded to be the most effective of all blood purifiers.

—Among new year resolutions, one to lay in a large stock of coal next August will be remembered by many.

The effects after taking Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam are a soothing and controlling influence over any cough or cold, promoting rest, allaying the tickling sensation in the throat, and causing a healthy expectoration. All our drug stores have sold it for twenty years.

—"This red flag," shouted the Socialist orator, "is the emblem of the brotherhood of man!" "Not much," growled a voice from the back seats, "it's a sign that auctioneers, small pox, back-chasing, or some other business is around, and that it's time for wise men to skip out."

I was troubled with catarrh for thirty years. Have suffered a great deal. My eyes, ears and throat were greatly affected. Mr. Kinney, the druggist, induced me to try Ely's Cream Balm and for the past two years I have had very little trouble. I have lived in Webster, Mass., and Rockville, Conn. Very respectfully, J. W. Pratt, Monson, Mass.

I have improved greatly since using Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh. I feel like a new man. It is a blessing to humanity.—John D. Farrell, Hartford, Conn.

—"How is your son getting along in New York, Mr. Hayseed?" "I guess he ain't doin' as well as he says he is. He was home t'other day, an' had on a colored shirt an' a white collar. I rayther suspect he's behind with his washerwoman."

You

Will never regret sending three two-cent stamps to pay postage, to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., for a copy of Dr. Kaufmann's Great Medical Work; 100 pages, colored illustrations; of great value to every family.

—Old man (with emotion): "Do you realize, my dear sir, that you are asking me for the only daughter that I have?" Young man (calmly): "Yes, sir; but if you had a dozen I wouldn't want but one."

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

—More than ten million eggs are carried into New York each week. One might think this an own-supply.

The action of Carter's Little Liver Pills is pleasant, mild and natural. They gently stimulate the liver, and regulate the bowels, but do not purge. They are sure to please. Try them.

—It is much more unlucky to owe a man $13 than to be owed $13 by him.

Time and labor saved by the use of Pyle's Pearline. Sold by grocers everywhere, but be sure you are not imposed on by the vile imitations in the market.

—The man who "travels on his cheek" is the chap that jumps from the railway train when it is in motion.

You feel free from pain and stronger after putting on a Hop Plaster. Soothes, stimulates.

HOOSIER "TURKEY FOUNDRIES."

How the Birds Are Gathered, Killed and Plucked in Indiana.

"Turkey foundries" are scattered over the entire state. Six double mile teams collect turkeys from within a radius of ten miles and bring them to this foundry daily. No Hoosier farmer thinks of dressing his own birds for the market, but sells them on the hoof to the collectors, receiving six cents per pound for his flock. The foundry, a building 58 by 50 feet, without floor, in fact a mammoth coop, holding 1,000 turkeys, is kept well filled by these teams. At one end is a smaller building, the dressing room, about 20 by 10, where ten men, wading almost knee deep in feathers, pick turkeys at five cents each from morning until night. Each man dresses on an average five an hour, or fifty cents for the crew. Necks are wrung for Boston, while throats are stuck for the New York market. They were dressing a la New York today when visited by your correspondent.

Entering the dressing room, attracted by a tremendous gobbling from the turks, there appeared ten men, each with a bird suspended by the feet by a cord from a beam overhead, pulling feathers for dear life. Beside each man stood two barrels, one for large tail feathers, and the broad, flat wing feathers that grow on the head of the wing next to the body. This grade sells for feather dusters. The second barrel received all soft body feathers, sold for many purposes. As I entered, one picker finished his bird, came and sat beside me; in answer to inquiry as to how long it required to dress a bird, he said: "We are on the last of a penful now; just wait a moment and time us; you will see some fun."

Meanwhile fifty turkeys large and small had been put into the cage, a pen about eight feet square, but no picker, even if he had finished his last bird of the previous lot, might select one from this and go to work; each as he finished must wait for the last. Later developments showed the justice of this. Conversation among the pickers while waiting the last man turned on the number of good, fat, easy picking hens among the new lot in the cage, and one old twenty-five pound bull whom nobody wanted. The moment the last man had finished and hung up his bird, all made a grand rush for the pen and in a moment returned carrying a large turkey by the feet. Arriving at his station, each slipped both feet of his catch through a noose in the cord, and brings the bird down with force, then grasps a sharp pointed knife and runs it through the neck just back of the bill, cutting all the arteries, then the wrestle with feathers begins.

One sweep of the hand takes every tail feather into the barrel. Two grabs do the same for the broad pinions of the wings. With one downward sweep a space large as the picker's hand is laid bare from tail to neck. This is kept up until the body is thoroughly picked. Then the finger is hooked around the large intestine and the bird is drawn. Not a knife is used in the operation except in killing the bird. The feet are now freed from the noose, the head laid on a block and chopped off, the skin of the neck drawn back about an inch and chopped off again, letting the skin of the neck cover over the end where it is tied, and our bird is ready for market. Do you wonder that they sometimes acquire a far away taste when served up at the east? One picker from the time he stuck his bird until he hung his bird up finished occupied just seven and one-half minutes. Finally he said he would tackle the twenty-five pound "bull," did so, and finished him in just eight minutes and twenty seconds.

I walked into the pen to see them caught. In would come a picker, cast a critical eye over the lot in search of an easy one, walk along, and with a never failing sweep of the hand grab a turkey by the thigh, then hold him up and blow the feathers away from the under side of the wing and rump. If no pin feathers, O. K.; if any, drop him and grab another, till a satisfactory one is found. Consequently the last ones of a lot of fifty are very hard to pick, and as each man finishes the last of the lot he is required to wait till all have done, thus giving each a fair chance to begin on the easy ones.—Indianapolis Letter.

Funerals in Paris.

In Paris there are five "classes" of funerals. A first class funeral is a very elaborate and expensive affair. The church in which the service is held is profusely draped with black and silver. The catafalque is quite monumental and is all ablaze with candles, and green flames rise from tall lampadaires placed at the four corners of the catafalque. All the chanting power of the church is brought to bear upon the service, and professional singers are also engaged for the occasion.

The second and third class funerals are also very ornate, but in the next descent the difference is strongly marked. Finally we come down to the coffin made of pine and the severely plain canonical service for the dead. At the close of the service the chief mourners stand near the door of the church to receive the conventional shake of the hand from those who have been invited to the funeral.—Boston Herald.

Experience in Dreams.

There are some very remarkable things about dreams. In the first place they are twice as real as reality. Did you ever fall down stairs in dreams? If you have, you must have observed that it is a much more terrible experience than falling down stairs when you are awake—except that you don't have the bruises to nurse afterward. But the mental experience of falling down stairs in a dream is something awful.—Cleveland Leader.

OH, WHAT A COLD!

THIS is the season for sudden changes in the weather, and a great many "take cold" either in their Head or on their Lungs, causing Coughs, Hoarseness, and Sore Throat. These troubles can be soon relieved and cured by taking Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific, which acts directly on the Throat and Lungs, entirely removing these difficulties.

Cured his boy of Croup.

C. M. BROOKS, Lowell, Mass., says: "I take great pleasure in recommending Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific as a cure for Coughs, Colds, and Croup. I used it in my family last winter with the best results. Two or three doses cured my little boy of Croup, for which I am very thankful."

You can cure that Cough in a short time. You can cure your Catarrh if you persist in its use, as it will stop the secretion of Catarrhal matter in the head; it will relieve Croup in from three to five minutes.

The best he ever saw.

"The best medicine for Coughs and Consumptive Complaints that ever I saw is Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific," so says JOHN MCLAUGHLIN, of Boston.

Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific is sold by all Druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

The Revival of American Shipping.

Remarks of Frank W. Hackett, Esq., before the National convention of the American Shipping League, at Washington, January 17th:

The Chairman (Gen. Wheeler of Alabama) upon call of the states, said: "I will request Mr. Hackett, of New Hampshire, to address the convention."

Mr. Hackett; "I believe I can report for my state, that the delegation is unanimous on this subject before the convention. I am, I believe, the only delegate from New Hampshire who happens to be here this morning; and it is a great privilege, and I am very much obliged for the opportunity, to contribute my humble voice in aid of this great object.

It is a fortunate thing, Mr. Chairman, that in the decoration of this hall we are permitted to look upon the insignia of all the states around these walls, gradually leading us to the flag of the union, signifying union now and forever. Among the seals of the states my eye naturally reverts to that of my own state, New Hampshire, and I am proud to say that among all the seals you will find on that seal of New Hampshire that our wise forefathers have chosen a ship, as emblematic of the industry, the growth and the prosperity of the old Granite State.

We have, sir, only about ten miles of sea coast, but in that small fragment of the coast there is one of the best harbors of the world. There is the place where the first ship was built and launched of the American navy. The first man-of-war for this government was built there for John Paul Jones; and on that river have been built, as you all know, some of the finest ships in the world. When I was a boy at school, we could not help loving a ship. When a ship was going to be launched, whether it was in the morning or the afternoon, school was dismissed, if need be, so that we could go there, and witness that beautiful ceremony. Many of the boys who afterward left school shipped before the mast, and some of them became masters of vessels. It would seem strange that a youth who was reared among such scenes as these should not take a deep interest in the revival of American shipping. (Applause.) The sound of the hammers is yet in my ears, and I trust before many years the same music will be heard again, not only on the banks of the Piscataqua, but all along the coast of this great country. (Great applause.)

I think ship building will revive, not only in New England, but also, I am happy to say, at the South. And, sir, underneath this question lies an interest which it seem to me should be brought, and is being brought, prominently before the American people. We do not care to allude to the unhappy past when we were not fraternal. But, sir, what better platform is there where men from every section of this country can come together, and go shoulder to shoulder as brothers in one common cause, than this—the revival of American commerce? (Applause.)

Now, it was said by my friend who has just taken his seat that it is sometimes thrown in our faces that all of this talk is only "spread-eagleism." I am not of the number that hold to that view. I firmly believe in the growth of an idea. I think there is something above mere money-making and mere bread and butter in a question of this kind; and the strength of this League and the good fortune that presides over its councils are due as much as anything to the fact that our proceedings are pervaded by a generous feeling that each man is animated with a love for his country. Is there a man here who has not been upon a foreign shore, and watched to see the flag of his country at the mast-head of a vessel? And can he convey to anybody else the feeling that animates his bosom when he sees that flag there? That is the experience and emotion which we hope to have existing once more, so that when we travel abroad we can proudly view the emblem of this republic in all quarters of the globe. (Applause.)

We are united in one common party. Perhaps it is not worth while for us longer to dwell upon the causes of the decline of American shipping. The question now is, what shall we do? and how shall we go to work about it? I have tried to make myself acquainted with these facts which are fully known to you all. The moment I heard of the existence of this Shipping League, I could not help coming in and lending my voice in its behalf.

Now, sir, I have a much higher opinion of Congress, not only as a body, but individually, than many people at a distance may have, because it is my fortune to spend a good part of the year here at the Capitol. I believe to-day that there are men in Congress who are just as devoted to the good of their country as any of us are. The only trouble is they do not know the facts. Now it is not surprising, when they do not know the facts, that there should be a difference of opinion as to the remedy. It seems to me that the object of this League, and the result to be obtained, is to come together here and have a concentration of opinion as to the remedy. Those gentlemen say to us, "Tell us what you want, agree upon it, and we will help you." What we have to do therefore is to crystallize our opinions, hear from the different representatives on this floor, and see that we all practically come to the same point.

One moment, and I will conclude. We have another work to do beside coming in contact with members of Congress. We have to educate the American people; and the first thing the American people have to learn is, that this is not a movement on behalf of a class of men or on behalf of a certain interest, or on behalf of ship-builders and ship-owners. They have got to learn that. Now it is true that our object should be brought to the attention of the American people. It seems to me it is our duty to circulate the documents that will reach the young men, the growing men of this country. We must convey to their minds an idea of what the true situation is. We must disabuse their minds of the notion many of them have, that things in other countries are better than here. Nothing seems to me more disastrful than to hear men talk about foreign ships, English ships, the English navy, being better than our own. The time has come now when we must intensify the American idea; and I hail with joy the purpose of this League in that direction. It seems to me that by voice and pen, by personal contact and by sending speeches and documents, we must encourage intelligent men in the idea that America is the country where we make the best ships—and we are going to do it. (Great applause.)

A Terrible Record.

Judge J. F. Kinney, agent of the Yankton Sioux agency in Dakota, arrived at Nebraska City on the 2d inst after being nine days on the road, and reports the first accounts of the blizzard as giving to the idea of its horrors. Two babes were frozen to death on his train, and the total loss of life in Dakota is not less than 1000; in Bon Homme county alone 180 lives were lost, and thousands of cattle and horses perished.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

It is a good sign that such a publishing house as the Congregational Sunday-School & Publishing Society of Boston should offer prizes so unusual as $700 and $300 for the two best MSS. for Sunday-school books. It means to get something worth having. Writers can learn the terms by addressing the society.

Florence Silk Mittens.

This engraving shows the lace style of these goods. It is published as a protection for those ladies who wish to obtain mittens well-made from genuine Florence Knitting Silk.

The pattern shown here is lined in back and wrist throughout with silk. They are perfect fitting and in cold climates are far more comfortable than any glove, and more durable and quite as elegant and fashionable as the best of gloves.

Sold by all enterprising dealers, who can be supplied at our agency, No. 18 Summer Street, Boston. Our latest book on knitting (1887 edition) contains over 100 valuable Illustrated Rules, including full instructions for this mitten. Mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in stamps.

MR. GARVIN'S BENEFIT.

This evening, at Music hall, one of the largest audiences of the season will assemble to witness the presentation of "The Private Secretary" by local talent for the benefit of Mr C. P. Garvin, with the beneficiary in the title role, Mr C. W. Gray as Cattermole, Mr. A. N. LaBrie as Douglass, and a strong cast throughout From attending a dress rehearsal, we are able to confidently predict an elegant performance. Enlarged orchestra for the occasion The Orpheus club (formerly the P. A. C. quartette) will sing between the acts. A few seats can be secured at Goodrich's, if applied for early to-day.

"THE PEOPLE'S THEATRE."

This evening, at Franklin theatre, Mr. George A. Hill's People's Theatre Co., direct from the Dudley street theatre, Boston, where they played fifty consecutive nights, will commence a week's engagement, opening with the romantic drama "The Exile of Erin," and an amusing farce. Tickets at Sich Ban; popular prices; see advertisement.

"ON THE TRAIL."

At Music hall, to-morrow evening, Peck & Fursman's Dramatic Co. will present the sensational frontier play "On the Trail; or, Dan'l Boone, the Pioneer," with Capt. Jack Lovelle, late chief of scouts, United States army, as Boone, and five horses, a trained donkey, a bear, wolves and eight real Indians, as accessories. Tickets at Goodrich's; see advertisement.

THE ICE CROP.

Mr. Charles E Hodgdon on Monday, the 16th inst, finished cutting his first crop of ice, and to-day (Monday) commences cutting the second crop, the continued cold weather of last week having caused ice to form from a foot to fourteen inches thick, and very clear and hard.

ANOTHER PATENT "REFORM" NOTION.

The latest idiotic freak of the post-office department is a new regulation by which letters mailed on trains are not postmarked on the train and carried to their destination as they used to be, but are put off at the next station, and delayed until the next mail! Therefore to mail a letter on the train is to make delay certain—a fact that is worth remembering. Ever since the Cleveland reform administration assumed the reins of government, the post-office department has been run on the theory that its sole end and aim should be to throw every possible obstruction and annoyance in the way of the free interchange of postal matter among the people. Thank Providence, it is nearly over; and under the coming republican administration the post-office department will again be managed, as it was formerly up to the advent of the present accidental national government, in the interests of the public.

ECLIPSES THIS YEAR.

There will be two eclipses of the moon and three of the sun this year, both eclipses of the moon being total, and visible in this latitude and longitude; the three eclipses of the sun will be partial, and neither of them will be visible in New England.

The first eclipse of the moon will occur next Saturday night, Jan. 28th, and if the weather is clear the phenomenon will be a very interesting one. The moon falls at 6:45 P M. on that day; the eclipse begins at 4:30, but total obscuration does not commence until 5:31; the middle of the eclipse will be reached at 6:20, and the total phase will end at 7:09, but the lunar disc will not entirely clear the earth's shadow until about ten minutes past eight.

The second lunar eclipse of the year will occur on the night of July 22d, commencing shortly before eleven o'clock, and ending about half-past two.

A number of members of Damon Lodge, K of P., of this city, accompanied the inspecting grand officers of the state on Friday evening last on a visit to Wentworth Lodge, No 22, of Newcastle. The inspection was very satisfactory, as also was the collation served by Wentworth Lodge at the close of the official exercises.

Sunday morning was a cold one, the mercury indicating from seven to fifteen below zero in different localities at sunrise or shortly before.

A Newington milkman on Sunday morning reported the thermometer as standing at eleven below zero at his place when he started on his route. Although he had plenty of milk in his cans he was obliged to curtail the supply of many of his customers, and leave some entirely without any, owing to so much of the milk freezing to the sides of the cans.

Twelve shares of the National Mechanics & Traders' bank, sold at auction by M. Bafford in the city treasurer's office on Saturday, were bought by John Laighton at 120 5-8.

Ladies should examine the remnants of dress goods at Geo B French's.

The funeral of the late Col. William A. Cromwell of South Berwick took place in that town on Thursday last, and was attended by a large number of neighbors and citizens of the town, and by many personal friends and business men from this city, Portland, Boston and other places.

Boucicault is to play in Music hall on Thursday evening, Feb 24.

Grand clearance sale of dress goods at Lewis E Staples'. Greatly reduced prices for two weeks. Remnants marked way down.

The fishing schooner Anna H Mason, sunk between Four Tree island and Randall & Caswell's wharf, it is reported has been abandoned to the underwriters. The crew of the C. W. Locke, the coaster sunk by the Anna H. Mason, say the latter was solely in fault for the collision, and that after the crash her crew were only anxious to hide the identity of their vessel and get out of the way, not being aware at the time how badly she was stove in forward. As both vessels were insured, a law suit will probably determine where the fault lies.

It is reported that a number of young ladies have arrangements under way for giving a leap year party in Franklin hall on Friday evening, Feb. 3d.

The steam tug L. A. Belknap arrived at the Concord railroad wharf Saturday afternoon, looking like a young iceberg.

The steamer Mystic was delayed over an hour on her first trip to this city from her wharf at Kittery on Saturday morning, by the large quantity of drift ice packed in between Pumpkin island and the Kittery shore.

Henry Batten of Gloucester, one of the crew of the schooner Northern Eagle, went adrift off Eastern point Saturday while attending to his trawls. Unless he was picked up by some other vessel he must have frozen to death during the night.

The funeral services of the late Charles E. Buzzell took place Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, at the Court street Christian church. The edifice was filled with relatives and friends. Rev. John A. Goss of Haverhill, Mass., formerly pastor of the church, officiated, and Canton Senter, Patriarchs Militant, I. O. O. F., performed escort duty.

The Ipswich bay fishermen report Friday and Saturday as the worst fishing days they have had this winter, that is, when they could fish at all.

The schooner Starry Flag, Charles Aller master, stocked $1900 in seven days ending last week.

Mr. T. C. Meagher, the picture framer and gilder, is at the Cottage Hospital, very sick.

Among the recent transfers of real estate in York county, as left for record in the office of the register of deeds, were the following in Kittery: James O Trefethen to Fannie L Junkins, land and buildings for $75; Charles W. Trefethen of Taunton, Mass., to Fannie L. Junkins of Kittery, land and buildings in Kittery for $300.

There was a narrow escape from a serious railroad disaster at East Concord on Friday evening last, the engine of the Canadian Pacific express leaving the rails of the White Mountain division of the Boston & Lowell road, and crashing into a freight house; the train was badly wrecked, but no person was seriously hurt.

An Artificial Larynx.

Gussenbauer, of Prague, invented an artificial larynx, through which Billroth's first successful case was able to breathe, and by means of which speaking could be done, and, strangely enough, the words were intelligible. The artificial larynx consists of tubes with vibrating membranes within, through which the air must pass to and from the lungs. The natural voice consists of tones or sounds produced by the vibrations of the vocal cords in the larynx, but modified by the throat, tongue, nose, mouth, teeth and lips. So it is easily understood that articulation does not occur in the larynx. In the artificial contrivance the membranes are stretched so tightly that when the air is passed between them with some force a tone is produced. As these membranes cannot be rendered tense or lax, the tone is always the same, an unnatural, monotonous sound, but the organs engaged in articulation are able to produce the necessary modifications in it to be understood as words with definite meanings.—Globe-Democrat.

Clothing of the Skin.

In a paper on the health of the skin, by Dr. Starin, extended reference is made to the prevalent habit of putting too many wraps on the skin, and concerning which the author declares that no man's skin, or woman's either, can be kept thoroughly clean and healthy by piling too much clothing upon his or her body. It is a fact, he says, that clothing in itself has no property in itself of bestowing heat, but is chiefly useful in preventing the dispersion of the temperature of the body, and in some instances in defending it from the atmosphere; and this power of preserving heat is due to the same principle, that of conduction and non-conduction, whatever form the raiment may assume, whether the most healthful and elegant tissues of human manufacture or nature's covering of birds and animals.—Boston Budget.

Before a Russian Court.

Usually when a suspect is placed on examination or trial and is permitted to make a defense, he employs his attorney under a contract like this: If sentenced to Siberia the fee shall be 1,000 roubles; if only a year's imprisonment, 5,000 roubles; if acquitted, 10,000 roubles. The trials are then conducted under the principles of the Russian proverb: "The cause is decided when the court receives a present." Thus the success of the lawyer depends upon his ability in pleasing the judge's taste in present giving. It is not once in twenty times that a prisoner suspected of crime against the crown is acquitted.—New York Sun.

RECLAIMED.

We once were factious, fierce, and wild,
To peaceful arts unreconciled;
Our blankets smeared with grease and stains
From buffalo meat and settlers' veins.
Through summer's dust and heat content,
From moon to moon unwashed we went;
But IVORY SOAP came like a ray
Of light across our darkened way.

And now we're civil, kind and good,
And keep the laws as people should.
We wear our linen, lawn and lace,
As well as folks with paler face.
And now I take, where'er we go,
This cake of IVORY SOAP to show
What civilized my squaw and me
And made us clean and fair to see.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to zone prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory. Very respectfully,

ANDREW J. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

Pug dogs as pets have had their day among the extremely fashionable, but colds never go out of fashion, so that it is always necessary to know that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a sure cure for all coughs and colds

—Brown—"I lent you my umbrella yesterday, Robinson, on the express condition that it was to be returned this morning." Robinson—"I know you did, but my dear fellow, it rained this morning."

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

—A young mother at Pensacola has contrived a novel scheme for keeping baby in its proper sphere during her absence. When she goes out she places the little fellow in a wash tub and gives him his playthings, with which he plays, unable to get out, until his mother returns.

Ayer's Pills cure constipation, improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. This medicine is pleasant to take and gentle in its operation. See article in Ayer's Almanac.

—The doctors admit that they were mistaken about the crown prince's throat, but they insist that their bills rendered to date are all right. A wrong diagnosis hasn't knocked off a cent.

Vincent Lundberg, of Stockholm, physician-in-Chief to the King of Sweden, recommends Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer for the scalp and hair.

—A sea green glass vase has recently been found in Bologna. It beats all what these butchers will put in bologna!

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples, sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them.

Rid yourself of pain, soreness and weaknesses by using the Hop Plasters Safe, reliable, infallible.

—An "oil trust" is not an arrangement by which kerosene can be obtained on credit.

Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is "a combination and form indeed" for healing and curing diseases of the throat, lungs and chest. It cures a cough by loosening and dissolving the phlegm, and allaying irritation, thus removing the cause, instead of drying up the cough and leaving the disease behind.

—Uncle Bildad (who has unwisely sampled the side dish of Roquefort cheese): "That butter ain't in no trance."

How to Shake Hands.

Do not shake pump handle or dude fashion, or in a soft dough sort of a way. If your hands are rough, chapped, smart or burn, apply at night after washing, Hop Ointment, the cure is guaranteed: never fails 25 cents. At druggists.

—"This car for drunken men only" is the suggestion of a correspondent of the Boston Transcript.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindles who otherwise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

—No matter how superstitious a man may be, he cannot be induced to accept $12 for $13 because the latter is an unlucky number

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. mon.wed.fri.6jan1

The Devil Fish Described by Hugo

Is not a more tenacious monster than malaria, whether it takes the form of chills and fever, bilious remittent, ague cake or dumb ague. Like the octopus of the story it clasps the victim in its stenuculae, and holds him closer and closer in a horrible embrace. Attacked with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, however, it gradually relaxes its tremendous grip, finally abandons it, and the quondam sufferer, liberated at last, rejoices in the sense of new born freedom, engendered by the restoration of complete health. Dyspepsia, too, and constipation, those old and remorseless enemies of the human family, give ground, and are finally driven from the field by this Napoleon of remedies, the greatest, the purest in the family pharmacopoeia. Rheumatism succumbs to it, so do kidney troubles. The nerves, when overstrained, regain quietude and vigor by its aid, and the ability to rest tranquilly and eat with zest are increased by it. Resort to it in time and avoid unnecessary suffering.

I was troubled with catarrh for thirty years. Have suffered a great deal. My eyes, ears and throat were greatly affected. The Voices of Birds.

"Do the voices of the birds correspond in their registers to those of human beings?"

"Decidedly; although this has never before been stated. For instance, the nightingale is a rich contralto, the mocking bird a soprano sopracuto, the wood thrush a fine soprano, the skylark a curious combination of the mezzo and the soprano, with the odds in favor of the mezzo. The snake driver is a basso profundo. His notes are deep and sonorous, and his song is, 'Punk-a-gonk! A-gonk-a-wunck.' The cedar bird or the waxwing lisps. He tries to sing in all parts and cannot sing in any. The bobolink is a musical hybrid of meters. His is a jingling song. He is the only bird whom the mocking bird can't imitate. If a bobolink be shut up in the same cage with a mocking bird, the mocking bird will not infrequently die within three months of a broken heart, because of his failure to imitate the bobolink. The winter wren is a crystaline contratino tenor. The rapidity of its song defies lightning and consequently analysis. The blue bird, as Mr. Beecher said, always seems to be about to sing something, but never quite gets there. The vulture is the musical discord of the bird family. Its voice, which is even more hoarse than that of the blue jay, is perceptibly vitiated by its intemperate habits. The vulture is the drunkard of the birds. The bell bird of Florida has a voice whose gamut of sounds represents the higher and lower tones of a peal of bells. The voice of this bird can be heard distinctly for three-fourths of a mile. The voice of the oriole sounds as though the bird were singing Tuscan Latin. The voice of the wood dove is like a flute. The red bird's voice resembles a piccolo. The scraping voice of the whet-saw resembles so exactly the sound of a saw at a log mill that when it scrapes its song out at night more than one sawyer has been waked from his sleep supposing that the mill was in motion. The canary has a zither voice. The catbird imitates a violin. The monotonous voice of the blue jay is like a Scotch bagpipe."—New York Evening Sun.

Stalking the Moose.

For winter stalking, while the snow is from four to six inches deep, the dress of the hunter should be made of a heavy, light colored woolen fabric, with wool socks and stout, soft moccasins, as ordinary leather foot gear makes too much noise in passing through brush or hard snow.

There must be no frozen crust upon the snow and the harder the wind blows the better, as this tends to prevent the sound of the hunter's footsteps from reaching the sensitive ears of the animal, and for the same reason, the stalker should invariably move against or across the wind, as his prospects of success would be exceedingly precarious should he hunt with the wind, when the keen smelling and hearing faculties of the animal would, in all probability, apprise him of danger long before the hunter came in sight.

The moose is not only wonderfully alert in detecting the proximity of hunters, but he seems to be instinctively endowed with the faculty of discriminating between the sounds produced by the hunters' movements and those made by the elements, or other natural causes, such as the loud cracking or falling of branches from trees, which give him no alarm, whereas the breaking of a small twig by the step of a human will sometimes startle the wary beast so as to cause him to run for miles at his utmost speed.—Brig. Gen. Randolph B. Marcy in Outing.

The Precocious Child.

As a rule, the precocious child is of a scrofulous diathesis, with a fair, brilliant complexion, blue eyes and golden hair, beautiful to look on, according to popular standards. He is delicately sensitive to mental impressions, and alive to the conversation of persons much older than he.

He generally goes on in his unique career, outstripping his brothers and sisters, as well as his schoolmates, in the committing of tasks at school, as well as in the reading of books far beyond their comprehension.

This generally goes on until the age of puberty, when he begins to falter. The hectic flush is seen upon the fair cheek, the eye becomes more brilliant, and the finer and more spiritual elements come out with almost supernatural intensity.

By and by a slight cough and phthisis tuberculosis has laid the foundation of premature death.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Coffee Tree.

Coffee is not a bush, as is popularly supposed, but a tree, which, if permitted to grow, will shoot up thirty or forty feet. When properly cultivated it is nipped off about six feet from the ground, thus presenting a surface from which the berries are easily picked and allowing the main stem to gain greater strength. The tall shrubs somewhat resemble the magnolias with their shining, dark green leaves, but the starry, snow white flowers remind one of orange blossoms in all but fragrance. The phenomenon is constantly displayed of buds, blossoms, green and ripe fruit, all on the same stem; but, though always flowering and developing fruit, the true harvest season is from April to November. When fully matured the berries are dark red, looking precisely like a common variety of sea bean. They turn to a dull brown after being been picked, and become almost black by drying.—Frank Leslie's.

SAVED HIS LEG!

SCROFULA

BONE CURED!

LITHONIA, GA., August 11, 1887.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—I have been afflicted with ulceration of the legs ever since I was a child, the disease undoubtedly being hereditary, as my mother suffered from scrofulous symptoms. As I advanced to manhood my affliction increased until the malady became harrassing and painful beyond the power of words to describe. My right leg particularly became fearfully involved, the left leg being less painfully affected. Finally, about fourteen years ago, the ulcers on my right leg had eaten through the flesh into the bone. In order to save my life the doctors determined to amputate my leg below the knee. The operation was successfully performed by Dr. H. V. M. Miller, of Atlanta, and Dr. W. P. Bond, of Lithonia. But the loss of my leg gave me only temporary relief. The poison was still in my system and soon began to show itself again. In a short time after large ulcers appeared on my left leg, covering it from the knee to the instep. Frequently while at work I could be tracked by the blood which oozed from the huge ulcers, and the sores and rottening holes were so offensive that my fellow workmen could not stand the stench and would move away from me.

Last winter I was persuaded to try S. S. S. As a last effort I consented to do so, and about seven months ago I began taking the Specific. I soon began to feel the good effects of the medicine, the offensive running began to grow less and less and finally ceased, the ulcers healed, my flesh became firm and solid, and to-day, after using twenty one bottles, I am as hale and stout a man of my age as there is in Georgia. I am seventy-one years old, but feel now younger and stronger than I did when I was twenty-five. I weigh about 190 pounds. Nothing is to be seen of the terrible disease, or the rankling rage of the torture I suffered for so many years, except the scars of the perfectly healed ulcers.

I want the world to know of the almost miraculous cure effected on me by S. S. S., and I call upon those who wish to know the particulars directly from me to write, and I will consider it a pleasure as well as a duty to answer their letters. I refer to Dr. W. P. Bond, of Lithonia, as to the truth of my statement. Very gratefully yours,

R. DOZIER.

The Law Has Some Sense.

In the case of the state of Maine vs. one barrel of whiskey, C. H. Guppy claimant, involving the constitutionality of the "prima facie" clause of the liquor law of last winter, decision has been sent down from the law court sustaining the exceptions, and granting a new trial. The decision construes the statute to mean that such evidence is competent and sufficient to justify a jury in finding defendant guilty, provided it does in fact satisfy them of his guilt beyond reasonable doubt, and not otherwise. The jury are not obliged to find a defendant guilty on "prima facie" evidence, whether they believe him to be guilty or not.

Dr. Norvin Green's Showing.

The president of the Western Union Telegraph Co. last week appeared before the senate post-office committee in opposition to government telegraph bills. He maintained that American people enjoy a perfect a system of telegraph, as any person who has had experience with telegraphs abroad would testify. He read a letter from the agent of the associated press in London, which was as follows: "The telegraph communication between France and England is disgracefully bad. It is an actual fact that London merchants send their messages to Havre by way of New York, and they reach Havre quicker than if they were sent from London to Havre direct." He showed that the English rate of twelve cents for twelve words, including date, address and signature, would in a very large number of cases, if applied to mesages in the United States, amount to more than the current twenty-five cent rate charged by his company. In England the messages are 50,243.639 a year. Now to handle a business of about of 3,000,000 messages in a year, he said, the telegraph lines in the United States have 176,000 miles of line carrying 630,000 miles of wire and cables; maintaining 17,000 offices and covering an area twenty-five times as great as the British system.

Stop His Talk.

Remember how gleefully the ghoulish mugwump, in his beginning, tickled himself with the idea that President Cleveland would "whip the democrats into line"

"Into line" meant into line with the mugwumps.

It is now conspicuously demonstrated that the democracy is indeed in line. The almost solid front presented by the democratic officeholders shows the nature of the whipping in which the president has applied to them. It was like love pats, full of unadulterated partisan sympathy.

So the line once dreamed of by the mugwumps has turned out to be the democratic line; and as for Mr. Cleveland, he has been brought into line with the party, not the party into line with him.

The Boston Transcript and Herald, the New York Post and Times, and the rest of the British-free-trade-mugwump-democratic sheets, should order Dana to shut up; what is the use of allowing him to tell the truth in such a reckless manner as that?

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

Enquire of F. J. PHILBRICK, 36 Market St.

The sons of the late George B. Wentworth of Dover, who was fatally hurt in the railroad disaster at Bradford, Mass., announce that they will continue the shoe manufacturing business in Dover.

Mrs. Dow of the Dover horse railroad orders a reduction in the number of free passages over the road. Deadheading on a horse railroad seems like small business, but on the Boston roads this class of travellers were until recently quite numerous.

Florence Silk Mittens.

This engraving shows the latest style of these goods. It is published as a protection for those ladies who wish to obtain mittens well-made from genuine Florence Knitting Silk.

The pattern shown here is lined in back and wrist throughout with silk. They are perfect fitting, and in cold climates are far more comfortable than any glove, and more dur able and quite as elegant and fashionable as the best of gloves.

Sold by all enterprising dealers, who can be supplied at our agency, No. 18 Summer Street, Boston. Our latest book on knitting (1887 edition) contains over 100 valuable Illustrated Rules, including full instructions for this mitten. Mailed to any address on receipt of six cents in stamps.

MR. GARVIN'S BENEFIT.

Vacant chairs were not to be found on the floor of Music hall, Monday evening, when "The Private Secretary" was performed by local talent for the benefit of Mr. C. P. Garvin, of the State street club house; the audience was not only a very large one, but was composed of our best people, and the close attention given to the play showed that it was thoroughly enjoyed.

The parts were well taken throughout; and we say this not because the performers were all young ladies and gentlemen of this city, but because it is true. There was one defect apparent with some of them—they spoke for the stage instead of for the house; in other words, they were too natural in their parts, and missed the exaggeration of tone and power necessary to make their words sound distinct and natural to the audience—an invariable failing in amateur theatrical performances.

Mr. Garvin, as the unlucky private secretary, was excellent, as was also Mr. C. W. Gray as old Cattermole, the returned East Indian; Mr. A. N. LaBrie's experience was noticeable in his easy bearing, and Mr. F. W. Moses made all that was possible of the comparatively minor part of Mr. Marsland. Miss Georgine Moses was good as the landlady; Miss Grace Sides, as Edith Marsland, and Miss Emily Hoyt, as Edith's companion, had not a great deal to do but look pretty, and at that they were brilliantly successful; and Miss Alice Sides, as the chaperone and spiritualistic devotee, was a "star," looking and acting her part to perfection, and reciting her lines beautifully. The other parts were all satisfactorily filled.

The orchestra furnished some very fine music, and the Orpheus club gave some pleasing selections of vocal music which were favorably received by the audience. One act, not down in the bills, was the presentation to Mr. Garvin during the evening by Mr. Charles Kingsbury, on behalf of friends of Mr. Garvin in Great Falls, of a very handsome silver tea service.

"THE PEOPLE'S THEATRE."

Notwithstanding the strong counter attraction at Music hall on Monday evening, there was a very good audience at Franklin theatre, the gallery being packed and the body of the house fairly filled. The company is a good one, and the plays well staged and handsomely dressed.

This evening East Lynne will be presented, with a farce to finish out with. Tickets at Stich Ban, and at the door.

UNIVERSALIST SERMON—"The Sympathy of Heaven."

"For I say unto you, that their angels do always behold the face of my Father who is in heaven." Matt. 18, 10.

Every great truth, when carried to its uttermost possible meaning, trespasses upon the province of some other equally great truth. But if both are well urged, a third truth will arise including and covering the ground of both.

For example, the fact that the sense of reverence and awe must be maintained among men in order to make them behave, is one truth. The fact that ideas of cruelty and superstition must be done away with, and religion must be made reasonable to great minds, is another truth. They clash. Here is the casus belli of the church.

The third truth, that covers both, is that there is enough in the facts of God, the Universe, the human soul, to fill anybody with awe and reverence when they know enough to feel their force.

Again, and in reference to our subject: It is true that we believe that goodness is happiness in the future state, as well as in this. Yet we believe in the constancy of affection with goodness. Then how can a mother be happy in heaven who sees her children suffer on earth?

The laws of the nature and being of the soul never change. And it is this nature and being that determine our pain and pleasure here and hereafter. Under these laws the soul is developed, and becomes capable of sorrow or happiness in proportion to our faculty for the same.

There are Divine helps; but the power to grasp them is in the soul, and varies greatly. All the denunciation of the pulpit, all the horror of anathema and creed, all the thunders of Sinai, must simmer down to this one fact, viz., Punishment and happiness are in the soul, and God himself will not transcend its authority. Hell and heaven are barred by the boundaries of the soul. External things are null and void. In a spiritual state (not necessarily future) things are spiritual.

The mother's spiritual being is largely centred upon her children. Physical dissolution has nothing to do with it. Why should physical death interpose a problem in spiritual being? It is to be hoped that the church will drop that idea. Therefore the mother's sorrow for her children is simply a question of the affection that comes of a larger spiritual development. Let present experience assume the question.. The happiness of heaven, like the happiness of earth, when weighed down by the sight of suffering, is dependent upon how much our spiritual progression has let us into the secret of divine sacrifice, how much we see of discipline in the beautiful ministry of sorrow. God is everywhere. Our questions and doubts for the future are needless. You are a christ, or you are a cross. He will bring victory out of both. The happiness of heaven is a growing trust in this truth.

"ON THE TRAIL."

This evening, at Music hall, the sensational frontier drama "On the Trail: or, Dan'l Boone, the Pioneer," will be presented, with Capt. Jack Lavelle, late chief of scouts of the army, in the title role, supported by a strong company and all needed accessories, including five horses, a bear, wolves, a trained donkey, and a band of genuine Indians. See advertisement.

Special Meeting, G. A. R.

Per Order D. J. VAUGHAN, Comd'r.

Decidedly Winterish.

There is no need to go the Arctic regions, or to Dakota, for "old-fashioned winter weather." From zero to twenty below ought to satisfy anybody. On Monday the space enclosed by the north millbridge, the Noble's island bridge and the Freeman's point bridge was solidly frozen over, and the boys were having a good time skating there. The Little Harbor channel, from the upper Newcastle bridges to Frost's point, was covered by a thick coating of ice, as was also the channel between Four Tree island and the Water street wharves. The Cocheco river was reported as frozen over down to its mouth, and teams crossing in safety between Dover point and Eliot. Above the Dover point bridge there has been solid ice for some time, and all of the upper branches of the Piscataqua are ice-bound. The main river was frozen over as far down as Boiling rock, off the Eliot shore, a mile or so above Portsmouth bridge, Monday morning, and people walked across from abreast the Advent chapel at Eliot Neck to the New Hampshire side of the river, Monday forenoon—something that the oldest inhabitant does not recollect as having occurred before.

Railroad Relief Association Ball.

The third annual ball of the Boston & Maine Railroad Relief Association will be held in Mechanics' building, Huntington avenue, Boston, next Friday evening, Jan. 27th; music by Salem Cadet band. Tickets admitting gentleman and lady, one dollar. Each ball ticket entitles the holder to two half-fare tickets to Boston and return on presentation at any ticket office of the B. & M. R. R., good going on any train Friday, Jan. 27th, and returning on any train Friday, 27th, or Saturday, Jan. 28th. There will also be an extra passenger train leave Boston for Portsmouth and way stations at 5:30 A. M. Saturday, (after the ball,) thus giving purchasers of ball tickets an opportunity to attend the theatres or ball and make home early Saturday morning, at one-half the usual ticket rates to Boston. For further information and ball tickets, apply to N. C. Trickey, ticket agent, G. A. Silsbee, conductor, or G. B. Wallace, telegraph office at the Boston & Maine station, this city.

Ladies should examine the remnants of dress goods at Geo. B. French's.

Grand clearance sale of dress goods at Lewis E. Staples.' Greatly reduced prices for two weeks. Remnants marked way down.

In Music hall, Thursday evening, Jan. 26th, Mr. Harry G. French will lecture in the Star course, on the subject "Ireland," (illustrated.)

The steamer Mystic had such a hard job to get out from her Kittery landing on Monday morning that she tied up at her wharf on this side of the river the rest of the day, omitting all her other trips. Ice was what was the matter.

In the case of Wiggin vs. Severance, suit to recover $2400 for damages caused to Wiggin and his team through his horse being frightened by defendant's dog, the jury at Exeter on Monday gave a verdict for $800.

Harris Wener's clothing and shoe store in North Conway was burned by a defective chimney Jan. 23d. Loss $6000; insurance $4400, including $1500 in the Granite State Co. of this city.

Owing to a lack of appropriations, all the storm signal display stations along the coast are discontinued. The surplus in the treasury must be reduced.

Below zero, Monday morning, at Dover 20; Great Falls 23; Farmington 22; Nashua 24; Lancaster 37; Lebanon 32; Enfield 37; Keene 34; Swansey 33; rest of the state anywhere from 14 to 32.

JANUARY 1st, 1888.

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory.

Very respectfully,

ANDREW F. PRESTON,

Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

WM. S. WILLEY, Lafayette Road.

Good Chance for Investment.

TWO parties have been in this city, one from Biddeford, Me., the other from Haverhill, Mass., to buy the block corner of Jefferson and Water Streets, containing two stores and six tenements; but I prefer to sell it in conjunction with my other real estate, namely, House No. 5 Walden Street, with Barn and Lot; House and large Barn, No. 1 Holmes Court, and Lot 130x30 feet in same Court, running down to the river. Half the purchase money can remain on interest at six per cent.

William Coombs, who has been a tenant in the Water Street Block, will be there no more.

☞ The property is offered for sale on account of my desire to close up my business here.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., BOSTON.

Blood Drinkers of Paris.

It is in the Hebrew section of the slaughter house that you see the blood drinkers, who come regularly every day to drink their glass of warm blood, the first blood that gushes from the throat of the animals slaughtered by the schohtim, a sovereign cure for anæmia. A few years ago the famous dancer of the opera, Rosita Mauri, used to come regularly to the slaughter house to be treated, not for anæmia, but for a sprained ankle. By the counsel of an old habitue of the opera, who had seen Fanny Elsler suffering from a similar accident, Rosita Mauri plunged her sprained ankle every morning in the warm entrails of a newly killed calf. A fortnight of this horrible treatment cured the ballerina of her sprain.—Paris Cor. New York Sun.

Strength of Fleas.

Fleas are possessed of great strength. Mouffet tells of a mechanic who made a gold chain, as long as his finger, that a flea dragged after him, and a golden chariot, which he drew also. Bingley writes of a watch maker in the Strand who had an ivory four wheeled chaise, with a coachman on its box, drawn by a flea. The same man afterward made a carriage with six horses, a coachman, four persons inside, two footmen behind, and a postilion on one of the horses, all of which were drawn by a single flea. Latrielle mentions a flea which dragged a silver cannon, of twenty-four times its own weight, mounted on wheels, and showed no fear when it was charged with gunpowder and fired off. Rene says that he saw three fleas drawing a tiny omnibus; that a pair drew a chariot, and that a brass cannon was dragged by a single one.—S. L. Clayes in Swiss Cross.

Utility of Palladium.

The rapid increase in the use of electricity as a motive power gives special interest to the discovery that palladium, a metal of the platinum group, but of far lower density than the latter, may be substituted for steel in the manufacture of watches. Palladium is absolutely non-polarizable, and it is unaffected to any noticeable extent by the presence of a magnetic field. Besides this it has the incidental advantage of being rust proof. The discovery is due to Mr. C. A. Paillard, of Geneva, Switzerland, and watches are now being constructed with this metal.—Boston Budget.

Flax Dressing in Chili.

Senor Isidoro Errazuriz, the Chilian immigration agent in Europe, has been ordered to offer free passage to Chili to twenty Irish families who are expert in the act of dressing flax. It is said the plant grows wild there in abundance, that it is of excellent quality, and that if a few people who understand preparing the staple for market are once established there the industry will soon be of great importance.—Boston Transcript.

There are two kinds of joke. One makes you ache with laughter, and the other only makes you ache. This one belongs to the latter class.

Pug dogs as pets have had their day among the extremely fashionable, but colds never go out of fashion, so that it is always necessary to know that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a sure cure for all coughs and colds

Forty persons narrowly escaped being burned to death in an apartment house at Chicago on the 22d inst.; one man and one woman will probably die.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

Fourteen men were burned to death in a boarding house at Tower, Minn., Jan. 21st.

Ayer's Pills cure constipation, improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. This medicine is pleasant to take and gentle in its operation. See article in Ayer's Almanac.

Another Irish priest and a member of the British parliament have been arrested under the Irish crimes act.

Rear Admiral Louis Hutton Verturme, of the British navy, retired, has committed suicide.

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples, sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them.

A woman in Cork, Ireland, has been arrested on a charge of starving her husband to death.

Rid yourself of pain, soreness and weaknesses by using the Hop Plasters. Safe, reliable, infallible.

A committee of congress will probably investigate the big "trusts."

How to Shake Hands.

Do not shake pump handle or dude fashion, or in a soft don't care sort of a way. If your hands are rough, chapped, smart or burn, apply at night after washing, Hop Ointment, the cure is guaranteed; never fails 25 cents. At druggists.

James Houston, a driver on the Dover horse railroad, has been promoted to be superintendent of the road.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

AFFAIRS IN KITTERY.

KITTERY POINT, ME., Jan. 24th.

It is very cold and blustering here today. The light snow that fell last night is being whirled along the roads and across the fields at a rapid rate.

The ice men are improving the weather, and the teams are busy from sunrise to sunset. Lafayette Frisbee is cutting on his new pond near the Foye farm. His ice house will be filled to-day, and then he fills his large shed behind the ice house. Mr. Frisbee supplies the Kittery Fish Co. with ice this season. Saturday one of the double horse-teams hauled fifteen loads of ice from the new pond, one hundred and fifty cakes in all.

The fish business has not been very brisk this last week. Sunday and Monday the vessels could not reach the fish house for ice. They landed their fish in the vicinity of Fort McClary, and they were hauled to the fish wharf. But few fish have been shipped this week.

Mrs. Noah Emery, who sprained her ankle badly five weeks ago, is now able to go around the house.

Mrs. Martin Williams is quite sick at the present time.

The son of Capt. Richard H. Seaward sprained his ankle badly a short time since.

People who walk over the York Harbor & Beach railroad should be careful about picking up dynamite cart tidges. Almond McCloud of this place picked up a cartridge some time ago, supposing it to be empty. While handling it it exploded in his hands, badly injuring his fingers.

Miss Haley has closed her revival labors at Newcastle, and gone to Ogunquit, Me., where Rev. Jesse Carr is located. She will hold meetings there during several coming weeks. Rev. J. H. Mugridge of Newcastle was present at the Christian chapel last evening. Elder Webster and Elder Mugridge were assisted by Rev. L. E. Hall, pastor of the Freewill Baptist church of this place. There is an increasing interest in the meetings, notwithstanding the severity of the weather. Much good has been accomplished by Elder Webster in his present field of labor at Lovell, Me. Rev. L. E. Hall preaches his farewell sermon next Sunday. He will take a vacation before settling with any church again.

There will be no singing school until Monday night. AUNT MOLLY.

The schooner King Philip, Coombs master, from Newport News with 1825 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker, arrived at this port on the 24th inst.

If a Body Kiss a Body.

But to enjoy it one must have smooth, clear lips. Chapped, rough lips made smooth and clear by one application of Hop Ointment. Warranted to cure. At all druggists.

Peter Leitao, formerly cook of the American schooner Charles E. Morrison, on the 23d inst. in Boston received a verdict of $2000 against the captain for cruelty.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is prescribed and recommended by eminent physicians, and is taken with perfect safety by old and young. Its cleansing and vivalizing effects are sure and speedy, and it is universally conceded to be the most effective of all blood purifiers.

The supreme court of the United States has dismissed the appeal of Maxwell, the St. Louis trunk murderer.

I was troubled with catarrh for thirty years. Have suffered a great deal. My eyes, ears and throat were greatly affected. Mr. Kinney, the druggist, induced me to try Ely's Cream Balm and for the past two years have had very little trouble. I have lived in Webster, Mass., and Rockville, Conn. Very respectfully, J. W. Pratt, Monson, Mass.

I have improved greatly since using Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh. I feel like a new man. It is a blessing to humanity.—John D. Farrell, Hartford, Conn.

BEFORE THE RAIN.

The blackcaps pipe among the reeds,
And there'll be rain to follow;
There is a murmur as of wind
In every copse and hollow:
The wrens do chatter of their fears
While swinging on the barley ears.

Come, hurry, while there yet is time,
Pull up thy scarlet bonnet.
Now, sweetheart, as my love is thine,
There is a drop upon it.
So trip it ere the storm king weird
Doth pluck the barley by the beard.

Lo! not a whit too soon we're housed;
The storm witch yells above us;
The branches rapping on the panes
Seem not in truth to love us.
And look where through the clover bush
The nimble footed rain doth rush!

—Amelie Rives in Harper's Magazine.

A PECULIAR PEOPLE.

The Inhabitants of Salonika—Jews at Heart, but Turks to the World.

In these days it is somewhat difficult to find anywhere peculiar people who are not public property; about the Mormons of America and the savages of Central Africa we know as much, if not more, than we know about ourselves; so that it was with considerable satisfaction that I came across a peculiar people who in many respects out-Mormon Mormons and have customs as quaint as any to be found in Central Africa. Moreover, they live in Europe, in the ancient city of Salonika, and come of the most ancient stock in the world—namely, the Hebrew; they are bound together by ties that none dare break, they are a double faced race, a race with two distinct religions, a race which leads two distinct lives, professing openly to be followers of Mohammed, while in private they profess a religion of their own, accepting the old Hebrew traditions, yet believing in the first advent of their own Messiah and living in daily expectation of his second coming.

The Turks call them "Dunmehs," or "renegades" their Jewish brethren call them "hypocrites," while they call themselves Maimeenim, or "true believers." For the sake of simplicity we will call them Dunmehs, and we may take it for granted that they are disliked by both their would be co-religionists, and in consequence they have been compelled to exercise secrecy in their acts and creeds, a fact which has rendered them a mysterious people in the midst of a busy mercantile world. During a recent stay at Salonika I set myself the task of investigating this people.

Salonika may be termed a New Jerusalem, as there are no less than 70,000 of the seed of Abraham within its walls; almost all the business of the place is carried on by them; the quays are gay with them in their quaint costumes, the men with their long robes lined with fur over a tunic of striped cotton or silk, while the women are decked in the gayest color possible, and adorn their heads with caps of green or red, closely bound over their foreheads, and hanging down behind in a thick trail embroidered with gold thread and terminating in a fringe of gold, while around their necks hang strings of pearls and other jewels. These Jews of Salonika are perhaps the most fervid adherents of the quaint rabbinical doctrines to be found anywhere nowadays. During the days before the Passover you may see Jewish women at the tombs outside the walls, in their long red cloaks and white mantles round their shoulders, wailing over their dead; turbaned rabbis stand at the gate of Karamilia to conduct families, for a consideration, to the graves of their relatives, there to excite them to frenzy by reading portions of Scripture, and finally to drive them home again like sheep when the ceremony is over, with lacerated arms and faces, uttering bitter wails.—Longman's Magazine.

The Little Diamond Scales.

"Diamond scales are now being brought to such a state of perfection that we will soon be able to detect flaws in like stones by the minutest variation in weight," said a diamond importer. "That handsome piece of mechanism in the cherry case over there is one of the very latest improved balances. I do not find the least difficulty in accurately weighing a 640th part of a carat with it, and believe that I could easily go beyond that if I wished.

"When I think of some of the crude balances formerly used, and which were then thought all but perfection, it makes me wonder what our ancestors were using instead of the handsome scales now in the market.

"For our purpose, however, a scale which accurately weighs one sixty-fourth of a carat is preferable to the more delicate ones, for, as you know, we rarely weigh less than that, and the latter are so sensitive that they often give us trouble in obtaining a balance."—Jewelers' Weekly.

Japanese Drinking Habits.

Most to be deprecated is the constant growth of European and American drinking customs. The native sake or rice wine, with about the strength of table sherry, was bad enough when used to excess, but Japan today is being flooded from abroad with alcoholic drinks, good, bad and indifferent. It is impossible to find a town of any importance in which there are not large shops filled with beer, wine and distilled spirits bearing the marks of western makers.—Cor. Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Royalty Earning Daily Bread.

There have been already, and are at present, a few members of the princely families of the old world engaged in the pursuits of common life. A Bavarian prince excels in surgery; a Roumanian queen is teaching school and writing stories in prose and verse; a Brazilian emperor is known as a journalist, and now one Prince Henry of Reuss has not only composed a symphony, but conducted its first performance at the hall of the Philharmonic society at Hamburg.—Chicago News.

A DISTRESSING COUGH.

How many, especially during the Fall and Winter months, are troubled with a Cough, sometimes dry and hacking, sometimes loose causing the sufferer to raise a large amount of offensive matter; this can soon be cured by using Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific, which acts directly on the Throat and Lungs.

Cured her Cough.

MRS. JEREMIAH CLARK, Lowell, Mass., says: "Twelve years ago I first took a bottle of your Throat and Lung Specific. I had been troubled with a very bad Cough for months. A so-cent bottle cured my Cough. Since then I have not been without it. I can heartily recommend it to any one who has a bad cough."

Saved his Life.

CHAS. A. WAITT, says: "No language can express the value I attach to your Specific. I believe it saved my life."

We would cite other testimonials did we think it necessary, but a trial bottle will convince you that it is all we represent. Give it a trial.

Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific is sold by all Druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. Prepared only by the INGALLS MEDICAL CO., Lowell, Mass.

Prominents democrats of Biddeford, Saco and Alfred met in the mayor's office in Biddeford on the 23d inst., and organized a stock company for the purpose of starting a democratic daily paper in Biddeford. The organization will be known as the York Publishing company, and starts with a capital stock of $2500, divided into shares of $100. The following officers were elected: President, Hampden Fairfield of Saco; clerk, Benjamin F. Chadbourne of Biddeford; treasurer, Carlos Heard of Biddeford; directors, Hampden Fairfield of Saco, Edward W. Staples, Edwin Stone, Carlos Heard, Samuel F. Parcher, Tristram Goldthwait, of Biddeford, and William Emery of Alfred.

The effects after taking Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam are a soothing and controlling influence over any cough or cold, promoting rest, allaying the tickling sensation in the throat, and causing a healthy expectoration. All our drug stores have sold it for twenty years.

We have just received a beautiful large calendar from the old and reliable house of Williams & Clark Co., Cotton Exchange building, New York, who put out the purest and highest grade fertilizers now found on the market. Their Americus Brand is used largely in all the New England and Middle states. An important part of their business, also, is the preparation of high grade special fertilizers for each particular crop. Farmers can make no mistake in buying these fertilizers; send to their address above for this almanac and circular.

Consumption Can be Cured!

Not by any secret remedy, but by proper, healthful exercise, and the judicious use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, which contains the healing and strengthening virtues of these two valuable specifics in their fullest form. Prescribed by physicians. Take no other.

HANOVER, Jan. 23d.

Although the mercury was not as far down at the beginning of this term as it was at the beginning of the winter term of '87, the atmosphere caused many to shiver who had come from the south. It has ranged during the past four mornings from zero to thirty below.

It is reported that Prof. Quimby's health has not improved much during the vacation.

Prof. Patterson had a large class of students in his bible class yesterday. It is hoped that the attendence will remain good, as otherwise we shall lose his instruction, which is given free gratis.

Rev Mr. Peddyfoot preached on home missions yesterday, in the college church.

There are are a large number of students yet to return. B.

Ruffianism in Canada.

It is reported from Kingston, Ontario, that in retaliation for the hard fight being made by the temperance people of Leeds county, eleven buildings have been burned at Irish Creek, the Methodist church and a tannery at Kennettville have been burned, and five constables have been stoned and assaulted. Dr. Ferguson, M. P., and three others, one of them a minister, have been assailed and threatened with murder, and two deacons of a Baptist church have been warned to dismiss their minister or have their church burned. The temperance people are undismayed, however, and have had forty or fifty tavern-keepers fined; have sent three offenders to the penitentiary, and have had the assailants of the constables fined $800.

Our Defenceless Lake Coast.

Rear Admiral Jouett, U. S. N., sent a very strong letter which was read before the National Shipping Convention in Washington last week, drawing attention to the defenceless condition of the great lakes. The letter says:

There is not a nation on the earth so rich, so weak, and which is surrounded by so many sources of danger as the United States—absolutely defenceless on land and sea. Canada and the fisheries question? If the commission now sitting fails in its action, what then? Ah, the gravest consequences. Does it occur to you, gentlemen, that our lake commerce is twice as large as it is on the seaboard? Do you know that the lake cities are as rich as those of the coast, and as numerous, and that they are defenceless? Ah! the government has one little steamer (gunboat,) the Michigan. By no possibility can the United States get to her own great lakes by vessel. But mark England's approach—the Welland canal leading into our entire chain of lakes. She can throw fifty gunboats on our lakes at will. We have already made, in 1817, a treaty by which neither nation can have more than one 100-ton vessel carrying one 18-pounder gun. Draw your own inference. The Isthmus of Panama, which we are bound by solemn treaty to protect; the guarding of Cuba from all nation—Mexico? Or is the Monroe doctrine an empty boast with which we tickle our own vanity, while we excite the ridicule of other powers. And still the nation slumbers.

MATTERS IN YORK.

YORK CORNER, ME., Jan. 24th.

Mrs. Rhoda Remedell, an inmate at the almshouse, celebrated the 100th anniversary of her birthday on Monday, the 16th inst.

Mrs. Sally Parsons, aged ninety-five years, died on Saturday the 21st.

Mrs. Susan Shaw, widow of Capt. Jos. H. Shaw, died on Tuesday, the 17th inst. aged seventy-six years and five months.

Mr. Reuben Doucette felt aristocratic, and has long since removed to the village, where he is engaged at shoemaking and repairing in Mr. J. O. Barrett's harness rooms. Mr. James W. Heard fills the vacancy here at the Corner, having taken rooms over Messrs. C. H. Junkins & Co.'s store, where he will promptly attend to all who need his services. Good, faithful work and low prices he guarantees his patrons.

The mails for the several (or more) offices in York are now carried over the York Harbor & Beach railroad. Messenger service is required between the several offices and stations. G. W. S. Putnam (the former mail carrier) has been awarded the service from York office (Varrell's) for $69. No award has been made from York Corner post-office via York village, and the postmaster at York Corner has, by authority of Sec. 779 of the postal laws and regulations, employed Mr. Putnam for the temporary service. The schedule of departure and arrival of mails as fixed by Postmaster Plaisted of York Corner, under Sec. 768 of the postal laws, is as follows: Leave office at 6:30 A. M.; arrive at office at 12:20 P. M. This arrangement seems to be giving very general satisfaction.

Rev. W. B. Flanders, of the Christian Baptist church, got a good pounding last evening, and we are glad of it! He deserved it, and we only wish they had pounded him harder! but should you ever thet they would ha' done so? members of his church, and young people who are generally well behaved, to go there and pound him in every way they could think on. They fairly abused him by pounding, and at last they took a pound of silver dollars, and gin him the whole heft on't. Good 'nuff for him. We've got no pity on him. Anybody who deserves a poundin oughter have it! P.

YORK BEACH, ME., Jan. 23d.

Mr. A. F. Poole, a Boston artist, is stopping at the Ocean house.

Hotel Rockaway is to be the name of the new hotel which is now being built here.

The Atlantic house (which is the name of C. B. Hildreth's hotel,) is nearing completion.

The York Beach Minstrel company, which was organized last week, will give their first entertainment at the Ocean house at an early date, the proceeds of the entertainment to go toward building a hall.

The usual Sunday evening praise service was held at the Ocean house Sunday evening, and was highly enjoyed by all lovers of good vocal and instrumental music. The young ladies in the orchestra who draw the bow so deftly bid fair to become experts on the stringed instrument in the near future. SUB.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 421 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

Death of Judge Woodman.

Hon. Charles W. Woodman of Dover, one of the oldest practicing lawyers in the state, died Jan. 24th, in the 79th year of his age. He was born in Rochester, and on his mother's side was a descendant of Rev. Stephen Chase, the eminent preacher and scholar of Newcastle, and of Col. Joshua Wingate of Hampton, who took a prominent part in the capture of Louisburg. He was long a law partner of the late Hon. John P. Hale; he also was at one time judge of the court of common pleas, and during the war was a paymaster in the army. He married in 1840 Miss Charlotte Pearce, daughter of the late Stephen Pearce of this city, many years ago. He leaves a second wife, and two daughters by his first wife.

A Sensible Force Pump.

Mr. Ernest Holmes, of Greenland, is agent in this section for the Buckeye force pump, of which over 100,000 are in use in all parts of the country, everywhere giving entire satisfaction. The pump is made with especial reference to avoid freezing in the coldest weather, delivers a large amount of water with a small expenditure of power, and is suitable alike for shallow wells or those a hundred feet deep. All particulars will be furnished on application to Mr. Holmes at Greenland, personally or by mail.

Death of a Former Portsmouth Man.

Mr. Francis Blake, a native of this city, but for twenty years past senior partner in the firm of Blake, Moffitt & Towne, importers and wholesale dealers in paper of all kinds on Sacramento and Commercial streets, San Francisco, Cal., died at his residence in Oakland on Friday, the 6th inst., at the age of sixty-nine years. The following obituary we take from The Pacific, of San Francisco:

During the last twenty years Mr. Blake has been known as the head of a great and wealthy importing house, dealing in paper, etc., but he began business in this city, in the fifties, in a much more humble way. He was a practical printer and pressman, and he set up a printing establishment, with a press on which several papers were printed for a term of months or years. Among the papers for which he did the presswork, in his early months, was The Pacific, whose patronage he was glad to have, and in whose welfare he has always taken a lively interest. Mr. Blake was a careful, patient, painstaking, honorable and prudent business man, and prospered, because he had no personal vices and lived frugally. He has been a man whom all people respected, trusted and admired. He was not a talkative man, nor very social, though he had an inner circle in which he was kindly, genial and companionable. He profoundly regarded other people's sentiments, opinions and judgments, and never obtruded upon them. He cherished no hostilities. He was glad to aid the well-deserving, and took pleasure in their prosperity. He was in every way a good citizen, whom men loved to honor, and whom they would have honored for more largely and highly had he permitted them. He was a good husband, father and friend, and had a special love for his home. Into that home several children were born. Three daughters grew up to womanhood, the eldest of whom died after a few years of married life, leaving a little child. Two sons were born to him, who died in their infancy. There survive of the family, the wife and mother, two daughters (one married and far away,) and the grandfather, Captain D. S. Sutton. Mr. Blake was not professedly a religious man; but he was friendly with religious people, and a steady supporter of religious institutions. He was very reticent regarding himself and his personal religious attitude. This reserve could never be broken, though he accepted advice and admonition thankfully. He did volunteer once to say to a friend that he believed in the great mercy of God, trusted him, and hoped he was living so as to be the object of that mercy. And to that infinite mercy every friend and neighbor most fervently commits him and commends him.

Special Meeting, G. A. R.

Per Order D. J. VAUGHAN, Comd'r.

In our notice of the performance of "The Private Secretary" at Music hall on Monday evening we omitted to mention the stage setting, which for the second and third acts was very tasteful and pleasing.

Mr. Frank Wendell of Salem, Mass., formerly of this city, will start with a party of friends for Florida next Tuesday, to pass several weeks.

Mrs. Albert L. Stringer has arrived in this city from her home in the west, on a visit to relatives and friends here.

At the close of the theatrical entertainment in Music hall on Monday evening, the performers, orchestra and friends to the number of about forty were invited by Mr. Garvin to the State street club house, where an elaborate supper was served. The performers have formed a permanent organization, and will give dramatic entertainments in other places, the first one in Exeter some night next week; they propose to get up a working fund, and then give performances in aid of the Children's Home, the Old Ladies' Home and other local charities.

Ladies should examine the remnants of dress goods at Geo. B. French's.

Grand clearance sale of dress goods at Lewis E. Staples.' Greatly reduced prices for two weeks. Remnants marked way down.

The Perry Post says that "Josiah Page, a native of Hampton, now living at Pike's Peak, Minnesota, is visiting his old home, and is treating his friends to venison and bear steak which he brought from the west."

Hon. E. C. Moody of York hauled into this city on Tuesday a very handsome stick of timber, intended for a mast for the schooner Hattie Lewis.

The Daniel Boone company arrived in this city from Dover on Tuesday forenoon, with horses, big Injuns, wild critters in cages, and other accessories of the legitimate drama. They started out about noon to make a street parade, and in spite of the intense cold made good music until the instruments all froze up except the drum and cymbals. There was a good audience at Music hall in the evening.

Miss Mary Golden, for a number of years employed as a domestic servant in various families in this city, but of late unable to support herself, was on Monday night found insensible in her room in the upper story of a house on Brewster street, lying on the bed with her clothes on. There was no fire in the room, which bore every mark of absolute poverty. The city physician, Dr. Clark, attended her, but she died in a few hours. She had been for some time the recipient of charity, and was to have been taken to the county farm shortly. Epilepsy was said to have been the cause of her death. Her age was between fifty and sixty years.

John Hayes of Boston, a freight engineer on the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad, was stricken with paralysis on Saturday night, the 21st inst., while running his train. The fireman took the train into Boston, and Mr. Hayes was taken home, where he died on Monday.

A boy named Sargent, of Kittery, on Saturday last undertook to fire off an old gun, which went off, but at the wrong end, and filled young Sargent's face full of powder. Dr. Folsom of this city attended him.

"The Streets of New York" will be presented in Franklin theatre this evening, by the excellent company now playing there at popular prices. See advertisement.

It was stated on Tuesday that fully 800 tickets for the Nonpareil Minstrels' entertainment in Music hall on the 30th inst. had already been sold.

OREN BRAGDON, AGENT, PORTSMOUTH.

ART needle-work and valuable embroideries are frequently ruined, or their beauty much impaired by washing them with ordinary soap, which is too rank for such delicate articles. A simple, and the proper method is to make suds of hot water and IVORY SOAP, and allow to cool till lukewarm. This solution, while very effective, is perfectly harmless.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

JANUARY 1st, 1838

In wishing our friends and patrons a "Happy New Year" we call attention to the fact that our business was established in Portsmouth

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

During that time many changes have taken place, and in order to accurately dispense the physician's prescription of to-day, the apothecary has to carry a varied assortment of remedies, and possess a degree of excellence and skill not required in any other business.

We have endeavored by employing careful assistants and dispensing the finest drugs and chemicals obtainable to gain and maintain the confidence of our patrons, and in the year to come, and others which may follow, we shall exert our best efforts to faithfully and conscientiously serve their interests.

It is our intention to more prominently bring to your notice our own proprietary specialties—than which none more excellent are prepared. Our Cough Syrup, Lotion for Chapped Hands, Jamaica Ginger, and Tooth Powder, have a large and steady sale, and it is doubtful if any summer remedy has been more widely known in this vicinity than our "Elixir," while the "1838" Cologne Water hardly needs mention.

In some future advertisement we will more directly refer to the merits of our remedies, but now simply express our confidence that any business relations will prove mutually satisfactory.

Very respectfully,

ANDREW J. PRESTON,
Successor to WILLIAM R. PRESTON.

CHARLES E. LAIGHTON & SON.

THIS PAPER may be found at the Philadelphia Office of Messrs. N. W. AYER & SON, our authorized agents.

A despatch from New York says that orders were received at the navy yard there last week to put the new cruiser Atlanta on the dry dock at once, and if, upon examination, it was shown that her hull was not badly injured by the rocks near Newport, to paint her bottom and start her on a cruise to the West Indies. In view of the fact that the naval constructor recently reported that she needed repairs that would take sixty days, it looks as if it was desired to hurry her away for some unexplained reason. She will be put upon the dry dock as soon as the Trenton is floated out. The Atlanta is first to go to Port au Prince, Hayti, and take the American charge d' affaires to Santo Domingo to settle some disputed questions. Her new gun tracks have not been received yet, and until the ordnance department has finished its improvements the battery will be entirely useless."

PHILOSOPHY OF MARRIAGE, giving a clear account of the requirements to marriage, exhausted vitality, etc., etc., can be had from all news agents or forwarded direct from the author, Dr. F. J. JORDAN, 19 Dey St., Boston, on receipt of 25 cents. eod to 88

The suicide movement in England has entirely died out, because—and it is cause people think there is more good common sense in taking a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup than in carrying a lily.

Frank Kinney, boatswain of the Yarmouth, N. S., ship Vancouver, and Robert Davis, second mate of the vessel, have been sentenced to sixteen and eight years respectively in the penitentiary for outrageous cruelty to the crew. The captain, Porter, and the mate, Goudey, have been disqualified from further command.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

Philadelphia had a $1,500,000 fire in its business section on the night of the 23d inst.

Ayer's Pills cure constipation, improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. This medicine is pleasant to take and gentle in its operation. See article in Ayer's Almanac.

J. J. McGarry, a leading Knight of Labor, has received a verdict of $1500 against the Missouri Pacific railroad, in a case growing out of the railroad strike of 1886.

Vincent Lunoberg, of Stockholm, physician-in-chief to the King of Sweden, recommends Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer for the scalp and hair.

The cashier and bookkeeper of the First National bank of Auburn, N. Y., are missing; the bank is $200,000 short.

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples, sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them.

Hiram Smith, aged seventy years, was found dead and frozen stiff in his front yard at New Sharon, Me, Jan. 22d. He lived alone.

Rid yourself of pain, soreness and weaknesses by using the Hop Plasters. Safe, reliable, infallible.

The Lynn Bee is quite fond of pointing to the wages of shoemakers in Maine as proof that protection does not increase wages. But the report of the Maine bureau of labor statistics shows that Maine shoemakers, on the average, receive $9 75 per week, as compared with $2 90 in France and $2 95 in Germany. That is quite an appreciable difference.

How to Shake Hands.

Do not shake pump handle or dude fashion, or in a word don't care sort of a way. If your hands are rough, chapped, smart or burn, apply at night after washing, Hop Ointment, the cure is guaranteed; never fails 25 cents. At druggists.

The business men of Saco on Monday evening organized a board of trade, with officers as follows: President, J. F. Stearns; vice presidents, Oliver C. Clark, George F. Owen, George W. Perry; secretary and treasurer, George A. Emery; directors, George E. Twombly, James W. Littlefield, Benjamin F Hamilton, D. F. Littlefield and L. B. Milliken.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters—Editor Sun.

A Wells correspondent of the Biddeford Times writes that paper as follows: "In 1881 a certain young girl was violently sick at her father's house in Wells. The father was poor, and the town paid the physician's bill of $91 25. Recently this young girl, having become an excellent and prosperous young lady, has refunded to the town the whole amount of the bill, though her legal obligation to do so had long since expired."

"Frankie Has the Croup."

"Get up quick, John! I hear Frank is coughing. O, dear! he has the croup. Light the candle quick, and go down stairs for Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific. You will find it on the second shelf, right hand side. I always keep it where I can put my hand on it at once. Bring a teaspoon, too. Nothing ever relieved him so quick as this does, and he is so subject to croup. I would not be without it for anything."

A Joyous Type-Founder at Last.

The last drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery has rendered at least one San Francisco happy, and he is William Leslie, of Palmer and Rey's type foundry, No. 607 Sansome St., who resides with his family at 2,505 California Street. He had the good fortune to hold one tenth ticket in the second Capital Prize of $50,000 his share being $5,0 0, the money being forwarded through the agency of Wells, Fargo & Co.—*San Francisco (Cal.) The Devil Fish Described by Hugo

Is not a more tenacious monster than malaria, whether it takes the form of chills and fever, bilious remittent, ague cake or dumb ague. Like the octopus of the story it clasps the victim in it stentacular, and folds him closer and closer in a horrible embrace. Attacked with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, however, it gradually relaxes its tremendous grip, finally abandons it, and the quondum sufferer, liberated at last, rejoices in the sense of new born freedom, engendered by the restoration of complete health. Dyspepsia, too, and constipation, those old and remorseless enemies of the human family, give ground, and are finally driven from the field by this Napoleon of remedies, the greatest, the purest in the family pharmacopoeia. Rheumatism succumbs to it, so do kidney troubles. The nerves, when overstrained, regain quietude and vigor by its aid, and the ability to rest tranquilly and eat with gust are increased by it. Resort to it in time and avoid unnecessary suffering.

French business companies are discharging all foreign employes.

The richest man in Bangor, Me., is Edward H. Blake, who is worth between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. He is not yet forty years of age, and remains unmarried. He was graduated at Bowdoin college, and is a lawyer by profession. He spends his time in looking after the large property left him by his father and uncle. Mr. Blake is an eccentric man, and has but one intimate friend. He has neither parents, sisters nor brothers, and lives a lonely life. The only serious charge that can be brought against him is that he plays the clarionet.

GUARD AGAINST PICKPOCKETS.

The Various Ways in Which These Thieves Plunder Their Victims.

Have you ever had your watch stolen? If you have then you have experienced the peculiar sensation which creeps over you when the hand is carelessly dropped to take the watch out and only a dangling chain is found. No one ever had a watch stolen who did not begin to meditate on the way it was done, and usually no satisfactory conclusion is reached.

An old man came into the city a few days ago from Paterson. He has an interest in one of the big silk mills there and is wealthy. His visit was for the purpose of buying Christmas presents and he had several hundred dollars in bills, besides a gold watch and diamond scarf pin. He is naturally a timid man and had his weather eye open for thieves. His pocketbook was in his left trousers pocket and his watch was in his waistcoat on the same side. His coat was buttoned up close to his chin, so that none of the light fingered fellows could get a chance at his property. He walked through Fourteenth street from the Sixth Avenue Elevated road to Broadway, made a purchase and when he looked for his money found nothing. His watch and pin were also gone and only the dangling chain remained. There was never a more surprised man in this world, and all that he could tell Inspector Byrnes about the robbery was that he had been jostled by several men in Fourteenth street, soon after leaving the train, but he had not seen them do anything.

In the pickpockets' vocabulary he had been put through the "push and pull" game. To do this requires a "mob" of four or five men, besides the "wire," which is the term applied to the man who does the "trick." One of the "mob" is selected to do the "touching." This consists in passing the fingers gently over a person's pockets to determine if he is worth robbing. It is done always in a crowd. If everything is all right, the "toucher" gives a signal and indicates by signs where the property is. The "mob" passes in front of the victim and the "wire" and "fence" come up from behind. At a signal one of the "mob" stumbles and falls on the victim, who is nearly thrown off his feet. The "mob" grab the victim, ostensibly to keep him from falling, and then the "wire's" hands do the work. Whatever property is secured is given to the "fence," who goes off like a flash. The most famous thief in this line of work is "Poodle" Murphy. He has great nerve, and a hand that moves more quickly than the eye can well follow it. "Poodle" stole ex-Secretary Robeson's watch in this way in Philadelphia, and is said to have committed more robberies than any two other pickpockets in the country.

There are several other ways in which this class of thieves do their work. The horse car "trick" is a favorite one, and "Deafy" Price is a master of this. It is done with a newspaper, an overcoat slung over the arm, or one with holes in the pockets. It requires great boldness and confidence. The thief sits by the side of the victim, always in a crowded car. Sometimes the thief works quietly, other times with a rush. The quiet method is carried out by dropping the paper carelessly on the lap and turning in the seat as if to look out of the window. If the pocket is tight the thief will either give up the effort or cut the cloth. The thief works in the same way with the pocketless coat. If he secures anything he leaves the car at once. When force is used it is done when the car gives a sudden lurch, and the hand is driven in and out of the pocket so quickly that the victim thinks that the pressure was on the outside of his clothes. Women are often robbed in this way, and while it might seem to be dangerous, it is said to be comparatively safe for the thief.—New York Tribune.

Curious System of Contract Labor.

There is in England a curious system of contract labor which has lately interested not only writers on economical subjects, but the English government as well. In The Fortnightly Review the system is described at length. It is also mentioned in the report to parliament by J. Burnett, whose duty it was to inquire into the labor problems of the east end of London. This plan of work is known as the "sweating" system. It is prevalent in many trades, particularly in manufacturing districts. By it the owner of a factory obtains the cheapest possible labor. He employs a contractor, to whom he pays a gross sum for a certain amount of work. This sum is less than it costs the manufacturer himself to arrive at the same results. The contractor then, by increasing the number of hours of work, and perhaps by reducing the pay of the "hands" he hires, is enabled not only to do the required work, but to obtain for himself a comfortable profit. This system of slavery is said to be so extensive in England as to call for legislation. Trunk making, cheap clothing manufacture and many other trades flourish entirely on this principle.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

There are two kinds of joke. One makes you ache with laughter, and the other only makes you ache. This one belongs to the latter class.

Seal Hunting.

In the spring, when the seal comes out upon the ice to bask and doze in the warm sunlight, the hunter approaches him by lying down and advancing cautiously, at the same time imitating the motions of a seal, keeping his feet and legs, which he crosses at the ankle, close together, so that they much resemble the hindquarters of a seal. Indeed, when at a distance, I have frequently found it difficult to tell which was the seal and which the man.—Cosmopolitan.

Senator Chandler Desires Information.

The ex-secretary of the navy is of an enquiring disposition. If Mr Wm. Cutwater Whitney supposes that his predecessor does not know more concerning the conduct of the navy department under this administration than does the present head of the navy, he is mistaken. But Mr. Chandler wishes the present secretary to give officially, what he, Chandley, knows, not as a senator, but as a private citizen. Mr. Chandler apparently believes that the management of the navy department needs looking after. He has been there himself. He will not be satisfied with a few bland enquiries. He will go further.

There are matters of importance which the new senator, after the answers to the senator's interrogatories shall have been returned, will perhaps feel it his duty to show the country. There seems prevalent the idea that great improvements can be made in naval management. Mr. Chandler will keep Brother Whitney on the qui vive, and possibly convince him before the blossoms return, that it is not all the duty of an able secretary to give magnificent dinners and gorgeous receptions. It becomes the ruler of the navy to keep his weather eye open as to Mr. Chandler's tactics.

Ice in Nantucket Sound.

A despatch of Jan. 24th from Chatham, Mass., says: "The heavy northwest gale of to-day continues this evening, veering to northerly and very cold. The large quantities of drift ice running over the shoals in the strong currents puts in a dangerous position the fifteen large outward-bound schooners which have been anchored there since Sunday night. An unknown tug has been working hard all the afternoon, trying to extricate two schooners from bad positions near Handkerchief shoal. They went ahead a mile or two, then the ice and tide would carry them astern, but finally they got clear and moved slowly to the westward. A small schooner was in the ice inside of Handkerchief shoal with colors at masthead; no assistance can get to her from shore. Other vessels have been apparently dragging anchors eastward, forced by the ice and gale, and there is apparently plenty of work for tugs if any were in the vicinity. A northeast wind will take the heavy ice from Chatham bay over the shoals, and make still more dangerous the positions of those vessels unless they extricate themselves."

How the Turks Make Coffee.

The Turks, without being scientific, are practical. They have learned from experience, and pulverize their coffee to a powder in a marble mortar and pass it through a fine sieve. When semi-pulverized more than half the material is lost, and with it the benefits. The Turks combine the two to advantage in the following manner: They take of the finely pulverized coffee half the quantity ordinarily used in this country, or about a teaspoonful for each cup; put it in an ordinary coffee pot of the form of a truncated cone, pour over it boiling water and stir it thoroughly. They set the pot on a gentle fire to accelerate the chemical combination of the particles with the water. In the process of ebullition the particles afloat will gather on the surface, forming a thick cream, which serves as a cover and prevents the aroma contained in the essential oil from evaporating. When it commences to boil the surface cream rises to overflowing, to prevent which the pot is taken off the fire to permit the boiling to subside. This operation is repeated several times, until the creamy surface has thinned, ready to break or bubble. Then the pot is taken down, covered up and set to rest in a warm corner of the range for about five or six minutes to settle. When served it is decanted gently so as not to disturb the sediment. Thus is prepared the famous Turkish cafe noir, or black coffee, for they use neither sugar nor milk. —New York Press.

A Well Known City Character.

A gentleman happened in a Clinton street saloon the other evening when a man with one leg, a long ulster, a dilapidated hat and crutches entered. The gentleman was surprised to find that all conversation suddenly ceased, and as the newcomer sat down there was a general rush made for him from all parts of the saloon, addressed him as boss and nearly all requested a loan. The boss then approached the bartender, and that worthy, in response to a mumbled request, handed the boss a small iron safe, from which the boss took a quantity of coins and distributed them among the men around him, carefully making note of it. A few moments later the boss left, and the gentleman questioned the bartender.

"I tell you how it is," said the dispenser of liquids. "The fellows you saw around the boss are peddlers of shoe laces, matches and that class of goods. When they get broke, they come here and borrow a quarter or a half dollar from the boss and he charges them from two to ten cents interest per day. If they don't pay up he never lends them again, but they seldom fail to pay him what he asks, and he makes considerable money."—New York Evening Sun.

Controlling a Spirited Horse.

An interesting experiment was tried not long ago at the veterinary school of Harvard university in attempting to control a spirited horse by an electric bit. The horse was considerable of a trotter, but had a disagreeable way of bolting and breaking. Dr. Harrison, of the school, procured a Galvano-Faradic battery of small size and extended two slight wires from it along the reins to the bit of the bridle, they being terminated in small knobs. This was applied to the horse, care being taken to use it in connection with the words "whoa" and "steady." The animal, after a few experiments became docile and his "bolting" ceased. He was tried under circumstances calculated to excite him, and the experiment proved perfectly satisfactory here, too. The experiment is one of considerable importance, since, though it has been tried in France, it has not been performed in this country before.—Public Opinion.

Wearing Light Soled Shoes.

I know that it is contrary to preconceived notions, but it is the fact all the same, that the feet can be kept warmer in cold weather by wearing a shoe with a light sole than a thick one. With the light sole the foot has a chance to work, thereby keeping up a circulation. This applies, of course, only to dry weather. When it is wet and rubbers are necessary, it is best to wear a single soled shoe inside. In the summer the thick sole should be used, for it keeps the heat of the pavement from striking through to the feet.—Globe-Democrat.

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

The Machine Shop Sold.

The Portsmouth Machine Co.'s machine shop and plant, foundry, and other property, were sold at auction by Henry F. Wendell on Wednesday, the 24th inst, in accordance with the vote of the stockholders. Harry J. Freeman made the first bid, $50,000, and in a short time the price offered reached $114,200, at which figure the property was knocked down to Charles H. Mendum, Esq.

Corporation Elections.

The stockholders of the Worcester, Nashua & Rochester railroad, at a meeting in Worcester, Mass., Jan. 25th, elected the following board of directors for the ensuing year: Charles A. Sinclair, John A. Spaulding, L. B. Stoddard, Geo. C. Lord, Frank Jones, James P. Cook, Frank A. McKean, George W. Armstrong, Charles Holman. Sixteen votes were cast, representing 14,536 shares.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Dover Navigation company, held in Dover on Jan. 25th, the following officers were elected: President, Thomas B. Garland; secretary and treasurer, B. Frank Nealley; managing committee, Charles H. Trickey, B. F. Nealley, John J. Hanson, J. F. Seavey, T. B. Garland, John Holland. A dividend of thirteen per cent was declared. The company own eight schooners, whose net earnings for the year ending Jan. 20th were $25,656.

Perils of the Ocean.

Some time ago we noticed the arrival at Sagua le Grande, Cuba, of part of the crew of the barque D. Chapin of Boston, built at this port in 1869, and abandoned at sea, no particulars being given beyond the statement that the captain, Walter C. Hall, and several others of the crew, names not given, had perished.

The steamer San Marcos, which arrived at New York on the 24th inst. from Havana, brought the survivors of the barque's crew. From their account it appears that the D. Chapin sailed from Turk's Island Dec. 13th for Boston with a load of salt, and was hastily abandoned Dec. 25th, in a sinking condition. There was not time to put either food or water in the boat at the time the barque was abandoned, and Capt. Hall, the cook and one seaman perished of starvation before Jan. 4th, when the survivors were picked up by the schooner Luis G. Babel, Capt. Murphy, and taken into Sagua, where they arrived Jan. 11th, having received every kindness and attention while on the schooner, on board which they remained in port until the American consul there was able to send them to Havana.

Railroad Commissioners' Report.

The railroad commissioners of New Hampshire, under date of Jan. 19th, report upon the deaths of five persons killed during the month of December on railroads within this state, and in each case exonerate the railroad from all blame. Of the death of Mr. James Stearns of this city, the report says: "James Stearns was killed by a Concord railroad coal train at Portsmouth station, Dec. 12, 1887. The train was waiting upon a siding outside the station, parallel with and close to it. A brakeman discovered Mr. Stearns as he was passing to the space between the train and the station, and warned him without avail not to go there. From Stearns' position when found it is probable that the train was started while he was attempting to get over or under it. He had taken this route to shorten his journey to his house, and had ample time before the train was started to cross it had he not lingered unaccountably; or he could have stood closely against the building's side while the train drew past, had he not tried to pass over or under. The evidence does not explain why he was so long upon this perilous journey. His death was due solely to his own rashness."

The Star Course.

This evening, in Music hall, Mr. Henry G. French will give his illustrated lecture on Ireland. The lecture has nothing to do with the great political questions now convulsing Ireland, but is confined to the picture-que scenery, and the humorous and pathetic sides of life in that wonderful land. Tickets at Goodrich's, 35 and 50 cents.

HAMPTON JOTTINGS.

The extreme cold weather is not welcome, and men and animals cannot help suffering. Last week hay was being hauled from the marsh in great quantities; this morning very early teams were en route for more hay, in spite of the cold. Last week several men were unable to reach home without calling at houses on the way to warm themselves, and some got so chilled they were wrapped up and carried home.

The new school system ought to be abolished; in some districts the scholars are obliged to ride several miles, or have no education. A man is hired to carry children to the centre, and one recent cold day he was so intoxicated he knew nothing concerning the cherubs in his care; he was interviewed by the committee!

The shoe factory is running, and storekeepers are willing to trust. One day recently a young man entered a store, bought several articles, and said he was going to work the next day, and when paid off would settle for the goods; he has not been seen in these parts since.

"The Future of America" was the subject of Rev. C. B. Bailey's lecture before the lyceum course, and the most interesting of all; he is young, full of wit, very eloquent, and a large audience were highly delighted.

Mr. Curtis DeLancey commenced icing last week at W. Drake's pond; the ice is good quality, and sixteen inches thick.

Last Tuesday evening amid the storm a large number came from Exeter to attend the dance at the Union house, and enjoy one of Whittier's best suppers.

HAMPTON, Jan. 23d. —.

The much-talked-of book "Why Priests Should Wed" has been published. Be sure and read the advertisement in another column.

Fifteen degrees below zero in this city on Wednesday morning.

The police officers of Portsmouth, Manchester and Nashua receive $2 each per day, while the Dover police officers only receive $1 64 each. The Dover Democrat does not approve of this, regarding the Dover police as being worthy as much pay as the officers of other New Hampshire cities.

Ladies should examine the remnants of dress goods at Geo. B. French's.

One of the victims of the recent fearful blizzard in the northwestern states was Joshua V. Himes, Jr., of Schuyler, Neb. When the storm broke he went with his eldest son to bring the younger children from school. The young man, being stout and vigorous, got the children safely home, and at once turned back to assist his father, but found him dead only a little way from his own door. Deceased was fifty-seven years old, and a brother of Rev. William Lloyd Himes, state Episcopal missionary in New Hampshire. He was the oldest son of Rev. Joshua V. Himes, who forty years or more ago conducted a remarkable revival at the Middle street Baptist church in this city, and is still active in the ministry in a western state, being now an Episcopalian.

There was a large audience in Franklin theatre on Wednesday evening, when the "Streets of New York" was presented in an entirely satisfactory manner. This evening "the Rose of Killarney" will be the attraction. A special matinee entertainment will be given on Saturday.

The ship South American, of Boston, commanded by Capt. George W. Tucker, formerly of this city, reported several months ago as having put into Batavia, Java, after being ashore on the trip from Hong Kong to New York, passed Anjier, Java, Jan. 18th, on the way to her destination.

The fair which was to have been given in Rechabite hall on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week by Strawberry Bank Lodge of Good Templars, has been postponed to Feb. 9th and 10th, on account of the sickness of several active members of the committee of arrangements.

The graduation exercises of the normal school at Salem, Mass., took place Jan. 24th. Among the graduates were Miss Bessie C. Berry of Barrington, N. H., who delivered the salutatory, and Miss Eva A. Pickering of Newington.

Complaints are everywhere heard regarding the inefficiency of the post-office department. The gigantic blunder of putting so many fresh men in places where experienced officials had learned the best mode of expediting mail delivery, and the parsimonious manner of appropriating money for the expenditures of the postal service inaugurated by the democrats, disgust in their workings every one who has mail matter—and that means nearly the entire population of this great and growing country. If there is any single measure in which the democrats in executive or legislative matters have improved the administration of public affairs, it has as yet remained undiscovered. And yet the present administration desires a renewal of the lease of power.

The carnival issue of the St. Paul (Minn.) Herald has been received at this office. It consists of sixteen pages, lithographed covers in five colors, representing street scenes in St. Paul during carnival time, and a very fine double-page lithograph of the grand palace now being erected in that city. The issue will be sent post paid to any address at ten cents per copy, three for twenty-five cents. Address St. Paul Herald, 38 Union block, St Paul, Minn.

American Fresh Water Pearls.

Pearls are produced in some of the unios (fresh water mussels), of which there are many hundred species, especially those found in the fresh water brooks traversing a limestone country. The first pearl of any note was the famous "Crown Pearl," found by a shoemaker, Daniel Howell, while collecting some of these mussels in Notch Brook, near Paterson, N. J. This was purchased by Messrs. Tiffany & Co. for $1,500 in 1857, and led to the great pearl excitement. Millions of unios were collected, and many thousands of pearls were found, and some of them very fine ones. One, however, which weighed nearly 400 grains, and would perhaps have been the finest pearl of modern times, was destroyed by cooking the mussel. They have since then been fished out as far west as Ohio.

At Waynesville and other places on the Little Miami river many fine pearls have been found, and more recently fine ones have been found in Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas. One single firm has purchased over $100,000 worth of pearls found east of Texas. The pearls are rarely entirely round, usually a little oblong, button shaped, flat on the back and imitating every conceivable form, such as beetles, fish, bird wings, and often have had this feature assisted in the mounting of enamel and gold, after the manner of Dinglinger pearls at the famous Dresden Green vaults. The color is rarely a true white, usually pink or bluish, often iridescent. The nacre is smoother, if anything, than in the oriental pearls, and they are often more beautiful. Single pearls have been sold for over $2,000. Only one pearl of any kind is found in 100 shells, and usually one in 1,000 of any value, so that it is not a very profitable pursuit. The indiscriminate killing off of the mussels in fishing and by poisonous sewage will eventually lead to their extermination. The greatest destroyers, however, are the hogs, which kill off whole banks at a single low tide.—George F. Kunz in Harper's Magazine.

Cats in Paris.

The French capital harbors the largest number of cats of any city in the world in proportion to its size. Whole colonies of them are to be found in the vicinity of the markets, where they feed on broken victuals and make incessant war on the rats. At the Halles Centrales their numbers have increased so rapidly of late that a portion of them had to be destroyed, as they roamed about in bands like wild beasts, and were beginning to be dangerous. Duprez, the well known tenor singer, has earned the Le pere des chats, for he daily feeds hundreds of these animals at his own expense. The prefecture of police likewise entertains a large colony of cats, which are placed under the care of an old woman of 70, who supplies them with daily rations of meat and milk.—Le Magasin Pittoresque.

Salvation Oil kills pain every time. For cuts, bruises, sprains, strains, burns, scalds and frostbites it is an infallible cure. Price only twenty-five cents a bottle.

A bill to appropriate $175,000 for the repair of the Hartford, the flagship of Adm. Farragut, has been introduced in Congress.

I was troubled with catarrh for thirty years. Have suffered a great deal. My eyes, ears and throat were greatly affected. Mr. Kinney, the druggist, induced me to try Ely's Cream Balm and for the past two years have had very little trouble. I have lived in Webster, Mass., and Rockville, Conn. Very respectfully, J. W. Pratt, Monson, Mass.

I have improved greatly since using Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh. I feel like a new man. It is a blessing to humanity.—John D. Farrell, Hartford, Conn.

A bloody war of extermination is going on in the wilds of West Virginia between the Hatfields and McCoys.

The action of Carter's Little Liver Pills is pleasant, mild and natural. They gently stimulate the liver, and regulate the bowels, but do not purge. They are sure to please. Try them.

An increase of $4 940,104 was made in the internal revenue collections during the first half of the current fiscal year.

Mrs. John Drury, who was terribly burned in Central Falls, R. I., has died from her injuries.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is "a combination and form indeed" for healing and curing diseases of the throat, lungs and chest. It cures a cough by loosening and cleansing the lungs, and allaying irritation; thus removing the cause, instead of drying up the cough and leaving the disease behind.

The celebration of the centenary of New South Wales was begun Jan 24th, to continue through the week. A magnificent statue of Queen Victoria was unveiled on the 24th.

The Devil Fish Described by Hugo

Is not a more tenacious monster than malaria, whether it takes the form of chills and fever, bilious remittent, ague cake or dumb ague. Like the octopus of the story it clasps the victim in it stentaculae, and folds him closer and closer in a horrible embrace. Attacked with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, however, it gradually relaxes its tremendous grip, finally abandons it, and the quondam sufferer, liberated at last, rejoices in the sense of new born freedom, engendered by the restoration of complete health. Dyspepsia, too, and constipation, those old and remorseless enemies of the human family, give ground, and are finally driven from the field by this Napoleon of remedies, the greatest, the purest in the family pharmacopoeia. Rheumatism succumbs to it, so do kidney troubles. The nerves, when overstrained, regain quietude and vigor by its aid, and the ability to rest tranquilly and eat with zest are increased by it. Resort to it in time and avoid unnecessary suffering.

The second paper of the White House series, "The Children of John Adams," appears in the February Wide Awake. It has eighteen reproductions of famous Adams potraits, miniatures, letters, residences and diaries, among them some fac-simile pages from journals kept by John Quincy Adams when a little boy, which shows that the future president was an adept in illustrations and bookcovers.

Time and labor saved by the use of Pyle's Pearline. Sold by grocers everywhere, but be sure you are not imposed on by the vile imitations in the market.

"Minon: A Tale of Love and Intrigue," (by Frederick W. Pearson) is the title of the first volume of the Elite Library. This series of books is to consist of not less than five volumes, devoted to prose fiction, historical romance, and historic and dramatic verse. The tasteful paper edition sells for fifty cents, and for $1.50 a handsome library edition.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dishkes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

A judge in London has decided that a divorce pronounced in America is binding in England.

Ayer's Pills cure constipation, improve the appetite, promote digestion, restore healthy action, and regulate every function. This medicine is pleasant to take and gentle in its operation. See article in Ayer's Almanac.

John McDonoghue of Hyde Park was struck and killed by a New York and New England train near Readville, Mass., on the night of Jan. 24th, while track walking. He was seventy years old, and the father of twenty-two children.

Vincent Lundberg, of Stockholm, physician-in-Chief to the King of Sweden, recommends Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer for the scalp and hair.

In the supreme court at Exeter, Jan. 25th, in the case of Joseph Cate of Deerfield, accused of attempting to murder by shooting Edward Harrison, the jury rendered a verdict of guilty of aggravated assault. Cate was sentenced to four months in jail. No more jury cases will be tried this term.

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples, sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them.

The last literary work of Paul H. Hayne was the revision of the proof of the long ballad which appears in the February Wide Awake, entitled "The Story of an Ambuscade; a Border Ballad." Accompanying the poem is an article by Mrs. Margaret J. Preston, "The Childhood of Paul H. Hayne."

"Frankie Has the Croup."

"Get up quick, John! I hear Frank is coughing. O, dear! he has the croup. Light the candle quick, and go down stairs for Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific. You will find it on the second shelf, right hand side. I always keep it where I can put my hand on it at once. Bring a teaspoon, too. Nothing ever relieved him so quick as this does, and he is so subject to croup. I would not be without it for anything."

FOLLOWING THE HOUNDS.

Chat About Fox Hunting in England. What Its Defenders Say.

The first week in November is the hunting starting point, and it continues all through the winter until March without stop, check, impediment or interruption, save by one inexorable enemy. That enemy is a gentleman popularly known as Jack Frost. No weather, be it wind, fog, hail, sleet or rain, will hinder hunting. Indeed a wet day is not otherwise than propitious. "A southerly wind and a cloudy sky bespeak a hunting morning," sings the old song, and no man (or woman who hunts) would dream of staying away from a meet because it is raining or "looks like it." It is a curious thing that following the hounds should offer such inducements to get a wetting without minding it. At other times the average English lady or gentlemen of hunting proclivities is as much against going out in the rain as they are then in favor of it, or rather indifferent to it. Except when hunting is on the tapis they certainly "know enough to go in when it rains." Generally a wet day keeps every one indoors, huddled about the fire, peering out of the windows, watching for "enough blue in the sky to make a sailor a pair of trousers;" wandering aimlessly from room to room; sitting gossiping in the smoking room, or knocking the balls about at pool or pyramids in the billiard room. The ladies get no end of crochet and crewel work done, and work off a vast stock of long neglected correspondence and unanswered letters. Foreigners are wont to laugh at the inevitable umbrella which to their eyes every Englishman carries rolled tightly up in his hand, ready for any shower or down pour that may come up unawares. There are no people in the world so afraid of getting wet; but if rain doesn't put a stopper on hunting, frost does.

There is no hunting, there can be no hunting, when there is frost. And for two reasons: First, the ground would be too hard for the horses' hoofs, and jumping very dangerous; second, there is no scent, and without scent the hounds wouldn't know where the fox had gone. A long spell of frost is therefore a disastrous condition of things for fox hunters. Days and weeks go by, sometimes, waiting for a thaw, or in hopes that "this beastly weather would break up, don't you know." Last winter was a particularly hard one, in more than one respect, on hunting. One frost lasted for quite six weeks or more, and you should have heard the fellows growl and stamp. The horses did nothing but stand in their stalls and loose boxes eating their heads off. Thus far this year the weather has kept right, and on off days and in the mornings the roads are full of blanketed and hooded nags exercising with their grooms.

I have said that about 30,000 people hunt regularly in England. I dare say some people will differ with me at first glance. But I wish to lay stress on the word regularly. Off and on, as occasion offers, business and occupation permits, or good fortune enables, there are thousands of others who hunt. But they only hunt when they can. They don't necessarily keep hunters. They hunt whatever nags they may possess, from carriage horses to ponies. Some people hire a horse now and then, others get their friends or relatives to give them a mount, say half a dozen times in the season, and army officers, on occasion, may so utilize their chargers. But such irregular proceedings can not be dignified by the term "hunting," or considered so, when hunting as a regular systematic custom is under discussion. Did hunting depend upon such people, I am afraid it would very soon fall into disuse. Yet, I venture to say, and I think most men who know anything about it will agree with me, if you want to hear hunting talked up, descanted upon, praised, upheld and defended, you'll find it among these spasmodic sportsmen.

To judge of hunting, and determine whether its observance as an annual custom is beneficial or injurious, one must weigh all the pros and cons worth considering. Judged by the principle of the greatest good to the greatest number, it must fall to the ground. It affords a certain kind of sport; there is a vast amount of exhilarating excitement in a good run across country, if you are well mounted, and there is much that is pleasant in the social character of a meet. You are thrown in almost daily contact with your neighbors; riding across country is said to give a man nerve, though, for my part, I believe one must possess the nerve to begin with—and you get to know people better and find out their good and bad points. It is a healthful exercise. "Everybody likes it, my dear boy," the old squires will tell you, as they smack their port after dinner; "we like it, the horses like it, the hounds like it; yes, and egad, I believe the fox likes it, too." In this country, there are some men, in high places, who discountenance hunting. They are few, it is true, but they are of too high a rank and position to attempt to ostracise them. The last Earl of Ashburnham was one, and the present Lord Ashburton is another. The latter, I believe, will not permit the hounds to meet upon or hunt over his property. He is cordially disliked, of course. But, he is too great a man to have any one show him openly what, were he a poor man, would compel him to leave England.—London Letter in The Argonaut.

Building stones made of corn cobs form the object of a new Italian patent. The cobs are pressed by machinery into forms similar to brick and held together by wire. They are made water tight by soaking with tar. These molds are very hard and strong; their weight is less than one-third of that of hollow brick, and they can never get damp.—Chicago News.

Played Out.

One year ago District Assembly 179, Knights of Labor, of this state, which comprised the local assemblies in Rockingham, Strafford and Belknap counties, and a part of York county, Me., was one of the most prosperous labor organizations in New England. It included over thirty local assemblies, with a membership of 7000. The annual session of this body was to have been held in Dover on Jan. 25th, but only four delegates appeared, with the district recording secretary and one member of the district executive board. District Master Workman Rick and District Financial Secretary Marston failed to appear, and no business was done. Inasmuch as this annual session was not held, the district assembly has ceased to exist, and the local assemblies that wish to continue must become annexed to District Assembly 124, with headquarters at Manchester, now the only district assembly in New Hampshire. Internal dissensions among the leaders are said to be the cause of the dissolution.

A Low Tariff and High Wages.

Commenting upon the statement of the New York Herald that "a low tariff and high wages generally go together," the democratic Boston Pilot says:

"Let us see. 'A dollar a day was very good pay' in the happy low-tariff era before the war. The free traders, in their heart of hearts, really think that such 'high wages' are enough for the workingman at any time, if not too much, as they are rather above the ruling rates at home in England."

And yet the Pilot steadily supports the free trade party, which aches to hand over the American market, and with it the American workingman, to the control of the British manufacturers—the very men who have made Ireland what it is to-day, and are fighting tooth and nail against its emancipation.

He Hits Back.

Labor circles, so-called, in Pittsburg, Pa., are excited by the arrest of John R. O'Shea, walking delegate of the Builders' league, John Scott, his assistant, John Flinn, master workman of the Bricklayers' assembly, and five others prominent in labor circles. They are charged with conspiracy by a man named Wenzell, the owner of a non-union brick yard near the city. Wenzell was furnishing brick for a man named Cunningham. The union men employed on the job struck, and Cunningham cancelled his contract with Wenzell.

Seemed Like Free Trade to Him.

Frand Hurd, who is about the brightest, boldest and most uncompromising free-traders in this country, describes his reception of Cleveland's message in this way: "I shall never be able to describe the joy with which I read that message. I was in New York. I was standing at the corner of Wall street and Broadway. I took the paper mechanically from a newsboy, expecting nothing but a repetition of former messages. When my eyes fell on the pages I grew suddenly intent. The great crowd swept by me, but I did not see it. People jostled me, but I did not feel them. All I felt was that the issue of free-trade was now decisively brought before the American people, and that its cause was more than half won." And yet they tell us that it wasn't a free-trade message.

A Pleasant Southerly Breeze.

A convention of the Shipping and Industrial League is to be held in New Orleans in February, and the labor organizations of the city are interested in it. The New Orleans Times-Democrat commends them for their share in the preparations for the meeting, and publishes for their perusal tables of the comparative wages paid on American and British ships, showing the rate to be thirty-six per cent higher on vessels under our own flag. The Times-Democrat adds:

The destruction of our merchant marine, which is now being attempted, besides crippling other industries, would drive our seafaring men to seek other over-crowded avenues of employment or accept ill-requited service in foreign ships. Against this we are satisfied that our laboring element will most vigorously protest.

It is refreshing to see a southern democratic newspaper set a needed example to the anglo-maniac democratic organs of the north in an active interest in American shipping, and an honest zeal to restore it to its old pre-eminence.

How to Lift 1000 Pounds.

BOSTON, Jan. 26.—The great popular scientist, Professor Proctor, will have an important article in the next Boston Sunday Globe on "How to Lift 1000 Pounds." All the boys will want it, and all parents who wish their children to get strong on healthy principles should read this article.

The Sunday Globe's political history of the United States for Young People is making a big hit with young and old.

John H. Canney, the "Pirate of the Piscataqua," was arraigned in the police court at Laconia, Jan. 24th, charged with burglarizing Jones & Son's store at Alton Corner. A large number of postage stamps and considerable money, besides two pocket books, were found in his possession. In default of bail he was taken to jail to await the March term of the supreme court for Strafford county. It has been learned he is "wanted" on five complaints in Massachusetts, and on one in California for breaking a bank.

Captain Henry T. Mooers, who was years ago well known among seamen throughout New England, died Jan. 24th at Biddeford, aged ninety-two years. He served in the navy in the 1812 war, and afterward followed the sea for many years. He was the last of a family of eleven children, all of whom lived to an extreme old age. Four sons and three daughters survive him.

There were twenty-five or more fishing schooners lying at the Water street wharves on Thursday, the 26th inst., the storm preventing any of them from going out.

Want of Sleep

Is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Coté, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

THE WEATHER.

For New England to-day:—

Colder, fair weather, high northwesterly winds.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 4 degrees above zero.

Cloudy.

Municipal Affairs.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, Jan. 26th, Mayor Hodgdon in the chair:

Absent, Aldermen Seymour and Stevens.

Committee on accounts reported bills approved by them to the amount of about $2500, which were ordered to be paid.

The claim of Richard D. Smart, police officer, for payment for time lost through injuries received in the line of duty, was referred to the committee on claims.

A brief discussion was had on the feasibility of building a new school house, after which the board adjourned for two weeks.

Trains Delayed.

The heavy show of Thursday caused considerable trouble to the railroad men, and delay to the trains. The train from Boston due here at 9:45 A. M. was about one hour late; the Portland train, due here at 10:50, did not arrive until between two and three in the afternoon; the train from Concord, due here at 10:10 A. M., arrived between three and four o'clock; the Dover train, due at 7:25, arrived at eleven; and the train over the Conway branch, due here at 8:10, arrived at two. The train from York Beach in the morning arrived very nearly on time, but instead of starting on its return at eleven did not leave until after twelve, and then only got as far as Kittery Junction, having to return; it started out again about six o'clock in the evening.

The 7:30 A. M. train from this city for Boston got stuck in the cut this side of the Plains, and backed into town again. Two engines and a snow plow were sent out ahead, and the train was doubled up with the 8:20 train, the two leaving at 9:35, and arriving in Boston at noon. The train for Concord went out half an hour late, with two engines, and was over two hours and a half in reaching Greenland, but got through to Concord all right, though very late.

Schooner on Fire.

The alarm of fire at about quarter past one o'clock Thursday afternoon was caused by a blaze in the forecastle of the fishing schooner Grace Choate, Capt. William Randall, lying at the end of Randall & Caswell's wharf, occasioned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp. Kearsarge engine, No. 3, drawn by four horses, was on the wharf and had a stream on the fire inside of fifteen minutes from the sounding of the alarm, and the loss amounted to not more than $200. The horses were harnessed in readiness to be hitched to a snow plow when the alarm was given, but they were so well used up on arriving at the wharf that they did no snow plowing that afternoon. Col. Sise engine, No. 2, was run out in the street by hand, and her hose carriage taken some distance down the street, but no horses came, and the apparatus was returned to the engine house. Extinguisher No. 6, drawn by one horse, made good time from Elm street—beg pardon, Maplewood avenue—on the sidewalks wherever they were wide enough, but its services were not required. The Grace Choate registers about forty-one tons, is owned by Andrew F. Preston, Mrs. John R. Holbrook, George T. Vaughan and Capt. Ed. Robinson, and is insured on marine risks, but not against fire.

Good Templars' Election.

At a meeting of Strawberry Bank Lodge, No. 54, I. O. G. T., of this city, held on the evening of Jan. 25th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: C. T., Joseph Pettigrew; V. T., Mrs. J. Somerby; Sec. Miss Katie Fritz; F. S., Mrs. Frank E. H. Marden; Treas., John Somerby; M., Geo. Collis; Chap., Sherman Blueprint; G., Arthur Wilson; S., Almon Ellison.

It Was the Cat.

For a number of days, up to Thursday last, the pitiful cries of a cat were heard proceeding from beneath the wharf on which is situated C. E. Walker & Co.'s coal pocket, at the foot of State street. On Thursday several men belonging to the crew of the fishing schooner Starry Flag, Capt. Charles Allen, took a dory and went to the rescue, and by breaking the ice wherever it was thin enough to break, forcing the dory over it where it was too thick for breaking, and walking on it where it could not be broken nor the dory hauled over it, succeeding in reaching the unlucky and perishing pussy, which is now comfortably domiciled on board the schooner. One of the men got overboard through the ice while on the expedition, but this was regarded as a mere bagatelle, and was not allowed to interfere with the progress of the party.

More Weather.

New England on Wednesday and Thursday of this week further vindicated her claim of being able to furnish all the weather required for home use, either quality or quantity being considered. Wednesday morning at sunrise the thermometer indicated from eight to fifteen degrees below zero in different localities about the city, with a clear sky; Thursday morning the temperature ranged from twenty-six to thirty-two above, and the amount of the snowfall made the hair of the man with a large stretch of sidewalk to shovel off, stand on end when he looked out of the window.

There were occasional feeble attempts at clearing off—clearing off of the weather, not the sidewalks—during the day, but they amounted to nothing of any moment. The out-of-town milkmen delivered their supplies anywhere from nine o'clock to noon, and all the railroad trains were behind time. The "no-school" signal was sounded in the morning at eight o'clock, and again at 11:30 A. M., the travelling being so bad that the teachers would have found it very difficult, and the smaller pupils impossible, to reach the school houses. The eleven o'clock train from this city over the York Harbor & Beach railroad did not start out until after twelve, and came back again in less than half an hour, finding insurmountable obstacles in the way, in the shape of snow drifts. About 1:15 o'clock the fire alarm was sounded from box nineteen, corner of Water and Court streets, but outside the membership of the fire department it seemed to arouse little interest, most people being content to count the strokes, look on the card to see where the box was situated, and then settle comfortably back, with entire reliance on the ability and zeal of the firemen. The depth of snow made locomotion the most difficult of the winter, but the temperature was such that but little suffering was experienced by those who were out. The Whale's-back foghorn was sounding steadily from an early hour Wednesday evening, all through Thursday, and all vessels at the wharves took good care to remain there.

All Portsmouth is said to sleep with one eye and both ears open, waiting for the cry of "murder" when True Norris of the Times is hit by the stuffed club with which Bill Sides is lying in wait for him.—Manchester Mirror.

POLICE COURT—Batchelder J.

THURSDAY, Jan. 26th.

Frank Tobey and John Higgins, for drunkenness, were assessed $9.90 each, fine and costs, and ordered to the county farm in default of payment.

Charles Hall, for vagrancy, was given four months at Brentwood, costs being taxed at $6.90. He has been acting the ruffian about the city at houses where he found no men at home, and would have been arraigned on a more serious charge than vagrancy were it not that he is the son of a highly respected citizen of Dover.

Ladies should examine the remnants of dress goods at Geo. B. French's.

Capt. Seth E. Bryant of Kennebunk, Me., died in that town on Thursday, Jan. 26th, in the 62d year of his age. Capt. Bryant came of patriotic stock, his grandfather, Daniel Bryant of Saco, having served as a soldier in the revolutionary war, and his father, William M. Bryant, in the war of 1812. In 1861 he was appointed deputy collector of customs at Kennebunk, resigning in 1862 to enlist as a private in the 27th Maine regiment, in which he was soon promoted to be captain of Co. I. At the end of his three years' term in March, 1864, he again went into the army as captain of Co. A, 32d Maine regiment, with which he saw arduous service in the Wilderness, at Spottsylvania, North Anna river, and elsewhere, at one time being in command of the regiment. In November, 1865, he was again appointed deputy collector of customs at Kennebunk, which position he held until recently. He was a selectman, assessor and overseer of the poor of Kennebunk for nearly twenty years, and a notary public and trial justice for the county of York for about the same period; was an active republican from the start of the party, having previously been a whig, and for nearly twenty-five years past has acted as secretary of the republican county convention for York county; was a strong temperance man, an active Mason, and past master of Arundel Lodge of Kennebunk. He leaves a wife and two sons. He was a brother of Orville D. Bryant, formerly of this city but now of Biddeford, and of Mrs. Davis, wife of Lemuel T. Davis of this city.

There were over two hundred persons, fully half of them women, in Franklin theatre on Thursday evening, despite the especially bad walking and the severe storm. This evening "The Hidden Hand" will be presented.

On Saturday afternoon at two o'clock there will be a matinee performance of "Kathleen Mavourneen," and each lady and child in the audience will be presented with a 32-page songster containing the latest and most popular songs of the day.

Mr. Charles P. Garvin, of the State street club house, will cater for the young ladies' leap year party which is to be given in Franklin hall on Friday evening, Feb. 3d; supper will be served at the club house.

CHAPPED hands result from two causes. Too much alkali in the soap, which draws the natural oil from the skin, leaving it harsh, dry, and liable to crack, or the fats, from which the soap is made, are not properly combined with the alkali, so, from its greasy nature it is impossible to rinse off the soap after washing. Prof. Leeds, Ph. D., Stevens Institution of Technology, says: "The IVORY SOAP, while strongly cleansing, leaves the skin soft and pleasant to the touch, instead of harsh, uncomfortable, and liable to chap."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Theodore Thomas' Extraordinary Powers.

I once heard a man go into ecstasy over a feat which he had seen Professor Theodore Thomas perform. The professor, it appears, had been "training" an orchestra and a brass band at one and the same time. The building in which this was done was a long one, divided in the center by a thick wall or partition; it had in reality been two separate buildings at one time, but the upper part of the dividing wall had been torn away. On the top of this wall a platform had been built just large enough to allow a man good standing room. On this platform stood Professor Thomas. To his right were the brass instrument players, and to his left the string and soft instrument players. The former were playing a lively march, two four time, while the latter were sweetly rolling out a waltz to the "down, left, up" beat. Thomas' right arm went through the quadruple movement without the slightest variation, while the left arm and hand beat triple time just as correctly, both at the same time.—Rochester Argus.

For Bridesmaids to Carry.

A shoe filled with flowers is the very newest thing for bridesmaids to carry, and charmingly pretty it is. The first wedding at which this idea was carried out was that of Miss Stewart and Mr. Carberry Rice Vaughan-Pryse, which took place about a month ago. The next wedding at which the bridesmaids carried shoes was that of Sir Robert and Lady Emily Peel's eldest daughter and Mr. Barton. The shoes in the case were of pink satin filled with a mixture of pink and of maize colored roses, and hung from the arm by pink ribbons. Shoes were carried by the youthful members of the bevy of bridesmaids of Miss Whittaker's wedding. The shoes were of pink satin filled with flowers of hues to match that color.—London Court Journal.

Bridge Over the Channel.

A scheme for the erection of a bridge over the English channel is in active consideration among French capitalists and engineers. The projected bridge would be twenty-two miles long, resting on piers of concrete and masonry 160 feet long by 100 broad, placed at intervals of 550 yards. The causeway of the bridge would be 170 feet above the sea level, to permit the passage of ships, and would be 100 feet wide. The estimated cost is $200,000,000. It appears that the channel is not so deep as generally supposed. There are shallows out from Folkestone not over twenty feet from the surface, the depth from these shallows to the shore on either side varying from 100 to 160 feet.—New York Press.

Foot and Meter.

According to Mr. B. G. Ravenstein, the English foot is used as the standard of length by countries having 471,000,000 inhabitants, the meter by 347,091,000 people and the Castilian foot by 5,905,000. Denmark and Russia are the only countries in continental Europe which have not adopted the meter.—Arkansaw Traveler.

There was no work in the departments of construction and yards and docks at the navy yard on Thursday last; in yards and docks even the roll-caller failed to muster.

Half a dozen of the leading ladies and gentlemen of Washington society broke through the ice in the Potomac river, Jan. 23d, where the water is sixty feet deep. They were rescued by seamen from the navy yard.

I was troubled with catarrh for thirty years. Have suffered a great deal. My eyes, ears and throat were greatly affected. Mr. Kinney, the druggist, induced me to try Ely's Cream Balm and for the past two years have had very little trouble. I have lived in Webster, Mass., and Rockville, Conn. Very respectfully, J. W. Pratt, Monson, Mass.

I have improved greatly since using Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh. I feel like a new man. It is a blessing to humanity. — John D. Farrell, Hartford, Conn.

A number of vessels were in the ice in Nantucket sound on Jan. 25th, with signals flying for help.

The action of Carter's Little Liver Pills is pleasant, mild and natural. They gently stimulate the liver, and regulate the bowels, but do not purge. They are sure to please. Try them.

The Hurricane Granite company of Rockland, Me., has a $161,500 contract for the remaining work on the Suffolk county court house, Massachusetts.

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

The fire underwriters of New York city and vicinity have voted to suspend all rules on rates.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is "a combination and form indeed" for healing and curing diseases of the throat, lungs and chest. It cures a cough by loosening and cleansing the lungs, and allaying irritation; thus removing the cause, instead of drying up the cough and leaving the disease behind.

There is a movement on foot to recognize the heroic deeds of Nebraska and Dakota teachers who lost their lives or were crippled during the recent blizzard.

The Devil Fish Described by Hugo

Is not a more tenacious monster than malaria, whether it takes the form of chills and fever, bilious remittent, ague cake or dumb ague. Like the octopus of the story it clasps the victim in it stentaculae, and folds him closer and closer in a horrible embrace. Attacked with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, however, it gradually relaxes its tremendous grip, finally abandons it, and the quondam sufferer, liberated at last, rejoices in the sense of new born freedom, engendered by the restoration of complete health. Dyspepsia, too, and constipation, those old and remorseless enemies of the human family, give ground, and are finally driven from the field by this Napoleon of remedies, the greatest, the purest in the family pharmacopoeia. Rheumatism succumbs to it, so do kidney troubles. The nerves, when overstrained, regain quietude and vigor by its aid, and the ability to rest tranquilly and eat with zest are increased by it. Resort to it in time and avoid unnecessary suffering.

Illustrations printed in colors are the most unique and striking feature of the February number of "The Cosmopolitan." This marked innovation upon the old methods of illustration, so long pursued by the old magazines, is certain to attract great attention and win universal popularity.

The negotiations between France and Italy for a treaty of commerce have been ruptured.

Every woman who suffers from sick headache, and who dislikes to take bitter doses, should try Carter's Little Liver Pills. They are the easiest of all medicines to take. A positive cure for the above distressing complaint; give prompt relief in dyspepsia and indigestion; prevent and cure constipation and piles. As easy to take as sugar. Only one pill a dose. Price 25 cents. If you try them you will not be without them.

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples, sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them.

Beware of Swindlers.

We have exposed during the last year many swindlers who advertise, under the name of medicine, vile compounds which only increase human suffering. To all who need a pure medicine and blood purifier, we can honestly recommend Sulphur Bitters.—Editor Sun.

—"I have nothing to say to you, sir," said the man in the prisoner's cell to the clergyman who had called to offer consolation; "I am entirely in the hands of my attorney." "May heaven help you, my friend," said the minister, with deep feeling, as he turned to go.

"Frankie Has the Croup."

"Get up quick, John! I hear Frank is coughing. O, dear! he has the croup. Light the candle quick, and go down stairs for Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific. You will find it on the second shelf, right hand side. I always keep it where I can put my hand on it at once. Bring a teaspoon, too. Nothing ever relieved him so quick as this does, and he is so subject to croup. I would not be without it for anything."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. HAZING AND ITS REMEDY.

The Evil Being Traditional and Deep Seated Requires Heroic Treatment.

The evil is deep seated and has its tap root in the past. It is traditional. The older colleges, if they are blessed, are also cursed with traditions. And college traditions are easily born, and die hard. These disorderly tendencies are not only inherited from the past in this country, but from the mother country also. The extent of their survival there may be seen in the hazings, fightings and midnight maraudings with which "Tom Brown at Rugby" is overweighted. They have survived, with additions, in American colleges. Members of advanced classes promptly instruct the younger classes what is always done, and what, therefore, they are bound to do. The newer men aspire to be as "smart" as their predecessors, and so they must have hazing, rushes, "bloody Monday," freshman beer, reciprocal hornings, small maraudings, and what not? The effect of these foolish traditions at one particular stage of the college course, is the sudden but transient transformation of a considerable number of well minded and well mannered young men, is something as unfailing as it is surprising and otherwise unaccountable.

In other communities it is the acknowledged rule that the whole population is banded together to detect and punish wrongdoing. In college communities the case is reversed; the combination is to prevent detection. It is seldom the case that one student will give information concerning another that might lead even to his reformation. And when it becomes apparently a question of penalty, not only will young men of no principle disregard the truth, but men of high principle will generally leave college sooner than aid in rectifying the wrong. In one case, where it became alike necessary for the safety of father and son that the father should know of the notorious habits of intoxication into which the son had fallen, he went away convinced of gross injustice done by the faculty to the young man, because he was informed by classmates that the statements were untrue. It should be said, however, that one of these classmates, after graduation, had the manhood to come to a college officer and say: "I lied to Mr. ——."

In another instance, a case of assault upon a professor's house, a whole class, including, with one exception, all its best men, were induced to agree beforehand that they would not answer any question as to their own whereabouts at a given time—though many of them were quietly studying in their rooms—lest the circle of inquiry should thus be narrowed toward the offenders; and they submitted to suspension rather than answer the question. Illustrative facts of this kind might be accumulated to any extent. But it is not necessary. Every college man can bear witness to the general state of the case.

After young men have been fully and fairly warned that they will be held amenable to the law of the land, the application of the law is not to be withholden. This remedy has sometimes been applied with excellent effect. In one case the victim waited till his tormentors disclosed themselves and brought him before a magistrate. One of them proved to be a son of the chief justice of the state, and the settlement was easy and lasting. In another college two young men, under arrest for gross violence, fled and never put in an appearance again.

In a third institution certain college rioters, sons of wealthy parents, lay in the lockup while their class was graduating. These are hard remedies, to the last degree undesirable, but the abuses are still more undesirable, and if all other educational influences prove ineffectual, then the law must be the educator. The application of the remedy in a few instances would render further application unnecessary.—The Forum.

Banker and Depositor.

It is generally supposed that banks are eager to receive deposits from all sources and pay little attention to the character of the depositor, provided they get their money. This is a very great mistake. Good banks are not in the habit of opening accounts with every man who wants to deposit without knowing something of their customers' business methods. It is almost as hard to become a depositor in some of the strong eastern banks as it is to get a position in one of them, and the depositor must come highly recommended before his money is accepted. The fact is, the relation between a banker and his depositor is a confidential one, and the banker cannot afford to have tricky or dishonest patrons whom he knows he must watch all the time. He would rather let them keep their money and have nothing to do with them.—Globe-Democrat.

A Grief Stricken Ant.

Ants not only recognize one another after separation for more than a year, but there are evidences of strong affection between them. After keeping one nest of ants for seven years Sir John Lubbock had still two survivors, and this pair finally died within a week of each other, after living together two years longer. The shock produced by the loss of her companion was the only apparent cause of the death of the last member of this remarkable colony.—Arkansaw Traveler.

As Tall as Mamma.

"You must remember, my daughter, you are only a little girl. I can't think of letting you wear long dresses yet."

"But, mamma, I am as tall as you are."

"Is that possible?"

They measure.

"Sure enough, my child, you are. How fortunate! Now you can hang out the washing just as well as I can."—Chicago News.

THE INCURABLE CURED!

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., Feb. 24, 1887.

Gentlemen—Seven years ago a sore developed on my nose from a finger nail scratch. I tried a few simple remedies, but the sore would not yield. I grew worse every year for seven years. Many thought I had a cancer. Over a year ago I commenced taking S. S. S., and two dozen bottles entirely cured me. When I began with Swift Specific I was in very poor health, and could hardly drag about. After I had finished the course of S. S. S. I was strong and buoyant, and had a good appetite. I regard it as a most valuable medicine for ladies in weak, delicate health. It is a household medicine with me. Yours respectfully,

MRS. K. W. WILSON.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 3, 1887.

Gentlemen—For twenty years I have had a sore on my left cheek. It had gradually been growing worse. The many physicians whom I had consulted were unable to do me any good. Last fall a year ago I began using S. S. S. At first it inflamed the sore, and it became more virulent than ever; so much so, indeed, that my family insisted that I should leave off the medicine. I persisted in using the S. S. S. At the end of two months the sore was entirely healed. Thinking that the evil was out of my constitution, I left off the medicine; but in November, ten months after, a very slight breaking out appeared. I at once began again on S. S. S., and now that is also disappearing. I have every faith in S. S. S. It has done me more good than all the doctors and other medicines I ever took. Yours truly,

A. R. SHADON.

WINSTON, N. C., April 12, 1887.

Gentlemen—Two or three years ago a cancer came on my face. It soon grew to be quite large. It wore on me, and my general health was very poor. Last September I began a course of S. S. S., which I have continued to the present time with the happiest result. The cancer has entirely disappeared, there being no evidence or symptom of a cancerous character left. My general health is good now, and my appetite better than it has been in years. I am 82 years old, and to-day I am working in the field planting corn. Yours truly, JONAS LINEBACK.

Gentlemen—I had a sore on my upper lip for eight years. Seven different doctors attempted in vain to heal it. One gave me a small vial for five dollars, which was a "certain cure." It is needless to say that it did me no good. About two years ago I became quite uneasy, as people thought I had a cancer, and I took a course of eighteen bottles of S. S. S. The result has been a complete cure. The ulcer or cancer healed beautifully, leaving scarcely a perceptible scar. From that day I have been in excellent health. the Specific having purified my blood thoroughly, increased my appetite and perfected my digestion. In a word, I feel like a new woman, and, best of all, the eight year ulcer is gone entirely. Yours sincerely,

MISS W. P. CANNON.

Sent to Sea.

Ex-Secretary of the Navy Chandler is said to be responsible for the sending to sea of the new cruiser Atlanta, at a time when she was about to receive repairs which a board of survey reported would take at least about two months! Not that the ex-secretary went to the department and issued an order, but it has leaked out—and there are leaks, every one knows, in the navy—that Secretary Whitney had learned that the new senator was intending to have the opinions of certain naval officers concerning this ship and of other Roach vessels which have been so liberally criticised by his successor, obtained and placed on record. Suddenly the Atlanta was wanted to go to San Domingo. Capt. Bunce, with all his forebodings as to "shipping seas" and with his liberal plans for alterations to suit his notions, gives the order to pipe all hands to make sail for sea. The officers who thought to gain two or three months sea service, while their ship was tied to the piers or resting in the dock at Brooklyn, found themselves steaming for the Atlantic at the very shortest notice. The pilot house remains the post of danger, in spite of Capt. Bunce's report. The suggestion that the gallant captain's important information was of more consequence than the opinion of the advisory board goes for naught, and the swift Atlanta is now beyond the reach of inquisitive senators and criticising captains.

The Latest Foreign Steal.

The sum involved in the latest under-valuations swindle at the New York custom house is now estimated at $150,000. The firm which sought to cheat the government out of this amount is a foreign one, and it is foreign importers who give the customs officials the greatest trouble. Unable to break down our tariff by procuring legislation, they bend all their energies to evading it. The senate bill to check these growing under-valuation frauds comes none too soon.

Reformer Cleveland Pays.

A Washington despatch to the Traveller says: "A great deal of surprise was expressed when the president sent to the senate the name of John Blair Hoge of West Virginia to be United States district attorney of the District of Columbia. Mr. Hoge has been practicing law here since he retired from Congress, but no one seemed to anticipate his appointment, or afterward knew who had influenced it. One of the best known federal office-holders in the country, a man who visits the White House almost daily, explains it. He says Mr. Hoge was appointed upon the recommendation of Senator Riddleberger, and it was the reward of the Virginia senator for voting for the confirmation of Mr. Lamar. Messrs. Riddleberger and Hoge have long been most intimate friends, and some time before Mr. Lamar was confirmed Mr. Riddleberger asked for Mr. Hoge's appointment, and it was promised. He then voted to confirm Mr Lamar, and Mr. Hogue was appointed. Justice Lamar has sent a note to Mr. Riddleberger thanking him for his vote, and stating that it was his (Riddleberger's) early declaration that he would vote for confirmation that made it possible."

The fiftieth almanac published by the New York Tribune, namely, the one for 1888, comes to us with the appropriate title of the "Semi-Centennial Issue." Newspapers and almanacs grow younger and fresher as they advance in years. The Tribune Almanac for 1888 is fresh, popular, pithy, adapted to the times, and crammed with political statistics to which everyone will turn for reference in the presidential year. The popular vote for president in 1884 is given in detail, with the total vote in each election back to 1828. The party platforms, the important enactments of the last Congress, complete lists of the members of Congress and principal officers of the government, statistics of trade and pensions, and a variety of other valuable features characterize the book. This almanac is accurate, and the standard publication of its class. Being non-partisan, it is used by men of all parties. The price is twenty-five cents.

The chairman of the Missouri democratic state committee makes a frank admission of the unfavorable prospects of his party in that state. He confesses that the outlook from a democratic standpoint is a bad one, and is afraid of the results of the anti-protection declaration of the president. He says; "South and southwest Missouri industries cannot exist under free trade. Our iron, lead and zinc interests are the largest in the Union. The contest in the Springfield district is always decided on this issue, and uniformly sends a protective-tariff republican to Congress, except in the case of Charley Morgan, who was a protectionist. The same result would follow in the Iron Mountain country if the district had not been weighted down by river counties, in which the boys are still crawling out of the bush to vote anything that is branded 'democratic.'"

Dr. Moore of the Manchester Union has made a diagnosis of the condition of the New Hampshire democracy, and pronounces it "a unit in support of the administration." The Doctor suggests that there is victory in the air. If he means that victory for the democrats of New Hampshire is in the air, he is right; their victory went up years ago.

The energies of the democratic and mugwump papers are very largely devoted to proving that "Bill Chandler" is unworthy of notice. New Hampshire's junior senator seems to be a very aggressive and disturbing nonenity.

—"I have been unfortunate in love matters," said a well known bass singer at the opera house the other day. "My first sweetheart entered a convent, death robbed me of the second, and the third is my wife."

The First Symptoms

Of all Lung diseases are much the same: feverishness, loss of appetite, sore throat, pains in the chest and back, headache, etc. In a few days you may be well, or, on the other hand, you may be down with Pneumonia or "galloping Consumption." Run no risks, but begin immediately to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Several years ago, James Birchard, of Darien, Conn., was severely ill. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day.

J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes: "Three winters ago I took a severe cold, which rapidly developed into Bronchitis and Consumption. I was so weak that I could not sit up, was much emaciated, and coughed incessantly. I consulted several doctors, but they were powerless, and all agreed that I was in Consumption. At last, a friend brought me a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. From the first dose, I found relief. Two bottles cured me, and my health has since been perfect."

The Democracy in Council.

The always hopeful democracy, by its representative men, held a meeting at Concord on the evening of Jan. 25th, to meditate upon the situation and see what Mr. Jones thought it best to do. Mr. Jones at once took charge of matters, and will conduct the campaign as a Cleveland representative. In fact, since men like Harry Bingham, John H. George and John H. Pearson have been placed on the retired list, Mr. Jones has been about all there is of vigor and sand in the party in this state. Mr. Jones' staff will consist of Messrs. Sulloway and Sanborn, and a few chosen disciples. This will insure a vigorous campaign, and as good a showing in November as is possible. In some respects it will prove a good thing for the state. With the control of conventions and caucuses placed in the hands of the president's confidential friend, there will be no uncertain number of democrats in the next legislature who (with here and there a republican) can be cajoled by the remnants of the Pearson wing to oppose progressive legislation demanded by the interests of the state. A want of sufficient command of the democracy last summer resulted in a protracted contest between the democratic party and a few malcontents around Concord, whose voices in the councils of the unterrified will no longer be heard, and whose threats will be regarded as empty utterings.

Then too we may expect to see the lesser luminaries of the party's organs, such as Foster's Democrat of Dover and the Concord People and Patriot, hereafter shine by light borrowed from the Portsmouth Times. This paper is to give the key note, and other journals, if in tune, will sing by the movement of the Portsmouth baton. History repeats itself. Without claiming any originality in this last remark, we make use of it by way of illustrating the fact that, as in the days of Langdon and the early leaders of the democratic party, every democratic countenance was turned to behold, and every ear sought to listen to, the wise councils of the men from Portsmouth, who naturally took the helm in political affairs, so again comes the democracy of to-day, and lays its sceptre before the man who, by dint of possessing in abundance that influence and power which no one else in the party can approach, is made by unanimous action the king bee of the democratic hive. Mr. Jones will name the delegates to the national convention, review and reform the democratic state committee, and see to it that in the state conventions the president is endorsed to the fullest extent.

"The People's Theatre."

The really excellent dramatic company playing at Franklin theatre this week, at popular prices, had a large audience Friday evening.

They give a matinee at two o'clock this afternoon, prices ten and twenty cents; "Kathleen Mavourneen" will be played, and every purchaser of a reserved seat will be presented with a handsome song book.

This evening a double bill—"Blackeyed Susan," and "Nick of the Woods."

RAILROAD ITEMS.

The train due in this city from Portland at 2:45 P. M. on Thursday did not get here until after four o'clock Friday morning, and kept on for Boston at 4:35. The Flying Yankee, which should have left here at 7:40 P. M. Thursday, and the Bangor express due here at four o'clock A. M. Friday, went out together on the way to Boston at seven o'clock Friday morning.

A wrecking train was engaged for five hours or more, Thursday night, in clearing a wreck caused by the smashing of a snow plow at Kittery Junction.

Freight traffic on the railroads was almost wholly suspended on Thursday and Friday.

The train over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, due in this city at 10:10 o'clock A. M. Friday, did not arrive until nearly one o'clock in the afternoon.

The morning train from Boston for Dover, Friday, left the track at Newmarket, but no harm was done.

The morning train from Boston for Portland on Friday was stalled at South Berwick by snow. Large gangs of men were set at work with shovels on the tracks between Biddeford, Old Orchard and Portland.

Harry Ross of Newburyport, seventeen years old, was blown from a Boston & Maine train in Salem on Friday morning, and had his skull fractured.

The railroad blockade from the storm of Thursday night and Friday, in New England and New York, is said to be the worst for ten years.

Four men at work clearing the track at Holyoke, Mass., Friday, were killed by a train.

By a collision between a passenger train and and a freight train on the Fitchburg railroad at Williamstown, Mass., Jan. 27th, the freight conductor was killed and three brakemen injured, it was feared fatally. The accident was due to the storm.

If you want a good seat in Music hall next Monday evening, at the entertainment of the Nonpareil Minstrels, get it at Goodrich's to-day. You will probably be too late, Monday.

Mr. Dion Boucicault, who appears at Music hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 2d, in his own drama, "The Shaughraun," is beyond all dispute the most prolific dramatic author of his day. No other half-dozen can aggregate such a record of successes as his, which now includes considerably more than a hundred, and is still being added to.

The Gravelly Ridge snow plow, drawn by twelve horses, "broke out" Maplewood avenue on Thursday afternoon, coming down as far as the railroad station.

One of the city sleds, drawn by four horses and having a snow plow hitched on behind, was engaged in breaking out the principal streets on Friday.

Do not forget the total eclipse of the moon this evening. Tickets free; performance commences at 4:30, and ends at eight o'clock.

Capt. Charles Allen, of the schooner Starry Flag, fishing out of this port, has received a letter from the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals commending the noble conduct of the captain and his sailors, who at great personal discomfort and risk rescued a suffering cat from a perilous condition among the piers of Long wharf last Thursday. One of the gallant fellows broke through the ice and plunged into the frigid water of the Piscataqua in his humane endeavor to save the perishing animal. No men in the world possess a greater share of the heroic qualities of humane nature than our Yankee fishermen are endowed with.

Mr. Smith Emerson, who about a year ago resigned the position of Dover station agent of the Boston & Maine railroad, after a faithful service of many years, died in Alton on Jan. 26th, aged about seventy-three.

The department of yards and docks at the navy yard was shut down on Friday.

Grand clearance sale of dress goods at Lewis E. Staples.' Greatly reduced prices for two weeks. Remnants marked way down.

The steamer James Sampson gave up her afternoon trips to Kittery Point on Friday, on account of the great amount of floating ice in the river. The Mystic also hauled off in the afternoon.

The four masted schooner Clara Goodwin, from this port for Baltimore, which arrived at Boston one day this week in tow of the ocean tug Underwriter, was towed back from Vineyard Haven, having been much damaged by ice. She was leaking badly, and will have to be docked for repairs.

There is occasionally some irregularity in the mails. The Journal of Providence, R. I., published Jan. 25th, was received by us before eleven o'clock that day. The Dover Democrat of the same date was received on Friday, the 27th. Dover is hundreds of miles farther away than Providence, so far as mail facilities are concerned.

Mr. Elmer R. Laing and wife, of Manchester, are passing a week in this city. Mrs. Laing was Miss Lottie E. Cutter until three o'clock in the afternoon on Jan. 25th, when Rev. William Morrison, at the Universalist parsonage on Prospect street, Manchester, declared her to be a wife.

Foster's Democrat asks the Times, if there was never anything in the Thoebe-Carlisle controversy, why democratic Congressman McKinney voted with the republicans in favor of the minority report of the committee to re-open the case. Foster ought to know—and indeed he does—that when McKinney writes a letter to the democrats gathered at Concord, urging the party to make a vigorous campaign, he acts as a democrat; but when he votes for Thoebe he votes as a labor man. McKinney is broad in his views, and many-sided. His seat is on the republican side of the house of representatives, and the only fear is that when dropped by the democracy at the next congressional convention, unless otherwise provided for he may incline to move into the republican camp.

IF YOU WANT
Delicious Biscuit, Cakes, Etc., that can be eaten hot without detriment.
USE
Horsford's
BREAD PREPARATION.

The acid phosphate in this preparation supplies the vital phosphates essential to the system, and assists digestion. No other baking powder does this.

Dr. M. B. Sullivan, of Dover, says:
"I endorse the correctness of the scientific principles involved in the use of Horsford's Bread Preparation."

Dr. C. W. Hutchings, of Dover, says:
"The vitalized principles contained in Horsford's Bread Preparation I cheerfully endorse. Ill-nourished children fed upon brown bread made with it would be greatly benefited."

Dr. Paul A. Stackpole, of Dover, says:
"I have examined Horsford's Bread Preparation. It restores the phosphates removed from flour in milling. The phosphates are important nutritive principles, and this preparation amply supplies them."

Dr. E. W. Hodsden, of Dover, says:
"I endorse the correctness of the scientific principles involved in the use of Horsford's Bread Preparation, which restores to superfine wheat flour the phosphates removed in milling."

Dr. S. J. Bassford, of Biddeford, says:
"I have examined Horsford's Bread Preparation, and believe the theory presented by the manufacturers to be true. That we lose very much that is nutritious in the wheat, by the mode of manufacturing fine flour, there can be no doubt. The object gained by using the Bread Preparation is to restore those nutritive principles to the flour, and thus render it more wholesome, and cause it to contain the same elements for nutrition that are found in the wheat berry."

Dr. E. J. Emery, of Biddeford, says:
"We have used Horsford's Bread Preparation, and consider it superior to others."

Rev. Thomas Hill, of Portland, says:
"For many years I have used Horsford's Bread Preparation for raising bread. It is particularly agreeable to my palate, agrees well with me, and I have thought that when I have ommitted it for some time and then returned to it, I found it improved my health."

Dr. Wm. Rynne, of Portland, says:
"In my opinion, Horsford's Bread Prearation must be a valuable baking powder, and superior to all others forthe purpose of bread-making.

Dr. A. V. Thompson, of Portland, says:
"I have used Horsford's Bread Preparation for fifteen years. It is a very valuable agent in bread-making. From its peculiar property, which I believe no other baking powder possesses—namely, of restoring the phosphates to white flour, I esteem it the best that can be used."

Dr. S. P. Getchell, of Portland, says:
"My practical test of Horsford's Bread Preparation in the kitchen, was very satisfactory. The bread made by its use was light, sweet and palatablep One member of my family, who has had indigestion for years, partook freely of it while it was hot, without inconvenience, while as a rule he cannot eat either new or hot bread without paying the penalty."

Dr. Geo. W. May, of Portland, says:
"The theory of the preparation of Prof. Horsford's powder is good, and should be productive of the best results, especially to dyspeptics, and those with similar troubles."

Good style is good sense, good energy and good will, but a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a good benefaction that suffering humanity has already learned to appreciate.

There is a deficit of $500,000 in the finances of Manitoba.

You feel free from pain and stronger after putting on a Hop Plaster. Soothes stimulates.

How naked Esquimaux children play on a reindeer-skin, in a snow hut, or igloo, where the temperature is below zero, is one of the many interesting facts set forth by Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka, in his article in the February number of "The Cosmopolitan," on "Wintering in the White Zone," beautifully illustrated by W. P. Snyder. The lieutenant tells, in a most delightful way, how this curious structure, the igloo, is built of snow, and ice sometimes, and how, when one enters it from a temperature seventy degrees below zero, he finds a temperature of four or five degrees below zero positively uncomfortable in its warmth.

I was troubled with catarrh for thirty years. Have suffered a great deal. My eyes, ears and throat were greatly affected. Mr. Kinney, the druggist, induced me to try Ely's Cream Balm and for the past two years have had very little trouble. I have lived in Webster, Mass., and Rockville, Conn. Very respectfully, J. W. Pratt, Monson, Mass.

I have improved greatly since using Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh. I feel like a new man. It is a blessing to humanity. — John D. Farrell, Hartford, Conn.

The jury in the libel suit of Otis L. Bonney of Hanson, Mass., against the Boston Journal, returned a verdict for the Journal.

The action of Carter's Little Liver Pills is pleasant, mild and natural. They gently stimulate the liver, and regulate the bowels, but do not purge. They are sure to please. Try them.

A bill repealing the Saturday half-holiday law and making all Saturdays in July, August and September holidays, has been favorably reported in the New York legislature.

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

A majority of the stockholders of the Metropolitan opera house of New York are ready to pay their assessments to continue German opera.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is "a combination and form indeed" for healing and curing diseases of the throat, lungs and chest. It cures a cough by loosening and cleansing the lungs, and allaying irritation; thus removing the cause, instead of drying up the cough and leaving the disease behind.

Startling Discovery.

The discovery by the inhabitants of a locality hitherto unvisited by the pestilent scourge of fever and ague, that it exists in their very midst, is decidedly startling. Such discoveries are made at every season, in every part of the Union. Subsequently, when it is ascertained, as it invariably is at such times, through the valuable experience of some one who has been benefitted and cured, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a thoroughly efficacious eradicator of the malarial poison, and a means of fortifying the system against it, a feeling of more security and tranquility reigns throughout the whole neighborhood. Besides the febrile forms of malarial disease, dumb ague and ague cake are removed by the potent action of the bitters, to which science gives its sanction as a remedy for rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, debility, kidney troubles, and all diseases impairing the organs of digestion and assimilated.

—Browne: "Why did you stop literary work? Somebody told me you received a check for your poem." Smithe: "Yes, I did. It was a blue check—No. 13,942. Declined with thanks. Ten cents due."

The effects after taking Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam are a soothing and controlling influence over any cough or cold, promoting rest, allaying the tickling sensation in the throat, and causing a healthy expectoration. All our drug stores have sold it for twenty years.

And save money, and perhaps your life. Send three two-cent stamps to pay postage to A. P. Ordway & Co., Boston, Mass., and receive a copy of Dr. Kaufmann's Great Medical Work, 100 pages, elegant colored plates.

—A young fellow sent seventy-five cents to a firm in the east to know how to make one hundred dollars a month at home, without working. He received the following pointed answer: "Fish for suckers like we do."

Always avoid harsh purgative pills. They first make you sick and then leave you constipated. Carter's Little Liver Pills regulate the bowels and make you well. Dose, one pill.

—A Chinaman's description of tobogganing: "W-h-i-s-h! Walkee backee milee!"

More cases of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, can be cured in less time, with less medicine, and for less money, by using Carter's Little Liver Pills, than by any other means.

—By a typographical error in its local column, at Titusville, Pa., paper was recently made to announce the death of a boy 147 years old.

Gray hair is made to resume its youthful color and beauty by the use of Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair renewer the best preparation known to science.

—Many a broadcloth husband owes his prosperity to the fact that he married a gingham girl.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. They are not only a postive cure, but a sure preventive if taken when the approach is felt. Carter's Little Liver Pills act directly on the liver and bile, and in this way remove the cause of disease without first making you sick by a weakening purge. If you try them you will not be disappointed.

"Frankie Has the Croup."

"Get up quick, John! I hear Frank is coughing. O, dear! he has the croup. Light the candle quick, and go down stairs for Ingalls' Throat and Lung Specific. You will find it on the second shelf, right hand side. I always keep it where I can put my hand on it at once. Bring a teaspoon, too. Nothing ever relieved him so quick as this does, and he is so subject to croup. I would not be without it for anything."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed nights and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend on it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, one of the prescriptions of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. 26m,eod,tri,6ju81

PEACE.

Winds and wild waves in headlong huge commotion
Scud, dark with tempest, o'er the Atlantic breast;
While underneath, few fathoms deep in ocean,
Lie peace and rest.

Storms in mid air, the rack before them sweeping,
Hurry and hiss, like furies hate possessed;
While over all white cloudlets pure are sleeping
In peace and rest.

Heart, O wild heart! why in the storm world raging
Fight thou thus midway, passion's slave and jest,
When all so near above, below unchanging,
Are heaven and rest?

—C. W. Willis in Youth's Companion.

EFFECTS OF EARLY RISING.

Getting Up So Early As to Be Less "Healthy, Wealthy and Wise."

Let us begin by saying that every person needs a certain average amount of sleep in twenty-four hours, and that, except in extremely rare cases, the person best preserves health by taking that average amount every day, beginning at the same hour, and of course ending at the same hour, day after day.

In the next place, remembering that if we observe the rule of taking a uniform amount of sleep each night, the question of what hour we shall rise is determined by the hour of retiring, we may say that, with most people, the morning hours are the best and freshest of the day. This does not cover the whole truth, for, in considering this question, it must be borne in mind that we are really deciding between an hour, or less time, at the beginning, and the same time at the end of the day.

Again, the amount of sleep needed is not the same for all persons. Consequently, if all are to rise at the same hour, they must retire at different hours.

One of the most amusing conceits of the Rev. Dr. Edward E. Hale represents a farmer and his wife, with a frenzy for early rising, to have argued, from the success of 6 o'clock as a uniform breakfast hour through the year, that they could gain an hour a day by breakfasting at 5.

The experiment worked so well that they presently pushed the breakfast hour back to 4 o'clock, and so gained two hours a day. Again they moved the hour back to 3 o'clock—and so they went on, until they had gone backward through the hours three times, with the result of gaining three whole days every day they live.

Obviously one may rise too early, and may in consequence be less "healthy, wealthy and wise" than by choosing an hour more reasonably early. And, finally, no rule covers all cases. Beyond a doubt there are persons, young and old, more especially old, who cannot rise at what is to most people not too early an hour, without extreme discomfort, and in some instances at the expense of health.

It makes no difference how early they retire. The addition of an hour's sleep at the beginning does not make them wakeful a moment sooner; or, it happens that they cannot sleep at the beginning of the night if they try. Such people, if the affliction is a real one, are to be pitied.

Now our readers will see the comfort we offer to late risers. We say to them that if they cannot rise early they ought not to do so. Leaving out of the account those whose work compels them to be up late at night, we estimate that one person in fifty is unable to rise early without harm.

The rest of those who do not get up to breakfast—are lazy.—Youth's Companion.

The German Soldier.

The German soldier, as seen at Strasburg and in other parts of the empire, is the result of a most careful and thorough military organization for a long series of years and of a military system that has reached perfection. He is an educated man, physically and mentally, and a part of his education is acquired under military discipline. He is not so dashing in his appearance as the English soldier, but he shows in his figure the result of thorough training in athletic and gymnastic exercises, and there is an air and expression of intelligence and mental culture about the German soldier not seen in the army of any other nation. His uniform is scrupulously neat and clean; he is sober, quiet, respectful and obedient; he is faithful, loyal and patriotic. My observation of the German soldier leads me to think that in physical development, in military education in every detail, and in general education, which includes the knowledge of several languages, the German soldier has no superior or equal.—Col. Clark in New York Herald.

The Chances of Life.

The chances of life are thus set down: Out of every 1,000 men twenty-five of them die annually. One-half of those who are born die before they attain the age of 7 years. The men able to bear arms form a fourth of the inhabitants of a country. More old men are found in elevated situations than in valleys and plains. The number of inhabitants of a city or country is renewed every thirty years. The proportion between the deaths of women and those of men is 103 to 108. The probable duration of female lives is sixty years, but after that period the calculation is more favorable to them than to men.—Chicago News.

All Draw Life from the Country.

The country is the nursery of the towns and the towns are the nurseries of our cities. It is just so everywhere. When a farmer gets rich enough to go to town, he goes, for the town has good schools and churches and society. When a town merchant gets a little ahead, he gets ambitious, and wants to get rich with more alacrity. He becomes a little uppity and tiddy, and so moves to the city. Just so with lawyers and doctors, and even the preachers are not proof against high salaries and beautiful churches.—Atlanta Constitution.

No "Free Fish" Just Yet.

The house committee on foreign relations, who have had several communications from the department of state urging the placing of fish on the free list, since the sentiment of the country has been making itself known have receded from their position.

Free fish, from their point of view, is simply a bid with Canada as a solution of the fisheries controversy. Representative McAdoo, the democratic representative from New Jersey, says:

"Granting free fish now is not an economic question, but one of national honor. We cannot concede free fish under the guns of the British navy backing the annoyances of the Canadian cruisers."

The statement that the bill has been practically completed, and presenting some of its features, is purely speculative.

Hope For Portsmouth Yet.

Some weeks since the force was reduced and salaries decreased at the custom house in Newburyport. Collector Jackman at once made representations to the department that such pay was entirely inadequate to the increased work caused by the reduction. A letter has been received announcing an increase in the salary of Deputy Collector Davenport from $900 to $1000, and that of Inspector Geary from $600 to $900.

Maritime Notes.

Among the freight charters reported last week were two schooners with 1600 tons of coal from Perth Amboy for Boston, at $1.70 per ton, and one schooner with 1000 tons of coal from Perth Amboy for this port, at $1.60 per ton.

The schooner Anna H. Mason, sunk off Randall & Caswell's wharf, was lying there quite comfortably on Sunday, with her booms just afloat at high tide. Why she should have been allowed to go down there, instead of being beached at Newcastle or on Peirce's island below the narrows, is not easy to see.

A wonderful escape from death was that of Henry S. Batten of Gloucester, twenty-six years old, who was driven to sea in his dory while shore fishing from the schooner Alice S. Hawkes, and was picked up fifteen miles off Thacher's island on the afternoon of the next day by the fishing schooner Percy, after being twenty-seven hours in the boat. He was nearly dead when picked up, being unable to move, and both his hands frozen to the oars; yet it is thought he will suffer no permanent harm from his terrible experience.

The U. S. S. Swatara, at this navy yard, is expected to be put in commission about Feb. 15th.

Among the naval orders issued by the department on Thursday, Jan. 26th, were the following: Chief Engr. A. S. Greene, as senior member of the board to superintend the trial of the machinery of the U. S. S. Swatara, at this navy yard, Feb. 1st; Chief Engr. J. L. D. Borthwick, from the New York navy yard, and Passed Asst. Engr. Arthur Price, from the Portsmouth navy yard, to duty as members of the board; Passed Asst. Engrs. A. B. Canaga and H. N. Stevenson, to temporary duty on the board.

The machinery of the U. S. S. Lancaster, when she was in South Atlantic waters, was in such a condition that her officers thought it a matter of necessity that she be ordered home for repairs. Now that she is to do duty with the European squadron it is discovered that her machinery will do very well for several years to come. A prominent bureau officer, who recived a letter from the Lancaster setting forth the facts, says it is strange how beneficial is a change of climate for machinery.

Internal Revenue Collector Page has appointed Alfred S. Kimball of Norway, Me., deputy collector to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Col. Wm. A. Cromwell of South Berwick.

The Rye Beach Improvement Co. had rather hard luck with the weather last week, for their entertainments announced to be given on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in Rye town hall. On Thursday evening, owing to the storm, there was no performance; on Friday evening about ten persons attended; on Saturday evening the patronage was large, but nothing to what it would have been but for the intense cold and the bad condition of the roads.

Mr. Josiah Page of Pipe Creek, Minnesota, 150 miles above St. Paul, a native of Hampton and formerly an apprentice at the tanner's trade with the late Joshua Brooks in this city, is now on a visit to his former home in Hampton, which he left forty years ago for Minnesota, to which place he will return in a few weeks. Mr. Page walked in from Hampton on Saturday morning, just for the exercise, a walk of ten or twenty miles counting for nothing in the far west; he left in our office some bear steaks brought by him from Minnesota in a frozen state—frozen with Minnesota cold, which is so cold that 560 lbs. of ice weighs a ton. How many frontiersmen and school ma'ams the bear from which the steaks were cut may have eaten we do not know, but we know who ate the bear steaks, and they were very good, though we do not think the ox will be superceded as a purveyor of steaks until the bear learns how to be more tender in that line.

Mr. Dion Boucicault, who plays in his drama "The Shaughraun," at Music hall next Thursday evening, has just completed a new Irish drama, entitled "Cushla-ma Chree," which will be produced February 20th at the Hollis Street theatre, Boston. It has an eviction scene and a falling tree effect in one of the acts.

Lieutenant Emory H. Taunt, U. S. N., appeared before the medical examining board at the navy department in Washington last week. The report of the board, which is understood to express doubts of the lieutenant's mental soundness, is in the hands of the secretary of the navy. Lieut. Taunt was not personally interrogated, the record of the recent court martial in his case being one of the first things submitted to the board. It will probably be some little time before Lieut. Taunt's case will be finally disposed of. In the meantime he is living quietly with his wife, who, as is well known, is a daughter of Rear Admiral English.

A current news item says: "New York horsemen have adopted the custom of putting a few folds of paper across the chest underneath the overcoat, as well as at the back, as a protection against cold winds while driving. It is a very effectual shield." There is nothing new in that arrangement. The Great bay smelters thirty years ago used to put newspapers around their bodies, under their inside coats, and found them of greater service in their exposed work than an extra coat would have been.

The potato crop of New England was a partial failure last season, but the crop of white flat turnips was all right, judging from the fact that all the pure grated horseradish on the market seems to be wholly composed of turnip. The pure grated horseradish is better for being half turnip, but the manufacturers should not use all turnip; a little bit of the horseradish kind of gives the mixture a nicer flavor, to most palates.

Mr. Thomas Shannahan of Portland, widely known as a contractor for railroads and other heavy work, died Jan. 27th, aged forty-one years.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which plan is, chemically speaking, of great importance to their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

The Dover Democrat says: "It cost the city last year $837 for plans for a fire escape at the city opera house. What did it amount to?" Why, it amounted to $837, apparently. Portsmouth for years had "plans," procured at large cost and illustrated by learned and verbose engineering reports, for a method of abating the long famous but somewhat unsavory north pond nuisance. After a long time somebody went ahead and built a big sewer on a new and cheaper plan, and ended the nuisance. One of these days the Dover city government will perhaps do likewise in regard to providing an escape for the municipal fire trap.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 12 degrees above zero

Cloudy.

Has Frozen Us In.

The Eastern Argus, of Portland, Me., under date of Jan. 25th says:

The only open harbor on the north Atlantic coast is Portland harbor. That is why the Allan and Dominion lines are coming back.

This shows the superiority of art over nature. The latter, with its twenty degrees below zero, has utterly failed to even skim over Portsmouth harbor with ice in a week, but the Portland editor freezes it up solid in less than a minute, with a stroke of his pen. Well, that is the only way it is likely ever to be frozen over.

Railroad Items.

The interruption to railroad traffic by the snow blockade of last week was not so great as was occasioned by the great storm of 1866, but the engines now in use are greatly heavier and more powerful, and the appliances for clearing the tracks of snow and breaking through drifts much superior, to those then employed.

The trains from Boston for Portland over the western division of the Boston & Maine railroad on Thursday, after hard struggling all managed to work into Portland along after midnight; one train was ten hours from Boston; one, fourteen hours and a half from Dover; and the time of the others varied, the longest passage being twenty hours and a half from Boston to Portland. The blockade was the worst one since 1866, it is alleged by the railroad men.

At nine o'clock Thursday night seven passenger trains and one freight train were blockaded within a mile of Biddeford, on both divisions of the Boston & Maine; the eastern division was less snowed under than the western, but both were in a bad state. At McIntyre's cut, half a mile west of Biddeford on the western division, five trains were stalled at one time.

All trains on the Portland & Rochester road were abandoned on Thursday afternoon, and up to a late hour on Friday no trains were moving on that line.

The Dover & Winnepiseogee train which left Dover for Alton Bay on Friday morning with two engines and a snow plow ahead, went off the track above Farmington, and the plow was badly broken. The road was reported in a very bad condition with snow drifts, packed in almost hard enough to bear trains on the top, and quite hard enough to stop them.

The tracks were cleared to a great extent on Friday afternoon and night, and the movement of freight trains, which had been wholly suspended for two days, all the engines being required on the passenger trains, was recommenced on Saturday. Sunday was a busy day in freight yards, and trains were sent out as fast as they could be made up.

The Boston & Maine railroad yardmen in this city were on Sunday engaged in loading trains with snow and ice, which was dumped overboard from the Noble's island wharf.

The Boston & Lowell railroad directors have elected T. Jefferson Coolidge president in place of Mr. F. L. Higginson, who was found to be ineligible.

The Boston & Maine railroad has issued orders that all wheels on through trains on the eastern division be tested at Salem, which is a new move. The order went into effect on Wednesday evening of last week, and one of the first good results was the detection of a cracked wheel of the smoker of the Flying Yankee. The car was at once sidetracked and another substituted.

Conductor Henry J. Eaton, of the Concord railroad, says the snow blockade of last week was the worst he has encountered during his twenty years experience.

Although New Hampshire, Maine and Massachusetts were badly snowed under on Friday night, necessitating the calling out of all reserves on the railroads to endeavor to get passenger trains through, freight business being entirely abandoned, yet the third annual ball of the Relief Association of the Boston & Maine railroad, held in Mechanics' hall at Boston, was attended by about 500 couples, and was a great success; the hall was finely decorated, the dresses of the ladies were very beautiful, the Salem Cadet band furnished the music, and Tufts of Boston was caterer. Conductor George A. Silsbee and wife, of this city, led the grand march.

Ten shares of the National Mechanics & Traders' bank of this city were sold at private sale, last week, for $121 per share.

It took four horses and a number of men with shovels to get Hayes' milk cart from the farm buildings to the public road, Friday morning. A Newington milkman had a second horse on ahead of the regular one, all the way into the city, and then did not get in until nearly eleven o'clock in the forenoon, after about six hours of constant work.

The three furnaces of the Unitarian church consumed three tons of coal from Friday morning, Jan. 19th, to Sunday evening, the 21st, and then the auditorium was not warm enough to make an overcoat uncomfortable.

The country schools in the towns in this vicinity on both sides of the river were closed during the blizzard of Thursday and Friday.

Scientists tell us that we get no heat at all, either primary or reflected, from the moon. They mean well, but they don't know. There was a total eclipse of the moon in this city Saturday evening; result, seven degrees below zero on Penhallow street at 5:30 o'clock. What have the scientists got to say about this?

The thermometer indicated twelve below zero on Richards avenue, Sunday morning; fourteen below at the foot of Daniel street, and from ten to eighteen below in other parts of the city. In Newington, on the old Reuben Lane place, fifteen below was the record, and at Mr. Joseph Hoyt's, and several places along the shores of Great Bay, twenty-four below.

Rt. Rev. W. W. Niles, Episcopal bishop of New Hampshire, will administer the rite of confirmation at St. John's church in this city on Sunday morning, Feb. 19th, and at Christ church in the afternoon of the same day.

Murray & Murphy, in "Our Irish Visitors," will be at Music hall on Monday evening, Feb. 6th; the Ruggles Street Quartette, assisted by Miss Fannie P. Hoyt, violinist, will appear there on Thursday evening, the 9th, in the Star course; and Miss Maud Banks, in "Joan of Arc," will be there on Friday evening, the 10th.

Mrs. Comfort H. Durgin of Greenland, widow of Sylvester Durgin, was found dead in bed on the morning of Feb. 27th, having retired the previous evening in apparently good health. She was in the 70th year of her age, and probably died from disease of the heart.

The People's Theatre Co., the really excellent dramatic company which has been playing in Franklin theatre the past week, will continue there through this week. To-night the attraction will be "Kathleen Mavourneen."

Presentation.

Thirty young ladies and gentlemen were invited last evening to the residence of Stephen L. Marston on State street, to attend a party given in honor of the twenty-first birthday of his nephew, Everett L. Marston. The affair was an enjoyable one. During the evening a large and handsome picture, framed in bronze and cherry, was presented Mr. Marston, in behalf of the ladies and gentlemen present, by Mr. Henry Washburne, in that gentlemen's usual happy manner. Mr. Marston though surprised responded felicitously. Music, games and refreshments filled the evening till the day was done. Elegantly printed souvenirs tied with ribbon were presented to each guest and will long be retained as mementos of this delightful occasion. Mr. Marston is a most exemplary young gentlemen, and is well deserving of the honors paid him by his young friends. He has long been a trusted employe of the Chronicle office, an excellent printer, rapid compositor, and wields an intelligent and facile pen. A good future awaits him.—Penny Post, Jan. 28th.

The thermometer on Saturday at the Jones brewery did not get higher than four degrees below zero during the day. Sunday morning at six o'clock the same thermometer indicated twelve below; at Noble's island bridge it was eighteen below. The river on Sunday morning, from the Concord wharf across to Badger's island, was solid full of packed ice on the flood tide, and remained so until the tide turned; above Portsmouth bridge no clear water was to be seen.

The total eclipse of the moon on Saturday evening was a very interesting occurrence of the kind, the sky being free from clouds, and the dark red color of the satellite during the period of total obscuration attracting much admiration. If the entertainment had been given in a little warmer weather the attendance would have been much larger.

Mr. William T. Raynes of Lowell was in this city over Sunday.

Mr. Charles S. Dodge of Lowell, Mass., formerly of this city, passed Sunday here with his brother, Mr. Samuel Dodge of State street.

Col. George F. Towle, U. S. A., aide-de-camp to Gen. Terry, commanding the department of the Mississippi, has joined him at St. Augustine, Florida.

William Rand, son of Capt. Albert Rand, leaves this morning for Tarcona Springs, Florida, on a visit to Mr. Nathaniel Patten, his uncle, who resides there.

The annual meeting of the Rockingham County Temperance Association, which was to have been held last Thursday in the Elm street chapel at Exeter, was deferred one week in consequence of the storm.

Grand clearance sale of dress goods at Lewis E. Staples.' Greatly reduced prices for two weeks. Remnants marked way down.

POSITIVELY the most economical soap to use for the toilet is the IVORY SOAP. The cakes are so large that you really get twenty cents worth of soap for a dime.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
